We laid the baby under the pines, not far from Billy Breen, and the sweet spring wind blew through the gap and came softly down the valley, whispering to the pines and the grass and the hiding flowers of the new life coming to the world. And the mother must have heard the whisper in her heart, for as the priest was saying the words of the service she stood with Mrs. Mavor's arms about her, and her eyes were looking far away beyond the purple mountain tops, seeing what made her smile. And Slavin, too, looked different. His very features seemed finer. The coarseness was gone out of his face. What had come to him I could not tell.

But when the doctor came into Slavin's house that night it was the old Slavin I saw, but with a look of such deadly fury on his face that I tried to get the doctor out at once. But he was half drunk, and his manner was hideously humorous.

"How do, ladies? How do, gentlemen?" was his loud voiced salutation. "Quite a professional gathering, clergy predominating. Lion and lamb too! Ha, ha! Which is the lamb, eh? Ha, ha! Very good! Awfully sorry to hear of your loss, Mrs. Slavin. Did our best, you know; can't help this sort of thing."

Before any one could move Craig was at his side and, saying in a clear, firm voice, "One moment, doctor," caught him by the arm and had him out of the room before he knew it.

Slavin, who had been crouching in his chair, with hands twitching and eyes glaring, rose and followed, still crouching as he walked.

I hurried after him, calling him back.

Turning at my voice, the doctor saw Slavin approaching. There was something so terrifying in his swift, noiseless, crouching motion that the doctor, crying out in fear, "Keep him off!" fairly turned and fled.

He was too late. Like a tiger Slavin leaped upon him and without waiting to strike had him by the throat with both hands and, bearing him to the ground, worried him there as a dog might a cat.

Immediately Craig and I were upon him; but, though we lifted him clear off the ground, we could not loosen that two handed strangling grip. As we were struggling there a light hand touched my shoulder. It was Father Goulet.

"Please let him go and stand away from us," he said, waving us back.

We obeyed.

He leaned over Slavin and spoke a few words to him.

Slavin started as if struck a heavy blow, looked up at the priest with fear in his face, but still keeping his grip.

"Let him go," said the priest.

Slavin hesitated.

"Let him go! Quick!" said the priest again, and Slavin, with a snarl, let go his hold and stood sullenly facing the priest.

Father Goulet regarded him steadily for some seconds and then asked:

"What would you do?"

His voice was gentle enough, even sweet, but there was something in it that chilled my marrow.

"What would you do?" he repeated.

"He murdered my child," growled Slavin.

"Ah! How?"

"He was drunk and poisoned him."

"Ah! Who gave him drink? Who made him a drunkard two years ago? Who has wrecked his life?"

There was no answer, and the even toned voice went relentlessly on:

"Who is the murderer of your child now?"

Slavin groaned and shuddered.

"Go!" And the voice grew stern. "Repent of your sin and add not another."

Slavin turned his eyes upon the motionless figure on the ground and then upon the priest.

Father Goulet took one step toward him and, stretching out his hand and pointing with his finger, said:

"Go!"

And Slavin slowly backed away and went into his house. It was an extraordinary scene, and it is often with me now—the dark figure on the ground, the slight, erect form of the priest with outstretched arm and finger, and Slavin backing away, fear and fury struggling in his face.

It was a near thing for the doctor, however, and two minutes more of that grip would have done for him. As it was, we had the greatest difficulty in reviving him.

What the priest did with Slavin after getting him inside I know not—that has always been a mystery to me—but when we were passing the saloon that night after taking Mrs. Mavor home we saw a light and heard strange sounds within. Entering, we found another whisky raid in progress, Slavin himself being the raider. We stood some moments watching him knocking in the heads of casks and emptying bottles. I thought he had gone mad and approached him cautiously.

"Hello, Slavin!" I called out. "What does this mean?"

He paused in his strange work, and I saw that his face, though resolute, was quiet enough.

"It means I'm done with the business, I am," he said in a determined voice. "I'll help no more to kill any man, or," in a lower tone, "any man's baby."

The priest's words had struck home.

"Thank God, Slavin!" said Craig, offering his hand. "You are much too good a man for the business."

"Good or bad, I'm done with it," he replied, going on with his work.

"You are throwing away good money, Slavin," I said as the head of a cask crashed in.

"It's myself that knows it, for the price of whisky has gone up in town this week," he answered, giving me a look out of the corner of his eye. "Bedad, it was a rare clever job," referring to our Black Rock hotel affair.

"But won't you be sorry for this?" asked Craig.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Scott's Emulsion

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

LITERARY NOTES

Not to be familiar with those leading figures in the world of finance and production who are denominated "Captains of Industry" is not to be able to read the daily news understandingly. The Cosmopolitan has undertaken to have prepared by the men most competent to write them, sketches of some sixty of these foremost men in the industrial world. No more entertaining reading has ever appeared in that magazine. The undertaking is exciting wide interest in every part of the country.

Charming fashions and millinery, designed especially for the summer season are given prominent place in the Designer for July, but not to the exclusion of other features of feminine interest, such as fancy work, which in this issue embraces "Sofa Cushions," "Toilet Table Chat," "Etiquette Hints," suggestions for the mother, the housekeepers and the gardener. "The Late Lamented," by Leigh Gordon Giltner: "A Morning in Midsummer," by Edward A. Morris; "Ralph's Successful Experiment," by A. J. Johnson, and several chapters of Mrs. Ellen Olney Kirk's charming love story, "The Apology of Ayliffe," supply the fiction.

USHER MATTHEWS

Died at Grand Rapids of

APOPLEXY

Friday Morning, June 6.

Good natured, free hearted, Usher Matthews is no more. He passed away at his home in Grand Rapids, Friday morning, June sixth, of apoplexy. His seeming good health and sudden death made it a terrible shock to family, friends and acquaintances.

He was born at Seneca Falls, N. Y., moved to Tecumseh with his parents at the age of six years and passed his boyhood and school days here. When a young man he married and left Tecumseh, started in the railroad business and continued in this work to the last. For 10 years he has been commercial agent of the Big Four system, with headquarters at Grand Rapids.

As a boy and young man in Tecumseh, he was always good natured, happy and well liked and, as he advanced in years these characteristics continued, making him a very popular man, a good friend well met and liked by everyone.

Yesterday, forty of his fellow employees came on a special train from Detroit to the funeral and a number of neighbors and friends came from Grand Rapids with him. His many Tecumseh friends mourn sincerely his early death and can but pity and sympathize with the grief stricken family and mother. He leaves a wife, two daughters and mother to mourn the loss

The following people from away attended the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodremont, Mrs. Horace Tibbals, of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. L. Ascher, of Detroit; Miss Alice Pecott, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lockwood, Sam Pecott, Mrs. Elnor Rabideau, Henry Rebideau, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kies, Mrs. F. L. Fenn, of Manchester; Mrs. John Dodds of Montana, Jas. Stearns, of Adrian.

Among those who came on the special traia from Detroit were: Jas. J. Whelan, Jas. H. Hunter, W H. Karl, O. C. Sirvice office employees of the Big Four offices Detroit; O. S. Burhlrs, Louis Ascher, Wm. F. Gregory, C. H. Bliss, Matt Zimmerman, R. M. Johnson, P. C. Crane, S E. Kirk, R. W. Meochan, A. Z. Mullins, Chas. Kohler, Chas. A. Ulrich, F. E. Russel, C. H. Rogers, Wm. Ferguson, Harry Dean, John P. Faurot, S. W. Geare, F. P. Lyon, John Freeman, John Hutchings, G. H. B. Cull, F. A. Gibbings of Detroit; A. O. Lemmerx, A. R. Wynn, E. Lane of Toledo; W. F. EDWARD C. CODLING

Now Manager of the Clothing Department of

ALVA SPAYDE'S STORE

Arrangement Commenced this week

Edward C. rather "Teddy" Codling is now manager of the clothing department of Spayde's clothing store and his brother, Roy Codling, formerly of Clinton, will assist him with the work there.

"Teddy" is a first rate good clothing man, is well liked in Tecumseh and all will rejoicce with him at the new arrangement, which will, no doubt, benefit both Mr. Spayde and the young man.

This will give Mr. Spayde more time to devote to his other business interests and make the concern even stronger than before.

THE NORTH-WESTERN AND UNION PACIFIC NEW SCHEDULES TO DENVER.

The Colorado Special leaves Chicago at 6:30 p. m., arrive at Denver 8:00 p. m.

Commencing June 8th a change will be made in the Colorado service of the Chicago & North-western and Union Pacific Railways.

The famous Colorado Special, which now leaves Chicago at 10:00 a. m. will leave at 6:30 p. m., arriving at Omaha 6:55 a. m., Denver 8:00 p. m. and Colorado Springs 10:30 p. m. This will enable passengers from Atlantic coast points to reach Denver with only two nights on the road, while from Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Chicago only one night will be required en route. The entire train will be run solid between Chicago and Denver, with through sleeper to Colorado Springs.

East bound the train will be known as the "Chicago Special," and will leave Denver 1:00 p. m., Omaha 3:45 a. m., arriving in Chicago at 4:00 p. m., at a convenient hour for making connections for the east.

Accommodations are provided for all classes of passengers, the equipment including free reclining chair cars, dining cars, buffet smoking cars, drawing room sleepers and day coaches. The entire service to be as nearly perfect as modern and skillful railway management can make it.

A second daily train for Colorado points will leave Chicago for Denver at 11:30 p. m., as at present.

Eczema

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

ROUND ABOUT US.

An expert from Coldwater while fixing a time lock on the outer door of the Boies State Savings Bank vault, stepped inside to see if everything was right there; the door swung to and he was locked in the safe; the lock was set for three hours but with the aid of a jackknife the mechanic managed to hurry matters so that he escaped in twenty minutes.—Ex.

An exchange says that Carson City old maids have organized a society, the members of which have named themselves the "Unclaimed Blessings." The officers consist of a supreme old maid, extreme old maid, scribberess, spondulixess, doortender, yellmistress, chefmistress of ceremonies. There is also an executive and vigilance committee.—Hudson Post.

An eastern manufacturer of bicycles, being compelled to go away on a business trip about the time an interesting domestic event was expected, left orders for the nurse to wire him results according to the following formula: If a boy, "Gentleman's safety arrived." If a girl "Ladies safety arrived." The father's state of mind maybe imagined when, a few days later, he received a telegram containing the one word, "Tandem."—Adrian Times.

A good story is told of an Irishman, more patriotic than clever who enlisted in one of the smart cavalry regiments. The fencing instructor had experienced rather a difficult job in the matter of explaining to him the various ways of using the sword. "Now," he said, "how would you use the sword if your opponent feinted?" "Bedad," said Pat with gleaming eyes. "I'd just tickle him with the point to see if he was shamming."—Ex.

Senator Helme came near being a "Holy Cost," Saturday evening. He was gossiping over at Breedon's shop, and rested against a bench, on which was a lighted candle. The hump on his back grew as he discussed recent events, and shoved his coat "backward still backward" till the flames of the candle got a touch, and ere Jim was aware of it, the blaze was making it hot for him, as well as making an unpatchable hole in his coat. The fire department was not called out, but the discussion ceased.—Adrian Press.

The Petoskey Lyre says: A good Methodist and a good Baptist clergyman were swapping l—, telling dreams to each other one night at a church social. 'I dreamed,' said the Baptist, 'that I was in heaven and saw no Methodists there. Upon inquiry, I was told they were all outside the walls on six months probation' 'I dreamed I was in heaven and saw no Baptists there,' retorted the Methodist. 'I inquired where they all were, and were answered that they were coming by water and were waiting for the creek to rise.'"

A Dearborn lawyer named Rice was married three years ago to Miss Bertha Marker, a prepossessing teacher in the Dearborn schools. For some reason they did not care to have the matter known. Whether she was chargined and mortified to be obliged to confess that she yielded to the pleadings of a Wayne county lawyer, and lost her heart, hand and head, or whether he wished to familiarize himself with more court practice before robbing the schools of a good teacher, does not appear. But she continued in her school-work, as Miss Marker, and he, parading as a single man, took in all the dances, river exercises, theaters, card parties, and republican conventions, and usually had a lady companion to all except the latter. This week the marriage was made public, and—well—if they have not had the worst of it for three years then marriage is a failure.—Adrian Press.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE.

To Disprove Facts. It is Decidedly Easy to Verify Tecumseh Opinion.

Nothing by the way of an introduction could be added to the experiences and opinions given below, which could increase their value. Tecumseh people can safely be left to draw their own conclusions based on such convincing proof as this citizen offers. What is there lacking in evidence like this to satisfy a dyed-in-the-wool doubting Thomas?

Mr. Henry Keyser, retired farmer and capitalist, place of residence in the southwestern section of Tecumseh, says; "I am thoroughly convinced of the superior merits of this popular remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. They deserve naught save the highest praise. Before going to C. A. Wright's drug store for a box I had a dull aching pain in my back which had annoyed me for some time and the secretions from the kidneys were irregular and unnatural. To say that I was surprised at the effect is putting it very mildly. In a very short time the trouble disappeared. I never knew a medicine that worked so quickly and satisfactorily.

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Assuming Husbands' Names.

The practice of the wife assuming the husband's name at marriage, according to Dr. Brewer, originated from a Roman custom and became the common custom after the Roman occupation. Thus Julia and Octavia, married to Pompey and Cicero, were called by the Romans Julia of Pompey, Octavia of Cicero, and in latter times married women in most European countries signed their names in the same manner, but omitted the "of." Against this view may be mentioned that during the sixteenth and even at the beginning of the seventeenth century the usage seems doubtful, since we find Catharine Parr so signing herself after she had been twice married, and we always hear of Lady Jane Grey (not Dudley), Arabella Stuart (not Seymour), etc.

Some persons think that the custom originated from the Scriptural teaching that husband and wife are one.

This was the rule of law so far back as Bracton (died 1268), and it was decided in the case of Bon versus Smith, in the reign of Elizabeth, that a woman by marriage loses her former name and legally receives the name of her husband. Altogether the custom is involved in much obscurity.

Holy Coat of Treves.

The holy coat preserved at Treves, in Germany, is claimed to be the seamless garment worn by Christ and for which the Roman soldiers cast lots during the crucifixion. It is a tunic about five feet long, cut narrow at the shoulders and gradually widening toward the knees. Many miracles are said to have been performed by this robe.

Its history for the last 700 years is clear enough, but darkness shrouds the story of the relic prior to the twelfth century. The Catholic church relies for proof of its authenticity upon a tradition that it was one of a chestful of relics sent as a gift to the church at Treves by the Empress Helena. She is said to have found the coat at Jerusalem while in search of the true cross.

A legend says that in the ninth century the holy coat was concealed from the Normans in a crypt of the cathedral. There it remained forgotten until 1196, when it was rediscovered and placed in the high altar.

TO A WATERY GRAVE.

Collision of Boats at Duluth Drowned Nine Men.

Duluth, Minn., June 9.—The whaleback steamer Thomas Wilson, Captain Cameron, and the wooden steamer George G. Hadley, Captain Fitzgerald, collided just outside Duluth canal Saturday and the Wilson sank within less than a minute. The Hadley made a run for the beach and reached there none too soon.

They were mostly men of the night crew, who had no time to get out of their bunks before the vessel sank.

When the Wilson passed out of the piers, fifteen minutes before the collision, she took a direct course down the lake. The Hadley was coming in well off to the port side of the Wilson's course. According to the story of the survivors of the Wilson, the Hadley took a sheer, without any warning, directly into the whaleback steamer. She struck the Wilson just a trifle back of amidships and her bow must have gone half way through the Wilson. The Hadley recoiled from the shock.

NEGROES ARE THREATENING.

Uprising Narrowly Averted—Trouble Looked For Yet.

Meridan, Miss., June 9.—A threatened uprising of the negroes, which so alarmed the people north of Meridian, has been frustrated by the determined stand of the whites, who armed themselves and placed the leaders of the gang, Green Johnson and Nate Moore, under arrest.

A call for the negroes to band themselves against the whites was addressed to Nate Moore and was signed by a negro Baptist preacher named Buffin. The latter said that a mob of fifty negroes would form at Rio, Kemper county, twenty-five miles northeast of Meridian, and march to Green Johnson's house and from there through the county and kill all the whites, destroy their farms and burn their houses. As soon as the whites learned of the purpose of the negroes, who outnumbered the whites two to one, they armed themselves with Winchesters and in a short time had so intimidated the negroes that it is now thought the uprising is at an end.

The people of the threatened districts, however, are very much alarmed and will be on the alert until all danger shall have passed. The people of Marion, from which news of the uprising and threats reached this city, are much wrought up and prepared for emergencies at a moment's notice.

Big Strike Averted.

Chicago, June 9.—The threatened strike today of all the allied unions employed by the different meat packing concerns was averted last night by the Stock Yards company surrendering to the Stock Yards Employes' union. All the demands of the union were granted and the cattle drivers, who were recently discharged after forming a union, will return to work in their former places.

Hanged Morgan in Effigy.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 9.—The hanging in effigy of J. Pierpont Morgan in one of the streets of South Wilkesbarre by a crowd of men and boys took place Saturday. After the effigy had been hung the crowd cheered and pelted the object with stones until the police came along and dispersed the several hundred persons that made up the throng.

A Costly Finger.

A Dresden paper relates an amusing anecdote. An old gentleman, a member of the landtag, lately slightly hurt his finger. Not troubling to go to his doctor, he asked a medical colleague what he ought to do and was told to give his finger a "soap bath." On the following day he was much surprised to receive from his friend a note for "medical consultation; the amount, 10 marks."

He then spoke to another colleague, a lawyer, complaining. His legal friend said it was strange conduct; but, should it come to a legal question, he would be obliged to pay and had better do so at once. The day after the old gentleman's astonishment was still greater on receiving from this friend a note claiming 10 marks for "legal advice."

Quite angry, he appealed to the commission, a body which settles all personal disputes of the members of the landtag. What was his disgust when the commission found that he had behaved badly in refusing just demands and condemned him to make amends by paying the fine of a basket of champagne! The finger, which was meantime perfectly healed, had cost him dear.

The Statues of Paris.

No city in the world has so many statues and monuments as Paris, and every day sees a new project for a new statue or bust. It is curious to note in this connection that a large proportion of the famous men honored in this way came to their end by violence in some form or other. Many of them died on the scaffold, and a stroll through the Paris streets may give the philosopher food for reflection on the mutability of human judgment. Danton and Lavoisier were guillotined, Jeanne d'Arc and Etienne Delet were burned at the stake, Henry IV. was murdered, Etienne Marcel was also assassinated, Marshal Ney was shot, Condorcet committed suicide to escape the scaffold, and these are only a tithe of those that might be mentioned.

How She Voted.

A cynical bachelor listening to some women who were discussing female suffrage was asked by one of them for his views on the question.

He replied thus, with great deliberation: "I once heard of a woman who was asked how she had voted at the recent election. 'In my plum colored gown,' was the answer."

Then the cynical bachelor bowed and escaped.—Chicago Chronicle.

Breaking Off.

"Yes," said the ingenuous girl heroically, "I have decided to break with Horace for good and all."

BLINDING A SHARK.

How a Pearl Diver Escaped a Voracious Man Eater.

A successful diver must possess great courage and nerves of steel. Such a man connected with a large wrecking company was visiting some years ago the pearl fisheries in the gulf of California, where sharks abounded. On one of his trips in quest of the pearl oyster he had a narrow escape from a fearful death.

He had been instructed never to stir from the bottom until he had looked up and around. Fortunately he heeded the advice. Having filled his bag he glanced quickly about and caught sight of a huge shovel nosed shark watching him.

In an emergency men think fast. Near the diver was a large rock. He moved quickly to the other side of it, hoping to dodge the ferocious monster, but the maneuver did not work. The shark watched every movement, changing his position by a slight motion of his powerful tail.

Time was precious, and the diver conceived the idea of blinding the shark by stirring up the mud. Under cover of that he might escape. He worked for dear life and had the water thick with mud in less than half a minute.

Slipping around the rock again, he rose to the surface, having barely strength enough to reach the side of the boat, and was hauled on board just as the voracious man eater made a rush for him.

Bring the Ends Together.

A certain colonel somewhere in the south (no matter where) was in the habit of telling yarns and greatly exaggerating. He had a negro servant who corroborated everything his master told. One day the colonel had some gentlemen to dinner, and they were enjoying some fine venison very much. The colonel said: "Yes, I went hunting the other day and saw a fine buck. I took a good sight at him and shot him through the head, and the bullet went through his hind leg."

The gentlemen looked at each other a little mystified. The negro scratched his head and at last said, "Yes, indeed, gemmen; just as massa raised the gun to shoot de buck he raise his hind leg and scratch his ear, and the bullet went through the head and right through de hind leg." The gentlemen looked more satisfied.

After the guests had gone the negro said to his master, "Gorry mighty, massa, next time you tell one of dem yarns do get the ends closter togedder. I had hard work to make both ends meet."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Read it in his Newspaper.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, O., is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by J. J. Orr.

Ten Years in Bed.

R. A. Gray, J. P. Oakville, Ind., writes, "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys. It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." J. J. Orr.

AN ARTIST OF NERVE.

Remarkable Daring and Coolness In an Alpine Accident.

The architect Viollet le Duc was one day on the Schwarzenberg glacier at a height of about 9,000 feet, accompanied by Baptiste, the guide, who marched in front. The two men were attached to each other by a rope, as is usual in Alpine mountaineering.

The guide had passed over a crevasse, but when M. Viollet le Duc attempted to cross it he failed and fell into the abyss. The guide tried to pull him out, but instead he found himself gradually descending.

The architect perceived that his companion, if he persisted in the attempt to save him, would surely share his fate, and he asked if Baptiste had a family.

"A wife and children," was the answer.

"Then," said Viollet le Duc quietly, "I shall cut the rope."

He did so and fell, but a block of ice thirty feet lower down stopped his descent. When Baptiste saw this and that for a time the danger was lessened, he went in search of help and returned with four stout peasants. Three hours afterward Viollet le Duc was extricated.

In spite of his perilous position the ruling passion was strong with the artist, for, although he was almost covered with icicles from the dripping water, he had contrived to make drawings of the novel effects he was able to perceive.

NO WEATHER BUREAU

Rheumatics Can Tell by Their Aches When a Storm is Coming.

Rheumatics save barometers, but it is like sticking knives into them when change of weather comes.

When nature waves her danger flag it is an acute evidence of the disease and a cry for help. She cannot free herself from this Uric acid, but convulsively tries to throw it off as the stomach tries to eject a poison.

If you do not help nature you will have to suffer. You have suffered. There's no need. Athlophoros can stop the pain and free you from this weather-vane trick. Athlophoros acts directly on the Uric acid like a May day on an ice field—it will drive your Rheumatism away, no matter what kind of Rheumatism or Neuralgia you may have. Sciatica and Lumbago both come from Uric acid and will respond quickly to the action of Athlophoros—it will soothe and quiet you—you can prove it easily. If your druggist doesn't keep it send $1 to The Athlophoros Co., New Haven, Conn. It is pleasant to know help is so near. You will find it still pleasanter to be without aches and pains.

'Twas Easier.

"So you are going to Europe?"

"I am," answered the young man.

"Why don't you stay here in America, where there are so many opportunities to make a fortune?"

"Well, I've concluded that the other side is easier. Of course you can make a fortune if you will stay and work for it, but people are always more liberal when they are away from home. I have concluded that it is much easier to go over there and let the other Americans bring it to me."—Washington Star.

Valuable Advice.

Young Lady—A friend of mine is engaged to a man, and now he refuses to marry her. What would you advise her to do?

Old Lawyer—Is the man wealthy?

Young Lady—No. He hasn't a shilling.

Old Lawyer—Then I'd advise her to write him a nice letter of thanks.—London Telegraph.

Splinters.

Thorns and splinters finding their way under the skin frequently give considerable pain. If they cannot be immediately extracted, for which purpose a new needle will be found in most cases a sufficient surgical instrument, the part should be bathed with hot water. In event of inflammation the steam of hot water should be applied.

LIFE

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not LIVE, but EXIST, for TO LIVE implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, rundown or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

Patchwork of Pictures.

Of all the quaint and varied sights shown to the passing stranger, says Navy and Army, perhaps there is none more attractive than the officers' quarters in the main guard of the citadel of Valetta. Long ago some officer, finding the time hang heavy on his hands and having in him besides a turn for sketching, bethought him to draw upon the bare yellow washed wall of his ungarnished room a picture in colors. The next officer probably thought he could do as well or better, and he, too, left his handiwork upon the walls, and as years rolled by there grew up a custom, now firmly established, for every regiment serving in Malta and doing main guard duty to leave behind a remembrance of itself in the shape of a sketch on the walls in pencil, chalk or paint. Thus now, instead of plain, unlovely walls, exists this quaint irregular patchwork of pictures, well known throughout the services and to those who use this highway to the east.

Overreached Herself.

Some time ago in Devonshire there were a pair courting named John and Mary.

They had been courting for several years, when Mary began to think John was rather backward in popping the question, so she, being anxious to get married, thought she would try a scheme of her own.

While out walking one day she said blushingly, "John, what do you think all the people in the village are saying?"

"I don't know," said John.

"Well, they all says that we are going to get married."

"Ah, ah," said John. "Now we'll show 'em they're mistaken, and we won't get married."—London Answers.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Liver Troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual costiveness, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, despondent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with stomach and liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

German Professor Comes to America.—Professor Friedrich Hirth, holder of the chair of Chinese philology at the University of Munich, has accepted the offer of the Chicago chair at Columbia university, New York, and will begin his lectures there next October.

A Ghastly Find.—The remains of a young woman, sawed and chopped up into a dozen pieces, have been found in an alley in the Lambeth district, London. The body had apparently been baked or boiled. The scalp had been torn off and the hands, feet and intestines were missing.

A Japanese Financier.—Baron Elichi Shibusawa, one of the foremost financiers and bankers of Japan, arrived in Chicago Sunday from the west, on his way to London, where he will represent the Tokio chamber of commerce at the coronation of King Edward. The baron and his party will remain in Chicago several days.

Holls Met the Emperor.—Judge F. W. Holls of New York, who was formerly secretary to the American delegation at The Hague, was received by Emperor William Sunday at the old palace. The audience lasted three-quarters of an hour, and Emperor William discussed American affairs and international problems with Judge Holls.

Threatened With Arrest.—A sensation has been caused at Guyaquil, Ecuador, by the arrest of Alfred Fermin, a partner in the old established banking house of Martin Reinberg & Co., which became bankrupt last October with liabilities of over $1,000,000. An order has also been issued for the arrest of Martin Reinberg, who for many years has been the vice-consul-general of the United States.

Pope Sent His Blessing.—With solemn ceremonies, the newly constructed Church of the Sacred Heart was dedicated at Omaha, Neb., Sunday. Bishop Scannell of this diocese, assisted by Bishop Glennon of Kansas City, Bishop Spalding of Peoria, and great number of clergy of the Nebraska churches. Pope Leo XIII. sent a special message granting his blessing on the new structure, which was read during the ceremony.

Now They Are Reconciled.—The duel bteween Signor Prinetti, the minister of foreign affairs at Rome, who was challenged to fight by Signor Franchetti, a member of the chamber, as the result of a heated discussion, occurred Sunday evening at the villa of the Marquis Medicis. Signor Franchett was slightly wounded in the ear. After the encounter Signor Prinetti and Signor Franchetti became reconciled.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

Hot Weather Wear.

Yes, Old Sol is sure to shine and there is a lot of lost time to be made up. It's going to be hot. Time to think about hot weather wear. We had to six months ago. That's why our stock is so fine. Here are a few hot weather thoughts in tangible form: light as cobweb, strong enough for the hardest service. Balbriggan and Jersey Knit, in union and not union suits, plain and fancy—50c to $2.50 a suit here.

Underwear,

Negligee Shirts.

'Twould be negligent of me not to mention our Outing and Negligee Shirts. The Monarch brand—that means the best—$1.00, $1.50, $2.00.

TO ENJOY

cool comfort during your vacation, or while waiting for vacation to come, we suggest one of our Norfolk or Outing suits. They combine hot weather comfort with prudent economy—$6 to $12. Top this all out with one of our head coolers, a Straw Hat—25c to $2.50—Then let Old Sol sizzle. You won't care. We want to alleviate your wants.

HELD LAST SESSION

Congress Adjourned Tuesday Afternoon at 5:30.

LIVELY SCENES AT CLOSING

Stormy Debate on the Philippine Question Ended the Session in Senate—House Closed by Singing Patriotic Songs.

Washington, July 2.—After a session marked by some of the stormiest debates ever heard in the American congress, the senate adjourned sine die at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon.

The conference report on the Philippine government bill was adopted without very serious opposition, and then when the decks of the senate were cleared for adjournment, Mr. Carmack called up his resolution providing for a continuance of the investigation of the Philippine commission and for a visit to the Philippine islands by the committee during the present summer. This started the trouble and for more than an hour a battle of words was waged. Mr. Spooner delivered a scathing denunciation of the minority of the Philippine commission for what, he declared, was an attack upon the American army.

Mr. Carmack denied that any attack had been made upon the army and declared that any fool could charge such a calumny and any Parrott could be taught to repeat it. The resolution was referred to a committee, thus effectually killing it.

Amid a scene of enthusiasm that has not been paralleled since the exciting and stirring days of the Spanish war, Speaker Henderson at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon declared the house of representatives adjourned without day. In doing so he said that no house of representatives since the adoption of the constitution had done as much work as this one. The audience to which he made his brief address was a brilliant one. The galleries were banked to the doors and almost two-thirds of the members were in their seats on the floor. The speaker's appreciative words to the members in thanking them for their co-operation during the session had touched a responsive chord, and they gave him a remarkable demonstration of their friendship and good will.

While the cheering and applause was still in progress, the members on the floor began singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." It was taken up by the correspondents in the press gallery over the speaker's chair, and by the spectators in the surrounding galleries and soon the vast hall was ringing with the swelling cheers. Other patriotic airs followed as the members exchanged farewell, "The Star Spangled Banner" alternating with "Dixie." The speaker came down from his rostrum, his appearance on the floor being greeted with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and a perfect rush of members to grasp his hand. Standing in the area in front of the clerk's desk, he too joined in the songs, and there was a wild scene when General Hooker of Mississippi, the old one-armed confederate veteran, took his place by the side of the speaker, and together they sang "Dixie." Mr. Candler, a Mississippi Democrat, jumped upon a desk and let out a yell of jubilation that fairly shook the rafters. For almost half an hour the jubilation continued. All this time the spectators remained standing in the galleries watching the animated scene below and joining in the singing.

The adjournment came at the end of a seven and a half hours' session, during which much minor business was transacted. In all, seventy bills and resolutions were passed.

Special Service For King.

London, July 2.—There is some talk in official circles of a public thanksgiving service at St. Paul's cathedral when the king is sufficiently recovered to attend. This proposal, if carried out, will be quite apart from the coronation, which when it takes place, will be largely confined to a religious ceremony. The invitations to foreign powers to send representatives will be considerably curtailed, being restricted to countries connected with Great Britain by ties of blood or special friendship.

Trolley Car Plunged Into River.

Elgin, Ill., July 2.—One of the large interurban trolley cars running between Elgin and Aurora plunged through the bridge crossing the Fox river at St. Charles Tuesday, carrying a load of thirty passengers into the river. With scarcely any warning, one of the spans of the bridges collapsed from the weight of the car and fell with the car to the river bed. The car caught for a moment on the stone abutment and lessened the force of the fall. No one was killed, but several persons were injured.

Peacemaker Was Killed.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 2.—Former Chief of Police James Childers was shot and instantly killed by William Myers, an employe of the city fire department, last night. Two other men had an altercation and Childers attempted to act the part of peacemaker, when Myers pulled a revolver and shot Childers in the abdomen. The affair has caused the greatest excitement in this city.

Her Fifth Husband.

Berlin, July 2.—Madame Careno, a distinguished pianist of America, was wedded here yesterday to her fifth husband, Arturo Tagliapietra of New York, who is a brother of her second husband. Her fourth was the pianist, D'Albert, whom she married in the United States seven years ago.

Forty-One Cases of Cholera.

Manila, July 2.—There are forty-one new cases of cholera in Manila. This is the largest number reported for any one day since the outbreak of the epidemic.

INVADE MICHIGAN

Beef Trust Is to Establish Extensive Ranches.

FOR THE RAISING OF CATTLE

W. E. Rogers of Alpena Tells of Extensive Purchases in Northern Part of State—Hammond, Standish & Co. Buy Ten Thousand Acres.

Detroit, Mich., July 2.—The beef trust is to invade Michigan and will establish extensive ranches throughout the northern portion of the state, especially in Alcona, Alpena and Roscommon counties.

"There is no question of the truth of this assertion," said W. E. Rogers of Alpena, who is in the city for a few days. "I am interested in the Alcona County Ranch company. We started our ranch last year and have purchased 4,000 acres more. Since we started in several Chicago firms identified with the beef trust have bought land in the same vicinity. Hammond, Standish & Co. have purchased 10,000 acres from Alger, Smith & Co. in the northeast corner of Alcona county, including the mill and store, and will stock the ranch, which will extend four miles back from Black river, with western cattle.

"Another firm also identified with the beef trust, but whose identity has not been disclosed, has bought 60,000 acres in Roscommon county which it will convert into a cattle ranch. I think it is Swift & Co."

Mr. Rogers showed a letter making inquiry for 100,000 acres. It was from a Chicago real estate man, who said he was acting for a client who wished to pay spot cash if the land could be got cheap enough. I was in Bay City when H. E. Tremain, who attends to the Michigan affairs of Hammond, Standish & Co., wired to Detroit to have Alger, Smith & Co.'s land secured."

"We have as yet sold no land," said General Alger yesterday. "A day or two ago, however, a gentleman came to us with a refusal signed by our foreman for a parcel in Alcona county containing 5,000 or 6,000 acres. Since you mention it, I believe his name was Tremaine, but the deal has not yet been closed. We have 50,000 more acres, but there have been no big purchases talked of."

SET HIS SON AFIRE.

Accident of a Father May Cost Little Boy's Life.

Coldwater, Mich., July 2.—Monday night in Algansee township Rev. C. R. Schemerhorn, while attempting to rid his henhouse of lice by the use of gasoline, accidentally set fire to the gasoline in a can.

He threw the can out of the building and its flaming contents covered his eight-year-old son, burning him terribly.

The little fellow is still alive, but there are no hopes of his recovery. His father's grief is pitiful.

Dr. Leonard Out of a Job.

Ypsilanti, Mich., July 2.—Dr. Leonard is no longer the official president of the Michigan system of normals, his term of office having expired Tuesday. He will remain at his desk for a week or more, however, looking after matters of detail that need immediate attention. The state board of education offered the Normal presidency to Superintendent Jones of Cleveland and to Dr. Arnold Tompkins of Chicago, but neither would accept.

Nichols Gets Change of Venue.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 2.—In the superior court Tuesday, Judge Newnham granted the motion for a change of venue in the case of State Senator George E. Nichols of Ionia, charged with offering a money bribe to one of people's witnesses in the Salsbury water bribery case. The court will not decide on the place of trial until his return from England in September.

Railroad Earnings.

Lansing, Mich., July 2.—Commissioner Osborn reports that the Michigan earnings of railroad companies for the month of May were $3,761,430.35, an increase of $269,167.75 over the same month last year. The earnings to June 1 were $18,230,704.47, an increase of $1,369,806.69, or 8.12 per cent over the same period of 1901.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

G. A. R. Appointments.—Henry H. Miller of Marshall has been appointed aide-de-camp to the G. A. R. department commander, and John Cuzzins assistant inspector.

House-Breakers Arrested.—George Lawrence, Colin McIntyre and John Henan were arrested in Detroit Tuesday afternoon on suspicion of being the gang which has done a great deal of house-breaking of late.

Lightning's Queer Freaks.—Lightning entered the house of F. W. Briggs at Colon, knocked his little girl over, set fire to Mrs. Briggs' spring bonnet, and in departing left its marks on the doorsteps as a sort of farewell.

Old Editor Dead.—William M. Clark, for many years previous to a few years ago managing editor of the Lansing Republican, is dead at Lansing, aged sixty-five years. He was one of the members of the first board of control of Mackinac Island park, and was secretary of the board.

Wants Executive Mansion.—While in Flint attending the burial of Judge Long, Governor Bliss said that he would have a bill introduced at the next session of the legislature for the sale of the state's vacant property in Lansing. With the money thus obtained he will ask to have a mansion erected in Lansing for the use of the governor's family.

Sherman Statue Being Executed.

Copenhagen, July 1.—The Norwegian sculptor, Stephen Sinding, whose home is Copenhagen, has completed two groups of casts for the Sherman statue, to be erected in Washington. These groups are allegorical, representing war and peace. They are about ten feet in height. The conception and execution are in the highest degree artistic. The original designer was the Danish-American sculptor, Rohl-Smith, whose design was accepted by the committee, after an open contest. Rohl-Smith died before completing the designs and his widow asked his best friend, Sinding, to finish the work. The equestrian part of the statue is to be completed by a Danish artist, Lauritz Jensen, in Washington.

BONFIRES BLAZED

Demonstration in England Over Recovery of the King.

GREAT FLEET IN REVIEW

Volunteers, Colonial Troops and Distinguished Persons Witnessed the Maneuvers—Dinner to the Poor Occurs on July 5.

London, July 1.—The general feeling of relief as a result of the favorable reports of the condition of the king vented itself last night by the touching off of the 3,000 bonfires throughout the United Kingdom which were originally prepared to celebrate the coronation night.

The signal to light the fires was given at five minutes past 9 o'clock. A rocket was sent up from Earls court and burst in a cloud of stars 1,000 feet overhead. In response to this signal bonfires rose from every elevation of any consequence from Lizard to Orknews. The celebration was unfortunately somewhat dampened by a downfall of rain.

London was not officially illuminated. The display in London in this line was confined to the theaters, the hotels and the business houses on the Strand, Fleet street and other thoroughfares.

There was quite a celebration at Spithead yesterday, when the nearest approach to a review of the great fleet there was seen in the trip of several transports loaded with volunteers and colonial troops and a number of distinguished persons, who inspected the empire's "first line of defense."

The arrangement for King Edward's dinner to the poor of London, to be held July 5, are being rapidly completed.

Dublin, July 1.—All the principal streets of Dublin were splendidly illuminated last night in honor of the king's satisfactory progress, and they were so crowded with people that vehicular traffic had to be stopped.

Some disturbances were created by a mob of Nationalists, who had to be charged and dispersed by the police several times.

New Scheme For Pacific Cable.

Washington, July 1.—An important conference was held at the navy department Monday, at which Secretary Moody, Rear Admiral Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, and Senator Perkins of California, a member of the committee on naval affairs, were present. These gentlemen had before them a proposition of the Eastern Extension Telegraph company, acting, it is understood, through the Commercial Pacific Cable company, by which the company would agree to finish its work of laying a cable across the Pacific ocean a year earlier than was contemplated and give this government the benefit of reduced rates in exchange for the information developed in the surveys made by the U. S. S. Nero in 1899 for a practicable submarine cable route across the ocean. The proposition was discussed at some length, and Rear Admiral Bradford was charged with personal inspection and consideration of the matter. He probably will report favorable on the company's offer in a few days.

Dakota Town Burns.

Larimore, S. D., July 1.—The business portion of Conway, a village of about 300 inhabitants, thirty-eight miles north of here, was wiped out by fire Monday afternoon, causing a loss from $60,000 to $70,000. The fire destroyed three general stores, one drug store, two hardware stores, one meat market, two hotels, one tailor shop, one dwelling and a millinery store. Insurance, $30,000.

Twelve Thousand Miners Struck.

Birmingham, Ala., July 1.—More than 12,000 miners struck Monday in the Birmingham district. At a recent meeting of the operators and miners, the latter demanded an eight-hour day, a two weeks' payday and 60 cents per ton as the maximum price for mining coal, an increase of 5 cents. The operators refused to grant these concessions.

JUSTICE LONG'S SUCCESSOR.

Governor Bliss Will Leave the Choice to the State Convention.

Lansing, Mich., July 1.—Just before leaving for Saginaw yesterday noon Governor Bliss said:

"I have decided to take no steps at present with regard to the appointment of a successor to the late Justice Long, preferring to leave the naming of his successor to the state convention."

While the governor declined to discuss the question further, it is known that the consensus of legal opinion is that it will be necessary to call a state convention to nominate a candidate for supreme justice, as a selection by the state committee would not be legal. It is expected, however, that this matter will be formally passed upon by Attorney-General Oren.

The supreme court, so far as hearing cases is concerned, adjourned until the October term. A new justice would, therefore, have practically nothing to do until the middle of October at the earliest, because he could take no part in the determination of cases now before the court, not having participated in the hearing of such cases.

A LITTLE OF "OLD SOL"

Lansing, Mich., July 2.—In the weekly crop bulletin of the Michigan weather bureau, issued Tuesday, Director Schneider says that the past week was unseasonably cool, light frosts occurring in nearly all the counties of the state.

The cool, wet weather is making a rather rank growth in grain and grass, has almost checked the growth of corn and beans, delayed haying and retarded cultivation. Wheat, rye, oats and barley are in good condition, but are now in urgent need of warmth and dryness. Wheat is very promising at present.

Corn is very backward in all parts of the state, and in most localities looks small and yellow. Beans have germinated slowly and made very little growth. The completion of late potato planting has been delayed. Early potatoes, especially on light soils, are quite promising, being mostly in bloom. Sugar beets, except on heavy soil, continue promising, although farmers have been much delayed in thinning and cultivating them.

Although clover haying was entered upon two weeks ago, the cut is being poorly secured. The hay crop in general is quite promising if dry weather comes soon so that it can be cut, cured and housed.

Cherries are a light crop. Although apples have dropped considerably in some localities, the general prospect continues very good.

Fourteen Illegal Fishermen.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 2.—Deputy Game and Fish Warden Palmer of Buchanan went to Dunham lake valley and collected enough evidence in a few hours against fourteen citizens of the village of Stevensville to bring about their arrest and conviction for illegal fishing. When they were arraigned before Judge Harry Vincent of Stevensville Tuesday the little justice court room was crowded to the doors. The following were arraigned, and each in turn pleaded guilty to illegal fishing and were fined $3 and costs: Fred Kermesky, Ronold Ott, Frank Servis, L. Densmore, William Densmore, Boswell LeBodo, Ellsworth Ott, Matt Ott, Herman Deheny, Max Deheny, Charles Krueger, William Kauffman and Paul Krueger.

New Military Appointments.

Lansing, Mich., July 2.—The following commissions were issued by Adjutant-General Brown Tuesday: Ray M. Campbell, first lieutenant and battalion adjutant, Second infantry, Grand Rapids; Murry Irwin, first lieutenant, Company C, First Independent battalion, Jackson; Daniel J. McDonald, captain and commissary, Third infantry, Cheboygan; Samuel J. King, second lieutenant, Company C, First Independent battalion, Jackson.

Want to Keep the Maccabees.

Port Huron, Mich., July 2.—The citizens of Port Huron tendered a banquet to the great officers of the K. O. M. M. and L. O. M. M. last night. The officers were nearly all present and responded to toasts. The purpose of the affair was to bring the organizations and the city into closer touch, and the general air of good feeling which prevailed is thought to augur well for the retention of Port Huron as the headquarters of the order.

New Rural Route.

Washington, July 2.—Rural free delivery has been ordered established Aug. 1 at Traverse City, Grand Traverse county, Mich. One carrier. Length of route, 24¾ miles; area covered, twenty square miles; population to be served, 504; number of houses on the route, 112.

Tried to Kill Her Son.

Muskegon, Mich., July 2.—Mrs. Ella Erickson of Lakeside, has gone insane and resisted arrest. When the officers forced an entrance into her house she attempted to strangle her young son. It required three men to place her in a padded cell. She has a husband and four children.

Must Answer Murder Charge.

Petoskey, Mich., July 2.—Perley Johnson, the bicycle scorcher who ran over and killed Miss Pearl Petoskey last Saturday, was arrested and will be arraigned today before Justice Leroy on the charge of murder.

Alleged Chinaman Is Murderer.

Buffalo, July 2.—Charley Wee, a Chinese laundryman, was arrested Tuesday and held on an open charge in connection with the murder of Mary Murphy, a six-year-old girl who mysteriously disappeared on June 17 and whose body, bound with ropes and wrapped in newspapers and coarse cotton cloth, was found floating in a small pond in Forest Lawn cemetery. The autopsy showed that the child had been outraged and strangled. Public feeling runs high and all the Chinese laundries in the city have been closed and policemen stationed in front of them. Wee's place was thoroughly searched and the police say they found ample evidence on which to hold the Chinaman.

Italy's King to Visit Czar.

Rome, July 2.—Arrangements have been completed for the visit of King Victor Emmanuel to the czar at St. Petersburg during the present month, and for the king to visit Emperor William at Berlin in August. The announcement of the proposed visits is much commented upon as, notwithstanding the fact that the dreibund has just been renewed, his majesty goes first to St. Petersburg. Emperor Francis Joseph's refusal to come to Rome, because such a step would offend the pope, is responsible for the omission of Vienna from the king's itinerary.

His Fortune Goes to Charity.

New York, July 2.—Being far advanced in years and having no immediate relatives to whom to bequeath his fortune, John M. Burke, a wealthy retired merchant and railroad director of this city, has conveyed to a corporation real and personal property to the amount of $4,000,000 for the purpose of founding a convalescent home in or near the borough of Manhattan.

BLACK ROCK

By RALPH CONNOR

But I saw Graeme as a new man the night he talked theology with his father. The old minister was a splendid Calvinist, of heroic type, and as he discoursed of God's sovereignty and election his face glowed and his voice rang out.

Graeme listened intently, now and then putting in a question, as one would a keen knife thrust into a foe, but the old man knew his ground and moved easily among his ideas, demolishing the enemy as he appeared with jaunty grace. In the full flow of his triumphant argument Graeme turned to him with sudden seriousness.

"Look here, father. I was born a Calvinist, and I can't see how any one with a level head can hold anything else than that the Almighty has some idea as to how he wants to run his universe, and he means to carry out his idea and is carrying it out. But what would you do in a case like this?"

Then he told the story of poor Billy Breen, his fight and his defeat.

"Would you preach election to that chap?"

The mother's eyes were shining with tears.

The old gentleman blew his nose like a trumpet and then said gravely:

"No, my boy. You don't feed babes with meat. But what came to him?"

Then Graeme asked me to finish the tale. After I had finished the story of Billy's final triumph and of Craig's part in it they sat long silent till the minister, clearing his throat hard and blowing his nose more like a trumpet than ever, said, with great emphasis:

"Thank God for such a man in such a place! I wish there were more of us like him."

"I should like to see you out there, sir," said Graeme admiringly. "You'd get them, but you wouldn't have time for election."

"Yes, yes," said his father warmly; "I should love to have a chance just to preach election to those poor lads. Would I were twenty years younger!"

"It is worth a man's life," said Graeme earnestly.

His younger brother turned his face eagerly toward the mother. For answer she slipped her hand into his and said softly, while her eyes shone like stars:

"Some day, Jack, perhaps. God knows."

But Jack only looked steadily at her, smiling a little and patting her hand.

"You'd shine there, mother," said Graeme, smiling upon her. "You'd better come with me."

She started and said faintly:

"With you?" It was the first hint he had given of his purpose. "You are going back?"

"What—as a missionary?" said Jack.

"Not to preach, Jack—I'm not orthodox enough," looking at his father and shaking his head—"but to build railroads and lend a hand to some poor chap if I can."

"Could you not find work nearer home, my boy?" asked the father. "There is plenty of both kinds near us here surely."

"Lots of work, but not mine, I fear," answered Graeme, keeping his eyes away from his mother's face. "A man must do his own work."

His voice was quiet and resolute, and, glancing at the beautiful face at the end of the table, I saw in the pale lips and yearning eyes that the mother was offering up her firstborn, that ancient sacrifice. But not all the agony of sacrifice could wring from her entreaty or complaint in the hearing of her sons. That was for other ears and for the silent hours of the night. And next morning, when she came down to meet us, her face was wan and weary, but it wore the peace of victory and a glory not of earth. Her greeting was full of dignity, sweet and gentle, but when she came to Graeme she lingered over him and kissed him twice, and that was all that any of us ever saw of that sore fight.

At the end of the week I took leave of them and last of all of the mother.

She hesitated just a moment, then suddenly put her hands upon my shoulders and kissed me, saying softly:

"You are his friend. You will sometimes come to me?"

"Gladly, if I may," I hastened to answer, for the sweet, brave face was too much to bear, and till she left us for that world of which she was a part I kept my word, to my own great and lasting good.

When Graeme met me in the city at the end of the summer, he brought me her love and then burst forth:

"Connor, do you know, I have just discovered my mother. I have never known her till this summer."

"More fool you," I answered, for often had I, who had never known a mother, envied him his.

"Yes; that is true," he answered shortly, "but you cannot see until you have eyes."

Before he set out again for the west I gave him a supper, asking the men who had been with us in the old varsity days. I was doubtful as to the wisdom of this and was persuaded only by Graeme's eager assent to my proposal.

"Certainly; let's have them," he said. "I shall be awfully glad to see them. Great stuff they were."

"But I don't know, Graeme. You see—well, hang it—you know—you're different, you know."

He looked at me curiously.

"I hope I can still stand a good supper, and if the boys can't stand me, why, I can't help it. I'll do anything but roar, and don't you begin to work off your menagerie act. Now, you hear me!"

"Well, it is rather hard lines that when I have been talking up my lion for a year and then finally secure him he will not roar."

"Serves you right," he replied quite heartlessly. "But I'll tell you what I'll do—I'll feed! Don't you worry," he added soothingly. "The supper will go."

And go it did. The supper was of the best, the wines first class. I had asked Graeme about the wines.

"Do as you like, old man," was his answer. "It's your supper. But," he added, "are the men all straight?"

I ran them over in my mind.

"Yes, I think so."

"If not, don't you help them down, and anyway you can't be too careful. But don't mind me. I am quit of the whole business from this out."

So I ventured wines, for the last time, as it happened.

We were a quaint combination: "Beetles," whose nickname was prophetic of his future fame as a bugman, as the fellows irreverently said; "Stumpy" Smith, a demon bowler; "Polly" Lindsay, slow as ever and as sure as when he held the halfback line with Graeme and used to make my heart stand still at his cool deliberation. But he was never known to fumble or funk, and somehow he always got us out safe enough. Then there were Rattray—"Rat" for short—who, from a swell, had developed into a cynic with a sneer, awfully clever and a good enough fellow at heart; little "Wig" Martin, the sharpest quarter ever seen, and Barney Lundy, center scrimmage, whose terrific roar and rush had often struck terror to the enemy's heart and who was Graeme's slave. Such was the party.

As the supper went on my fears began to vanish, for if Graeme did not roar he did the next best thing—ate and talked quite up to his old form. Now we played our matches over again, bitterly lamenting the "ifs" that had lost us the championships and wildly approving the tackles that had saved and the runs that had made the varsity crowd go mad with delight and had won for us, and as their names came up in talk we learned how life had gone with those who had been our comrades of ten years ago. Some success had lifted to high places, some failure had left upon the rocks, and a few lay in their graves.

But as the evening wore on I began to wish that I had left out the wines, for the men began to drop an occasional oath, though I had let them know during the summer that Graeme was not the man he had been. But Graeme smoked and talked and heeded not till Rattray swore by that name most sacred of all ever borne by man. Then Graeme opened upon him in a cool, slow way:

"What an awful fool a man is to damn things as you do, Rat! Things are not damned. It is men who are, and that is too bad to be talked much about. But when a man flings out of his foul mouth the name of Jesus Christ"—here he lowered his voice—"it's a shame; it's more—it's a crime."

There was dead silence. Then Rattray replied:

"I suppose you're right enough. It is bad form. But crime is rather strong, I think."

"Not if you consider who it is," said Graeme, with emphasis.

"Oh, come now!" broke in Beetles. "Religion is all right. It is a good thing and, I believe, a necessary thing for the race. But no one takes seriously any longer the Christ myth."

Beetles consigned him to the pit and was silent, for his father was an Episcopal clergyman and his mother a saintly woman.

"I fooled with that for some time, Beetles, but it won't do. You can't build a religion that will take the devil out of a man on a myth. That won't do the trick. I don't want to argue about it, but I am quite convinced the myth theory is not reasonable, and, besides, it won't work."

"Will the other work?" asked Rattray, with a sneer.

"Sure," said Graeme. "I've seen it."

"Where?" challenged Rattray. "I haven't seen much of it."

"Yes, you have, Rattray; you know you have," said Wig again.

But Rattray ignored him.

"I'll tell you, boys," said Graeme. "I want you to know anyway why I believe what I do."

Then he told them the story of old man Nelson, from the old coast days, before I knew him, to the end. He told the story well. The stern fight and the victory of the life and the self sacrifice and the pathos of the death appealed to these men, who loved fight and could understand sacrifice.

"That's why I believe in Jesus Christ, and that's why I think it a crime to fling his name about."

"I wish to heaven I could say that," said Beetles.

"Keep wishing hard enough, and it will come to you," said Graeme.

"Look here, old chap," said Rattray. "You're quite right about this. I'm willing to own up. Wig is correct. I know a few at least of that stamp, but most of those who go in for that sort of thing are not much account."

"For ten years, Rattray," said Graeme in a downright matter of fact way, "you and I have tried this sort of thing," tapping a bottle, "and we got out of it all there is to be got, paid well for it, too, and, faugh, you know it's not good enough, and the more you go in for it the more you curse yourself. So I have quit this, and I am going in for the other."

"What? Going in for preaching?"

"Not much—railroading, money in it—and lending a hand to fellows on the rocks."

"I say, don't you want a center forward?" said big Barney in his deep voice.

"Every man must play his game in his place, old chap. I'd like to see you tackle it, though, right well," said Graeme earnestly.

And so he did in the after years, and good tackling it was. But that is another story.

"But, I say, Graeme," persisted Beetles, "about this business—do you mean to say you go the whole thing—Jonah, you know, and the rest of it?"

Graeme hesitated, then said:

"I haven't much of a creed, Beetles; don't really know how much I believe. But"—by this time he was standing—"I do know that good is good, and bad is bad, and good and bad are not the same, and I know a man's a fool to follow the one and a wise man to follow the other, and," lowering his voice, "I believe God is at the back of a man who wants to get done with bad. I've tried all that folly," sweeping his hand over the glasses and bottles, "and all that goes with it, and I've done with it."

"I'll go you that far," roared big Barney, following his old captain as of yore.

"Good man," said Graeme, striking hands with him.

"Put me down," said little Wig cheerfully.

Then I took up the word, for there rose before me the scene in the league saloon, and I saw the beautiful face with the deep, shining eyes, and I was speaking for her again. I told them of Craig and his fight for these men's lives. I told them, too, of how I had been too indolent to begin. "But," I said, "I am going this far from tonight." And I swept the bottles into the champagne tub.

"I say," said Polly Lindsay, coming up in his old style, slow, but sure, "let's all go in, say, for five years."

And so we did. We didn't sign anything, but every man shook hands with Graeme.

And as I told Craig about this a year later, when he was on his way back from his old land trip to join Graeme in the mountains, he threw up his head in the old way and said: "It was well done. It must have been worth seeing. Old man Nelson's work is not done yet. Tell me again." And he made me go over the whole scene, with all the details put in.

But when I told Mrs. Mavor after two years had gone she only said, "Old things are passed away; all things are become new," but the light glowed in her eyes till I could not see their color. But all that, too, is another story.

LITERARY NOTES

Among the full page portraits of notable persons in THE OUTLOOK'S JULY Magazine Number are those of Professor Woodrow Wilson, the newly elected President of Princeton, the Hon. Michael Henry Herbert, the new British ambassador to United States, Herbert B. Squiers, the first United States Minister to Cuba, and Mrs. Charles Denison, new President of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Among the articles of a general nature in the July Critic none will be found more readable than Mr Francis Gribble's paper on "Dumas the Elder," illustrated after portraits and reproductions of the Dumas statue by Gustave Dore. Mr. Gribble lays bare the mainsprings of Dumas' extraordinary career and concludes with no little justice that, however absorbing his novels are, the man himself was even more so.

Excursion to Portland, Me., and Return.

July 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Portland, Me., and return at practically half rates. These tickets will be good to leave Portland not later than July 17, or by depositing tickets in that city an extension of limit for return until August 15 can be obtained. Particulars from ticket agents.

County Convention.

The Democrats of Lenawee Co., will meet in convention at the Court House in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday the 23rd day of July 1902, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing 26 delegates to represent Lenawee county at the Democratic State Convention to be held in the city of Detroit on the 30th day of July 1902, for the election of 26 delegates to represent Lenawee County in the 2nd Congressional district Democratic Convention to be hereafter called; to elect a chairman and members of a county committee, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Each township and ward is entitled to same number of delegates as at the last democratic county convention.

By order of County Committee.

CHAS. HUMPHREY, Chairman.
J. B. AYERS, Secy.

Enjoyable Summer travel Privileges

Several very enjoyable privileges are afforded travelers over the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., this summer such as stop-over privileges for visiting Put-in-Bay and Lake Erie Islands, Lake Chautauqua, Niagara Falls and optional route between Cleveland and Buffalo by C. and B. Line steamers, also on Hudson river day line steamers between Albany and New York. These matters are all explained in our summer booklet entitled "Some Privileges for the Lake Shore Patrons," which can be obtained from local ticket agents or by writing to A. J. Smith, G. P. & T. A., Cleveland, O.

It is not in heaven we are to find God but in God we are to find heaven.

Of Interest to Horsemen.

Hudson and Gatcomb shipped their horses from Lexington, Ky., to Tiffin, O., on the 21st inst. They arrived in Detroit June 30. The ones in this stable that are attracting most attention are the green trotters, "Chase" and "Rythmic," the former being named in the M and M.

In a recent work-out, Mr. Geers drove "Direct Hall" in 2:08¼. This horse will be remembered as his nomination in the Chamber of Commerce event.

"Metallas" 2:11 that is owned by N. W. Hubinger of New Haven, Conn., trotted a mile over the Grosse Point Track Friday, the 20th, in 2:11¼ which is the fastest work-out mile that has been reported during the present season. He is the stallion that the above named gentleman purchased during the week of the Blue Ribbon Meeting in 1901, paying $16,000 for him.

"Elastic Pointer's" mile in 2:12¼ on June 20, would indicate that he is coming into racing form rapidly, this horse will be one of the starters in the Chamber of Commerce.

"Gold Brick" went an easy mile in 16¼ in a work-out Friday, stepping the last quarter in 31¼ seconds.

"Ted" one of the horses named in the M and M stake is receiving the finishing touches of his preparation at Grosse Point, Detroit. He looks big and strong and is apparently taking to his work kindly.

"Antezella" and "Dora Highwood" worked a mile together in 2:15¼ the latter part of the week, covering the last two furlongs in 32 seconds.

"Onward Silver," 2:08, is in John Hussey's stable at Detroit. He never looked better in his life than at the present time.

One of the best going trotters at the Detroit track is "Judge Baker," 2:20¼, a member of the Hubinger stable. He has beaten 2:20 quite a little in his work.

Bud Doble, the once famous reinsman, has engaged five stalls at the Grosse Point track and is expected to arrive sometime during the week.

They (the horses) are beginning to step about some these days. "The Monk" has been a mile in 2:08; "Dolly Dillon" has been a mile in 2:08; "The Abbot" a mile in 2:11¼; "Metallas" a mile in 2:11¼; "Lord Derby" a mile in 2:12¾; "Wentworth" a mile in 2:14¼; "Ted" a mile in 2:15; "Directum Spire" a mile in 2:25.

Of the pacers, "Terrace Queen" heads the list with the fastest mile to date 5:07; "Direct Hal" and "Dandy Chimes" have each been a mile in 2:08¼; "Tige" a mile in 2:09¾; "Vice Regal" a mile in 2:11¾; "Elastic Pointer" one in 2:12; "B. S. Dillon" a mile in 2:12½.

With one or two exceptions, all of these horses will be seen at the Blue Ribbon Meeting. With such fields as they will help to make up, they will certainly furnish sport for the kings.

New Business Quarters

Frank Wallinger is now placing new fixtures and repairs in the house recently occupied by him, two doors west of Hiens bakery. Many new improvements are being added so that when completed Frank will have one of the best sample rooms in the village.

Experience has taught Frank the ways of pleasing the public and it is no questionable fact but that his success is certain. He will move his family into the Heck house on Maiden Lane.

THE CHURCHES.

Rev. Louisa Haight, pastor of the Universalist church, will take for her sermon next Sunday afternoon "How to grow in a realizing sense of the presence of God."

At the M. E. church Sunday the pastor will speak on the following subjects morning, Some reasons why some people do not attend church. Evening, Is any man saved from his sins by his suffering? Prayer meeting topic, Our anticipations of Heaven.

Sea Shore Excursions—Lake Shore Ry.

July 17, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will run its annual seashore excursion to Atlantic City. Tickets will be sold at very low rates; good returning twelve days, including date of sale. Particulars from ticket agents or by writing to A. J. Smith, G. P. & T. A. Cleveland, O.

A federal cencus bulletin just issued gives the total land surface of Michigan as 57,430 square miles or 36,735,200 acres or 47.8 per cent are included in farms. The number of farms reported on June 1, 1900, was nearly six times as great as the number reported in 1850 and 17.9 per cent greater than in 1890. The gain in the last decade in the total value of farm property was $42,417,479. The increase in the value of lands improved and buildings was $26,327,040. For the state the average of farms was $2,866. Nearly three-fourths of the farms show an increase in the value of land and improvements since 1890.—Ex.

Enroute, which were Hugely Enjoyed.

On June 20 at 2:40 p. m., we left the union depot Toledo, O., via Toledo & Ohio Central railroad for Washington, D. C. in the Pullman car Alcsatia. There were forty-five persons in the party consisting of G. A. R. and Relief Corp ladies, and I think I can truthfully say it was the pleasantest company I have ever traveled with, not a desenter in the party, not a kick by anyone. We were accompanied by that Prince of Good Fellows, S. G. Harvey, the traveling passenger agent of the T. & O. C. R. R.

At about 3:30 we were in the great oil fields of Ohio. At the village Cygnette there is about 75 to 100 large storage tanks containing about 3000 barrels each. At about 4 p. m. we were at the city of Findlay, which was a thriving city until the oil began to decline both in quantity and price, and the destruction of the glass works by fire, all combined make it a dull looking place at present. But at 4:57 we were at Kenton, O., which is a beautiful hustling town with large manufacturing interests, at 6;15 we were at Columbus, O., and had 15 minutes for lunch.

At 6:30 we again were flying towards the Ohio river. At 10 o'clock p. m. every one of our party were in bed, and all were as quiet as if in our homes and we knew nothing of the events of the night, but at 5 o'clock a. m. we found ourselves at Gauley Bridge, W. Va.

At this place is a strange sight. The Gauley is a clear mountain stream coming down from the southeast and joining the new river, which comes from the south and is one of the muddiest streams in the mountain regions. The Gauley runs out from 80 to 100 feet into the New as clear and pure as if still within its banks and flows side by side with the mud from the New for three miles before the pure mountain stream is comingled with the new and flows away to the northwest in the Kenawa.

The engine that drew us between Corning and Gauley became crippled and we were three hours late at Gauley and only for the energy of that untiring, pushing, hustling passenger agent Harvey we would have been compelled to stay at Gauley until six p. m. Mr. Harvey interviewed the dispatcher of the Chesapeake & Ohio R. R. (and by the way, Gauley is the Junction of the T. & O. C. and C. & O) and we soon had an engine attached to our two cars and we were soon flying alongside the New toward the Allegheny mountains.

If I had words in my vocabulary that I could describe the beauties of the landscape that we saw going up the valley of the New, I would be at the head of American scholars. As I am not I will not attempt to tell you what we saw but it was beautiful, beautiful, beautiful, not conceivable in the mind of man; conceived in the mind of God, moulded, fashioned and beautified by God's unfailing hand.

A man that could go from the Ohio river through mountains, in the valleys of the Kenawa, the New, the Green Briar, and come dashing out of the tunnel through the Blue Ridge into the Rockfish valley, and not be dumb with wonder and amazement at the handiwork of God, is not in a normal condition; must have soured brooding over the troubles and hardships he has in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred brought upon himself. Lest I weary you I will stop for I cannot tell how beautiful it is if I write a hundred pages. [illegible] W. WIGHTMAN.

CHANGED HANDS

Tecumseh Electric Plant under New Management

IMPROVEMENTS

To be Made by the New Company

The Tecumseh electric light plant was placed under a new management July 1. Geo. Smith, Louis Schneider and the Henry Smith estate will now have the control.

It is now an unsettled question as to whether or not the plant will remain where it now is, or be moved over near the Red Pond. Much talk has become current of placing it where it may be run by water power, but as yet the problem has not been settled. The new managers have purchased all but 53 shares out of the 1200 belonging to the stock.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Renewed with fresh paint and new paper

INTERIOR

Looks very neat. Services postponed while work continued Completed at Last.

The Episcopal church has been tastefully papered and painted. The outside has a new coat of green paint, the pillars etc., being set off in white make a good contrast. Much labor has been expended that the church presents an appearance equal to the most beautiful this task has at last been completed. The pews, vestry and woodwork have been revarnished, making the newly papered walls and ceiling look very attractive.

The choir has also been increasing until it now numbers about 30 odd members, the zeal with which Rev. Kemp has conducted this choir, also the zeal which each member has displayed could not help but make this a success.

Eczema

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best cathartic. Price 25 cents.

DEDICATION

Of the New Methodist Parsonage at RIDGEWAY

Large Number Present.

The Ridgeway M. E. church people are rejoicing over a new parsonage. Last Thursday they held a reception and feast of dedication in honor of its completion, which was attended by about five hundred people. As they inspected the house from basement to garret they were unanimous in pronouncing it a model for convenience and a gem of beauty. The ladies had provided so bountifully that after all had eaten, there were large quantities of provisions left.

Later in the evening an excellent program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings and addresses, was rendered. Everyone seemed to be happy and well they might be for it is not easy to find a more beautiful, commodious and convenient parsonage than Ridgeway has provided for its pastor. It is a ten roomed house with front and back halls, large porches, and a five roomed basement. It is a modern house throughout finished in Georgia pine.

The workmanship does credit to Chas. D. Smith, of this place, the contractor. It contains a beautiful mantel and grate, kitchen range, has hot and cold water in the kitchen and bath room and is heated by a fine Wolverine furnace. It is a credit to the place and Rev. Mott has done a noble work in stirring the people up to build such an edifice. It will be a monument to his pastorate for years to come.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No cure no pay. Price 25 cents.

H. C. SMITH

Received a Silver Loving Cup from ADRIAN FRIENDS

And it was Presented to him on the Adjournment of Congress at Washington.

Representive H. C. Smith received a handsome silver loving cup with horn handles from some of his Adrian friends, the inscription stating that it was a token for his untiring efforts in behalf of his home city. The cup was filled with roses. Immediately after adjournment, Representative Smith held a reception so that his numerous lady friends could admire the gift.

President Roosevelt put another date on his itinerary to-day, Representative H. C. Smith securing his promise to make a stop at Jackson, when he goes to Kalamazoo. Smith facetiously told the president that it would be a good opportunity for him to get acquainted with his successor, Mr. Townsend.

"De-Light-Ed," said the president from force of habit. Then he suddenly remembered that Smith was delivering his own political obituary and told Hank that he was mighty sorry at the turn of events. Smith insisted that his wife was more disappointed that he was and the president wound up by expressing the hope that Townsend would be elected.—Free Press.

BRIDGE REPAIRS

C. N. old tressel to undergo a few REPAIRS

A Much Needed Improvement.

The tressel over which the D. T. & M. and the Detroit Southern trains now pass is to be completely reconstructed, the bridge will be filled in so as to make a firm foundation, up to where the river flows in under.

At this point a new iron structure will be constructed, this will be a great improvement in many ways, it will not only do away with the bad grades at this point, but make the bridge of such strength that the heaviest freight trains can with safty pull across this point. The bridge for some time back has needed this improvement and it is to be commended that at last the matter has been looked into.

DUDLEY.

It is Well to be Honest.

To originate an untruth about any one and circulate it, is an act that no gentleman or lady or anyone who wishes to be classed as such will do. To repeat detrimential reports concerning anyone without first making an effort to ascertain their truth and validity, is something that is left for the mischief fiend only.

To repeat any such report with the injunction, "Now do not tell anybody where you found this out", is the work of the lowest type of contemptable cowards. They are afraid that the person or persons injured by their statement might be able to establish the falsity of the report, and place them in an awkward position.

A MEASURE OF MERIT.

Tecumseh Citizens should Weigh Well this Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence.
Convincing evidence in Tecumseh.
It is not the testimony of strangers.
But endorsement of Tecumseh people.
That's the kind of proof given here.
The statement of a Tecumseh citizen.

Mrs. J. H. Welch, who resides in the southwestern section of Tecumseh says: "I wish to express my gratitude for the benefit derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. My back troubled me for a long time with a constant dull aching pain across my loins and when stooping or exerting myself it became very sharp If I took cold it always settled in my kidneys and in the morning I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly attend to my work. I used several simple household remedies but they did not bring relief. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and spoken of so highly I concluded to test their merits and got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store. They took right held of the cause and in a short time the pain in my bach was a thing of the past. I can now straighten after bending or stooping without any inconvenience. Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly a wonderful remedy."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

He Won the Youngster.

The Rev. Dr. Mackenzie of San Francisco was once calling on a new parishioner who had a "limb" of a boy. She had invited the doctor to dine. "Willie," she said to her hopeful, "pass Dr. Mackenzie a potato."

Willie seized the potato between thumb and finger, and before his mother could utter a horrified remonstrance he had tossed it across the table and squarely into the good man's lap.

"Judgment!" cried Willie.

"One strike!" quoted the quick witted clergyman.

"Willie, leave the table!" stormed his mother.

"Madam," said the minister, "do not judge him harshly. See how beautifully he put the sphere over the plate." And from that time there wasn't a more earnest worker in all the big Sunday school than that same Willie.

Cure For Hiccough.

Hiccough usually attacks persons of nervous temperament and young children who have overloaded the stomach. It may also be induced by eating foods which have been too highly seasoned.

The most useful remedy and perhaps the most inoffensive and the best consists in sucking a piece of sugar which has previously been steeped in vinegar or drinking a spoonful of good vinegar in which some sugar has been dissolved.

If this is not at once successful, a second spoonful is certain to be so.

STARTLING REPORT

Mrs. E. Anderson, of Tecumseh, Mich. says: "I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night and was quite dizzy. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's drug store and now since using the pills I can say my nerves are steadied. I rest better and the dizziness is relieved. I think the pills a splendid nerve medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

CHINA WON'T PAY.

A Hitch Somewhere in Payment of First Indemnity.

Pekin, July 2.—The taoti of Shanghai has notified the bankers' commission that China refuses to pay the July installment of the indemnity except at the rate of exchange prevailing April 1, 1901. The foreign ministers consider that the taoti's declaration is the result of the announcement of the United States minister, Mr. Conger, to the Chinese government, that the United States sustains China's contention and is willing to accept payment on the basis mentioned.

Some of the ministers insist that the policy of the United States is unreasonable and in direct opposition to the terms of the protocol.

Great Britain proposes to permit silver payment of the indemnity until 1910, on account of China's great loss owing to the depreciation of the price of silver. The ministers of the other powers regard the proposal as being a further complication and as equivalent to an admission of China's contentions.

Washington, July 2.—The state department has not yet been notified of the Chinese refusal to pay the July indemnity, which is the first payment of money to become due from China to the powers since the signature of the Pekin agreement.

A careful reading of the proceedings of the ministers at Pekin which led up to the agreement, taken in connection with the context of that document, has convinced the department that it was the unquestionable purpose of the ministers, and that purpose was clearly set out in their proceedings, to permit China to pay the indemnity at the rate of exchange as it existed at the date of the signature, and it is equally clear that what appears to be a contradictory clause in the agreement was nothing more or less than an inadvertence. However, the United States has not gone to the length of refusing to accept its payment on the same basis as the other powers, namely, at the current rate of exchange; all it has done in that direction was to notify China that it regarded her contention as reasonable and a proper one.

Sailed With Pauncefote's Remains.

Annapolis, Md., July 2.—The last rites attendant upon the removal of the remains of the late British ambassador, Lord Pauncefote, from this country to England were held in Annapolis Tuesday afternoon. They consisted of an escort of honor in command of Lieutenant Commander Howard and composed of marines attached to the naval academy from the cruiser Brooklyn, from the railway station to the naval academy wharf. The bodybearers were sixteen in number—eight sailors and eight marines. A caisson drawn by six horses and manned by members of the Fourth battery, United States artillery, from Fort Meyer, Va., bore the casket. A salute of nineteen guns was fired as the body was placed aboard the Standish, which conveyed it to the Brooklyn, anchored in the offing. The Brooklyn, with Rear Admiral Coghlan's pennant at her peak, weighed anchor at 6:55 and proceeded slowly down the Chesapeake.

Boilermakers Striking.

Chicago, July 2.—Transportation in the middle west may be seriously affected as the result of a series of strikes threatened by machinists and boilermakers employed by every railroad entering Chicago from the west. The first of this series of strikes was called Tuesday, when the 140 boilermakers employed by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad were called out. Before the week is over, the machinists employed by the road may follow them. The walkouts are the result of the refusal on the part of the general managers of the various roads to comply with demands of the machinists and boilermakers. The demands of the boilermakers relate principally to increases in wages. The men are now receiving 31 cents an hour. They ask 35 cents an hour. The machinists have presented a demand for an increase of 10 per cent in wages and the reduction of the working day from ten to nine hours.

Names For Warships Adopted.

Washington, July 2.—At Secretary Moody's suggestion, the cabinet Tuesday adopted names for the six new ships of war authorized by the naval appropriation bill. The four larger ships, two battleships and two armored cruisers, will be named Louisiana, Connecticut, Tennessee and Washington, but it is not yet seteled which states shall be chosen for battleships and vice versa. The two gunboats provided for in the act will be named the Paducah, at the earnest solicitation of Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, and the Dubuque.

President Signed Philippine Bill.

Washington, July 2.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretaries Hay, Shaw, Moody, Hitchcock and Wilson and Postmaster-General Payne, went to the capitol Tuesday afternoon in order to facilitate the work of congress, and in his room, in the senate wing of the capitol, the president signed the Philippine civil government bill and naval appropriation bill and other measures that went through in the closing hours of congress.

Will Stop the Fight.

St. Louis, July 2.—The police will not permit the Corbett-Sullivan championship fight, scheduled for July 3, to take place here. The decision was reached last evening. Sports are disgusted. Circuit Attorney Falk notified the chief of police that the fight would be a violation of the law.

A Summer Without Nights.

To the summer visitor in Sweden there is nothing more striking than the almost total absence of night. At Stockholm, the Swedish capital, the sun goes down a few minutes before 10 o'clock and rises again four hours later during a greater part of the month of June. But the four hours the sun lies hidden in the frozen north are not hours of darkness. The refraction of his rays as he passes around the north pole makes midnight as light as a cloudy midday, and enables one to read the finest print without artificial light at any time during the "night."

The Names of Two Cities.

On the principle of "In Rome do as the Romans do" I think it a safe rule to pronounce the name of a place as the residents of that place do, says a writer. Hence we should speak of St. Louis as though it were written "St. Lewis," not "St. Louee." All good Missourians say "St. Lewis." It is a little difficult to put down in black and white the local pronunciation of New Orleans, but it is something like this, "New Awl-yins," with the strong accent on the "Awl."

An Appropriate Text.

A preacher in an eastern city was a little fellow, so little that a box had to be hastily brought from the cellar for him to stand on. The services proceeded safely until the sermon, when he mounted the box and announced his text, "A little while ye shall see me, and a little while and ye shall not see me." At this point the box broke, and the prophecy was verified amid the smothered laughter of the congregation.

A Medicine for Old People.

Rev. Geo. Gay, Greenwich, Kas., is past 83 years of age, yet he says: "I am enjoying excellent health for a man of my age, due entirely to the rejuvenating influences of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It brings sleep and rest when nothing else will, and gives strength and vitality even to one of my old age."

"I am an old soldier," writes Mr. Geo. Watson, of Newton, Ia., "and I have been a great sufferer from nervousness, vertigo and spinal trouble. Have spent considerable money for medicine and doctors, but with little benefit. I was so bad my mind showed signs of weakness. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I know it saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Saved me from the insane asylum," Mrs. A. M. Heifner, of Jerico Springs, Mo., writes. "I was so nervous that I could scarcely control myself, could not sleep nor rest, would even forget the names of my own children at times. I commenced using Dr. Miles' Nervine and it helped me from the first, and now I am perfectly well."

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

FOR SEASHORE OR YACHTING.

All the costumes intended for seaside and yatching wear bear some distinctly nautical device, from the conventional sailor dress and reefer, with "buzzard" on sleeve and anchors on collar and shield, to the more elaborate frocks which follow the fancy tailor-made models. In the accompanying illustration is shown a very pretty type of these frocks, not too severe, nor over ornamented. The material is dark blue mohair, of a very coarse grain. The gored skirt is very close fitting from belt to knee, and from there to the edge very flaring, all seams being finished with several rows of stitching done with Corticelli silk in self color. The border is of striped taffeta, china blue and white, cut on the bias, and finished with three rows of velvet ribbon, one on either edge and through the middle. The same trimming borders the collarless Eton, finishing the bloused front and being prolonged to form little tabs below the belt in a vest effect, and at the shoulders to give the required breadth. At either side of this trimming on the front are embroidered anchors, and two groups of little stars worked with white Corticelli EE embroidery silk.

Deadlock on Curfew Question.

Bay City, Mich., July 1.—The common council has come to a deadlock on the curfew question, and as a result a widely signed petition presented by the members of the local W. C. T. U has been placed on file in committee. The agitation for a curfew law has been in progress for some time, but the recent disclosures concerning the actions of a number of wild young girls, which terminated in the arrest of a number of well-known business men, whose cases are still on trial, have brought the matter to a head.

Believe Shooting Was Accidental.

Adrian, Mich., July 1.—The police are inclined to believe that the shooting Sunday, as the result of which Joseph Erlich, Jr., is lying at the point of death, was an accident, and John Jackson, the colored lad, who held the revolver from which the shot was fired, has been accordingly released from custody. Erlich has made a formal statement, in which he said that the gun was being snapped in play, when it unexpectedly went off.

Stationary Engineers Organize.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 1.—The Michigan stationary engineers, at a convention held here Sunday, formed an organization, which was joined by nine associations from different parts of the state. It is proposed to make the organization general, and every one of the sixty delegates present promised to aid the effort. George M. Firsch if Grand Rapids was chosen president.

Mitchell to Be at Saginaw.

Saginaw, Mich., July 1.—Conference between mine workers and mine operators will be held here tomorrow, July 2. President Mitchell of the national organization of mineworkers will be present, and an effort will be made to settle the strike.

It May Be Murder.

Jackson, Mich., July 1.—Claude Mackinder is in jail awaiting the outcome of his wife's illness. It is alleged this was caused by a beating given her by Mackinder Sunday night, since which time she has been in convulsions and unconscious, and may not live. Mackinder claims his wife became angry because he wished to go down town, her passion throwing her into convulsions.

Ball Club Transferred.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 1.—The entire Saginaw baseball club of the Michigan league has been transferred to Jackson. Alderman W. W. Todd of Jackson will be manager. Poor attendance at Saginaw is the cause of the change.

Cards in the Curriculum.

The custom of encouraging our children to perfect themselves in card games is by no means of modern growth. There must have been a substratum of truth in the following jesting paragraph, which is clipped from The Times of Nov. 2, 1797: "At some of our first boarding schools the fair pupils are now taught to play whist and cassino. Amongst their winning ways this may not be the least agreeable to papa and mamma. It is calculated that a clever child, by its cards and its novels, may pay for its own education."—London Chronicle.

The Successful One.

The man who sees in life the opportunity to express himself in the largest terms, who after ascertaining what faculties he has determines to develop them to the highest possible efficiency, who is capable of seeing the sweetness and joy that lie all about him, who, being proud, does not allow his body or mind to be defiled, he is the one who obtains the big rewards, the big successes.—Oppenheim, "Mental Growth and Control."

Queer Adornment.

Arab maidens before they enter the harem and take the veil are indeed curiously adorned. Their faces and bodies are stained a bright yellow with turmeric. On this groundwork they paint black lines over their eyes with antimony. The fashionable hue for noses is red, and spots of green adorn the cheeks. The general effect of this makeup is comical in the extreme.

A Hobo's Idea.

"I think this nomadic life is a healthy life. I think if some of you professors, students, etc., would live more of a nomadic life and feel the enjoyment of the fresh air more and take more good wholesome outdoor exercise and live more of a rough and tumble life you would enjoy better health and live longer."—Independent.

KID-NE-OIDS DO THE WORK.

When the kidneys are out of order all the other organs of the body are disturbed. The hands and feet are cold, the head aches, the appetite is lost, the blood is thin, etc. Cure the sick kidneys and the rest of the body will get well. The surest cure known is Kid-Ne-Oids. 50c. For sale by

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, sideache, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhœa, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Thedford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in mammoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Illewara, La.

IT'S JUST

THE THING

Every person should see to it that their blood is in order each Spring. Nature must purify the blood. That is the only way it can be purified. In order that nature may do its part in cleansing the blood from the Winter's accumulation of impurities the

KIDNEYS AND LIVER MUST BE ACTIVE

so that they may carry off the impurities; there is no remedy that will do this quicker and better than

and the reason this remedy is so much more successful than all others is because it strengthens the kidneys and liver and puts these organs in shape to berform their natural functions.

IT STRENGTHENS THE STOMACH

so that the food may be properly digested and the body is consequently nourished and all the organs strengthened, this then means a strong body and health.

PROOF

J. Koerner, Agent Grand Union Tea Company at Niles, Mich., writes: I use Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy in my family every year. I find it the greatest blood purifier and tonic. It regulates the kidneys and liver and purifies the blood, and with this simple remedy I always keep my family well.

TO ENJOY

cool comfort during your vacation, or while waiting for vacation to come, we suggest one of our Norfolk or Outing suits. They combine hot weather comfort with prudent economy—$6 to $12. Top this all out with one of our head coolers, a Straw Hat—25c to $2.50—Then let Old Sol sizzle. You won't care. We want to alleviate your wants.

DAY OF FATALITIES

Five Persons Met Death in Water In Twenty-four Hours.

FOUR DROWNED OUTRIGHT

A Fifth Person Met Death From Heart Failure While in Bathing—Party of Three Persons From Chicago Drowned While Bathing.

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 7.—Within the past twenty-four hours five people have met death while bathing in this vicinity. Saturday evening at Carl Tabor's resort, eight miles up the St. Joseph, Rudolph Steffeck and wife, also a half sister of Mr. Steffeck, Miss Marie Howell, were drowned in the St. Joseph river. The whole party was from Chicago, and all aged under twenty-two years.

Sunday Albert Wilson of Detroit, employe of the Barber Asphalt company, engaged in work here, met death while with a party of coworkers bathing near the Three I's railway bridge on the St. Joseph river.

At noon Ward Kizer, aged seventeen, son of W. L. Kizer, a wealthy citizen of South Bend, met death from heart failure while bathing in Lawe Michigan off Higman Park resort.

TRIPLE DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Three Detroit Lads Lost Their Lives Sunday at St. Clair Flats.

Detroit, Mich., July 7.—A terrible catastrophe occurred at St. Clair Flats about 11 o'clock yesterday morning whereby the lives of three young sons of prominent Detroit families were blotted out in the twinkling of an eye. The boys were drowned in the middle channel in front of Marvin cottage, next door to Nick Savage's hotel, about a mile and a half back of the Star Island house.

J. Conrad Brede, Jr., thirteen years old, son of J. Conrad Brede, of Brede & Schroeder, the Gratiot avenue painters and decorators; Anthony Henkel, eleven years old, only son of Walter J. Henkel, the well-known liveryman, and Oscar Rosenberg, Jr., fourteen years old, son of E. H. Rosenberg, the wholesale jeweler in the Valpey building, were the victims of the disaster, and nobody can give a definite account of just how it occurred.

The last seen of the boys before they were in the water was when young Henkel and Rosenberg were out in the channel in an old sailboat, and the boy Brede was in a rowboat paddling around alone. After this the Brede boy must have taken the rowboat back to the bank, as it was found tied there. Then he probably joined the other boys for a sail, and thence the accident.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 7.—Clyde Kindiz, a carpenter about twenty-five years of age, was drowned Sunday while swimming in the Kalamazoo river at a point three miles southeast of the city. He sank in twelve feet of water within twenty-five feet of the shore, without giving his half dozen companions the slightest warning that he was in distress. He had not been swimming for the past eight years, and it is supposed he became suddenly exhausted.

Believed Met With Foul Play.

Goshen, Ind., July 7.—Frank Ganger of Sturgis, aged sixteen years, son of Emanuel Ganger, an Elkhart county farmer, is believed to have been murdered. His body was found floating in the canal here yesterday afternoon. It was so badly decomposed that it is impossible to detect any marks of violence. Ganger came here from the Michigan town Thursday. The last seen of him alive was Friday afternoon, when he was in the Fourth of July crowd. A woman who was seen on the mill race bank with him cannot be found.

Prisoners Broke Jail.

Bessemer, Mich., July 7.—Walter Sherry, George Clifton, James Wilson and George Long, all under various aliases waiting trial for a burglary committed at Watersmeet, about a month ago, broke their way out of the county jail here early Sunday morning. Pieces of an iron bedstead were used to unscrew bolts and plates holding the cell door. Searching parties are scouring the country, but there is no clue to the direction taken.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Stole His Little Girl.—While playing in the yard, Agatha Jones of Harbor Beach was stolen by her father. Her mother and father had separated and Mrs. Jones was living there, the girl, who is six years old, living with her.

Dry Town Sunday.—The saloon chusade had its effect in Port Huron Sunday, and as a result it was a dry town. The Northwest hotel, Fred Klench's and several other places were closed up and numerous arrests have been made.

Died in His Cornfield.—Sam Johnston, aged seventy-five, an old resident of Standish, was found dead in his cornfield. Mrs. J. Boyer, aged eighty-eight years, mother of Mrs. Frank Jock, residing on a farm near Standish, is dead.

Rainfall Estimate.—A state weather observer at Rabella, Tuscola county, reports a rainfall of 10.20 inches during the month of June. This is the heaviest rainfall reported to the weather office at Lansing from any place in the state.

Horse Was Stolen.—William Caywood, a farmer residing in Charleston township, drove to Galesburg Saturday evening with a valuable and very recently purchased iron-gray horse, and upon his arrival hitched the animal in front of a store. Ten minutes later the horse was unhitched and driven off by a stranger, and no further record is to be had save the supposition that parties met the rig going in the direction of Kalamazoo.

Its Recommendation.

Salesman—Yes, indeed. They're talking of dramatizing it.—Judge.

VISITED BY FLOODS

Devastation and Ruin in the East and West.

BUILDINGS CARRIED AWAY

Loss Will Reach Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars—Flood at Arcade, N. Y., Claimed One Victim—Streets of Towns Are Navigable.

Buffalo, July 7.—A terrific rain and windstorm swept over wastern New York at an early hour Sunday. Rivers and creeks rose rapidly, overflowing their banks and sweeping away houses and barns and live stock. The loss will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, and communication with small towns in Wyoming, Niagara and Gattaraugus counties is difficult to establish. This city was not in the path of the storm.

A dispatch from Arcade says the flood at that place claimed one victim and did many thousand dollars damage to property. Minnie Loper, who kept a bakery on the bank of the creek, was drowned early in the day. There were many narrow escapes.

Batavia, N. Y., July 7.—Scores of houses on West and South Main streets were entirely surrounded by water and rowboats are plying in the thoroughfares. Both the Erie railroad and the Attica branch of the Central are under water most of the distance between Batavia and Attica and are badly washed out. Several barns and houses were struck by lightning and burned.

Elmira, N. Y., July 7.—The greatest rainstorms in years visited this valley Saturday and Sunday, 3.86 inches of rain falling from 8 o'clock Saturday morning to 7 o'clock last evening. Sunday afternoon a terrific hailstorm destroyed many tobacco crops south of the city, uprooted trees, overturned tobacco barns and outhouses and accomplished much destruction of property.

Hope, Idaho, July 7.—A cloudburst at Ellisport, east of Hope, swept away twelve or more houses and washed out two miles of track on the Northern Pacific. There was no loss of life. For a considerable distance around Ellisport the country is flooded. The creek is wide and swift and all the trestles are gone from Clarks Fork to Hope.

Wells, Minn., July 7.—A wind and rainstorm passed over this section Saturday night, doing great damage. Four miles west of town it demolished one of the largest barns in the county, killing E. R. Cook, its owner. His wife and son were also in the barn and were pinioned down by timbers and unable to assist Mr. Cook. A number of horses and cattle in the barn were also killed.

PRESIDENT'S VACATION.

Receives No Delegations and Employs Only Two Stenographers.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 7.—In discussing the president's stay at Oyster Bay, Secretary Cortelyou says that there seemed to be considerable misapprehension as to some features of it. He stated that there would be no elaborate office established and that the only clerical force maintained would consist of two stenographers. Arrangements have about been concluded for its use of two rooms in the bank building for office purposes, and it will be there that the president will transact most of his business when he comes into town. Both the president and his secretary have planned to make their brief holiday as restful as possible, and to that end will transact in Oyster Bay only the most important public business. Everything else will be transmitted to Washington for attention there. The president will not receive delegations and hopes to have all matter intended for him not of the most pressing importance submitted by correspondence.

The people of Oyster Bay seem to resent the presence of the secret service men, as they believe the president is perfectly safe from bodily harm. The strictest surveillance is maintained, however, despite these protestations.

Gardener's Examination Completed.

Manila, July 7.—The cross-examination of Major Cornelius Gardener, governor of Tayabas province, Luzon, by the board which has been investigating the charges of cruelty, etc., brought by the major against American officers and soldiers, has been completed. The board had again formally demanded the production by Major Gardener of testimony as to the alleged hostility of the military authorities in the Philippines to the civil government. Major Gardener has promised to answer this demand today.

A Father's Awful Crime.

Chicago, July 7.—Taking his revenge for a quarrel of long standing, Theodore Oelfeuer, a laborer, shot and killed his wife, Adelaide, Sunday as she lay asleep in bed. Oelfeuer then turned the revolver on his baby son Walter, and on his stepdaughter, Lizzie Stramm, who were sleeping with his wife, wounding the former, probably fatally, and putting a bullet in the latter's shoulders. Oelfeuer also fired a shot at his two step sons, but hit neither. After committing the deed he hid in an attic of the house until police officers arrested him.

Big Packing House Fire.

Chicago, July 7.—By a fire which broke out in their plant at the stock yards Saturday night, Swift & Co. suffered a loss which is estimated by the officials of the company at $500,000. The fire was confined to one building, standing at the intersection of Packers avenue and Broadway. The structure was four stories high, built of brick and was 300 feet square.

The White House Mistress.

There is probably no situation easier to fill, as far as mere technical observance goes, than that of the wife of the president of the United States. She has a set of simple official duties as hostess of the White House to perform. If she is ill or feels unable to perform them, she is readily excused.

The Responsible One.

"Who is the responsible man in this firm?" asked the brusque visitor.

"I don't know who the responsible party is," answered the sad, cynical office boy, "but I am the one who is always to blame."—Washington Star.

MASS OF PEOPLE

Heard the President Orate on Fourth at Pittsburg.

BROUGHT UP CUBAN QUESTION

Says That Reciprocity Must Come—Speaks of Proclamation Giving Amnesty and Peace to the Philippine Islands.

Pittsburg, July 5.—Half a million persons greeted President Theodore Roosevelt in Pittsburg yesterday.

Flags and bunting fluttered everywhere along the course of the parade. When the head of the military escort reached a position opposite the speakers' stand it was halted and stood in company front with arms at present. As the president and those in carriages passed in review the band struck up the stirring strains of "Hail to the Chief." The declaration of independence was read by Brigadier-General Willis J. Hulings, and then followed the oration of the day by the president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, who spoke in part as follows:

"We have had our tasks to do in the last four years, or rather we have had, as every generation must have, many tasks to do, tasks affecting us abroad and one of those tasks being done as it has been, has signalled our entry into a larger world [applause]. And it is most appropriate that on this Fourth of July, this anniversary of the birth of the nation, it should be our good fortune to have promulgated the declaration establishing peace in the Philippines and the acknowledgment to the army of the praise so richly due our fellow Americans who wear the uniform of the United States for all that they have done in the tropic islands during the past four years. [Applause and continued applause and cheers.]

"We said Cuba should become a free republic, and we have kept our word. [Loud applause.] To have turned Cuba over to the hands of its own people immediately after the withdrawal of the Spanish flag would have meant ruin and chaos. But there is one thing—our policy toward Cuba has not yet met with its entire fruition.

"I regret that a measure of reciprocity with Cuba is not already embodied in statute or in treaty, but it will be just as sure as fate. [Loud applause.]

"And now a word as to the Philippines. There are yet troubles in the Moro country, the country of the Mohammedan tribes, but in the Philippines among the Filipinos, among the people who have been in insurrection, peace now reigns. [Applause.]

"It may be, I think unlikely, but it is possible, that here and there some seeming dead coal of insurrection may be for the moment fanned into a live piece of ember, and burst into a fitful flame. If so, that flame will be stamped out. [Loud applause.]

"But, speaking broadly and generally, peace has come. Today the proclamation of peace and amnesty has been promulgated, and at the same time our generals have been notified that the civil government is supreme in the islands.

"Does not that speak well, oh, my brethren, for our army, for our troops, that the troops of these people should war, hoping for a triumph which is to put the power into the hands of the civil authorities?

"No body of our citizens deserves franker and more generous recognition at the hands of the country than the officers and enlisted men who wear Uncle Sam's uniform." [Applause.]

Gets an Ancient Legacy.

Washington, July 5.—An interesting and unusual incident has come to light in connection with the appointment of Lieutenant Carl F. Bussche to the army. Lieutenant Bussche comes from the ranks and was recommended for appointment as second lieutenant because of his strict attention to duty and manifest fitness for such advancement. His father is Baron Bussche of Berlin, and the parent has now written to Secretary Root asking to be furnished properly attested evidence that his son has been appointed an officer in the United States army, in order that the courts may authorize the Bussche estate to pay to the son the sum of $1,000. A legacy, established 200 years ago by a military-loving ancestor, bestowed on each member of the family who obtained a commission in any of the armies of the world the above stated sum, to be used for purposes of equipment. The young officer is now serving in the Philippines with the Twenty-fifth infantry.

Operations May Begin July 17.

Hazelton, Pa., July 5.—It was reported here, from what is regarded as an authoritative source, that July 17, the opening day of the national miners' convention at Indianapolis, has been selected by the operators as the time for resuming operations at one or more collieries near Wilkesbarre with experienced nonunion men collected from the various mines in Luzerne county. The news cannot be confirmed because of the extreme reticence of the operators.

People Made Homeless.

Cambridge, O., July 5.—The heavy rains have turned the river into a torrent and the Pennsylvania railroad bridge, north of here, was washed from its abutments. Several street bridges in the city were carried away. Homes were flooded and persons were compelled to take refuge on higher ground.

TIMID AGUINALDO

Now That He Is Liberathed He Fears to Venture Out.

HE MAKES NO COMPLAINTS

He Inquired of General Chaffee What Protection Authorities Would Afford Him—Asked to Be Released From Testifying in Civil Courts.

Manila, July 7.—As a result of the proclamation of amnesty of July 4, the guard of American soldiers has been withdrawn from the house where Aguinaldo lived in Manila, and Lieutenant Johnson, Aguinaldo's custodian, brought the Filipino Sunday to see General Chaffee. It was the first meeting between the American general and the leader of the Filipino revolution. Lieutenant William E. McKinley of the Ninth cavalry acted as interpreter.

Aguinaldo was told that he was free to go anywhere he pleased, and General Chaffee asked him if he had any complaint to make of American discourtesy or harshness. Aguinaldo replied that he had no such complaint to make. He told General Chaffee that he was going to visit friends at his home in Cavite Viejo, in Cavine province, and inquired what protection the American authorities would afford him. He seemed to be afraid to venture out.

General Chaffee replied that Aguinaldo would get the same protection as any other citizen.

The former Filipino leader then asked General Chaffee to prevent the courts from requiring him to testify in civil suits. General Chaffee replied that he had no authority to grant this request, and advised Aguinaldo to make a social call upon Acting Civil Governor Wright. This Aguinaldo said he would do, but that he would go at night, as he was timid about appearing on the streets in daylight.

The release of the former Filipino leader caused renewed speculation as to possible vengeance upon him by friends of Luna and his other enemies.

Lunt was a Filipino leader whom Aguinaldo caused to be killed in 1899.

AT END OF A MONTH.

Believed King Will Be Well Enough to Be Taken to His Yacht.

London, July 7.—King Edward's progress continues to be good. It is said that if his improbement proceeds at the present rate he will probably, by the end of the month, be well enough to be transferred to the royal yacht in Southampton waters.

Most of the churches in the United Kingdom celebrated Sunday the announcement that King Edward was out of danger with informal thanksgiving services, special music and the singing of the national anthem.

The government has issued orders that the Indian and colonial troops now in London shall postpone their departure indefinitely. These orders are due to the strongly expressed desire of the Indian troops, especially, to see the king before they return home, and they also indicate an intention to retain the troops here until the coronation. The colonial and Indian troops will participate in the reception to be given Lord Kitchener when he arrives in England, about July 12.

The lord mayor of London, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, received a letter last night from Sir Francis Knollys, private secretary to the king, to the effect that his majesty had commanded him to convey to all concerned his gratification at and warm thanks for the energy and foresight which made the king's dinner to the poor Saturday such a great success, and to repeat how sincerely his majesty regretted his inability to be present, and how touched he was by the loyal and kindly feeling so universally displayed.

Their Doggie Is Dead.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 7.—There is mourning among the Roosevelt children. While they were at breakfast Sunday the trick dog presented to Archie by Colonel Closon of Chicago, died. The dog's mother, "Bozzie," recently exhibited her talents at the White House and so pleased was Mrs. Roosevelt over the performance that she gave Colonel Closon a handsome collar for the animal.

BLACK ROCK

RALPH CONNOR

CHAPTER XV.

COMING TO THEIR OWN.

A MAN with a conscience is often provoking, sometimes impossible. Persuasion is lost upon him. He will not get angry, and he looks at one with such a faraway expression in his face that in striving to persuade him one feels earthly and even fiendish. At least this was my experience with Craig. He spent a week with me just before he sailed for the old land for the purpose, as he said, of getting some of the coal dust and other grime out of him.

He made me angry the last night of his stay and all the more that he remained quite sweetly unmoved. It was a strategic mistake of mine to tell him how Nelson came home to us and how Graeme stood up before the varsity chaps at my supper and made his confession and confused Rattray's easy stepping profanity and started his own five year league, for all this stirred in Craig the hero, and he was ready for all sorts of heroic nonsense, as I called it. We talked of everything but the one thing, and about that we said not a word till, bending low to poke my fire and to hide my face, I plunged:

"You will see her, of course?"

He made no pretense of not understanding, but answered:

"Of course."

"There's really no sense in her staying over there," I suggested.

"And yet she is a wise woman," he said, as if carefully considering the question.

"Heaps of landlords never see their tenants, and they are none the worse."

"The landlords?"

"No, the tenants."

"Probably, having such landlords."

"And, as for the old lady, there must be some one in the connection to whom it would be a godsend to care for her."

"Now, Connor," he said quietly, "don't. We have gone over all there is to be said. Nothing new has come. Don't turn it all up again."

Then I played the heathen and raged, as Graeme would have said, till Craig smiled a little wearily and said:

"You exhaust yourself, old chap. Have a pipe—do." And after a pause he added in his own way: "What would you have? The path lies straight from my feet. Should I quit it? I could not so disappoint you—and all of them."

And I knew he was thinking of Graeme and the lads in the mountains he had taught to be true men. It did not help my rage, but it checked my speech, so I smoked in silence till he was moved to say:

"And after all, you know, old chap, there are great compensations for all losses, but for the loss of a good conscience toward God what can make up?"

But, all the same, I hoped for some better result from his visit to Britain. It seemed to me that something must turn up to change such an unbearable situation.

The year passed, however, and when I looked into Craig's face again I knew that nothing had been changed and that he had come back to take up again his life alone, more resolutely hopeful than ever.

But the year had left its mark upon him too. He was a broader and deeper man. He had been living and thinking with men of larger ideas and richer culture, and he was far too quick in sympathy with life to remain untouched by his surroundings. He was more tolerant of opinions other than his own, but more unrelenting in his fidelity to conscience and more impatient of half heartedness and self indulgence. He was full of reverence for the great scholars and the great leaders of men he had come to know.

"Great, noble fellows they are and extraordinarily modest," he said—"that is, the really great are modest. There are plenty of the other sort, neither great nor modest. And the books to be read! I am quite hopeless about my reading. It gave me a queer sensation to shake hands with a man who had written a great book. To hear him make commonplace remarks, to witness a faltering in knowledge—one expects these men to know everything—and to experience respectful kindness at his hands!"

"What of the younger men?" I asked.

"Bright, keen, generous fellows—in things theoretical omniscient, but in things practical quite helpless. They toss about great ideas as the miners lumps of coal. They can call them by their book names easily enough, but I often wonder whether they could put them into English. Some of them I coveted for the mountains, men with clear heads and big hearts and built after Sandy McNaughton's model. It does seem a sinful waste of God's good human stuff to see these fellows potter away their lives among theories, living and dead, and end up by producing a book. They are all either making or going to make a book. A good thing we haven't to read them. But here and there among them is some quiet chap who will make a book that men will tumble over each other to read."

Then we paused and looked at each other.

"Well?" I said.

He understood me.

"Yes," he answered slowly, "doing great work. Every one worships her just as we do, and she is making them all do something worth while, as she used to make us."

He spoke cheerfully and readily, as if he were repeating a lesson well learned, but he could not humbug me. I felt the heartache in the cheerful tone.

"Tell me about her," I said, for I knew that if he would talk it would do him good, and talk he did, often forgetting me, till, as I listened, I found myself looking again into the fathomless eyes and hearing again the heart searching voice. I saw her go in and out of the little red tiled cottages and down the narrow back lanes of the village; I heard her voice in a sweet, low song by the bed of a dying child or pouring forth floods of music in the great new hall of the factory town near by, but I could not see, though he tried to show me, the stately, gracious lady receiving the country folk in her home. He did not linger over that scene, but went back again to the gate cottage where she had taken him one day to see Billy Breen's mother.

"I found the old woman knew all about me," he said simply enough, "but there were many things about Billy she had never heard, and I was glad to put her right on some points, though Mrs. Mavor would not hear it."

He sat silent for a little, looking into the coals, then went on in a soft, quiet voice:

"It brought back the mountains and the old days to hear again Billy's tones in his mother's voice and to see her sitting there in the very dress she wore the night of the league, you remember—some soft stuff with black lace about it—and to hear her sing as she did for Billy. Ah! Ah!"

His voice unexpectedly broke, but in a moment he was master of himself and begged me to forgive his weakness. I am afraid I said words that should not be said, a thing I never do except when suddenly and utterly upset.

"I am getting selfish and weak," he said. "I must get to work. I am glad to get to work. There is much to do, and it is worth while, if only to keep one from getting useless and lazy."

"Useless and lazy!" I said to myself, thinking of my life beside his and trying to get command of my voice, so as not to make quite a fool of myself, and for many a day those words goaded me to work and to the exercise of some mild self denial. But, more than all else, after Craig had gone back to the mountains Graeme's letters from the railway construction camp stirred one to do unpleasant duty long postponed and rendered uncomfortable my hours of most luxurious ease. Many of the old gang were with him, both of lumbermen and miners, and Craig was their minister, and the letters told of how he labored by day and by night along the line of construction, carrying his tent and kit with him, preaching straight sermons, watching by sick men, writing their letters and winning their hearts, making strong their lives and helping them to die well when their hour came.

One day these letters proved too much for me, and I packed away my paints and brushes and made my vow unto the Lord that I would be "useless and lazy" no longer, but would do something with myself. In consequence I found myself within three weeks walking the London hospitals, finishing my course, that I might join that band of men who were doing something with life or, if throwing it away, were not losing it for nothing. I had finished being a fool, I hoped, at least a fool of the useless and luxurious kind. The letter that came from Graeme in reply to my request for a position on his staff was characteristic of the man, both new and old, full of gayest humor and of most earnest welcome to the work.

Mrs. Mavor's reply was like herself:

> I knew you would not long be content with the making of pictures, which the world does not really need, and would join your friends in the dear west, making lives that the world needs so sorely.

But her last words touched me strangely:

> But be sure to be thankful every day for your privilege. * * * It will be good to think of you all, with the glorious mountains about you and Christ's own work in your hands. * * * Ah, how we would like to choose our work and the place in which to do it!

The longing did not appear in the words, but I needed no words to tell me how deep and how constant it was, and I take some credit to myself that in my reply I gave her no bidding to join our band, but rather praised the work she was doing in her place, telling her how I had heard of it from Craig.

The summer found me religiously doing Paris and Vienna, gaining a more perfect acquaintance with the extent and variety of my own ignorance, and so fully occupied in this interesting and wholesome occupation that I fell out with all my correspondents, with the result of weeks of silence between us.

Two letters among the heap waiting on my table in London made my heart beat quick, but with how different feelings, one from Graeme telling me that Craig had been very ill and that he was to take him home as soon as he could be moved. Mrs. Mavor's letter told me of the death of the old lady, who had been her care for the past two years, and of her intention to spend some months in her old home in Edinburgh, and this letter it is that accounts for my presence in a miserable, dingy, dirty little hall running off a close in the historic Cowgate, redolent of the glories of the splendid past and of the various odors of the evil smelling present. I was there to hear Mrs. Mavor sing to the crowd of gamins that thronged the closes in the neighborhood and that had been gathered into a club by "a fine leddie frae the west end" for the love of Christ and his lost. This was an "at home" night, and the mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, of all ages and sizes, were present. Of all the sad faces I had ever seen those mothers carried the saddest and most woe stricken. "Heaven pity us!" I found myself saying. "Is this the beautiful, the cultured, the heaven exalted city of Edinburgh? Will it not for this be cast down into hell some day if it repent not of its closes and their dens of defilement? Oh, the utter weariness, the dazed hopelessness, of the ghastly faces! Do not the kindly, gentle churchgoing folk of the crescents and the gardens see them in their dreams, or are their dreams too heavenly for these ghastly faces to appear?

I cannot recall the programme of the evening, but in my memory gallery is a vivid picture of that face, sweet, sad, beautiful, alight with the deep glow of her eyes, as she stood and sang to that dingy crowd. As I sat upon the window ledge listening to the voice with its flowing song my thoughts were far away, and I was looking down once more upon the eager, coal grimed faces in the rude little church in Black Rock. I was brought back to find myself swallowing hard by an audible whisper from a wee lassie to her mother:

"Mither! See till yon man! He's greetin'."

When I came to myself, she was singing "The Land o' the Leal," the Scotch "Jerusalem, the Golden," immortal, perfect. It needed experience of the hunger haunted Cowgate closes, chill with the black mist of an eastern haar, to feel the full bliss of the vision of the words:

"There's nae sorrow there, Jean;
There's neither cauld nor care, Jean;
The day is aye fair in
The Land o' the Leal."

A land of fair, warm days, untouched

SERIES OF LETTERS

Written by our Klondyke friend,

GEORGE TIFFANY

Contain Many Interesting Facts.

Mar. 20, 1902.

DEAR PARENTS:

I have two letters from home one mailed Feb. 3 and one Jan. 27th. One tells me about its being four below, and I hardly realize how you are able to bear such cold weather as that; just add another zero to the four and you will have something like cold weather. We have been having fine weather of late however, the thermometer getting no lower than twenty below, with bright and pleasant sunshine.

I never realized before how beautiful the sunshine was until I came to this place, where we have to do without sunshine at all for a few months. When it breaks forth over the mountains it seems to thrill one with the delight that he is living, and you feel like absorbing all of the good sun's rays you can. Those dark, gloomy days are like some people, who seem always despondent and without a friend or a relation. We don't have that kind in Alaska, and it makes no difference whether you have a mining claim worth a fortune or your larder contains nothing but a can of cabbage, all seem happy and cheerful. I ate dinner tonight with a man who had undergone an operation a few months ago, loosing both of his large toes because of their having been frozen but a more entertaining man would be hard to find.

When people get broke in this country, they get out and cut wood, work on a claim, or if in the summer they work on a boat or fish for a living, at any rate they always live and no one has to depend upon charity. They suffer untold privations but they seem to have cheerful dispositions. Then too they live in a life of expectancy, hoping that some day they may find a rich claim and make their fortune and return to their old homes.

A SERMON FROM THE KLONDIKE.

Tom Strckit home, the tidings spread
He's braved the Klondike snow
He left us poor; but now, instead
He's got the stuff to blow
I sought the man whom, hearty, hale
Old ties had much endeared:
I knew he had a wondrous tale
A cool half million cleared.
I found him in an easy chair,
How gaunt and hollowed eyed
His cheek bones shone—How thin his hair
His face, how mummified
His nose was gone and fingers four
Both feet—his skin, how seared
But ah, there is one item more
A cool half million cleared.

April 9, 1902.

DEAR PARENTS.

Today is not a very busy one, and so I will take a little time to write a line or two, but I cannot think of anything that would interest you.

Spring is not apparent to us yet, although the sun shines brightly and the roofs of the many cabins have shed the snow. When I first came towards this town I thought I would spend a great many forlorn days in the place, as its first appearance from a river boat is not a very good one. The small cabins look still smaller from the river, and there are so many with no signs of life about them. This was a boom town when the camp was first founded and the people stampeded here and built a great many little log cabins, and there are a hundred or more of them now without a tenant. I think I will be able to get some pictures from now on, as I am getting more familiar with my little camera. Then I can give you a more accurate idea of my surroundings. I am also going to have my "pal" take a few of myself arrayed in winter costume, also "siwash" or hunting costume.

Up to the present time there has been nothing new discovered around here, and if they do not find anything more, there will be little likelihood of the town increasing in size. According to popular opinion there are some very good looking creeks not many miles away, and perhaps at some near date they will be able to make a rich strike.

This mining life is a peculiar one, the people exist upon the hope of striking riches, and dream of how they will spend their riches. Some have done it and others are still hoping and enduring hardships to reach the same end. They all have a free and go easy style. The money flows like water, and a man thinks nothing more of spending ten or twenty dollars than an outsider would of spending five. For instance a party of five went to Nome for a little trip last summer and the average expense per man reached nine hundred dollars. The same amount would have enabled them to take a trip abroad, or toured the United States.

It perhaps would be a novel sight to see the interior of the safe in the office. Sacks of gold dust, holding from 1200 to 3000 dollars worth. This is also a great camp for gold nuggets running in value from 25 cents to 200 dollars. I invested in a watch charm while in St. Michael. It was a Rampart nugget, and it makes quite a novel watch charm. I want to get a pretty one with colored quarts in it for Fred. The currency in circulation here is Canadian mostly, and there is not a great deal of it, dust forms the greater bulk of circulating money. We also accommodate our customers by keeping their gold sacks or money deposits and the whole bottom of the safe is full of pocket books, envelopes and pokes-gold sacks.

I was invited out to dinner to a married ladies last night, and had the rare treat of fresh potatoes and eggs. When I call them fresh, I mean they are not of the usual kind used here in winter—the evaporated variety. The potatoes and eggs are kept in a frozen condition until ready for cooking, while, of course it renders them far inferior to these that have not been frozen, they are considered a great treat. I have got so that I relish condensed milk and condensed cream, evaporated potatoes, canned meats and fruits, beans, etc. When I return I will give you a little dinner a la Yukon, using all the vegetables, fruits, etc., that we are using here now.

We buy large quantities of moose meat, and caribou meat from the Indians, giving them four bits a pound (50 cents) and selling for the same price to the white people, thereby getting the profit on the goods. Fur is bought in the same way, only it is shipped out.

Well, must close, will write again in a few days.

Your Loving Son,
GEORGE.

June 1, 1902.

I wish you were here to see the gold dust and nuggets we are receiving Now is the time that "wash outs" are going on, and the miner is receiving the outcome of his winter's work by separating the gold from the dirt by water, or sluicing as it is called. Two men came in to-day and laid a sack upon the counter which contained two cans of Lamont's Evaporated eggs and one Moose skin bag. The contents of these packages, however, was far in excess of the value the labels would indicate, for each package was full of gold dust.

All the claims at the new camp will make a good showing this year. Three friends of mine will have at least $100,000 each; they own two claims. I hope this will find you both in as good health as your Klondyke kid is. I survived the winter and am willing to take another one.

Your Loving Son,
GEORGE.

Facts in the Case.

Tempe, Arizona, July 1, 1902.

Editor HERALD, Tecumseh, Mich.,

DEAR FRIEND:—I wish to take exceptions to part of an article published in your issue of June 24, 1902, which article headed "A Protest" goes on to state that Gen. Green found the condition of Company C to be in a deplorable state owing to my protracted illness, now the facts of the case are that I resigned command of the Company and was discharged from the service of the state on May 6, 1901, which is over a year ago.

Inasmuch as it has been over a year since I had the authority to issue an order to the Company I do not feel like taking on my shoulders the blame for their being mustered out of the service. In this time the company have elected two different men as Captains, who were all right; but the military board did not see fit to commission them, the consequence was that the company has been drifting for a year without a head.

Respectfully,
WILL H. HAYDEN.

MUCH NOISE

From Cracker and Cannon makes the day indeed a celebration of the Declaration of Independence

Ideal July weather crowned the day of July 4th at Tecumseh, the events of importance during the day were the two ball games, one with Toledo Futures in the morning, the other with Selling and May of Detroit.

In the morning game the Toledo Futures tried in vain to hit Harris but he proved to much of a puzzle for the visitors, striking out nine men to Du-Puy's three. Chaffee, Tecumseh's catcher, proved himself a whirlwind at the bat, making two three baggers. Toledo's batting was poor, they making but one run during the whole game.

Following is the score:

Two base hits 1, struck out by DuPuy 3, two base hits 1; three base hits 2; struck out by Harris 9.

The afternoon game with Selling and May was a sharp and snappy game. A large crowd turned out to witness the contest. The visitors piled up three runs in the first inning owing to errors but that was the end of it. Tecumseh immediately settled down to business not allowing the visitors to bring in another run while they piled up six to their credit.

The S. and M. team proved themselves a hot proposition, one that was worthy the mettle of Tecumseh and it was only by good, hard playing that Tecumseh permitted to carry away the laurels. The large attendance filled the grand stand, benches and spread itself out over the ground. everyone was well pleased with this game as it did not prove such a walk away as did the morning's game. Below is the result:

JULY 5th.

July 5th Tecumseh crossed bats with the Clinton aggregation at Clinton Saturday. The Clinton boys tried their best to make a run, but their repeated attempts proved useless, Tecumseh was too much for them. It was a hotly contested game, both teams working hard for the victory, but Tecumseh proved itself the champion and beat their opponents 4 to 0. Below we give the result in innings:

BAD STORM

Much Damage Done by Wind and Lightning

TIPTON

And Surrounding Country Suffers Greatly, Wednesday.

Much damage was done by the storm across this section of the country last Wednesday night, Tipton was the only one of the many places that suffered loss, the storm sweeping over the northern portion of that place.

The farms belonging to M. D. Alexander and Joe Keeny were among the first to feel the effects of wind and storm, especially the timber upon them. It next visited the farm of O. Alexander doing considerable damage here. about 30 trees were destroyed, 15 being apple.

The rail fences were to a large extent demolished. Another queer havoc of the wind was demonstrated after it it struck Mr. Alexander's barn, this structure is a good sized building and as the storm abated it was found the barn had been moved about two inches on its foundation. Following the storm we find it next visited Leroy Bidwell's farm doing considerable damage to the fences and timber.

From here it traversed to the farm of Thomas Conklin, completely demolishing an old barn upon that place. Its next damage was upon the farm owned by Al Morseman, where his barn suffered slightly, also many of his orchard trees.

It seems the storm rises at this point and we do not hear of it again until it reached Macon, where it does considerable damage to the telephone wires. Taken as a whole this storm was of a very serious nature, one that we do not care to have renewed. In fact of late storms of this nature and even worse have been quite common, doing a great deal of damage all over the country.

MICHIGAN

—Has Money, Cash Balance of $3,453.000

On Hand. State has Lost Largely Through an 'old Statute.

Lansing, Mich., July 1.—The state's fiscal year closed last night with a cash balance on hand in the state treasury of $3,453,811.14, an increase of $826,287.30 over the balance of the year previous. The receipts for the year were $7,079,429.21, of which not one-third was derived from direct taxation, and the disbursements were $6,253,141.91. The receipts were larger than usual during the fiscal year on account of the money received from the general government on account of the Spanish war and other claims filed by the state.

The secretary of the state received fees during the year sufficient to pay the extra expense of that department. A total of $64,915.42 was received, of which sum $55,833.61 was franchise fees, $3,688.65 for recording and filing articles and $1,696.43 for charges against building and loan associations. The fees for the month of June were $4,881.63.

It is believed that the secretary of the state has lost a large sum in franchise fees through the discovery of a law on the statute books permitting the organization of partnerships on the stock basis This law was passed several years ago and is known as the partnership act. Under it nearly all the pure food companies of Battle Creek have been organized and many other partnerships are being formed. Such partnerships however, are said to be really corporations with all these privileges. They are not required to pay a franchise fee. file their articles of incorporation with the secretary of state or make reports to any state authority. Yet they may issue stock and stockholders are liable only to the amount of stock which they hold.

The law, it is claimed, was never intended to have a wide application, and it certainly destroys the efficiency of the corporation act.—Free Press.

IN TECUMSEH

Every Claim is Backed by Local Testimony.

If a reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a citizen here at home, what can it be?

Mr. F. A. Ferguson, tinsmith, residing in the northwestern section of Tecumseh, says: "I had symptoms of kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were very irregular and at times too frequent and highly colored. Having seen so many cases of severe kidney trouble I thought it wise to do something at once, so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store and took them. I began to improve from the very start and continued to do so. I emphatically declare Doan's Kidney Pills to be up to the representations made for them.

Judgment in Gaynor-Greene Case.

Quebec, July 5.—Judge Caron yesterday rendered judgment in the Gaynor-Greene case. He granted the motions made by counsel for the occused for writs of certiorari, ordering Extradition Magistrate Lafontaine to produce without delay all documents in his possession relating to these cases before the superior court here. As to the motions made by counsel for the United States government to amend the returns of Sheriff Langelier and Jailer Vallee to the writs of habeas corpus, Justice Caron stated that he would not render the judgment thereon until all documents are before the court. He then adjourned the court until next Friday, when Magistrate Lafontaine is expected to produce all documents relating to the case.

The Economical Mule.

The mule is ready to begin work two or three years earlier than the horse. He can be put to pretty heavy pulling when he is three years old, and from that time until he is forty, if he has fair treatment and does not meet with an accident, he is not likely to lose any time. He is not subject to the many ailments to which the horse is a victim, at least not to any great degree. He lives about twice as long, and his actual period of usefulness is nearly three times as long, for the horse is really not fit for heavy service until he is five years old or after he is twenty, while a mule will often do good service for forty years, and they have been known to work fifty, according to one writer, without being turned out at any time during all that long period.

Like the ass, the mule will live upon next to nothing, and during all his forty years of hard service a mule will not require—and generally does not get—half the feed necessary to sustain a horse during his much shorter period of usefulness.

Where Allspice Grows.

The island of Jamaica produces about all the allspice that is used. It is known also as pimento, or Jamaica pepper. The tree on which the berries grow is evergreen, and the flowers grow in dense clusters. These develop into small green aromatic berries, the size of black pepper. If allowed to ripen, they become pulpy and lose some of their pungency. For commercial purposes the berries are gathered when green, carefully dried in the sun and afterward packed in bags holding 160 to 180 pounds and shipped. Pimento trees grow in many parts of tropical America, but nowhere do they thrive as in Jamaica. The trees are never planted by man and receive no cultivation worthy of the name. The seeds are dropped by the birds, and the rains and the tropical sun do the rest. Surplus trees are cut down and become walking sticks and umbrella handles. This spice is more mild and innocent than most other spices.

A Kiss and a Snap.

In 1837 Mr. Thomas Saverland brought an action against Miss Caroline Newton, who had bitten a piece out of his nose for his having tried to kiss her by way of a joke. The defendant was acquitted, and the judge laid down that "when a man kisses a woman against her will she is fully entitled to bite his nose if she so pleases."—"The Kiss and Its History."

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by J. J. Orr.

A Hungry Musician.

During the siege of Ladysmith an officer who was organizing a concert to keep up his men's cheerfulness heard of a sergeant in the Gordons who was said to be a performer. He found the said sergeant and asked him to contribute his services.

The sergeant was sorry, but said he "couldn't."

"Why," said the officer, "you do play something, don't you?"

"I did, sir."

"Well, what's your instrument?"

"The bones, sir—but I've ate 'em!"

Bloody Fight at Christening.

Connellsville, Pa., July 7.—A terrific race riot between Slavs and Polish miners and cokeworkers occurred Saturday night at the Paul mines of the Rainey company, near Vanderbilt, three miles from here. Thirty Slavs, men and women, were all more or less injured in a terrific hand-to-hand fight that took place.

The following corporations filed notice of increase of capital stock: Huron Milling Co., Harbor Beach, from $345,000 to $285,000; White Star Portland Cement Co., Detroit, from $10,000 to $1,500,000; Reason Automatic Air Pump Co., Pontiac, from $12,000 to $25,000; Saginaw Muslin Underwear Co., Saginaw, from $15,000 to $60,000.

Normal President Selected.

Ypsilanti, Mich., July 7.—It has been announced by the state board of education that L. H. Jones of Cleveland, O., has been offered the position of president of the State Normal college here and had accepted. Professor Jones is now superintendent of schools at Cleveland, and will probably come here on or before Sept. 1. He will be president and principal of the Normal here and will also be president of the council of normal principals, the other members of which will be the principals of the Mt. Pleasant and Marquette normals.

His Neck and Back Broken.

Delray, Mich., July 7.—Earl Gobin, the six-year-old son of Joseph Gobin, who lives at 3 Barn street, was run over by a street car Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and instantly killed. The little fellow, with other companions, was jumping on and off the cars as they ran by West End avenue. While riding on a car going east he jumped off and right into a car going west. He was run over, his arm being cut off and his neck and back broken.

State Receives a Neat Sum.

Lansing, Mich., July 7.—Governor Bliss has received a check from the federal government for $382,167.62, the amount of Michigan's civil war interest claim as allowed by congress in the general deficiency bill. Ralph Stone of Detroit, who put in a good deal of work on the claim, will get a nice commission from the state for its collection.

Need More Help

Often the over-taxed organs of digestion cry out for help by dyspepsia's pains, nausea, dizziness, headaches, liver complaints, bowel disorders. Such troubles call for prompt use of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are gentle thorough and guaranteed to cure, 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

When other Medicines have Failed

Take Foley's Kidney Cure. It has cured when everything else has disappointed. J. J. Orr.

Coronation Rumors.

London, July 7.—A number of coronation rumors are current. The optimists say King Edward will be quietly crowned six weeks hence. Rear Admiral John C. Watson, who was to have represented the United States navy at the crowning of King Edward, returned home, however, on July 2 and hopes to come back for the ceremony, the date of which he is quite unable to prognosticate. It seems likely that the crowning will occur somewhere about the end of September, but with little or no pageant, however.

Believed Indians Killed Cattle.

Ardmore, I. T., July 7.—Grave trouble between cattlemen and Indians in the Choctaw nation is feared, because of the killing during the past week of nearly 400 cattle, supposedly by the Indians. The trouble arises from the violation by the cattlemen of the law providing that non-citizens of the nation shall have no more than ten head of cattle each. It is asserted that the cattle owners have violated the law with impunity and aroused the hostility of the Indians.

Attempt at Kidnaping.

Butte, Mont., July 7.—An attempt was made at an early hour Sunday morning to chloroform a family of seven persons with the object, it is presumed, of abducting Eva McCaffrey, a quarter-breed Indian girl. The perpetrator is believed to have been Peter Dempsey, a condemned murderer, who escaped from the county jail a year ago. The man was frightened away and escaped. Dempsey was enamored of the girl prior to his arrest.

Won't Withdraw Constitution.

Capetown, July 7.—Lord Milner, the British high commissioner, has received a dispatch announcing that the imperial government has decided against the proposal to suspend the constitution of Cape Colony. The imperial government has notified the acting premier that the colonial parliament should be assembled as speedily as possible.

Accident Cost Thirteen Lives.

Gloversville, N. Y., July 7.—Motorman William Dodge of the runaway car on the Mountain Lake railroad died at Littauer hospital last night, making the thirteenth victim of the wreck of Friday night. It is probable that George Fisher, whose skull was fractured, will die, and Edward Schell is in a very serious state.

MURDERED AND MONEY GOFE.

Old Man in Grand Rapids Found Dead in a Wagon Box.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 5.—The dead body of William A. Reynolds, sixty years old, a nurse at the county home, was found Friday afternoon in a wagon box in the rear of a Kent street livery barn.

It is believed that he was murdered after a hard struggle for life, as one arm is terribly lacerteed and stripped of flesh in several places from the wrist to the elbow and just below the shoulder.

He came to town in the morning and had considerable money in his possession, but when his body was found there was no money in his pockets.

REPORTS OF THE STORM.

Throughout Southern Michigan the Damages Are Enormous.

Colon, Mich., July 5.—The cyclone which passed through about five miles of here July 3 was one of the worst storms ever experienced in southern Michigan.

At Mendon the house and barn belonging to the Butler estate were completely demolished. Not a stick of timber was left standing. Nearly all the stock on the farm was killed, chickens and pigs being driven into the ground by the falling timbers. Trees were uprooted and carried about forty to eighty rods through the air to adjacent farms.

Minard, Mich., July 5.—The barn of James Thomson, a farmer, was struck by lightning and partially destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance. The bridge at Minard Mills, which has done duty for over half a century, was washed out. The dam is gone and a new water course has been formed across the road, making travel out of the question.

Tompkins, Mich., July 5.—The worst storm of the season caused much damage to crops. Fully half the bridges in the township were washed out and all traffic is suspended. A portion of the dam owned by E. Peters went out.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 5.—Farmers estimate that crops have been injured 10 to 30 per cent by the rains. Growers express the fear that the celery crop may be almost a total loss. Damage may reach $100,000.

Belleville, Mich., July 5.—The most important highways leading into Belleville were washed out by the flood, and the place is practically inaccessible to teams. In some places thirty feet of embankment have been washed away. The lowlands are flooded, and the loss to farmers has been very great.

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—The loss to the various suburban electric lines entering Detroit from the deluge and from lack of ability to care for traffic is beyond computation. "The loss in dollars and cents?" queried President Hutchins, of the United Railway, in answer to an inquiry. "I am unable to make an estimate. We had a thousand men working all day Thursday in a tremendous effort to repair the damage sufficiently to care for the Fourth of July traffic."

Faculty Will Take a Hand.

Ypsilanti, Mich., July 5.—The published reports of the flirtatious actions of the Normal girls has created considerable feeling in this city, and while there has been a lot of scrambling for cover and denials have been heard an all sides, Dr. Leonard said today that rules would be put in operation forbidding co-eds to have "company" later than 10:30, local time, and the "company" would not be allowed in the rooms of the girls excepting in rare cases which had the approval of the faculty. The rooming houses will be required to enforce the rules in order to have the approval of the college authorities, in addition to being approved on general conditions. Students will not be allowed to vacate rooms during the terms because of the complaints made against them for misconduct, but where satisfactory evidence is produced, showing that students had been boisterous and unreasonably noisy, they will stand a good chance of being sent home. Dr. Leonard will bring these matters before the state board.

Accidently Killed His Wife.

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—While engaged in cleaning a revolver yesterday, John Mach, a laborer, living at 290 Garfield avenue east, accidentally discharged the weapon, the bullet lodging in the left breast of his wife, who stood near. She died an hour later.

Legislator Gordon Injured.

Marquette, Mich., July 5.—State Legislator John R. Gordon had a hole torn through his hand last night by a skyrocket. At the last session of the legislature Gordon presented a bill to prevent the use of fireworks, but was induced to withdraw it before action was taken. He says he will reintroduce the bill at the next session.

Blew Out His Brains.

Decatur, Ill., July 5.—The Rev. D. C. Peabody, until the 1st inst. rector of St. John's Episcopal church, blew out his brains at his home Friday morning. He recently resigned this charge because of ill health, and is believed to have been mentally affected. He came here from Mobile, Ala., a year ago, having been in the ministry twenty-five years. He leaves a widow, son and two daughters.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

HANDSOME RECEPTION GOWN.

Vandykes, whether in lace, applique or cut into the fabric of gowns, are once more enjoying a full measure of popular favor after a temporary eclipse. This graceful garniture is shown to great advantage upon this charming gown. The material was crepe de chine of a pale mastic shade laid in groups of horizontal tucks, stitched with Corticelli sewing silk in self color. The edge of the skirt was bordered with a beautiful Vandyked design in ecru Venetian point, the pattern being picked out with rhinestone brilliants, opalescent spangles, and French Knots worked in pale blue Corticelli EE twisted embroidery silk. The blouse was furnished with a cape collar of the same lace, which gave that long sloping effect at the shoulders so desirable for the moment. The edge was finished with a narrow accordeon pleating of white chiffon, sprung with with a tiny ruche. The scarf which ornaments the vest, and the sleeve puff, were of embroidered chiffon and lace.

A Sustaining Diet

There are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic, say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

Precedent.

A clever answer in court was that given to Chief Justice Coleridge years ago, when he was defending a lady who had become a Sister of Mercy and was expelled from the convent for refusing to obey the rules.

She had brought an action for expulsion and libel. In the course of the trial Coleridge assumed that breaches of discipline are trivial, contemptible and should never be noticed.

"What has Miss Sawin done?" he asked Mrs. Kennedy, a mistress of novices.

"Well," said the lady, "she has, for example, eaten strawberries."

"Eaten strawberries? What harm is there in that?"

"It was forbidden, sir," said Mrs. Kennedy.

"But, Mrs. Kennedy, what trouble was likely to come from eating strawberries?"

"Well, sir," said Mrs. Kennedy, "you might as well ask what trouble was likely to come from eating an apple, and yet we know what trouble did come from it."

That closed the discussion.

Too Much For the Sheriff.

An Irish widow with a quick wit one day received a call from a sheriff who had a writ to serve on her. According to the story, the widow saved the day by some rapid fire courting which took the sheriff by surprise when be called at her house and began in formal fashion:

"Madam, I have an attachment for you."

"My dear sir," she said, blushing, "your attachment is reciprocated."

"You don't understand me. You must proceed to court," said the sheriff.

"Well, I know 'tis leap year, but I prefer to let you do the courting yourself. Men are much better at that than women."

"Mrs. Phelan, this is no time for fooling. The justice is waiting."

"The justice waiting! Well, then, I suppose I must go, but the thing is so sudden, and besides I'd prefer a priest to do it."

Two Sides.

"You'd make a pretty good clerk," said the employer sarcastically, "if you only had a little more common sense."

"Indeed!" replied the clerk. "But did it ever occur to you that if I had a little more common sense I wouldn't be a clerk at all?"—Philadelphia Record.

First Business Lesson.

"What is the first thing a young business man should learn?" was asked of the successful one.

"That mailing bills is not collecting money," was the prompt reply.—Indianapolis News.

The Scotch are great users of snuff. It was a Scotchman who once asked a big nosed stranger if he took snuff and, receiving a negative reply, remarked. "What a pity. You have such a grand accommodation."

Aeronaut Killed.

Mt. Vernon, Ill., July 5.—An aeronaut named Hallbrook, from St. Louis, was instantly killed here yesterday. He made a baloon ascension and the parachute failed to work. He fell 100 feet and was dashed to death.

A Rare Drug.

"The price of many drugs used in medicine is astonishing to those who are not acquainted with the subject," remarked a druggist to a Philadelphia Times representative. "There are several that are worth their weight in gold (about $20 an ounce), while $2, $3 and $5 an ounce are quite common prices in pharmacy. But there is one drug that I can recall which is worth more than its weight in gold. This is pseudo physostigmine. I don't think that it has a popular name. It is too rich for that. In the pharmacists' list it is quoted at $1 a grain, or $437.50 an ounce. The seed from which the drug is made grows in India and Brazil, as well as in parts of South Africa. This seed, tradition says, was once used by native chiefs as an ordeal. The ordeal generally resulted in the death of the man upon whom it was tried and so it was considered as a great truth finder. The prepared drug is sometimes used now in prescriptions for the treatment of heart disease."

First English Book on Sport.

The first book on sport ever printed in the English language was a rhymed treatise called the "Boke of St. Albans," its author being a woman, Dame Juliana Berners. Its second edition was printed by Wynkyn de Worde in 1496. A descendant of her family, Lord Berners, was the translator of Froissart's "Chronicles." It is true that old manuscripts existed, such as the "Venerie de Twecy" of the time of Edward II., but it was Dame Juliana who was the real ancestress of sporting literature in England, for she also composed an essay on hawking and another on "Fishing With an Angle," the last being of such excellence that Izaak Walton himself did not disdain to take a hint from its pages.

"Eating Crow."

The term "eating crow" comes from an ante Revolutionary story. A soldier of an English regiment stationed in Virginia shot a pet crow belonging to a farmer. The latter entered a complaint with the colonel, who sentenced the soldier to eat the crow. The farmer was left alone with the soldier to see that he did it. After the soldier had consumed a portion of the bird he took his gun, presented it at the farmer and told him to eat the remainder of the crow or he would shoot him. This was the origin of the eating crow story.

University of Athens.

The University of Athens is very old. It is conducted on the German plan. Most of the professors are graduates of German universities, and the German language is heard about the building more frequently than any other except Greek. The institution has a large amount of property, and several of the chairs have been handsomely endowed by private individuals.

The Poisonous Poppy.

In Turkey if a man falls asleep in the neighborhood of a poppy field and the wind blows from the field toward him, he becomes narcotized and would die if the country people, who are well acquainted with the circumstances, did not bring him to a well or stream and empty pitcher after pitcher of water on his face and body.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water injections. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition; during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief; such was my case until I began using CASCARETS. "In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. TAFT'S LAST NOTE

Leaves Friar Question to be Settled as Vatican Suggested.

WITHDRAWAL OF THE FRIARS

Not For Interests of the U. S., but the Inhabitants of Philippines—Matter Is Now Left to Governor and Apostalic Delegate at Manila.

Rome, July 17.—At noon Wednesday Major Porter personally delivered to Cardinal Rampolla the last note of Governor Taft on the subject of the withdrawal of the friars from the Philippines, which will presumably end the governor's negotiations here, as Porter simultaneously presented a letter from Taft asking for a farewell audience of the pope.

The following is, in part, Judge Taft's note to the Vatican. It is addressed to Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, and begins thus:

"In reply to the two notes of your eminence of June 21 and July 9, I have just received a communication from the secretary of war, in precise and expressive terms, which are here reproduced intergrally. Secretary Root says he is glad to see by the two notes received from the Vatican that the holy see is animated by the best intentions to come to an understanding with Washington about the relations between church and state in the Philippines, that your eminence has declared the Vatican to be disposed to give clear and precise instructions to the friars to occupy themselves with religion only, abstraining entirely from politics, and that the holy see proposes to introduce, little by little, ecclesiastics of other nationalities, especially American. Secretary Root adds that he cannot do less than acknowledge the wisdom of these propositions, but that he must observe that they would not solve the question.

"The United States has no desire to violate the treaty of Paris, and seeks not a forcible, but a voluntary, withdrawal of certain persons, who happen to be Spaniards, and whose previous experiences in the islands had thrown them into antagonistic relations with the people and with the Catholic laity and native clergy, many of whom have left their parishes and can only be reinstated by using material force, which the United States cannot permit. The United States did not desire the withdrawal for itself, it was indifferent to the presence of the friars—but in the interests of the whole people of the Philippines, who were bitterly opposed to their presence.

"Now that the Vatican does not see its way clear to make a definite withdrawal, the American government has deemed it wiser to recur to the methods of settlement of the various questions at issue suggested by Cardinal Rampolla's first communication of June 21, namely:

"First, an investigation by both sides into the possible and probable liabilities and claims and the settlement of them by an accredited apostalic delegate with the governor of Manila, after the conditions with respect to the titles of the friars to the land and the amount of claims for rental have been presented by the representative of the church to the representatives of the Philippine government in Manila.

"As to the indemnity for the friars' lands, your eminence has pointed out the difficulty of computing so precipitately the exact value, but this might be done by examining the title deeds. The Washington government will immediately order the general commanding the forces in the Philippines to furnish all indications necessary to ascertain what damage has been done by the military occupation. Although regretful that all the questions have not been decided definitely, the government is glad to express satisfaction at the results obtained."

Secretary Root, in his communication, declares that Judge Taft's journey is quite compensated for by the fact that it is possible to fix general lines on which, later, can be amicably resolved all the questions now pending. Meanwhile, as a preliminary, he wishes Cardinal Rampolla to send to the Philippine government four lists of the property considered to belong to the religious orders, comprising:

1. That transferred to corporations.
2. The ecclesiastical buildings occupied by the troops, with indications of the damage and compensation therefor.
3. The property before considered Spanish crown lands which it is desired the American government should transfer to the church, though Washington will grant such transfers only on condition that a satisfactory agreement be reached on all other questions.
4. The charitable and educational institutions which the Vatican desires to be considered as belonging to the church.

Judge Taft concludes his note to the Vatican thus:

"In obedience to Secretary Root's desires, I request that the future negotiations on the points raised be held in Manila between an apostalic delegate and the governor, after the information suggested above by Secretary Root has been ascertained and presented."

Washington, July 17.—One week from today Governor Taft will sail from Italy, resuming his journey to Manila. If the Vatican has by that date concluded to accept the terms respecting the sale of the friars' lands and the withdrawal of the friars themselves from the Philippines, the papers will be signed by Taft and the arrangement will be regarded as closed. If, on the other hand, the cardinals' committee is unable to accept the terms, or if it is not prepared to make a final answer, the governor will still proceed on his way and the negotiations will be suspended.

DIDN'T PAY FULL AMOUNT

Insists Charter of 1846, Not 1897, Is Lawful One Upon Which to Figure Assessments—State Treasury Is at High Water Mark.

Lansing, Mich., July 17.—The Michigan Central Wednesday paid the state $385,425 in taxes on the main and leased lines for the current year, based on last year's earnings. This is $37,947 more than the company paid last year. This payment makes the state treasury balance $4,197,451, several hundred thousand dollars in excess of any previous high mark.

As compared with last year, the total of the Michigan Central taxes is $37,947.83 greater; the taxes on main line earnings, $25,380.99 greater, and the taxes on leased lines $10,866.84 greater.

In his certification to the auditor-general of the taxes due, Railroad Commissioner Osborne computed the tax on the main line under the general law and made it $283,693.61 instead of $225,186.89, the amount paid yesterday. On this point the company advises the auditor-general as follows:

"With respect to the Michigan Central Railroad company, the commissioner of railroads appears to have made his computation in accordance with the provisions of act No. 228 of the public acts of 1897. It is respectfully submitted that the Michigan Central company is not subject to the provisions of said act or liable to taxation thereunder; and said company insists that the only lawful basis for computing the taxes payable by it is as provided by section 33 of its charter, act No. 42 of the laws of 1846, as amended by act No. 179 of the public acts of 1893, and that the sum of $225,186.89 is the correct amount payable by said company.

"The commissioner of railroads probably made his computation under the act of 1897, because the Michigan Central company paid taxes for that year in accordance with the provisions of that act; but at the time said payment was made, said company notified the state treasurer in writing that it did not thereby concede that it was subject to said act of 1897, and insisted that the legal basis for computing taxes payable by it was said section 33 of its charter as amended, and that it did not waive the right to insist that said section 33 of its charter so amended was in full force and effect.

"In view of the subsequent litigation and legislation this company fells compelled, in due protection of its interests, to pay only such taxes as are required by law."

She Still Loves Him.

Niles, Mich., July 17.—Frank Railing, who married seventeen-year-old Florence Zimmerman of Niles, while he had another wife in Indiana, is now free from his first wife, she having been granted a decree of divorce three days ago. The father of Florence has offered to drop the prosecution against Railing if the latter will leave Niles and agree not to return, but the latter won't do it. He says he loves Florence, and she declares that she will never give him up.

Missed Target and Killed Him.

Flint, Mich., July 17.—George, the seven-year-old son of William Simmons, sexton of Greenwood cemetery, was accidently shot Tuesday afternoon by Grant Turner, a Pontiac boy of about the same age, and died Wednesday morning. The boys were shooting at a mark with a rifle owned by the elder Simmons.

Horribly Mangled by Cars.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.—A boy named Joseph Jasnowski, aged ten years, was run over by a slowly moving freight car on Dequindre street, between Hancock and Warren, Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock and horribly mangled. His head was severed from the body and both legs crushed. He was catching on cars.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

A. O. H. Convention.—Bishop Foley of Detroit and Bishop Eis of Marquette are expected to be present at the state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which will be held in Hancock Aug. 19 to 22, inclusive.

To Teach Boys Cooking.—Trustees of the Calumet public schools contemplates establishing a cooking department of the manuel training school this year. The school is one of the finest in the state and was built and equipped by the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co.

Cat Did 120-Mile Walk.—A tiger cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buck, formerly of Battle Creek, who moved to Detroit in January of this year, has turned up in Battle Creek after a 120-mile walk. The pet was taken to Detroit, but slipped away while Mrs. Buck was carrying it and a heavy satchel.

Firecracker Cost an Eye.—A rather peculiar accident has resulted in Daniel Suanto of Bessemer losing one of his eyes. Suanto was sitting in a doorway when a boy lit a giant firecracker and tossed it in the street. The force of the explosion sent a pebble flying, which hit Suanto in the optic, injuring it so badly it had to be taken out.

A Vicious Applicant.—A Paw Paw man named Charles F. Crossman went to the residence of Jerome C. Lewis of Antwerp, an old soldier and farmer, asking for a job. Crossman is a painter, but Lewis had no work for him. Crossman drew a revolver and shot Lewis and then pounded him on the head with the weapon. Lewis' wounds are not dangerous. Crossman escaped.

A Roman Dinner.

A Roman dinner at the house of a wealthy man consisted chiefly of three courses. All sorts of stimulants to the appetite were first served up, and eggs were indispensable to the first course. Among the various dishes we may instance the guinea hen, pheasant, nightingale and the thrush as birds most in repute. The Roman gourmands held peacocks in great estimation, especially their tongues. Macrobius states that they were first eaten by Hortensius, the orator, and acquired such repute that a single peacock was sold for 50 denarii, the denarius being equal to about eightpence halfpenny of our money.—Chambers' Journal.

BIG DROP IN CORN

Shorts Settled Up and Corn Corner Broken.

FINANCIERS MADE BIG HAUL

Gates-Harris Company Handled the Deal—Estimated They Made $1,500,000—July Corn Drops 15¾ Cents—Farmers Held Responsible.

Chicago, July 16.—The famous John W. Gates corner in July corn came to an abrupt termination Tuesday when it became known that shorts to the extent of a good many million bushels had effected private settlements with Harris, Gates & Co. and that the deal was at an end so far as the steel magnate was concerned. The July price responded to the settlement by a quick drop of 15¾c to 65¼. Later it recovered a fraction and closed at 65½, substantially the price of the cash article.

Just how many bushels were subject to private settlement will probably never be known, nor is there much chance that the identity of the big fellows in the trade, who doubtless contributed liberally to the fortunes of Mr. Gates and the friends associated with him in the deal, will ever be positively known.

Manager Scotten would not discuss the settlement price. The price, however, was not a matter of decided interest to the trade generally. With the knowledge that Monday night's closing price was 81 cents and the opening yesterday from 79 to 80, the consensus of opinion among the outsiders was that Mr. Gates has demanded either 80 or 81 cents from the people who were foolish enough to sell him corn all the way from 60c up.

The "length" of the line of July settled for by shorts is also a matter of more or less conjecture. Mr. Scotten said it was "several million bushels" and that the length of the line had never been overestimated. It has been called as high as 25,000,000 bushels, but more generally 20,000,000 bushels It is a matter of common knowledge that since it became possible to make deliveries on July contracts the Harris Gates people have taken it and paid for about 3,000,000 bushels. This would leave settlements on some 17,000,000 bushels.

It is estimated by close observers of the transaction that Mr. Gates' profit will not exceed $1,500,000. This amount will be divided up between ten or a dozen millionaires, who were interested in the deal. Mr. Gates and his friends have between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 bushels of cash corn which they must dispose of before the corner can be called settled.

The corner at one time promised many millions of profit, and the farmer whose well-filled cribs line the tracks of nearly every railroad entering Chicago is held responsible for the disappointing ending of the corner. There were substantial reserves from the bumper crop of 1900 and the large yield of 1901. This corn has been held for a satisfactory market. The farmer did not begin to take advantage of the situation until the price of July got up in the 70s, and when it finally reached 90 cents the Chicago market was deluged with cash corn. For a while the Harris-Gates people kept the market cleaned up, but steadily increasing quantities began coming in, and the prospect of loading up with a lot of 80-cent corn which they might not be able to later dispose of at over 60 cents became somewhat appalling. Without warning they withdrew all support, settled with the shorts and closed the deal.

Jumped Into Niagara.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 16.—Nina A. Phillips, twenty-three years old, good looking and well dressed, committed suicide here Tuesday by jumping into the rapids on the American side of the river from Goat island bridge. Her body was swept over the falls. She was well educated. She had often expressed a strange fascination for the rapids. Yesterday she ked over the bridge and laid her walked over the bridge and laid her hat, gloves and pocketbook on the ground and, returning to the center of the bridge, made the fatal leap. On a slip of paper in her pocketbook she had written her address and the words: "Over the falls July 15, 1902."

Miner Killed by Dynamite.

Johnstown, Pa., July 16.—John Savach, a Slav, aged thirty-six, was instantly killed; Roger Harvey, aged fifty-five, seriously, and John Yells slightly injured by an explosion of dynamite in No. 34 mine of the Berwind-White Coal Mining company at Windber, about noon Tuesday. Savach was preparing a stick of dynamite for use when from some unknown cause it exploded, together with sixteen sticks which were lying nearby. Savach was blown to pieces.

New Battleship Maine.

Philadelphia, July 16.—The battleship Maine, built at Cramps shipyard to replace the vessel destroyed in Havana harbor, started Tuesday afternoon on the builders' trial trip off Delaware capes. A party of about thirty guests were on board the battleship. The specifications call for a speed requirement of 18 knots. The Maine is 388 feet long, beam 72 feet 2½ inches; draught, 23 feet 10¼ inches; displacement, 12,500 tons.

AFTVR THEIR OLD JOBS.

Chicago Strikers Return—Strike Cost City $10,000,000.

Chicago, July 17.—Renewed activity on the part of Chicago business men followed the settlement of the freight handlers and teamsters' strike Wednesday, and at the close of business hours last night thousands of tons of freight had been sent to and from the various freight depots. Every one of the 24,000 strikers who could obtain employment had returned to work by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The strike, it is estimated, cost the business men of Chicago $10,000,000, and in order to guard against such a contingency in the future they are preparing to inaugurate an educational campaign in opposition to the sympathetic strike.

The labor unions will be asked to forego the use of this potent weapon. The business interests which suffered through the strike will join in pledging themselves, it is said, not to sign union agreements which do not guard them against these strikes.

On the other hand, labor unions are fighting to secure the right to abrogate agreements for the purpose of ordering sympathetic strikes.

The freight handlers blame the national officers of the teamsters for the loss of the strike. They declare that the strike shows the necessity for incorporating in all agreements a reservation which will permit strikes.

Credit for the settlement rests with the state board of arbitration. It was the adoption of the suggestions by that board which led to the action of the freight handlers' union in declaring the struggle with the railroads at an end.

DISASTER IN A UTAH MINE.

Thirty-five Workmen Killed by Explosion of Magazines.

Park City, Utah, July 17.—Thirty-five miners have been killed in the Daly West and Ontaria mines, twenty-nine in the Daly West and six in the Ontario.

The disaster was the result of an explosion occasioned by John Burgy, a miner, going into one of the magazines of the Daly West with a lighted candle. His act cost him his left and the lives of many other miners besides. His own body was blown to small pieces.

The explosion occurred at 11:20 o'clock Tuesday night, and in a moment deadly gas was being generated throughout the mine. It crept through every tunnel, shaft and incline, and in a very short space of time scores of miners found themselves face to face with death.

It is not known how much powder was exploded, but whatever amount there was, it went off with a terrible concussion. The shock was something terrific and was heard for a long distance, although it was nearly 2 o'clock before the disaster was known in Park City, a distance of three miles.

When it is stated that a horse was killed at the mouth of the Ontario tunnel, two miles away, some idea of the force of the explosion may be had. That the loss of life was not far greater seems marvelous.

SMITH'S PUNISTMENT.

President Reprimands and Puts Him on Retired List.

Washington, July 17.—Secretary Root brought from Oyster Bay the case of General Jacob H. Smith, tried by courtmartial at Manila on account of orders issued to Major Waller. General Smith was found guilty of the charges by the court and sentenced to be admonished by the reviewing authority. The president has so admonished General Smith and retired him under the law which provides that officers having reached the age of sixty-two years may be retired at will by the president.

New Army Uniforms.

Washington, July 17.—While Secretary Root was at Oyster Bay, the president considered and approved the report of the army uniform board. The order for the new uniform will go into effect on Jan. 1, when officers will be ordered to be equipped to the new regulations. Officers serving in the Philippines will be allowed to wear the old uniforms during their service there.

Her Kisses Come High.

Chicago, July 17.—Townsend Smith, real estate dealer and well-known clubman, is accused of attempting to kiss and hug Mrs. Lillie E. Davis, a teacher in the Anderson grammar school, and as a result notice of a suit for $50,000 damages was filed in the superior court by Mrs. Davis' attorney.

THE INCONVENIENCE OF A RETURN TO LIFE

[Original.]

"The gentleman over the way is dead, sir."

My valet made the announcement as he sat down the tray with my breakfast.

"Poor fellow!" I remarked. "Rather I should pity those who remain behind."

"They're better off than if he kem back, sir."

"What do you mean?"

"I knew a man oncet who kem back, sir, and it was very inconvenient."

"Tell me about it."

He did so, and I listened to his story while I ate my breakfast:

"Pat Dolan was laid out, with candles at his head and feet and covered with a sheet. Pat had been in the best of health till one mornin' he was found lyin' beside the road, dead. That's what everybody who saw 'im said, so his body was made ready for the wake.

"Now, Pat had been a thrifty man and had put by a good many goldpieces, which he kept in a woolen stockin' in the clock. He hadn't been married, but was goin' to be to a lusty redheaded girl, Bridget O'Toole, twenty years behind 'im in age. The banns had been published when Pat was found dead. Bridget would have been satisfied with Pat's death if he died a few days after instead of a few days before the weddin', for she preferred Tom Flannagan; but, knowin' of the goldpieces Pat had hid away, she preferred 'em even to Tom.

"As Pat couldn't be buried till the doctor returned and certified that he was dead, and the watchers havin' drunk a deal of Irish whisky and havin' been awake two nights in succession, on the third grew mighty sleepy. Bridget was becomin' impatient, for since there was no relatives to claim Pat's gold and she was to have been his wife she was thinkin' of his fortun' and anxious to get hold of it. About 3 o'clock in the mornin' every watcher except Bridget O'Toole and Tom Flannagan was asleep. The two set in a corner layin' plans for housekeepin' as soon as they had secured Pat's gold and a dacent toime had gone by.

"'I'm thinkin', Bridget,' said Tom, 'ye'd betther secure the fortun' at once. There'll be a crowd of relatives afther it if ye give 'em toime.'

"'What a head ye have on ye, Tom, dear,' replied Bridget. 'I don't know where the gold is, but Pat tould me t'war hid somewhere in the house. The watchers bein' asleep, it's a foine time to look.'

"With that they got up and hunted the house high and low, at last comin' to the old clock. Openin' the door, showin' the weights and the pendulum within, Bridget bent down, Tom bendin' over her, and drew up the stockin' filled to the knee with the yellow metal. Then, holdin' it up, they turned to feast their eyes on 't.

"But their eyes saw another sight. Pat's shanty was on the banks of the river, and there never was a river that didn't produce muskeeters. It was a beggarly little musketeer that spoiled everything. While Bridget and Tom was huntin' for a fortun' the little beast was huntin' for somethin' to eat, and at the moment they found the gold it found blood, good live blood, in the tip of Pat's nose. Whin Bridget and Tom turned to enjoy the sight of the gold, they saw Pat sittin' up glarin' at 'em.

"'Howly mither!' was the first sound that broke the stillness of death, and a thud of the gold fallin' on the floor was the second. The third was the feet of Tom and Bridget patterin' as they left the shanty.

"Now, Pat, though he was ragin', had seen how aisy it is for gold to pass into other people's possession, so he grabbed the stockin' to kape it with 'im. Then, gatherin' the sheet about 'im, the only garment he had to kape out the cold, he left the shanty to folly Tom and Bridget. It was the gray of the mornin', when everything looks loike a ghost anyway, and Bridget, lookin' back, saw Pat makin' afther 'em, carryin' the stockin'.

"'Oh, Tom,' she says, 'it's comin' wid the gold! I'm goin' to faint.'

"It couldn't be expected that Pat, who had been dead three days and had nothin' to eat or drink in the meantime, could run as fast as them as had been feastin' at his wake. By the time he reached the bridge he was played out and, settin' on the rail, rested awhile, then went slowly back to his home. There for the first toime he took in the situation. The watchers were still snorin', the candles still burnin'. Pat began to feel unaisy.

"'Is it dead I am?' he asked himself. 'I don't know. I'm powerful weak anyway. I'll try a drap of the bottle. If I'm livin', I'll know it by the taste.'

"Pourin' out a double dram of spirits, he swallyed it.

"'I don't know,' he said, 'whether I'm on earth or in heaven. Like enough, judgin' by me feelin's afther the bracer, I might be in heaven. I'll try a bit of the bread and pork.'

"Pat sat down at the table and, fillin' his plate and his cup, ate his fill. Lookin' at his sleepin' wakers and rememberin' Tom and Bridget, he remarked to himself:

"'What a dirty trick it is of me, afther all, comin' back to loife and spoilin' everything!'"

This ended the story, and I finished my breakfast at the same time.

"It wouldn't always work for the best to have the dead return," I remarked. "Bring me the morning paper."

"Well, here is a very good one on 'Self Help.'"

"Self help!" exclaimed the father. "Ben don't need anything of that kind. You'd ought to see him at the dinner table!"

Vanilla For Mental Weakness.

Vanilla is one of the most powerful restoratives known in cases of weakened vitality, when a large dose is given. South America in general shows a much slighter tendency to madness than any of the countries which may be called civilized. Statistical authorities attribute this fact to the ignorance and thoughtlessness of the population, but they themselves give the credit to vanilla. At the first sign of mental disturbance they ply the sufferer therewith.

A TALE OF NEW NETHERLANDS

[Original.]

It has been said of one of the old Dutch governors of New York that a Yankee—the Dutch always hated and distrusted the Yankees—one evening directed his attention to a silver crescent in the sky, remarking that it indicated bad weather. The governor looked up at the heavens, then eyed the Yankee suspiciously and said knowingly:

"That iss a ferry goot representation of the moon."

In the town of Albany about the middle of the seventeenth century Dietrich Ten Eycke had a dispute with one Killien van Giesbeck, after which Van Giesbeck disappeared. Ten Eycke was arrested for murder, and, not over confident in the legal attainments of his Dutch brethren, he engaged for counsel a Yankee lawyer who had recently come to town.

"I'll take your case," said the Yankee "provided you consent beforehand to everything I may do."

The Dutchman agreed, and the case came to trial. The Yankee, well acquainted with the obstinacy of the Dutch jurymen, instead of trying to prove his client's innocence made as bad a defense as possible, at last breaking down and begging the court to be merciful. His client was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on Friday, Nov. 18, which would come round in about a month. The case being settled, the prisoner was taken back to jail to await the end.

The next morning the town clock astonished the good burghers by striking the hour of noon an hour later than the day before. Those of the Dutchmen who had timepieces of their own, thinking that they were in error, set the hands back an hour. On the second day the clock was forty minutes slow, and the timepieces were moved back by the same amount. This went on for several days, when the matter began to attract attention. The burghers stood around the clock, wondering at the strange action of their timepieces, when the Yankee lawyer came by and averred that the clock had gone wrong. This settled the matter, and the timepieces were all set back as usual.

The day before the time set for the execution the Yankee applied to the judge for a "stay" on the ground that the legal day for the hanging had passed. He produced an affidavit of Frau Ten Eycke that she had set back the hands of the town clock twenty-four hours, thus losing, he claimed, one day.

The judge sat up all night deliberating whether or no a day had been thus lost. At midnight, not having reached any conclusion, he assembled the twelve jurymen who had convicted Ten Eycke and propounded the problem. Some argued that the sun had risen and set as usual notwithstanding the loss of the clock, and there had been no loss; others declared that the clock was their only calendar, and, the hands having been turned back twenty-four hours, one day had slipped by without their knowing it. At daylight a vote was taken which resulted in a tie. The judge, being much perplexed, what to do, granted a stay for forty-eight hours.

The next day the jurymen got together in the wineshop of the town, lighted their clay pipes and consulted what to do about the matter of Dietrich Ten Eycke. After smoking seven hours and consuming as many kegs of beer, during which they vainly endeavored to solve the knotty problem whether the loss of an hour a day for twenty-four days would cause the loss of a day, they were still unable to reach a conclusion. They would probably have discussed the matter without coming to a decision as long as they lived had not the Yankee come into the presence of these doughty citizens with the person of the murdered man himself. There stood Killien van Giesbeck, and there beside him stood the Yankee. The burghers looked from one to the other, first in stupefaction, then with an intelligence superior to any Yankee or any Yankee trick.

"Tell 'em where you have been," said the lawyer.

"After pelts."

Then arose the patroon in his dignity and, eying the Yankee severely, said:

"This man is not Killien van Giesbeck. He may be his brother, but he is not Killien. Killien is dead, and Dietrich killed him. A great thought has come to me. What say you, neighbors—shall we not try the case over, convict the prisoner again and"—

"Hang him for killing a man who went for pelts and is now here?" the Yankee put in.

As much as they detested the Yankee, there was no answering the argument. But every Dutchman sat scowling and fiercely smoking till so dense was the cloud that neither the Yankee nor Killien could be distinguished. The Yankee, feeling that he had gone too far for his own safety, was about to withdraw under cover of the tobacco smoke when the patroon stepped to the door behind him, locked it and put the key in his breeches pocket.

"Neighbors," he said, "this Yankee has insulted us by producing this man as Killien van Giesbeck, who has been murdered. By such a nefarious course he has broken the laws of Albany. Let us settle this case by trying him for being accessory to the murder after the fact."

The Yankee was arrested and lodged in jail. The next day he was tried before the burghers, and, though he brought ample proof that the man he produced was Killien van Giesbeck, the Yankee was convicted and hanged.

This is the only recorded case in the history of New Netherlands where a Dutchman got ahead of a Yankee.

Ostrich Plumes.

All the black and white plumes come from the male ostrich, the gray from the female. The feathers are not plucked out, as you might imagine, but are clipped off with a sharp knife, leaving the end of the quill in the flesh, where it remains for two or three months, until it "dies," when it is pulled out with forceps.

A King's Miserable End.

Louis XI., after having by open murder or secret assassination rid himself of the most powerful nobility of France, died in miserable fear, begging his physician to do something for him. During his last days he sent for St. Francis of Paula and offered him untold riches to intercede with heaven for a further lease of life.

The Perfect Head.

A perfect head, viewed from the side, falls within a perfect square, averaging nine inches for a man and 8½ inches for a woman. The width of the face is equal to five eyes. The distance between the eyes is equal to one eye. The size of the eye is two-thirds that of the mouth. The length of the nose is one-third the length of the face. The ear is, at all ages, as long as two eyes. Although these are the ideal measurements and are approximately adhered to, so fond of irregularity is nature that rarely any face corresponds to them. The two sides of any face are never exactly alike. Strictly speaking, the face extends only from the chin to the root of the nose. Above that point is the brain case. For a well developed brain the width of the head just above the ears, measured with callipers, should be from 5½ to 6½ inches, and the height from the opening of the ear to the top of the crown should be exactly the same. In women both height and width are one inch less than in men, women's heads approaching the type belonging to children.—London Magazine.

As His Child Saw Him.

A prominent real estate man in Los Angeles had an experience a few evenings ago that kept him guessing for a little bit as to whether he should feel complimented or otherwise. He was at home with one little daughter while his wife and another of the children were downtown. Darkness was coming on, and the little girl was anxiously watching for her mother's return. Her nervousness grew apace in spite of the father's attempts at reassurance. At length the little one burst into tears, saying:

"I just can't help it! I need mamma, and I must have her!"

"Do you do this way when your mamma is here and I'm away?" asked the father.

"No, of course not," replied the little one, "'cause then there's some grown-up person about the house!"—Los Angeles Herald.

Nelson's Odd Appearance.

When Lord Nelson was commanding the Mediterranean squadron and lying off the bay of Biscay, the captains of two Spanish frigates lately arrived from America sent to entreat the honor of an audience with the admiral, merely to give themselves the gratification of seeing a person whom they considered to be the greatest man in the world. Captain Hardy took their request to Lord Nelson and urged compliance with it, notwithstanding the admiral's querulous reply of, "What is there to see in an old, withered fellow like myself?"

Nelson always wore short breeches and silk stockings, and at this moment his legs were bound at the knee and ankle with pieces of brown paper soaked in vinegar and tied with red tape. The application was to allay the irritation of some mosquito bites.

Quite forgetting this and the extraordinary appearance it presented, he went on deck to the Spanish captains and conducted the interview with such perfect good breeding and courtesy that his odd appearance was quite forgotten in the charm of his manners, and the Spaniards went away with every high opinion confirmed which they had previously formed of Lord Nelson.

Men and Food.

Cassius wanted to know "upon what meat doth this our Cæsar feed that he is grown so great." Some antiquarian has been making an investigation into the diet of the New England Cæsars, including Governor Winslow, Daniel Webster and others. He finds that they or their ancestors breakfasted on hasty pudding, pea soup flavored with pork, squash, turnips and onions; dined on the same, with rye pudding, brown bread and an occasional fowl, and supped on fresh fish, with vegetables.

But Cassius did not really think that greatness had its root in meat and drink, for he said, "The fault, dear Brutus, is * * * in ourselves, that we are underlings," after declaring that "men at some time are masters of their fates."

He was right. It was not pea soup and rye bread in the east that made Webster, nor was it salt pork in the west that raised Lincoln until he overtopped all others in his generation.—Youth's Companion.

DETROIT--BUFFALO RATE WAR.

Rate Less than one Cent per Mile Now Obtainable.

The promised rate war between the rail and lake lines operating between Detroit and Buffalo is now on full blast, the opening gun having been fired yesterday, when the Detroit & Buffalo Steamboat Co., announced that it had established its first-class rate at exactly one-half of the second-class rail rate, thus making the rate by boat less than one cent a mile, and allowing all first class privileges.

The trouble between the rail and lake lines began when the former began to run week-end excursions to Buffalo and selling second-class tickets for $5, and on them allowing first-class privileges, checking baggage and granting sleeping car privileges without restriction.

General Passenger Agent A. A. Schantz, of the Detroit & Buffalo line, when he learned of this, notified the passenger agents of the Grand Trunk, Wabash and Michigan Central roads that unless some restriction was made he would proceed to cut the rates, not only on week-end excursions but on regular traffic. He fixed a 10-day limit on this action, but the railroads could not see the situation from his point of view and would not meet his proposition.

The ten days expired yesterday, and the Detroit & Buffalo line at once inaugurated a $2.50 regular rate to Buffalo, a distance of 256 miles—less than a cent a mile. Mr. Schantz said yesterday that should the railroads want a rate war and meet the present cut, he would come down another dollar, and if necessary carry passengers on the Eastern States and Western States for 50 cents.

Speaking of the situation yesterday, Schantz said that the new Detroit and Buffalo boats were built for legitimate business, and they had created this largely by the week end excursions, something which, until the new boats went on the run, had not existed between the two terminals

The rate fixed by the steamboat line will make a thorough rate to New York on all lines except the New York Central; $10.50, Boston, $13.40, and Philadelphia, $10.40, with special rates to eastern summer resorts; from Buffalo to Detroit $2.50, Saginaw $5.56, Bay City $5.96, Grand Rapids, $7.09, Chicago $8.59.—Detroit Free Press.

GLASS BATHTUBS.

Soon to Replace those of Enamel and Metal.

Bathtubs of glass may be expected to replace enamel and metal ones soon. They are being made in Germany now and are said to have many advantages over metal and enamel, the principal one being that they are much cheaper. Besides bathtubs, tanks and vats such as are used by brewers, distillers and sugar refiners are being made of glass, and the manufacturer is confident that he can replace those for which clay, wood cement and metal are now constructed at a lower cost. Glass bathtubs are not fragile. Those being made now are five and six feet long, about two feet wide, and about two and one-half inches thick. They are being made in a solid piece, and one can be made complete in about five minutes.

This is owing to a new process of blowing glassware by means of compressed air. The process was invented in Pittsburg about twenty years ago, but was limited to making bottles and similar, small sized articles. Paul Stevert, of Dresden, has improved it, and under his process there need be no limit, within reason, to the size of the article made. The method is simplicity itself. The molten glass is taken from the furnace and placed in a mold, which can readily be swung to any desired position. Compressed air is thus admitted through a flexible tube which connects with the bottom of the mold. The air pressure is regulated by valves. As soon as the article is finished it is switched into an annealing chamber, where it is again heated and then allowed to cool. This toughens it, and after the process it is ready for use.

Plates of large size are being made of glass by an adaption of the same process. In this case an ornamental design is first made on a sheet of peculiar composition, which remains moist for some time. Colored glass is spread over this to work out this design. Then the sheet is placed on the glass plate and the whole is heated in the oven. The heat consumes the sheet on which the design was made, leaving only the layer of colored glass, welded into the plate. Some remarkable and very picturesque effects are made in this way.

A Cornell boy sent a lady friend in a neighboring town, who was to be married soon, a present. He enclosed a note saying: "My Dear Girl—You will find in the box a thingamajig which has something to do with eating grub off a table. I don't know what it is. It looks like a cross between a harpoon and a hayfork. It may be for spearing pickles, or it may be for spearing pickles, or it may be for stacking chopped cabbage I am so old fashioned that I don't know; you will be so happy you won't care."

Saves a Woman's Life.

To have given upwould have meant death for Mrs. Lois Cragg, of Dorchester, Mass. For years she had endured untold misery from a severe lung trouble and obstinate cough. "Often, she writes, "I could scarcely breath and sometimes could not speak. All doctors and remedies failed till I used Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption and was completely cured." Sufferers from coughs, colds, throat and lung trouble need this grand remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure is guaranteed by C. A. Wright. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

A CONTEST

To Decide who is the Strongest Man in the West.

CHARLES L. BARNEY,

Of Ottawa, Ill., Will Struggle for Supremacy.

Arrangements have been completed for one of the most interesting contests of strength ever held in the west. On Wednesday evening, July 23rd, Mr. Walter W. Lentz, champion of Illinois, Mr. Albert Newberry, of Kansas City, champion of the south, and Mr. Charles L. Barney, of this city, will struggle for supremacy at Farrell's Theater

The one scoring the fewest points will drop out and the other two will finish the contest on Thursday evening, July 24th. This contest will settle the championship of the West and South. Mr. Barney has met and defeated many strong men. Mr. Newberry has never yet been defeated, but he has met and vanquished some of the strongest men in Europe and everyone whom he has met in this country. Mr. Lentz is generally considered the favorite and he will be backed heavily by the First Regiment boys of Chicago.

A large number of people is expected to be in attendance at the races to see the Chicago horse, Ione, go against Personette, and they will all be supporters of Lentz. The affair promises to be one of great interest and will undoubtedly pack the theater to the doors on both nights. Seats will be placed on sale at Grube & Scherzer's.—Ottawa (Ill.) Journal.

Mr. Barney is well known in Tecumseh, having relatives here.

BAD ACCIDENT

Occurred Yesterday Afternoon About One O'clock

AVERY'S DELIVERY TEAM

Ran Away and Broke one of the Horses Legs.

Fred Goodall, who was driving the delivery wagon for Avery & Co. yesterday, met with quite a serious mishap from the result of which one of the delivery horses had to be killed. He had delivered groceries to the residence of Chas. Fielder on east Logan street and as he jumped into the wagon the horses turned around quickly, over turning the wagon, and started up Logan street.

As they turned, the wagon exil was broken leaving Goodall in the wagon, the team by themselves hitched to the front wheels. At Teachout's barn the team run into the freight engine on the Lake Shore, then turned south and run to Chicago street and at the corner fell down. Either in striking the engine or at the Chicago street crossing, one of the horses legs was broken and the animal had to be shot.

The damage was all done in about three minutes, although no particular blame can be attached to Goodall, it is easy a hundred dollar loss to Avery and much to be regretted. Losses of this kind are simply "hard luck," but of course must be borne, by the men who run the business and own the property

E. church will be united, making of the Epworth League and preaching service one short service. This service will be held in the lecture room. Subject for Sunday evening, The path of success in evangelizing the world.

Adrian Gun Club.

The shoot given by the Adrian Gun Club on their grounds at Adrian last Tuesday was the best ever given by the club and was attended by about twenty-five shooters from a distance. The trophy which is to be shot for twice, once in Adrian and once in Tecumseh was won by Mr. Wood of Detroit. The boys from Tecumseh did themselves credit especially Geo. Adamson, who had never shot away from home before. Among those from Tecumseh who attended were: C. R. Wilson, P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, Geo. Adamson, Will Fisher and Mark Mills.

Much of the success of the shoot should be attributed to "Grandpa" Wilson, of Tecumseh, who acted as general manager. Bert Briggs and George Littleton were treasurers, Ed Blackstone squad hustler, Gus Brown scorer, and H. A. Davenport manipulated the trap.

POOR BASE BALL

The Games Between Fremont and Tecumseh Teams at the

BASE BALL PARK

Tuesday and Wednesday were very Tame Indeed as will be seen by the following score

The two games one played Wednesday and the other Thursday, between the Fremont and Tecumseh teams at the Tecumseh ball park, amounted to nothing so far as base ball is concerned. The Fremont team simply could not play ball, in fact the playing with such teams, is a detriment to our home team, not only as far as the crowds are concerned but to the playing of our men. A few such games will put them in a position where they cannot play good ball at all.

It is hoped that the games Friday and Saturday of this week between the D. A. C. of Detroit, and Tecumseh teams will be all that can be desired and that our boys will have to work to get a run

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No cure no pay. Price 25 cents.

Tutti-Frutti.

Put into a large stone jar or crock with a closely fitting cover one quart of good preserving brandy. For every pound of fruit which you use as you proceed you must add three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar. You must use only the best of dry, good fruit in sound condition and of choice flavor. Every kind of fruit may be used, commencing with strawberries.

The mixture must be stirred every day with a large wooden spoon in order that the sugar may be dissolved. The jar must be kept in a dry, cool place. Use as much of any kind of fruit as you may desire, remembering the proportionate quantity of sugar. Beginning with strawberries and sugar, follow on with cherries, pineapples, currants, raspberries, apricots, plums, peaches, grapes, peeling and seeding all of the fruits except the berries. Use at least one pound of black cherries as a dark coloring, always remembering accuracy as to the proportionate amount of sugar and the daily stirring.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The aches and pains will disappear if the Advice of this Tecumseh Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most time 'tis the kidneys' fault.

Backache is really kidney ache.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Tecumseh women know this.

Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. E. D. Fryer, who lives in the northwestern section of Tecumseh says: "I suffered from my kidneys off and on for about two years. During an attack the pain was worse along in the afternoon and I often felt like giving up, but I kept on working in misery, for stooping or straightening made my back feel as if it were breaking in two. If I took a slight cold it always settled in my back and in spite of all the remedies I used I could not get relief. Procuring Doan's Kidney Pills at C. A. Wright's drug store I took a course of the treatment. It did more good than all the other medicine I ever used. The pain in my back was quickly relieved. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Stole Turkish Crown.

San Francisco, July 17.—A porch-climber entered the residence of French Consul-General De Lemagne and got away with diamond and jewelry worth $3,600. Altogether eighty-three pieces of jewelry were stolen. The robber took the green crown of Turkey, a gold and enameled emblem with which M. De Lemagne had been decorated. This decoration is merely loaned, and upon death of the recipient is to be returned to the sultan. This was a heavy piece, worth as gold $400.

Their Monument Destroyed.

Butler, Pa., July 17.—Like the Biddle brothers themselves, the monument erected by unknown hands to their memory on the spot where the two notorious criminals fell victims of a posse's bullets in Franklin township, this county, is no more. Industrious relic hunters have hacked and chopped the stone until today nothing remains

OF PUBLIC INTEREST

To Know the Cure for any Form of nervousness needs but read the following.

Mrs. J. F. Burtch of Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I was troubled with severe nervousness and nervous headache. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's drug store and now after using two boxes I can say my nerves are steadied and my head does not trouble me. I think the pills a splendid medicine."

Shot Himself Instead of Cat.

Hartford, Mich., July 17.—Leonard Lee, colored, was accidently shot and killed while attempting to kill a cat at his home here yesterday. He was chasing the animal across the yard with an old musket, passing under a peach tree the gun hammer caught on a limb, the charge entering his right greast. Death was almost instantaneous.

$25,000 Fire at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., July 17.—Fire last night destroyed the warehouse of Lovejoy & Allen and twelve boxcars owned by the Grand Trunk system in the Pere Marquette yards, entailing a loss of $25,000. The warehouse was owned by Henry Morrison and is insured.

Fell Off a Log—Drowned.

Travers City, Mich., July 17.—Reginald Loverman, nine years old, fell off a log at Boardman's lake Tuesday night while fishing and was drowned.

Negro Assaulter Burned at Stake.

Clayton, Miss., July 17.—William Ody, a negro who last night attempted to assault Miss Virginia Tucker of this place, was burned at the stake at midnight. The assault was most brutal. The young lady was riding in the country when she was attacked and was so violently pulled from a buggy by the negro that both of her legs were broken. The negro was captured and was held by a posse. Miss Tucker is highly connected in this vicinity. She is at the point of death as a result of her injuries.

Kid-ne-oids Cured his Sufferings.

Have been afflicted with kidney and bladder diseases for the past three years, being chronic from the start, was in much pain and forced to stop work. For the past four months I have faithfully tried several of the so-called "guarantee cures" but without any benefit. I finally concluded to try Kid-Ne-Oids and began to feel immediately after using them. I continued using them and am now permanently cured. I make this statement of my own volition and will make oath to it if necessary.—Geo. S. Estell, Kansas City, Mo. Sugar-coated tablets. 50c. Sold by JOHN J. ORR, Leading Druggist.

Young Was Nominated.

Marquette, Mich., July 17.—H. O. Young of Ishpeming was nominated on the seventeenth ballot in the Republican convention for the twelfth congressional district last night after it looked as though a prolonged deadlock would occur. In the interest of harmony in the party and to prevent what threatened to be a disastrous split, the mining men conceded Baraga county to Shelden in the contest before the committee on credentials and thus entered the convention with one vote short of election, the committee having decided against the anti-Shelden contestants from Chippewa and the Shelden delegation from Schoolcraft.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, July 17.—Michigan pensions were granted Wednesday as follows: Original—George B. Farley, Jackson, $8; Theodore Myers, Cheboygan, $6; Stephen Boyd, Newaygo, $12. Increase—John Mock, Springport, $12; Hiram G. Webster, Lacey, $12; Abraham Crampton, Northville, $10; Aaron Bryant, Detroit, $10; Moses P. Parker, Sugar Grove, $8; Frank Dunn, Ferry, $10; James A. Gardner, Romeo, $14; Burton H. Snell, London, $8; Hanford R. Sharpe, Grand Ledge, $10; Peter Klosterman, Soldiers' Home, Grand Rapids, $8. Widows—Selina Boyer, Omer, $8; Kydia M. Sebring, Tekonsha, $8; Mary Stillwell, Sand Lake, $8.

Injured in the Mills.

Alpena, Mich., July 17.—Joseph O'Brien, one of Alpena's best known millmen, was probably fatally injured by a breaking belt at the Masters mill Wednesday afternoon. His skull is crushed, his leg broken and internal injuries were also sustained. Clyde Fleeger, an engineer at the Alpena cement factory, while working in one of the big engines late yesterday afternoon in some unaccountable manner got his head between two cogwheels. His skull was fractured, his scalp torn off and an arm broken in the attempt to save himself. No hopes are held out for his recovery.

After the Oleo Offenders.

Lansing, Mich., July 17.—The officers of the dairy and food department are preparing to swoop down on the violators of the anti-colored oleomargarine law. Many prosecutions commenced in various counties are pending in the circuit courts pending the verdict of the supreme tribunal on the case appealed to it. Copies of the decision of the supreme court holding the law constitutional are being placed in the hands of all dealers, who will be considered wilful violators of the law if they persist in selling the prohibited article.

Panel Secured at Last.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.—After exhausting three panels, the first having been "exhausted" by Judge Murphy himself with one swoop of his judicial authority, and exhausting a fourth with the exception of one man, twelve men have been secured to try Frank C. Andrews on the charge of misappropriating funds of the City Savings bank. There remains a question still over one man who has a relative who is ill and many interfere in his serving.

The Flint Globe Sold.

Flint, Mich., July 16.—The Globe printing office has been sold to H. H. Fitzgerald, formerly of the St. Johns News, who takes charge at once. The terms were private.

Long Hair

"About a year ago my hair was coming out very fast, so I bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stopped the falling and made my hair grow very rapidly, until now it is 45 inches in length."—Mrs. A. Boydston, Atchison, Kans.

There's another hunger than that of the stomach. Hair hunger, for instance. Hungry hair needs food, needs hair vigor—Ayer's. This is why we say that Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color, and makes the hair grow long and heavy. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by J. J. Orr.

Two Bottles Cured Him.

I was troubled with kidney complaint for about two years, writes A. H. Davis, of Mt. Sterling, Ia., but two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure effected a permanent cure." J. J Orr.

A cool proceeding—Kissing a lady's snowy brow.

In Bright's Disease the kidneys becomes so spongy that they fall apart and the victim dies. Your case is not yet that serious, but may be any day if you run along as you are. Don't defy disease, but take Kid-Ne-Oids at once. 50 cents. Sugar-coated tablets. For sale by.

Leaving Tipton Saturday morning they spent the day with the family of Willis Deming of Jackson, returning to Eaton Rapids on the evening train.

Lighting is ever playing some strange fantistic trick. It struck G. W. Allen's woodshed, Monday knocking the west end into toothpicks and kindling wood in an instant. It was a very close call as Mr. Allen had just left the building and Mrs. Allen had been standing in the open doorway only a moment before the bolt fell. No one was hurt

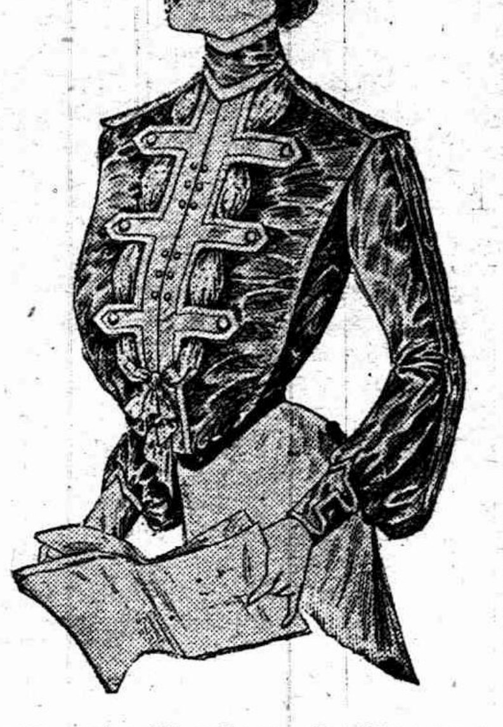
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

THE FASHIONABLE BLOUSE.

The odd waist has become a necessity and one would not know how to get on without it. For people who travel much it has certainly gone far to simplify, if not entirely to solve the question of excess of luggage. This is a pretty blouse, simple in style, but hardly to be denominated a shirtwaist. It is of Liberty satin, cut with a long shoulder seam, which is overlaid with a strap, below which the so-called "Gibson" pleat descends to the girdle. The front is made after the "Duchess" model, that is opening over a vest which is almost invisible The finish is of tan cloth carefully stitched with Corticelli sewing silk of self color, and terminating at either side in straps buttoned over a lace scarf. The sleeves are quite new, tucked from the shoulder to several inches below the elbow, and falling free from there to form a sort of glorified bishop's puff. The little cuff is fitted very closely, and finished with straps of cloth, stitched with Corticelli silk, as is also the edge of the pointed collar. This blouse is pretty enough for any ordinary occasion and being without bouffant trimming, has the furthur advantage of permitting the coat to be readily slipped on and off.



BLIND RYTHMIC THE WINNER.

Carried Off the M. & M. $10,000 Stake at Blue Ribbon Races.

Detroit, Mich., July 16.—By trotting true as a die, the blind stallion Rythmic yesterday joined the select list of winners of the Merchants and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake race. There was no semblance of a contest to it, nothing but three distinct announcements by Mr. Hayt repeating the name of the winner of the heats. It was the thirteenth renewal of the classic, and for that reason, perhaps, it was about the worst one that has ever been given to a crowded stand and lawn.

An ideal day, a card of nine races, with some of the best horses in the world in each event, the deciding heat of the Chamber of Commerce stake and the great $10,000 M. & M. stake race all combined yesterday to make a new record for the Detroit Driving park.

The 2:15 trot was the first event. Silver Sign carried away the purse. The final heat of the Chamber of Commerce stake came next, with Direct Hal an easy winner. Dick Benson's gelding, The Roman, was settled upon as the winner of the 2:19 trot, which was the third event. Chimes carried away honors of the 2:07 pace. Greenline won the 2:20 pace. The starters numbered eighteen in the 2:11 pace Dick See was the winner. Only one heat of the 2:11 trot was run. Palm Leaf and "Knap" McCarthy qualified Knocked Senseless and Robbed.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 16.—Charles Larue, collector for a local insurance company, was riding home at night on a bicycle when he heard a call. He dismounted and walked to the sidewalk, and without warning was knocked senseless by a blow on the head. When he came to he was in a vacant lot with his hands tied behind his back. He managed to walk home. His head was severely hurt and he had been robbed of $7. He frequently carried large amounts of money, and it is believed the assailant thought there was a chance to make a good haul.

Spiritualists in Camp.

Holland, Mich., July 16.—Hundreds of people are daily flocking out to the spirtiualistic camp on the banks of Black river, where a convention of the brethren is now in progress and where seances are held twice a day. Similar assemblies are being held in different states. A. A. Carpenter of Detroit, who is in camp here, is authority for the statement that the adherents of his religion in Michigan have grown from 1,600 ten years ago to 100,000 at the present time. The sincerity and enthusiasm of the members is the wonder of all visitors to the camp.

Hanged in a Boxcar.

Muskegon, Mich., July 16.—An unknown man, about fifty-five years old, was found hanging in a boxcar near Fairport Junction. A coroner's jury agreed that it was suicide, but as the man was seen in the neighborhood several days ago lookinf for a farm to buy, and was understood to have considerable money with him and no money was found on his body, some people have a notion that it may have been foul play.

Berrypickers Had Smallpox.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 16.—The family of George Howard, living some fifteen miles south of this city, has been quarantined for smallpox. The disease was diagnosed by Dr. E. J. Watt of this city. Great excitement prevails over the fact that the family has been afflicted with smallpox for two weeks, when they thought it was only chickenpox, and all of the time they have been picking berries for the Chicago market.

Do Their Own Threshing.

Carlton, Mich., July 16.—About all of the owners of threshing machines in this vicinity have joined the Threshers' National association and raised prices for threshing. One settlement of farmers decided not to submit to the raise, so they have formed a club and bought an outfit to do their threshing.

Police Injured in Riots.

Belfast, Ireland, July 16.—A report has reached here that a score of policemen and a district inspector were injured while attempting to quell a riot last night at Newry, counties of Down and Armagh. A number of the Orange and Natalist combatants also were injured. H. Breden, a Presbyterian clergyman, was knocked from his bicycle and severely injured by a blow on the head with a stone.

Found Dead on the Track.

Lapeer, Mich., July 17.—The remains of an unknown man were found about four miles west of Lapeer on the Grand Trunk Western track Wednesday. A train had passed over the body, which was gathered up with a shovel and placed in a box and brought here for burial. He was about thirty years of age, had dark hair and a swarthy complexion. There was nothing by which he could be identified.

No Time to Lose

You cannot afford to disregard the warnings of a weak and diseased heart and put off taking the prescription of the world's greatest authority on heart and nervous disorders—

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

If your heart palpitates, flutters, or you are short of breath, have smothering spells, pain in left side, shoulder or arm, you have heart trouble and are liable to drop dead any moment.

Major J. W. Woodcock, one of the best known oil operators in the country dropped dead from heart disease recently, at his home in Portland, Ind., while mowing his lawn.—The Press.

Mrs. M. A. Birdsall, Watkins, N. Y., whose portrait heads this advertisement, says: "I write this through gratitude for benefits I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had palpitation of the heart, severe pains under the left shoulder, and my general health was miserable. A few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me entirely.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. Thedford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics.

Be sure that you get the original Thedford's Black-Draught, made by The Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages.

Morgan, Ark., May 25, 1901.
I cannot recommend Thedford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it in my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up.

IN TIME OF PEACE

Prepare for War Is Sec. Root's Policy.

A STATEMENT TO OFFICERS.

Points Out Advantages Offered by Government For Instruction of Civil Appointed Officers—Officers' Schools to Be Organized.

"With the reduction of the Philippine force and the withdrawal from Cuba, the army is called upon to resume its most complete work in time of peace—the work of perfecting itself in military science and skill, and of promoting the preparation of the United States against future wars. I wish to call your attention to the conditions which now require especial effort and zeal on your part in the performance of this duty.

"Since the declaration of war with Spain, in April, 1898, there have been appointed in the line of the army 1,542 lieutenants, in addition to 276 appointed from the military academy. The abandonment of the military schools for commissioned officers, which followed the employment of the entire army in active military operations and left these 1,542 new lieutenants substantially without any means of acquiring a systematic military education. While many of the former officers of volunteers have acquired the most valuable experience by active service in the field, yet it is of great importance to them, as well as to the untrained appointees from civil life and from the ranks, that they shall have an opportunity for broad and thorough training, both practical and theoretical, under the competent masters in the art of war whom our army is able to supply.

"Congress has now with wise liberality made provision for the reopening of the army schools, has given its sanction to the general system of military education embodied in the general order of Nov. 27 last, including the enlargement and development of Fort Leavenworth school into a general service and staff college, the establishment of the war college at Washington, with suitable buildings, and the rebuilding of the engineer school; and has made ample appropriations for these purposes.

"Every effort will be made by the war college board, which has general supervision and charge of the whole system, to bring its advantages to the new officers of the army as speedily as possible and to organize officers' schools at all the considerable posts without delay. I ask for hearty and effective co-operation with them on the part of every officer of the army.

"The newly appointed officers should realize that there is much to be learned and that the way to qualify themselves for the high and independent command for which they should all hope is by constant intellectual exercise and by systematic study of the reasons of military action and materials and conditions and difficulties with which military commanders have to deal.

"Careful attention to the instruction of the newly appointed officers is enjoined upon all regimental, troop, battery and company commanders. They should be impressed with the importance of the faithful performance of every duty, however unimportant it may appear to them, and with their responsibility for such conduct and bearing in all their relations as shall do honor to the service."

Into the Conscience Fund.

Washington, July 23.—One of the most unusual contributions to the conscience fund ever chronicled in the history of the treasury department has been received. Some possessor of an uneasy conscience sent to the department a twenty-dollar gold certificate in sections. One part was mailed to the collector of customs in New York and the other from Jersey City to the treasury department. Accompanying this part of the bill was a letter signed "Conscientia." When both pieces of the bill were received, they were exchanged for a new twenty dollar bill, which has been placed in the "conscience fund."

PROVED FATAL DIVE

NEVER CAME TO SURFACE

Blissfield Boy Drowned—Grand Rapids Man Electrocuted—Little Girl at Flushing Fell Into Creek and Was Drowned.

Detroit, Mich., July 24.—Alexander Smith of 50 St. Aubin avenue essayed a high dive from the main mast of the Maria Martin, at the foot of St. Aubin avenue yesterday afternoon. It was ninety feet from his perch to the water, and in the descent he lost his equilibrium when about twenty feet from the water. He struck on his side with terrible force and has failed to come to the surface since. Smith was a young man of thirty years with considerable reputation as a daring high diver. It was while demonstrating his ability in this direction that he met his death.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 24.—William E. Bradley, an employe at the powerhouse of the Grand Rapids Railway company, was electrocuted there Wednesday afternoon by the back of his head coming in contact with the exposed portion of an electric fan motor. Death was instantaneous. Bradley leaves a widow and four children.

Blissfield, Mich., July 24.—The ten-year-old son of Charles Quigley of this place fell off the wharf into the Raisin river while playing Wednesday afternoon and was drowned. None of the lads could swim. The body was recovered two hours after the accident, a short distance from the place where the boy went down.

Flushing, Mich., July 24.—Ethel, the three-year-old child of Joseph Westfal, who lives three miles east of Montrose, fell into the creek yesterday afternoon and was drowned.

Escanaba, Mich., July 24.—The body of a man aged about forty years has been found in the thick woods thirty miles from here. All was buried but the head. Officers are trying to find a clue to the mystery. The remains have not been identified.

Second Day of Convention.

Ludington, Mich., July 24.—Yesterday, the second day of the state convention of the Michigan Christian Endeavor, was a busy one for the delegates. The program opened with morning watch, led by Rev. C. B. Newnan of Detroit. Other speakers during the day were Miss Meda Hess, Turkey; Rev. E. B. Allen, Toledo; Carl Jones, Chelsea; A. J. Young, Saginaw; W. H. Price, Oscoda; Miss Anna L. Minch, Indianapolis; C. Carlton Williams, Grand Rapids, and Rev. W. H. Gelston, Kalamazoo. Arrangements have been made to take 1,000 people, including the C. E. delegates, out for a three hours' ride on Lake Michigan on the big Pere Marquette car ferry No. 17 Friday afternoon.

Health Workers In Convention.

Cheboygan, Mich., July 24.—A two days' sanitary convention opened Wednesday afternoon at the opera house under the direction of the state board of health, President Frank Wells and Secretary H. W. Baker of Lansing being present. Dr. Victor C. Vaughan of Ann Arbor is here, besides State Communicable Disease Inspector George E. Ranny of Lansing. Superintendent of Public Instruction Delos Fall of Albion, and Medical Inspector of Schools Guy L. Kiefer of Detroit. At the afternoon session papers by R. A. Waterbury on "The Public Press and the Public Health," and by Secretary Baker on "The Duties and Authorities of Local Health Officers," were the principal features.

Rheumatism Most Prevalent.

Lansing, Mich., July 24.—Reports to the state board of health from representative physicians in active general practice in various arts of the state indicate that rheumatism, diarrhea, neuralgia, bronchitic and tonsilitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the past week. Meningitis was reported present at 7 places, diphtheria at 20, whooping cough at 33, typhoid fever at 38, scarlet fever at 46, smallpox at 47, measles at 68, and consumption at 230.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Durand Declines.—Judge Durand of Flint is preparing a statement positively refusing to accept the Democratic nomination for governor. He will issue it shortly.

Cracked With Hay Fork.—L. R. Whiting, a farmer four miles southwest of Brown City, was dangerously hurt by an unloading hay fork striking him on the head.

Unruly Cow Makes Trouble.—Charles Malco of Stockbridge is in a critical condition, the result of being thrown down and kicked by an unruly cow. His spine is injured.

Looking Out For Michigan Vets.—Sam J. Lawrence and D. C. Speers, representing the Michigan department of the Grand Army, are in Washington arranging for the accommodation of Michigan veterans in October.

Deputy Warden Appointed.—Theodore B. Catlin of Iron Mountain has been appointed deputy warden of Marquette prison in place of Eugene Mosher, who was forced out last week. Catlin has been sheriff two terms and chief of police of Ironwood.

Doing Dime Novel Stunts.—Harry and Willie Thorn of Owosso, aged fourteen and twelve respectively, were doing dime novel stunts down by the river with a rifle that they didn't know was loaded. Harry had the gun when it was discharged, and the bullet clipped off one of Willie's fingers and then lodged in his right side. The doctors hope to save him.

Pineapple Juice.

The Lancet points out that fresh pineapple juice contains a remarkably active digestive principle similar to pepsin. This principle has been termed "bromelin," and so powerful is its action upon proteids that it will digest as much as a thousand times its weight within a few hours.

Pure Blood.

If infectious disease is in the vicinity, it should be remembered that pure blood contains bodies that will combat disease germs. These bodies are the white corpuscles, and they will enwrap and actually devour the fatal bacilli of fevers and similar diseases. So it is well to keep the vital fluid in health.

MURDER IN DETROIT.

Young Man Shot Down—Friend Arrested—Thugs and Police in a Duel.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—As a result of a drunken row at the saloon of G. Domanski, 268 Williams avenue, a young man named William Behrendt, or Burns, as he is more familiarly known, living at 1235 Twenty-fifth street, was shot and killed. His friend, Max Rabischki, of 408 Lovett, is locked up at police headquarters charged with the crime.

The trouble occurred about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the murdered man, together with Jack Rylen, Joe Rogman and Max, were having a convivial time in the saloon. The men had some words in the place and after a time went out on the street. A short time after a man named Miller says he heard four shots and some one cried "murder."

Burns was a few minutes later found in the gutter. He was still alive and lived until the ambulance arrived and he had started for the hospital.

At 1 o'clock yesterday morning a duel was fought between Patrolman Daniel O. Smith and three thugs. Officer Smith wounded at least two of the men and captured one of them at the muzzle of a drawn revolver. Although eight bullets were fired at Smith, he luckily escaped.

The battle took place on High street, near John R., and was the result of three holdup men brutally beating Edward Dangler of Seattle, Wash., a traveling salesman for John J. Bagley & Co. of this city. The man under arrest, who gave the name of Henry Depew, was shot in the foot.

PREPARING FOR FIGHT.

Modern Woodmen, Favoring "Majority Rule," Organize.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 23.—Nearly 100 delegates from Modern Woodmen camps all over this part of the state organized a state association here Tuesday, with headquarters in this city, for the purpose of extending the majority rule idea into every camp in the state and for offering organized opposition to the separate system of insurance. An energetic campaign will be fought from now on until the head camp meets in Indianapolis next June. The state organization will be known as the Michigan Majority Rule Association of the Modern Woodmen of America.

The following officers were elected. President, F. F. Heine, Bay City, vice-president-at-large, C. R. Keeley, Jackson; secretary, C. J. Clark, Grand Rapids; treasurer, C. F. Miller, Ann Arbor. Vice-presidents were also elected for nearly every county in the state and a board of auditors and executive council composed of members from many counties.

Michigan Inventors.

Washington, July 23.—Michigan patents were granted Tuesday as follows: John E. Anderson, Muskegon, typewriter cabinet; Alexander G. Andrew, Calumet, furnace grate; Jerome A. Futurie, Kalamazoo, oil can; Francis R. Beal, Northville, refrigerator; Amel Broluska, Detroit, car brake; William F. Brown, Dowagiac, shoe for grain drills; Hiram T. Bush, Detroit, water closet bowl; Charles F. Christ, Detroit, machine for boxing matches; John S. Clarke, St. Clair, salt making apparatus; George M. Davidson, Big Rapids, hamper; Joseph G. Grall, Detroit, vamp shipper; Joseph Klein, Cass City, cream separator and churn; Thomas Murphy, Detroit, furnace; Nelson A. Newton, Kalamazoo, vehicle tire; Charles Smith, Pickney, thrill coupling; John Stevenson, Detroit, wire stretcher; David K. Stone and W. W. Healy, Bloomingdale, coin controlled vending machine; Isaac M. Warner, Union City, wire fence stretcher; Jerrold F. Walton, Sturgis, adjustable back chair.

Dueslock, Hersey, $12; Annie H. Savage, Pottersville, $8.

Michigan Teacher Died In Manila.

Washington, July 23.—The war department has received a telegram from Manila stating that A. A. Crawford, formerly of Gagetown, Mich., a school teacher in the Philippine service, died on July 21. The dispatch said the Masons were in charge of the body and had notified his family.

Escaped From Owosso Jail.

Owosso, Mich., July 23.—W. H. Jones broke jail at Ovid Tuesday afternoon and headed for Owosso. Officers Case and Retan and Marshal Ross watched for him at Owosso Junction, and Jones got within 200 yards of the officers before he discovered who they were. Jones fled like a deer, while the officers yelled at him to stop and poured a perfect fusillade of bullets in his direction. Jones was finally rounded up and jailed. He is charged with robbing his employer, a farmer living near Ovid, and with getting on a howling jag. He was perfectly sober when captured.

Deeded Away His Wife.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 23.—Frank Bonney was arrested Tuesday afternoon charged with making a murderous assault on his wife and Otis Crater Saturday night with a dagger and of inflicting severe wounds. Bonney claims he deeded his wife to Crater on consideration that Crater was to pay off the mortgage on his home and care for the woman and child. Bonney says the contract has been broken. He claims the pair knocked him down and says he is innocent.

SUSPICION MURDER.

Crawford Informed Friends He Had to Sleep With a Revolver by Him.

Caro, Mich., July 24.—An official telegram has been received at Gagetown confirming the news of the death of A. A. Crawford in the Philippines and stating that his body would be brought home for burial. Mr. Crawford was an experienced teacher and left his home, three miles from Gagetown, to go as a teacher in the Philippines last February.

Tuesday his parents received a letter from him stating that he was in perfect health and everything was all right with the exception that he was obliged to sleep with a revolver at hand constantly. No particulars of his death has been received, but murder is the accepted theory at his home. He was forty years old and unmarried.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, July 24.—Michigan pensions were granted Wednesday at follows: Original — Robert Shiffert, Fennville, $12; Orrin M. Northrup Thompsonville, $8. Increase—Raymond Bauer, West Phila, $8; Joel K. Hawkins, Grass Lake, $24; Dwight Graham, Grand Rapids, $10; Samuel H. Pullen, Grand Rapids, $12; Elbridge Franklin, North Star, $10; Kirk B. Child Mangled by a Dog.

Owosso, Mich., July 24.—Mary, the five-year-old daughter of Thomas Dwyer of Owosso township, was terribly mangled by the family dog Wednesday. The animal's teeth penetrated the child's skull, and death is feared. The child was playing with the dog out of doors and the mother was attracted by the screams of the little girl. She saw the child lying on the ground and the dog was tearing the flesh from the face. The animal had to be killed before the child could be rescued. The physician thinks that the dog might have been mad, but it had exhibited no symptoms of hydrophobia.

Commissions In State Service.

Lansing, Mich., July 24.—These commissions have been issued by Adjutant General Brown: To Bingley R. Fales, lieutenant first division, Michigan State Naval brigade, Detroit; Lieutenant Frank A. Lawrence, Company A, Third infantry, Flint; Lieutenant Ralph A. Mosher, Company H, Second infantry, Grand Rapids; Captain G. C. Waldo, Company C, First infantry, Detroit; Lieutenant William J. Lawrence, Company C, First infantry, Detroit.

Vote Against Settlement.

Bay City, Mich., July 24.—The indications now are that the miners' vote is against the settlement of the Michigan strike on terms proposed at the recent joint conference. Returns received from the locals that have voted show that a majority of the men voted against the settlement. The vote now stands 407 for settlement and 535 against, with Corunna, Owosso and Sebewaing to hear from. Corunna is said to be against settlement.

Convicts Transferred.

Lansing, Mich., July 24.—Governor Bliss has ordered the transfer of nineteen socalled incorrigible convicts from Jackson prison and two from Ionia to the Marquette prison. Two confirmed criminals have been ordered transferred from Ionia to Jackson, this being in line with the purpose of making the Ionia prison a place for first offenders only as far as possible.

Married a Lucky Girl.

Muskegon, Mich., July 24.—Charles W. Payne of Lawton, Okla., and former Muskegon boy, has just been married to Miss Mattie Beals, who drew claim No. 2 at the government land drawings at El Reno. Miss Beals was very popular and since the drawing received 600 offers of marriage. Charlie's offer was the 601st.

Robbers Made a Big Haul.

El Paso, Tex., July 24.—A daring holdup took place on the Mexican Central at about 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, just after the train left Bermejillo. At that point three Americans boarded the train, two secreting themselves on the blind baggage and the other entering the third-class coach. As soon as the train pulled out the two riding on the outside entered the express car and, covering Messenger Buckner with their guns, ordered him to throw up his hands. The messenger offered no resistance. The robbers then went leisurely through the safe, securing $50,000 in currency consigned to the Banco Minero, at Chihuahua. They also took what other money packages were in the safe and remained quiet until the train slowed down, making a hasty exit and dropping off the train before it stopped. They then disappeared into the darkness.

Three Police Chiefs Murdered.

Elkins, W. Va., July 24.—Chief of Police F. H. Wilmot of this town was murdered Tuesday night at Womelsdorf, near here. Wilmot was in the act of arresting two negroes when a third man shot him from ambush. A posse is in pursuit of the murderer and it is believed that he will be lynched if caught. This is the third murder of an Elkins chief of police within a year, the other two victims being Robert Lilly and Page Marstellar.

Those Murdered Teachers.

Washington, July 24.—The war department has received the following cablegram regarding the school teachers who have been missing from Cebu since June 10: "John B. Wells, 209 Montgomery avenue, Providence, R. I., and his cousin, Louis A. Thomas, same address; Ernest Heger, 1413 Vine street, Cincinnati, O.; Clyde A. France Berea, O., missing from Cebu, murdered by ladrones, bodies recovered. Leader murderers killed; eight others captured by the constabulary."

Shifting the Responsibility.

An Irishman who traded in small wares kept a donkey cart, with which he visited the different villages. On one occasion he came to a bridge where a toll was levied.

He found to his disappointment he had not enough money to pay it.

A bright thought struck him. He unharnessed the donkey and put it into the cart. Then, getting between the shafts himself, he pulled the cart with the donkey standing in it on to the bridge.

In due course he was hailed by the toll collector.

"Hey, man!" cried the latter. "Whaur's your toll?"

"Begorra," said the Irishman, "just ask the droiver."

PRESERVED BY WAX

FOUR HISTORIC PAINTINGS IN THE NATIONAL CAPITOL.

They Were Treated Long After Completion and When They Already Showed Signs of Dissolution—An Artist's Curious Blunder.

It is a curious fact that the same combination of chemicals which preserved in a perfect state for over 500 years the remains and shrouds of King Edward I. of England have also been used to preserve four of the great historical paintings perpetuating scenes in the foundation and establishment of this government.

These four paintings occupy perhaps the most conspicuous place for observation in the nation. They are the work of Colonel John Trumbull and hang on the eastern wall of the rotunda of the capitol.

The paintings were put in place in 1824 under the supervision of the artist himself, but not without much hesitation and objections on his part because of the dampness of the walls and air in the rotunda at that time. The fears of the artist were proved to be well founded, for four years later the changes on the surface of the paintings became so apparent that congress passed a resolution authorizing their removal from the walls of the rotunda by Colonel Trumbull for inspection and remedy if possible. It was at this point that Colonel Trumbull's knowledge of the preservative chemical compound was drawn on.

In a letter to congress, dated Dec. 9, 1828, Colonel Trumbull explains in detail his treatment of the paintings at that time, and an inspection now of these four pictures shows that they are in a perfect state of preservation both as to brightness of color and condition of canvas.

In the letter referred to Colonel Trumbull says: "All of the paintings were taken down, removed from their frames, taken off from the panels over which they were strained, removed to a dry, warm room and there separately and carefully examined. The material which forms the basis of the paintings is a linen cloth whose strength and texture are very similar to those in the topgallant sails of a ship of war. The substances employed in forming a proper surface for the artist, together with the colors, oils, etc., form a sufficient protection for the face of the canvas, but the back remains bare and exposed to the deleterious effects of damp air. The effect of this is first seen in the form of mildew. It was this which I dreaded, and the examination showed that mildew was already commenced and to an extent which rendered it manifest that the continuance of the same exposure for a few years longer would have accomplished the complete decomposition or rotting of the canvas and the consequent destruction of the paintings."

Colonel Trumbull then explained how he first thoroughly dried the canvases and prepared them for the preservative. On this point he continues: "I had learned that a few years ago some of the eminent chemists of France had examined with great care some of the ancient mummies of Egypt with a view to ascertaining the nature of the substance employed by the embalmers which the lapse of so many ages had proved to possess the power of protecting from decay a substance otherwise so perishable as the human body. This examination had proved that, after the application of liquid asphaltum to the cavities of the head and body, the whole had been wrapped carefully in many envelopes or bandages of linen prepared with wax. The committee of chemists decided further, after a careful examination and analysis of the hieroglyphic paintings with which the casings, etc., are covered, that the colors employed and still retaining their vivid brightness had also been prepared and applied with the same substance.

"I also know that toward the close of the last century the Antiquarian Society of England had been permitted to open and examine the stone coffin deposited in one of the vaults of Westminster abbey and said to contain the body of King Edward I., who died in July, 1307. On removing the stone lid of the coffin its contents were found to be closely enveloped in a strong linen cloth, waxed. Within this envelope were found splendid robes of silk enriched with various ornaments covering the body, which was found to be entire and to have been wrapped carefully in all its parts, even to each separate finger, in bandages of fine linen which had been dipped in melted wax, and not only was the body not decomposed, but the various parts of the dress, such as a scarlet satin mantle and a scarlet piece of sarsenet which was placed over the face, were in perfect preservation, even in their colors."

Colonel Trumbull then states that, with this knowledge, he melted common beeswax and mixed with an equal quantity of oil of turpentine, which mixture was applied hot with brushes to the backs of the paintings and afterward rubbed in with hot irons until the cloth was perfectly saturated. The niches in the walls were backed with cement and the paintings so placed in them that air could circulate behind the canvases. Spring doors were also ordered placed in the entrances to the rotunda by Colonel Trumbull. Since that treatment these paintings have had nothing done to them, and from present appearances they need nothing.

Another peculiarity in one of these pictures is pointed out to persons being shown the capitol under the care of a guide, and that is in the scene of Washington resigning his commission. The two daughters of Charles Carroll, who stand embracing each other, are given five hands.—Washington Star.

African Snakes.

The African cobra is regarded somewhat reverently by the natives of that country, who once a year kill a cobra de capello and hang its skin to the branch of a tree, tail downward. Then all the children born during the last year are brought out and made to touch the skin. This the parents think puts them under the serpent's protection. The cobra de capello divides with the horned viper of Africa the questionable honor of being the "worm of the Nile," to whose venomous tooth Cleopatra's death was due.

The Kaffirs use the venom of this snake's cousin, the puff adder, to poison their arrows, and when they have any small quantity left they swallow it, having a theory that it will protect them from the bad effects of future bites. The Snake tribe of the Punjab say that the bites of snakes do not hurt them, and if they find a dead serpent they dress it in clothes and give it a superb funeral.

The hide of the hippopotamus in some parts is fully two inches thick.

WHILE WE SLEEP.

The Muscles and Organs of the Body Are Still Working.

If the organs of the body cannot be said to sleep, neither can the voluntary muscles. Witness the phenomena of sleepwalking, the postilions in stagecoach days who slept in their saddles and cavalrymen who do it today, infantry who have been known to sleep in forced marches, sentinels who walk their beats carrying their guns in a fixed position while they sleep. For all we know policemen may do it too. People who talk in their sleep are familiar to all of us. Experiments made by Spair, Armstrong and Child on 200 college students of both sexes showed that 47 per cent of the men and 37 per cent of the women talked in their sleep. A number of things might be proved by these statistics. Of these sleep talkers one-half of the women and one-third of the men are able to answer questions while asleep. More women than men could answer questions on any subject, not alone that of which they had been talking. It has also been found that most sleep talkers are under twenty-five years of age.

Evidently, then, with the muscles and organs of the body all working, it is the brain only that sleeps, and by no means all of the brain. The senses of sight, hearing, touch, smell and taste may be very much awake while the subject sleeps. A sleeping person hears and answers questions, rearranges his bedclothing, covers his eyes to keep out the light, draws away his hand when the experimenter tickles it. A child is broken of the habit of sucking his thumb while asleep by putting aloes on it. He is conscious of the bitter taste and dreams of wormwood. The nerves, then, and the brain centers corresponding to them are awake. A busy lawyer, exhausted by overwork, one night went out to supper with some friends, ate, talked and walked with them, and the next day remembered absolutely nothing of the occurrence. He had not been drinking. The man was simply asleep during the whole evening. His conscious memory—that is, consciousness itself—slept. —Ainslee's Magazine.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Fruit trees and fruit require potash for their best development.

With house plants all extreme changes of temperature should be avoided.

Too many trees prevent rapid growth and extend the time when a grove is well shaded.

Grapevines like their roots to be near the surface, and the food for them should not be placed at too great a depth.

Small growth and too much small fruit go together. Thrifty growth furnishes a few large and fine specimens of fruit.

There is no use in growing a tree very tall. The top limbs are apt to become slender and break if fruit is produced on them.

All members of the poppy family are hard to transplant. By choosing a rainy day and not exposing the roots one can sometimes manage a transference.

Avoid straight lines as much as possible. There is no straight line in nature. It is for this reason that groups and masses are so much better than formal or set beds.

What Puzzled Louis.

Louis Philippe was a wit. What he specially excelled in was the clinching of an argument, such as, for instance, his final remark on the death of Talleyrand. He had paid him a visit the day before. When the news of the prince's death was brought to him, he said, "Are you sure he is dead?" "Very sure, sire," was the answer. "Why, did not your majesty himself notice yesterday that he was dying?" "I did, but there is no judging from appearances with Talleyrand, and I have been asking myself for the last four and twenty hours what interest he could possibly have in departing at this particular moment."

A Queer Library.

A curious collection of books is contained in the library of Warstentein, near Cassel, in Germany. The books appear at first sight to be logs of wood, but each volume is really a complete history of the tree it represents. The back shows the bark, in which a small place is cut to write the scientific and common name as a title. One side shows the tree trunk in its natural state, and the other is polished and varnished. Inside are shown the leaves, fruit, fiber and insect parasites, to which is added a full description of the tree and its products.

A Matter of Fact.

"Do you see the horizon yonder, where the sky seems to meet the earth?"

"Yes, uncle."

"Boy, I have journeyed so near there that I couldn't put a sixpence between my head and the sky!"

"Why, uncle, what a whopper!"

"It's a fact, my lad. I hadn't one to put."—London Tit-Bits.

Excellent Explanation.

"Why is a woman—honest, now—why is a wife cross?"

"Before marriage she was an I. After marriage she leaned on another I, and they formed an X. Of course she's cross, and so are you, I'll bet."—New York Times.

Benefit your friends, that they may love you more dearly still. Benefit your enemies, that they may at last become your friends.

A boy is usually ready to eat every time he stops playing.—Atchison Globe.

Hard Lessons In Good Manners.

School chaff is wholesome in most cases, but it may cramp what should not be cramped. As to the chaff which a man gives and gets at a university, however, we do not think there can be two opinions. It must do good, and it has not the opportunity of doing harm. Only those receive it who lay themselves open to receive it. The quiet man who wishes to read or to think apart need hardly ever come into contact with his fellows unless he so chooses. The swaggering or bumptious man, the opinionated man, the offensive man—these are certain to be chaffed, and the chaff usually goes home; not at once perhaps, but it usually gets there in the end with satisfactory consequences. The personal remark may be rude, but rudeness is often a very salutary weapon. It is certainly one of the most valuable instruments of English education. Indeed it may seem a strange thing to say, but it is surely true that continued experience of calculated, formularized and well intentioned rudeness teaches people to be polite.—London Spectator.

THE CHURCHES.

Services at the Universalist church will be suspended until further notice.

At the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "Bad Temper."

At the M. E. church Sunday the pastor will speak on the following subjects: Morning, "The Man of the First Creation." Evening, "The Relative Values of Doctrine and Deeds." Prayer meeting topic, "The Meaning of Death to the Christian."

Niagara Falls, Toronto and Alexandria Bay Excursion—Lake Shore Railway.

July 31, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry., will run a popular, low rate excursion to the above points. Rate to Niagara Falls and return $4.50, Toronto $1.00 and Alexandria Bay $6.50 higher, respectively. Tickets good 12 days including date of sale. Passengers from points on Jackson branch will use regular train No. 331 leaving Tecumseh at 3:03 p. m., connecting at Lenawee Junction with regular train No. 42, thence to Toledo where connection is made with special train leaving at 10.00 p. m. running through to the Falls.

Brees—Humphrey.

Sunday morning Mr. Ira Brees and Miss Eva Humphrey took a trip to Detroit. While there they called on Rev. Dr. Elliott, pastor of the Central M. E. church, and were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. W. Humphrey, of No. 107 East Maumee street, and has been a resident of this city for the past two years. Her former home was at Tecumseh, where she had spent the most of her girlhood, and has a large circle of acquaintances. During her residence in Adrian she has made many personal friends. She is an expert dressmaker and has conducted that business at her mother's home. The groom is a young man who is in the employ of the Page Fence company's work and stands well with his associates.

For the time being Mr. and Mrs. Brees will make their home at 107 East Maumee street, where they will be at home to their many friends, who extend congratulations.—Adrian Times.

Still Single.

Rice, old shoes and congratulations were in order Wednesday morning as the 7:11 passenger train went south, for it carried from this place, presumably on their honeymoon, two hearts that beat as one.

Marcus J. Chaffee, Tecumseh's base ball catcher seemed as happy as though he had made a four bagger and was cool and collected as if it was his third time to bat: as he and the fair partner of his joy and sharer of rice, old shoes and congratulation, sat side by each in the rear-most coach trying to take in the situation as a matter of fact course of events much to the chagrin of his would-be tormenters and the amusement of passengers and train crew.

But trouble must have been in store for the besieged pair for the returning train brought Mr. Chaffee back to town looking as though he had "struck out," while eager eyes were strained in vain for a glimpse of his fair companion of earlier in the morning. It finally leaked out that Miss Lovina Schreder was simply going to Chicago on a vacation, while Mr. Chaffee was inoffensively going over to Adrian to transact some private business.

Alden Family Reunion.

Circulars are out announcing that on August 28, 1902, there will be a reunion of the Alden family at Duxbury, Plymouth county, Mass. It will take place on the farm once owned by John Alden of Mayflower fame and at the Alden homestead, which was built by his son, Captain Jonathan Alden in in 1653, near the side of the house, which sheltered "John and Pricilla" during the greater portion of their married lives.

This large frame house where the Mayflower pilgrims spent their declining days, antedates nearly every building of the kind in America, even that of the Washington home at Mount Vernon, and was the ancestral home of John Adams, who succeeded Washington as president of the United States. This farmhouse has been the property of the heirs of Captain Jonathan Alden, never having passed from that branch of the Alden family during the past centuries to the present time. Before the doorway of this ancient dwelling poses the "Modern Pricilla" at her wheel, as did her ancient grand dame centuries ago.

Lava Streams.

It is scientifically reported that the lava streams from Vesuvius in 1858 were so hot twelve years later that steam was issuing from the cracks and crevices, while the lava beds from the eruption of Etna in 1787 were found to be steaming hot just below the top crust as late as 1840. But still more remarkable are the scientific reports of the volcano Jorullo, in Mexico. This sent forth immense streams of lava in 1759. In 1780 the lava beds were examined by a party of scientists, and it was found that a stick thrust into the crevices instantly ignited, although there was no discomfort experienced in walking on the hardened crust. Again some forty years after the eruption it was visited by scientists and reported to be steaming in many places, and even eighty-seven years after the eruption two columns of steaming vapor were found to be issuing from the crevices. Sometimes the upper crust of such a stream of lava cools so that plants and lichens find precarious growth on the surface, while a few feet beneath the lava is almost redhot.

SHUT OUT

DAKOTA CHIEFS

A Large Crowd Witnessed the Great Sport.

Tecumseh 4—Dakota Chiefs 0.

The above tells its own story, the Chiefs met their fate gallantly. A large crowd of fans accompanied the aggregation here to make life, for Tecumseh, miserable, but "listen to their tale of woe." Tecumseh warned the visitors that they would play hard to win.

Adrian took the warning, but had to recognize the fact that their opponents were too much for them. The playing was exceedingly fast from the start and the game was pronounced the best of the season.

The first inning opened with Adrian at the bat. Niles hit safe, Shea bunted being thrown out at first by McCarthy, Niles going to second on the play, and taking third on a pass ball. Beasley hit to Gillen who threw Niles out at the plate by a quick return, thus spoiling the only chance Adrian had to score in the game, Grueshow batted a fly to Gillen and the side was retired. Gorton hit a fly that was bagged by Kruger, Schippacassee hit to Niles and was thrown out at first. France had three strikes called on him, Parm missed catching it and France worked to reach first but the ball beat him there.

The Chiefs seemed unable to find the ball and no one reached first until the first half of the fifth inning when Kruger was hit by a pitched ball. Grueshow running for him stole second, and went to third on Redner's safe hit to center, but Renchard and Griewahn struck out. In the seventh Grueshow and Parm struck out and Krueger was thrown out at first. In the eighth Greewohm and Redner struck out and Renchard batted a fly to Gorton, which was like dropping it in a sack. In the ninth was where McCarthy held his own. Niles, Shea and Beasley were struck out in one, two, three order, which made the Chiefs feel rather down in the mouth.

In the fourth inning France lined out a two-bagger but died on third with North and Chaffee being retired. In the fifth Gillen reached third, but McCarthy was thrown out at first while Gorton struck out. The sixth inning started the ball a rolling, Schippacassee had three strikes called upon him, France reached first, Harris lined out a two-bagger, France scoring. Mogg reached first on an error by Niles. North and Chaffee sailed to reach first, North being caught out by Niles bagging a fly and Chaffee was thrown out at first.

Three scores were brought in during the seventh, Gorton, Schippacassee and France each running in, one which made the score 4 to 0 in Tecumseh's favor. In the eighth North struck out, Chaffee made a hit, but was thrown out at second on an attempted steal. Gillen got his base on balls, while McCarthy lined one out to shortstop Grueshow and was thrown out at first.

Glancing over the following tabulated score one can see the good work of both teams, only two hits were made off McCarthy while ten were against Renchard; McCarthy struck out 15 and Renchard 6. Guess that's playing some.

Griewahn was low on several plays to first.

Harris batted 1000 per cent. out of four chances.

Mogg, the new second baseman plays a good game.

Tecumseh is up against the Carleton Sluggers to-day.

Harris lined out two two-baggers in the Adrian—Tecumseh game.

Niles and Redner made the two Adrian hits in Wednesday's game.

Much talk is current about getting Tecumseh into the State League.

Combination, Adrian and Clinton vs Tecumseh at Clinton Saturday afternoon, July 26.

Krueger was hit by the ball in the fifth inning, which stiffened his arm and made it useless for playing.

The Dakota Chiefs defeated the Page Fence team at Adrian Monday, with a score of 10 to 5. Both teams are from Adrian.

Parm was severely injured in the knee and on the foot by foul balls. Niles also received a cut on the wrist by someone's spike.

Carleton came here today loaded. Duvall and Furhman of Wyandotte, Sam Thompson of Detroit, formerly with Detroit National League.

Rheumatism

What is the use of telling the rheumatic that he feels as if his joints were being dislocated?

He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack.

What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

That, according to thousands of grateful testimonials, is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It promptly neutralizes the acid in the blood on which the disease depends, completely eliminates it, and strengthens the system against its return. Try Hood's.

Two errors each were made by Niles out of seven chances; by Parm out of ten chances; by Groeschow out of five chances, and one error by Beasley out of two chances.

Tecumseh is asked to join the State League taking the place of Grand Rapids. They will accept if satisfactory dates and terms can be arranged. Tecumseh may be bared on account of its refusal to play Sunday ball.

Shea, of Detroit, formerly with the Tecumseh team now with the Dakota Chiefs, will undoubtedly make good. He is a good fielder and uses his head at the stick, tunking them just over the infield when the fielders are away back. This is the kind of batting that counts.

Tecumseh telephoned Manager Rudolph Tuesday night that their agreement of fifty per cent. on the gate receipts was too large, and he could only offer expenses. Rudolph telephoned back that the game would be played only under the first conditions. As Tecumseh had advertised the game well, they were afraid to stick to their bluff, and so agreed to their original proposition.—Adrian Telegram.

The above is unworthy of notice, false from start to finish. Adrian has a good ball team, a gentlemanly lot of players, while they were outclassed in every position by Tecumseh, yet they acted manly and acknowledged their defeat gracefully. But we are surprised that the promoters of the Adrian ball club should select for a manager one whose manners are more those of a cow puncher than a gentleman even in a hotel dining room.

GEO .F. McRAY

A Former Tecumseh Man

DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Has Many Relatives and Friends in Tecumseh and Vicinity.

George Ferris McRay died at San Diego, Cal., June 27, 1902, aged 68 years, 5 months and 26 days, of Bright's disease. His body, accompanied by his widow and brother, was brought home Tuesday morning.

Mr. McRay was born at Tecumseh, Mich., Jan. 1, 1834. He was one of six children, three brothers and three sisters, four of whom survive him.

Early in March he was taken ill, and thinking a lower altitude would be beneficial to his health, he left with his wife for San Diego. Soon after his arrival he took cold which caused a congested state of the lungs, and with other troubles he had not sufficient vitality to overcome them.

He was a man of most excellent judgement and was considered one of South Conon's most reliable and esteemed citizens, occupying at the time of his death the office of mayor, which he had filled for several years.

Mr. McRay was a cousin of Mrs. M. Smeltzer and has many other relatives in Tecumseh and vicinity.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Delightfully Entertain at the M. E. Church

TUESDAY EVENING

Adrian, Clinton, Macon and Tipton Enjoy Tecumseh's Hospitality.

Much preparation was made by the Tecumseh League to make the reception such a one as would long be remembered. The decorations were in the league colors of red and white crepe paper streamers descending to the corners of each table, where were served ice cream and cake. The visitors expressed themselves as having a most enjoyable time.

The event was promotive of league fraternalism, a uniting of the body and strength of each of the organizations participating in the evening's pleasantries. Adrian responded for the social department, Clinton for the spiritual department, Macon for the mercy and help department, Tipton for the literary department. The Adrianites chartered a special train, which carried out of Adrian seventy-five enthusiastic leaguers, who returned home in time to greet the early hours of dawn. An interesting program was rendered.

MUST BELIEVE IT

When well Known Tecumseh people Tell it so Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representive citizen of Tecumseh the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

Mr. W C. Witherell, agent for buggies, harness and other machinery, place of business south western section of Tecumseh says: "I cannot praise Doan's Kidney Pills highly enough for they have been a great friend to me. Some years ago I was an an expert at sheep shearing and did a lot of that work. Everybody knows it is very hard on the back and it finally brought on a severe pain across the loins. Nothing did any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a box and the treatment gave immediate relief. When I finished the box the trouble was entirety removed. If I feel any symptoms of a return a resort to Doan's Kidney Pills quickly wards off the attack. They are a reliable remedy and I consistently recommend them." Just such empathic endorsement is plentiful in Tecumseh. Call at C. A. Wright's drug store and ask him what his customers report.

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

REMARKABLE SHOWING.

Interesting Statistics Regarding the Philippine War.

Washington, July 24.—Major James Parker of the adjutant-general's office has compiled some interesting statistics regarding the insurrection in the Philippines. There were 2,561 engagements with the enemy, more or less serious, between Feb. 4, 1899, the date of the battle of Manila and April 30, 1902, fixed as the virtual downfall of the insurrection. The larger proportion of these fights were attacks from ambush on the American troops or skirmishes in which only small detachments took part.

"In almost no case in these engagements," says Major Parker, "did American troops surrender, or have to retreat, or have to leave their dead and wounded in the possession of the enemy notwithstanding that in many cases the percentage of loss was high."

The number of troops that have been transported to the Philippines and have arrived there up to July 16 last was 4,135, officers and 123,803 men. The average strength, taken from monthly returns for the period of the insurrection, was approximately 40,000.

Major Parker summarizes the casualties of the American army as follows: Killed or died of wounds, 69 officers and 936 enlisted men; deaths from disease, 47 officers and 2,535 enlisted men; deaths from accidents, 6 officers and 125 enlisted men; drowned, 6 officers and 257 enlisted men; suicide, 10 officers and 72 enlisted men; murdered, 1 officer and 91 enlisted men; total deaths, 139 officers and 4,016 enlisted men. Wounded, 190 officers and 2,707 enlisted men, a total of 2,987; killed and wounded and deaths other than by disease, 282 officers and 4,188 enlisted men; total, 4,470.

A large proportion of the deaths by drowning occurred in action or in active operations against the enemy. Major Parker makes the percentage of killed and wounded to the strength of the army, 9.7.

HASN'T HELPED IRELAND.

Redmond Wants Secretary Wyndham's Salary Reduced.

London, July 24.—The house of commons last night entered on a series of Irish debates. When the estimates for Ireland came up for discussion, John Redmond, chairman of the Irish parliamentary party, moved the reduction of the salary of the chief secretary, George Wyndham. Mr. Redmond maintained that Mr. Wyndham had done nothing for the country and that the Irish problem was more dangerous to the empire today than it had been for a quarter of a century.

Wyndham in refuting this assertion, declared he could at present offer no constructive policy and maintained that there could be no cessation of agrarian strife, no revival of industry and no staunching of the flow of emigration, and the idea of home rule impossible even to those who cherished it unless and until the desolating process of social proscription and the Miasma of fear which penetrated and paralyzed every nerve of national life were repudiated by the good sense of the people and repressed by the power of the government.

Mr. Wyndham's accusation that T. W. Russell, Liberal Unionist, member for South Tyrone, palliated disorder during the Defreyne evictions, brought out a heated denial from Mr. Russell and lengthy exchanges between himself and Mr. Wyndham.

Mr. Russell declared that only a man who had sold himself body and soul to the landlords and evictors would dare make such an accusation.

Dealing with the formation of the Irish land trust, Mr. Russell said it would provoke a war, the end of which no man could forsee.

Protest Against Removal of Friars.

Denver, July 24.—Resolutions have been unanimously adopted by the Catholic clergy of the Denver diocese, assembled in annual retreat, which take views of the school question and the friar question in the Philippines differing from those recently expressed by Archbishop Ireland. The resolutions commend the act establishing a department of public instruction in the Philippines insofar as religious instruction is permitted at certain times but declare that the denominational system in vogue in England should have been established. They request the government to guard against attempts at proselyting by teachers, and protest against the forcible removal of the friars as a violation of the constitution.

Shot Down at His Door.

Cleveland, July 24.—J. Frederick Lyman, a distributing clerk at the postoffice, was killed last night by as yet an unknown man, who called him to the door of his home and fired three shots at him, two entering his abdomen, resulting fatally within fifteen minutes. In an antemortem statement, Lyman stated that he had no idea who his murderer could be.

Didn't Bury Their Traditions.

Capetown, July 24.—Generals Botha and Delarey, who started from Pretoria Monday on their way to Europe, arrived here Wednesday and were met at the railway station by large crowds. At a meeting held in the Dutch Reformed church later, in thanking the president for the welcome extended, General Botha said he wished to impress upon his hearers the necessity for working hand in hand with the British, as South Africa was the only country they could call home. General Delarey said the Boers had buried their Mausers and their flag, but not their traditions.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by J. J. Orr.

FRANKLIN.

FREDERICK- VANVALKENBURG.

Frederick VanValkenburg was born at Ridgeway, Lenawee county, Michigan, Oct. 20, 1867, and died of acute peritinitis in the U. S. army hospital, San Francisco, California, July 8, 1900, aged thirty-four years, eight months and eighteen days.

He enlisted in the regular army of Company F of the seventh regiment of of infantry on the 29th day of May, 1885 for five years from which he received an honorable discharge May 28, 1890. Then on the 11th day of September of the same year he enlisted again as a private of Battery B of the fifth regiment of artillery, for five years.

After two years and nine months he was granted a furlough for three months, at which time he returned home, but returned to his regiment at the end of three months and according to a special order of the government, was honorably discharged. He then employed himself as a cook to an English Transit Company with whom he traveled for about two years through the western states. He then spent about two years at home, when in 1897, having a desire for army life he enlisted again.

He did service in Cuba Porto Rico and lastly in the Philippines. In 1898 he was promoted to corporal, and in 1899 to sergeant, which rank he held until his death. He was on his way home from the Philippines and got as as far as San Francisco, Cal., where he was to taken to the U. S. army hospital at which place he died. He was highly esteemed by his many friends, who deeply sympathize with the relatives in this sad bereavement.

The government shipped his remains to his brother, Joseph VanValkenburg, at Britton, Mich. They arrived July 19. On Sunday at two o'clock p. m. the funeral was held at the Christian church conducted by Rev. G. W. Foltz in the presence of a large congregation, after which the remains were taken to Ridgeway cemetery and just before interment the sealed casket was opened by request of Mr. Gardner, of Detroit, who was acting in behalf of the Independent Order of Forresters, of which the deceased was a worthy member.

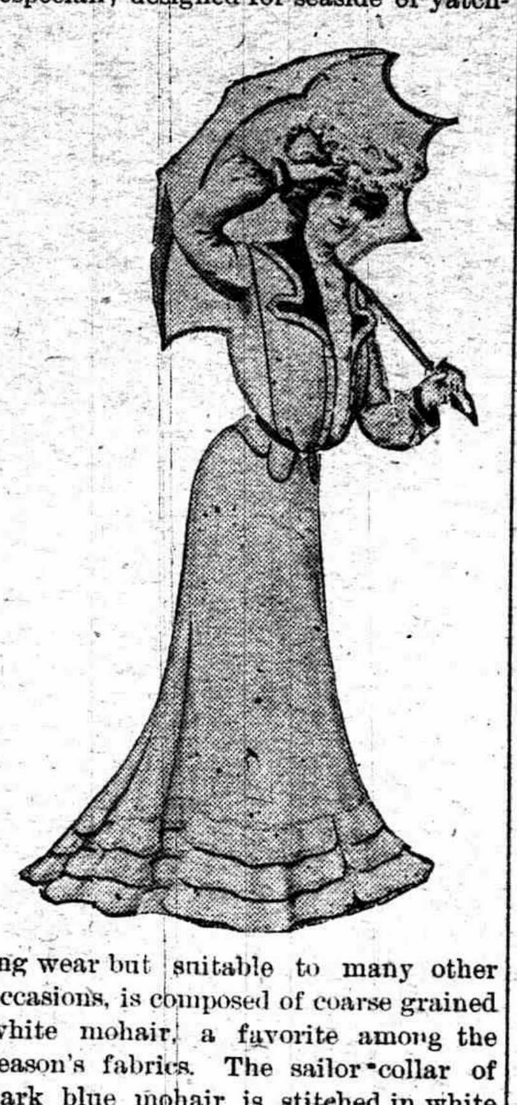
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

AN ATTRACTIVE OUTING COSTUME.



One of the special features of the newest frocks is the stitching in a contrasting color. Especially smart are the frocks composed of materials in two colors, the stitching of each matching the coloring of the other. This gown especially designed for seaside or yatching wear but suitable to many other occasions, is composed of coarse grained white mohair, a favorite among the season's fabrics. The sailor collar of dark blue mohair is stitched in white Corticelli stitching silk, size D, and is finished with a strap of the white mohair also stitched a dark blue shade of the same silk exactly matching the collar, which is prolonged to form a tab.

The strap edge of the collar in turn appears to be continued to form the vestee. All the edges of the blouse as well as the pleat which broadens the shoulder, running from there to the belt, are piped with dark blue mohair, and this piping is repeated upon the narrow flat flounces of the skirt.

RENOWNED CARDINAL DEAD.

Prefect of Congregation of Propaganda Taken Away.

Rome, July 23.—Cardinal Ledochowski, prefect of the congregation of the propaganda, died Tuesday morning after a long illness. The pope, on learning of Cardinal Ledochowski's death, was greatly distressed and exclaimed: "A valiant fighter for the church and religion has gone. His memory be blessed." With Cardinal Ledochowski's death, Cardinals San Stefano and Parocchi are the only surviving cardinals appointed by Pope Pius.

The candidates for the post made vacant by the death of Cardinal Ledochowski are equal in number to the hours which have elapsed since the cardinal's decease. In addition to Cardinal Vannutelli, Cardinal Francis Satolli, formerly apostolic delegate to the United States, is prominently mentioned as a candidate for the prefecture of the congregation of the propaganda. He is reputed to be a special protege of the pontiff, whose power of appointing is absolute. It is pointed out that Cardinal Satolli's thorough knowledge of American affairs peculiarly fit him for the prefecture, the United States being the most important country with which the propaganda has to deal.

Rome, July 23.—Besides an apostolic delegate for the Philippine islands the Vatican is preparing to appoint an archbishop of Manila, who will probably be Bishop Sebastian Gebhard Messmer, of Green Bay, Wis. Three new Philippine dioceses will also be created. Governor Taft, before starting for Naples to visit Pompeii and Mount Vesuvius, expressed a desire that the bishop of one of the new dioceses be a native Filipino. Major Porter has started for Paris to spend a few days there before returning to Washington.

A MONTH'S SUSPENSION

And $50 Fine Is Punishment Given Major Glenn.

Washington, July 23.—Secretary Root Tuesday sent to the president at Oyster Bay the proceedings and findings in the courtmartial cases of Major Edwin F. Glenn, Fifth infantry; Lieutenant Julien B. Gaujot, Tenth cavalry, and Lieutenant Norman E. Cook of the Philippine scouts. Glenn was found guilty of administering the water cure to natives, or permitting it to be done, and was sentenced to one month's suspension from duty and fined $50. Lieutenant Cook was acquitted on a charge of giving orders to kill three Filipino prisoners. The testimony showed that he had given orders to shoot the prisoners if they attempted to escape. The Filipino scouts, to whom this order was given, thought it meant to shoot the prisoners.

In forwarding the cases to the president, the secretary recommends that the sentences and findings be approved, but that no other action shall be taken. It is not believed that the president, who is reviewing authority in these cases, will make any comments such as were delivered by him in the case of General Smith. It is shown in the evidence and reports that Major Glenn has performed excellent service and has done much to pacify the country where he has been in command.

Buller Wants a Hearing.

London, July 23.—General Buller has written another letter to William Brodrick, the secretary of state for war, in which he complains that Mr. Brodrick accentuated charges in the house of commons which were never officially brought against him and to which he was ordered not to reply. In his communication to the war secretary, General Buller demands that he be allowed to state his views regarding Ladysmith's inability to hold out.

A Simple Cure For Earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly interfered with my own practice," said a celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my friends:

"At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water.

"Continue doing this for fifteen or twenty minutes. The water will fill the ear orifice and flow over on the towel. Afterward turn over the head, let the water run out and plug the ear with warm glycerin and cotton.

"This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost invariable cure and has saved many cases of acute inflammation. The water should be quite warm, but not too hot."—London Tit-Bits.

Mark Twain's

G. C. Clemens.

G. C. Clemens, of Topeka, Kan., the noted constitutional lawyer, who bears so striking a resemblance to Mark Twain, (Samuel B. Clemens) that he is frequently taken for the original Mark, is a man of deep intellect and wide experience. He is considered one of the foremost lawyers in this country. In a recent letter to the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Mr. Clemens says:

* * "Personal experience and observation have thoroughly satisfied me that Dr. Miles' Nervine contains true merit, and is excellent for what it is recommended."

Mr. Norman Waltrip, Sup. Pres. Bankers' Fraternal Society, Chicago, says:

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

MOBS IN STREETS

Religious Riots Again Took Place Sunday in Paris.

WOMEN TOOK ACTIVE PART

Thirty of Them Attempted to Present Petition to Premier Combes, but Were Driven Back by Police—One Hundred Arrests Made.

Paris, July 28.—The demonstration made Sunday in connection with the decree of Premier Combes' ordering the closing of the congregationist schools proved to be quite as much of a manifestation in support of the government as of opposition to its anticlerical measure. The crowd which gathered in the Place de la Concorde numbered 15,000 persons, while as many more thronged the Champs Elysees. The clerical and anti-clerical forces about equally divided the gatherings. The former were distinguishable by the red, white and blue paper flowers which they wore, whil the latter sported red eglantines.

On the whole, the crowds confined themselves to shouting, "Liberty!" "Long live the sisters!" and "We want the sisters!" to which the anti-clericals replied: "Vive republique!" and "Down with the priests!" The occasional appearance of a priest was the signal for much hooting and several fights were due to their presence.

A striking feature of the manifestations was the large number of women, many of them well dressed, who actively participated.

The demonstrations culminated when a group of thirty ladies, some in carriages and some on foot, attempted to reach the ministry of the interior in order to present to Premier Combes a petition on behalf of the sisters. The police, however, refused to allow them to pass.

Subsequently the clericals made an angry rush on the cordon guarding the Avenue Gabrielle, and the soldiers had to use the butts of their guns to keep back the crowd. Another violent incident occurred on the Champs Elysees, where the crowd began throwing the small iron chairs bordering the sidewalks among the feet of the horses of the mounted guards. One horse fell, injuring his rider.

A number of prominent Nationalists, including Deputies Millveye and Auffray, and several municipal councillors, were conspicuous in the crowd and were much ovated by their followers and hooted by the anti-clericals. About one hundred arrests were made.

Fought Until He Was Killed.

Portland, Ore., July 28.—Frank Carlson and George Baldwin, each aged nineteen years, quarreled over two gorls, to whom both were paying attention. Carlson challenged Baldwin to fight. The fight took place with bare knuckles, in the presence of relatives and friends of both boys, in an unfrequented part of the city. The fight lasted about twenty minutes. At the end of that time Carlson received a blow in the stomach and fell to the ground. When picked up he was dead. Baldwin is in jail.

Mendoza's Troops Defeated.

Port of Spain, Island of Trinidad, B. W. I., July 28.—The Venezuelan revolutionary general, Luciano Mendoza, learning that President Castro was receiving reinforcements from Trujillo, state of Los Andes, awaited, near Alto de la Palma, a body of these reinforcements 100 strong, under command of Leopoldo Baptista. An engagement ensued, resulting in the defeat of the reinforcements by Mendoza's troops and the capture of their ammunition. The forces of Baptista were driven back to Carache, state of Los Andes.

King in Invalid Chair.

Cowes, July 28.—King Edward is much better, but is not yet able to walk or stand. Saturday for the first time his majesty used his new invalid chair, which enables him to move himself about.

London, July 28.—The Standard this morning, referring to the health of King Edward, expresses the opinion that his majesty will only be able to attend the coronation in a bath chair as an invalid.

SEVERE CHARGES

A Sweeping Criticism From Anti-Imperialists.

IN LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT

Relative to Investigations of Cruelties Practiced in Philippines—Believe Smith and Waller Not Only Guilty Ones—Want More Justice.

Lake George, N. Y., July 28.—At a meeting of representative anti-imperialists, held in New York last spring, a committee was appointed to investigate army conditions in the Philippines. That committee has since then been prosecuting its inquiries. President Roosevelt's recent review of the courtmartial of General Jacob H. Smith seemed to the committee to demand some reply, and at a meeting just held at Lake George an open letter to the president was adopted. The letter was signed by Charles Francis Adams, chairman; Carl Schurz, Edwin Burritt Smith, Moorfield Storey and Herbert Welsh. In part it says:

"We wish most respectfully to call your attention to certain conclusions which we have in the course of our own inquiries found ourselves compelled to reach. Coming indirectly to the point and speaking historically, our investigations have led us to conclude that the demoralization of the officers and soldiers of our army in the Philippines, including all branches of the service and all grades of rank, was far more general as well as pronounced, than might be inferred from your review of the courtmartial findings in the case of General Smith.

"Meanwhile, we would respectfully submit that the good of the army and the future of our eastern dependencies demand that investigation should not stop at this point, or with results already reached. The inquiries we, as a committee, have made, necessarily imperfect, have yet been sufficient to satisfy us that General Smith and Major Waller were not the sole culprits, nor should they suffer in the character of scapegoats.

"In your 'review' of July 14 you say that these cases were exceptional. Your means of information on this point should unquestionably be infinitely better than ours. Meanwhile it is always to be borne in mind that one side only of this painful story has been heard, and that side only in part. The testimony of representative Filipinos has been jealously and systematically suppressed. Judicial and impartial examination on the spot has been denied, or pronounced impracticable. In the present case, occasionally and by accident merely, have fragments of information come to general knowledge—broken glimpses only have been permitted to reach the public eye. To our minds, they indicate unmistakably a condition of great and general demoralization. Of this, the findings of the courtmartial referred to afford conclusive evidence, as also do the published orders of commanding officers, and the reports of provincial governors."

The letter then discusses the 'kill and burn" order and also alludes to the water cure, saying that the first reports of its practice met with denials, while evidences before the senate Philippine committee proved conclusively that this and other forms of torture had been used, and says:

"Finally every severity known to the state of war—practices which have excited the special reprobation of the American people when reported as features of the hostilities in Cuba, under the Spanish regime, or in South Africa during the Boer war—have been of undisputed and frequent occurrence in the Philippines. From the early beginning of operations there it has been the general practice, if not actually the order, to kill those wounded in conflict.

"In like manner as respects concentration camps. These, as a feature in recent Spanish and South African operations, excited in us as a people the deepest indignation, combined with the most profound sympathy for those thus unmercifully dealt with. When resorted to by our officials in the Philippines, these camps are represented as a species of recreation grounds, into which the inhabitants of large districts rejoiced to be drawn and from which they departed with sorrow. Reports to which we can, on the other hand, refer give of them accounts not essentially different from the accounts received of similar camps established elsewhere."

The letter then quotes a communication to the senate by Secretary Root on Feb. 14, in which Mr. Root said:

"'The war in the Philippines has been conducted by the American army with scrupulous regard for the rules of civilized warfare, with careful and genuine consideration for the prisoner and the noncombatants, with self-restraint and with humanity never surpassed, if ever equalled, in any conflict worthy only of praise and reflecting credit upon the American people.' These words," continues the letter, "of sweeping commendation and unqualified indorsement, were written by the honorable secretary when all the essential facts since brought to light were within his official cognizance. You have given public assurance that the secretary is more desirous than yourself even, if that be possible, to probe to the bottom every responsible allegation of outrage and torture, to the end that nothing be concealed and no man be for any reason favored or shielded. The draft on our credulity thus presented is large, but we accept your assurance. Meanwhile, permit us to point out that such very sweeping and somewhat uncalled for commendation and approval, so far as we are advised, altogether unprecedented in character, coming directly and in the midst of active operations, from the fountainhead of military authority, is scarcely calculated 'to keep a moral check over acts of an improper character by subordinates.' It is charitable to assume that the pressure of official business at the time of communication referred to was such that the secretary failed to recall what correspondents had brought to his notice, or fully to advise himself as to what the files of his department might have to disclose.

"The allegations we make are grave; the condition of affairs we describe, serious. As a national record, it is discreditable. The good name of the country is implicated; as also is the professional character of officers of the army. We stand ready to cooperate directly and in utmost good faith to the end that all offenders may be brought to justice, and the guilty punished. Before such courts, if once convened, we will hold ourselves prepared to substantiate any or all charges here advanced.

"We find ourselves, though with deep regret, compelled to take issue with you on one important point. In your review of July 14 you say 'almost universally the higher officers have so borne themselves as to supply the necessary check over acts of an improper character by their subordinates.' We, on the contrary, have found ourselves compelled to the belief that the acts referred to were far more general—the demoralization more all-pervastive. We hold ourselves ready to direct your attention to concrete cases, the investigation of which would demonstrate the following criminal acts, contrary to all recognized rules and usages of war on the part of officers and soldiers of the United States:

"1. Kiknaping and murder, under circumstances of aggravated brutality.

"2. Robbery.

"3. Torture, both of men and women, and rape of the latter.

"4. The infliction of death on other parties, on the strength of evidence elicited through torture."

Chloroformed and Robbed.

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—One of the most daring daylight robberies ever perpetrated in Detroit took place about 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Hugo T. Hemme, 1017 Field avenue, when Mrs. Gertrude Hemme, who was alone in the house, was chloroformed and the house ransacked by a burglar. The villain sneaked up behind the woman while she was at work in the kitchen and put a handkerchief, saturated with the deadly stuff, over her nose and mouth. After she was overcome by the drug he then proceeded to ransack the house and carried away about $43 and a valuable gold watch. No clue was left. Mr. Hemme found his wife as she had fallen on the floor of the kitchen.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, July 26.—Michigan pensions were granted Friday as follows: Original—Charles W. Strong, Hoytville, $6; Reuben Strayer, Walkerville, $6; James H. Balor, Adrian, $6. Increase—Edward Wallace, Bear Lake, $8; Oliver L. Fox, Grand Rapids, $12; William R. Beach, Hudson, $24; Henry L. Hodges, Tigres, $10; George Palmer, Edgerton, $8; Daniel G. Ackley Grand Rapids, $8; Emanuel Rinehart, Edwardsburg, $12. Widows—Lavina Courson, Nissen City, $12; Betsy M. Meech, Williamston, $8; minor of Levi Joslin, Ferry, $10.

Visit From Kentucky Pressmen.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 26.—One hundred members of the Kentucky Press association arrived in this city last night and are guests at the Avery and Egnew hotels. After a dinner at the hotel the visitors gathered at the new Avery theater, where addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Crocker and F. E. Nellis of the Monitor. Today the Kentuckians will be given an excursion to the Flats with a fish dinner at the Star Island house. They will spend Sunday in this city.

Preacher Gets a Divorce.

Gladstone, Mich., July 26.—The marital troubles of Rev. J. Spencer Jewell, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here, and now preaching at Pickford, Mackinaw county, have ended in the minister getting a divorce in the circuit court, for cruelty. Rev. Jewell was a widower with two accomplished daughters, when two years ago an attractive woman, who said she was not only a widow, but a countess, struck the town. The minister was smitten, and after an acquaintance of not many weeks he married her.

Oil Fever Strikes Bad Axe.

Bad Axe, Mich., July 26.—Bad Axe citizens have organized a company to prospect for oil. An expert from the Ohio oil fields, now here superintending the drilling of wells for a beet sugar factory water supply, says that the conditions here resemble those in Ohio where oil was found.

The Old Well Makes Trouble.

Adrian, Mich., July 26.—Mrs. Lucy Austin, of Holloway, has brought suit against Stephen Edward and Lucretia Palmer for $5,000. Mrs. Austin's six-year-old daughter was drowned in an old well on the premises of the defendants. She claims that the well was not properly covered.

Daily Earthquakes in Persia.

Bombay, July 26.—Earthquakes have occurred daily at Bunder-Abbas, Persia, since July 9. The inhabitants are camping on the beach and there is great suffering on account of the abnormal heat. Other towns in the vicinity were damaged and the old fortress of Ormuz was destroyed. The loss of life is believed to have been small.

Costa Rican Volcanoes In Action.

San Jose, Costa Rica, July 26.—Unusual activity has lately been shown by Costa Rican volcanoes. The lands in the neighborhood of Terraba (sixty-eight miles southeast of San Jase) have been considerably disturbed, and the government has sent a commission to that locality to study the conditions.

Brutal Treatment of Negroes.

Womeldorff, W. Va., July 26.—Beside the two negroes lynched here for murdering Woodman, a third negro was followed by a mob and shot to death in the swamps twenty-five miles south of Elkin yesterday. After riddling his body the mob threw it into the Cheat river. Negroes are leaving this section.

Bad Fire in Albany.

Albany, N. Y., July 26.—One fireman dead, one in the hospital, believed to be dying, and a number seriously injured, in addition to a monetary loss variously estimated at $250,000 to $750,000, is the result of a fire which broke out in the heart of the business district shortly before 3 o'clock Friday morning.

FITZ KNOCKED OUT

Jeffries Quickly Ended His Championship Aspirations.

HE STOOD IT EIGHT ROUNDS

Two Lucky Blows Won Jeffries the Battle — Fitzsimmons Says He'll Never Fight Again—Latter Held Out Well During Most of Contest.

San Francisco, July 26.—After fighting a battle of eight rounds that was fraught with brilliant and courageous work, Robert Fitzsimmons last night forfeited his last claim upon the heavyweight championship. He was knocked to the floor by James Jeffries and counted out after he had so badly punished the champion that it was a foregone conclusion among the spectators that the Cornishman must win. Bleeding from a number of gashes in the face, apparently weakening and clearly unable to cope with Fitzsimmons' superior skill, Jeffries delivered two lucky punches as Fitzsimmons paused in his fighting to speak to him, and turned the tide. The battle was brief but noteworthy, and will live in pugilistic history.

Fitzsimmons tried to rise from the mat, but sank down again helpless and heard himself counted out, where but a moment before he had apparently all the better of it.

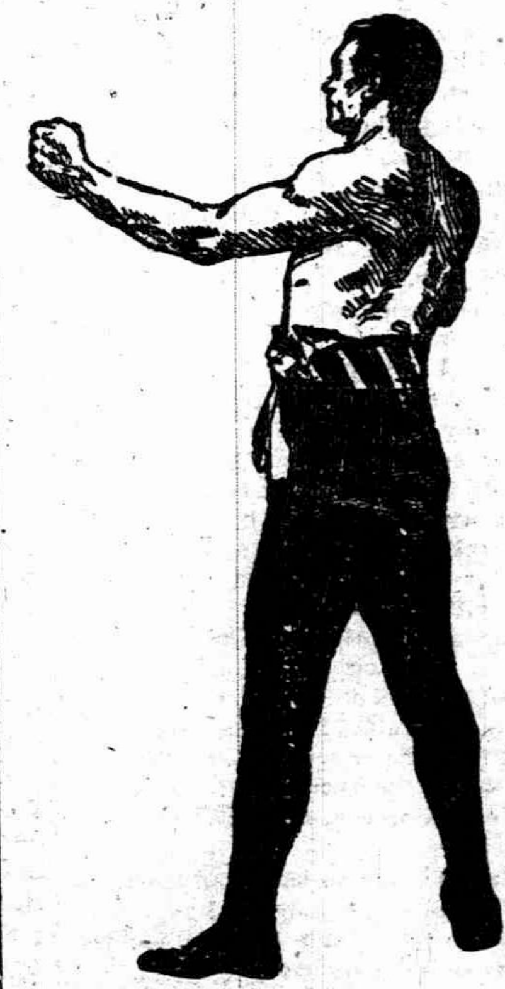
"I will never fight again," said the battle-scarred veteran of the ring when he had sufficiently recovered to talk.

"The fight was won fairly, and to the best man belongs the laurels."

"You are the most dangerous man alive," said Jeffries in return, "and I consider myself lucky to have won when I did."

Fitzsimmons had been fighting at a furious gait, cool and deliberate, and chopping the champion to pieces with the terrific rights and left that have made him famous. It was the draught horse and the races from the tap of the gong. When the men came together Fitz appeared rather worried, but upon the opening of the first round he assumed an air of absolute confidence and fought with the deliberation of the general that he is.

As early as the second round Fitz had Jeffries bleeding profusely from mouth and nose. Again and again he landed on his bulky opponent, getting away in such a clever manner that brought down the house with cheers. It seemed indeed that Jeffries could scarcely weather the gale. In the eighth round the end came, and under a series of hot exchanges Fitzsimmons paused with his guard down and spoke to the champion. The latter's reply consisted of two terrific blows that brought back to him the fleeting championship and forever removed the veteran Fitzsimmons from the fistic arena. Fitzsimmons took his defeat with amazing good cheer. He walked to the center of the ring and, raising his hand addressed the multitude, saying:



JIM JEFFRIES.

"The best man has won. Had I beaten Jeffries tonight I would have conceded him the championship and retired forever. I retire just the same now, but without having accomplished my ambition. I am satisfied."

After the fight Champion Jeffries was seen in his dressing room. He was jubilant over his success, despite the terrible scars of battle. He said to an Associated Press correspondent:

"Well, I won just as I expected to. It was a fierce fight—the fiercest I ever had—but I won. Yes, I got a good beating, as far as marks of battle count, but then I rather expected that. Fitz certainly is a wonder. He is the greatest fighter of his weight that ever lived. As old as he is, he is the shiftiest and cleverest, the hardest hitting man I ever met, and I want to give him credit, as I know all who saw it will, for the great fight he put up. I have no plans for the immediate future, as I have not thought of anything but this fight for some time and won't do anything for a long period. I will take a rest after the long siege of hard training. I think Fitzsimmons can yet defeat any other man than myself."

Asked in regard to his plans for the future, Fitzsimmons facetiously remarked: "I am going back to Bensonhurst and attend to the development of the youth of America and try to make them like me—a vigirous old man—past his fortieth year and as hale and as hearty as a man well withing his thirties."

Got His Answer.

"While on a trip through the south soon after the civil war," said a Chicago man, "I stopped overnight at the little town of Warrenton, N. C. The next morning, strolling around looking the place over, I met a countryman who greeted me with a 'Howdy?' and 'passed the time of day' most cordially. I was considerably taken aback when I noticed that he was barefooted, and I ventured to ask him if it was the custom of the country for the men to go without shoes. He answered, with a drawl, 'Waal, some on us does, but most on us 'tends to our own business.'"

CHAPTER I.

M. DE LORGNAC'S PRICE.

ONE afternoon I sat alone in the little anteroom before the queen mother's cabinet. In front of me was an open door. The curtains of violet velvet, spangled with golden lilies, were half drawn, and beyond extended a long, narrow and gloomy corridor leading into the main salon of the Hotel de Soissons, from which the sound of music and occasional laughter came to me. My sister maids of honor were there, doubtless making merry as was their wont with the cavaliers of the court, and I longed to be with them instead of watching away the hours in the little prison—I can call it no less—that led to the queen's closet.

In the corridor were two sentries standing motionless as statues. They were in shadow, except where here and there a straggling gleam of light caught their armor with dazzling effect, and M. de Lorgnac, the lieutenant of the guard, paced slowly up and down the full length of the passage, twisting his dark mustache and turning abruptly when he came within a few feet of the entrance to the anteroom.

I was so dull and wearied that it would have been something even to talk to M. de Lorgnac, bear though he was, but he took no more notice of me than if I were a stick or a stone, and yet there were I do not know how many who would have given their ears for a tete-a-tete with Denise de Mieux.

I ought not to have been surprised, for the lieutenant showed no more favor to any one else than he did to me, and during the year or more I have been here, enjoying for the first time in my life the gayeties of the court, after my days in apron strings at Lespaille, my Uncle de Tavannes' seat, I had not, nor had a soul as far as I knew, seen M. de Lorgnac exchange more than a formal bow and a half dozen words with any woman. He was poor as a homeless cat, his patrimony, as we heard, being but his sword and a ruined tower somewhere in the Correze. So, as he had nothing to recommend him except a tall, straight figure and a reputation for bravery—qualities that were shared by a hundred others with more agreeable manners—we left M. l'Ours, as we nicknamed him, to himself, and, to say the truth, he did not seem discomposed by our neglect.

As for me, I hardly noticed his existence, sometimes barely returning his bow, but often have I caught him observing me gravely with a troubled look in his gray eyes, and as ill luck would have it this was ever when I was engaged in some foolish diversion, and I had to feel furious, as I thought he was playing the spy on me, and press on to other folly, over which in the solitude of my room I would stamp my foot with vexation and sometimes shed tears of anger.

This afternoon, when I thought of the long hours I had to spend waiting the queen's pleasure, of the mellow sunlight which I could see through the glazing of the dormer window that lit the room, of the gayety and brightness outside, I felt dull and wearied beyond description. I had foolishly neglected to bring a book or my embroidery, so that even my fingers had to be still, and in my utter boredom I believe I should have actually welcomed the company of Catherine's hideous dwarf, Majosky.

It had come to me that perhaps M. de Lorgnac, who had no doubt a weary enough watch in the corridor, might feel disposed to beguile a little of his tedium and to amuse me for a few minutes, and I had purposely drawn the curtains and opened the door of the anteroom so that he might see I was there and alone and that the door of the queen mother's cabinet was shut. I then, I confess it, put myself in the most becoming attitude I could think of, but, as I have said before, he took not the slightest notice of me and walked up and down, tramp, tramp, backward and forward, as if he were a piece of clockwork—like that which Messer Cosmo, the Italian, made for monsieur, the king's brother.

I began to feel furious at the slight—it was no less, I considered—that he was putting on me and wished I had the tongue and the spirit of Mlle. de Chateauneu, so that I could make my gentleman smart as she did M. de Luxembourg. For a moment or so I pulled at the silken fringe of my tourette-de-nez and then made up my mind to show M. de Lorgnac that the very sight of him was unpleasant to me. So I waited until in his march he came to a yard or so from the spot where he regularly turned on his heel and then, springing up, attempted to draw the curtains across the door. Somehow or other they would not move, and De Lorgnac stepped forward quietly and pulled them together. As he did this our eyes met, and there was the twinkle of a smile in his glance, as if he had seen through my artifices and was laughing at them. I felt my face grow warm and was grateful that the light was behind me, but I thanked him icily, and with his usual stiff bow he turned off without a word.

I came back to my seat, my face crimson and my eyes swimming with tears and feeling that if there was a man on earth that I hated it was the lieutenant of the guard.

It had a good two hours or so to run before my time of waiting would be over, and I may take the plunge now and confess that the lengthened period of attendance to which I was subjected was in a measure a punishment for my having ridden out alone with M. de Clermont, and, owing to an accident that befell my horse, I had not been able to return until very late. The ill chance which followed all my girlish escapades was not wanting on this occasion, with the result that, whereas ten others might have escaped, I was observed in what was, after all, but a harmless frolic and my conduct reported on, and madame, who had a weak enough eye for follies and sometimes sins that were committed by rule—she loved to direct our ill doings—rated me soundly and imposed the penance and perhaps the worse punishment that was to follow on me.

In the anteroom there was but a cushioned stool for the lady in waiting, and this was placed close to the door so that one could hear Queen Catherine calling, for she never rang for us as did the Lorrainer for even such ladies of the Duchesse de Nemours, the mother of Guise.

I pushed the seat closer toward the door and, hardly thinking what I was doing, leaned my head against the woodwork and dropped off into a sort of troubled doze. How long I slept in this manner I cannot say, but I was suddenly aroused by the distinct mention of my name, followed by a laugh from within the cabinet. I looked up in affright, for the laugh was the king's, and for the moment I wondered how he had passed in; then, recollecting the private passage, I knew that he must have come in thence. I would have withdrawn, but the mention of my name, coupled with the king's laughter, aroused my curiosity, and I remained in my position, making, however, a bargain with my conscience by removing my head from the carved oak of the door. It was my duty to be where I was, and, although I would make no effort to listen, yet if those within were talking of me and loud enough for me to hear I thought it no harm to stay, especially as it was Henri who was speaking, for I knew enough to be aware that no one was safe from his scandalous tongue. I may have been wrong in acting as I did, but I do not think there is one woman in a thousand who would have done otherwise, supposing her to be as I was, but one and twenty years of age.

So thick, however, was the door that, my head once removed, I could hear but snatches of the converse within.

"It is his price, madame," I heard the king say, "and, after all, it is a cheap one considering her escapade with De Clermont. Morbleu! But he is a sad dog!"

And then came another surprise, for the gruff voice of my uncle, the Marshal de Tavannes, added:

"Cheap or dear, I for one am willing that it should be paid, and at once. She has brought disgrace enough on our house already. As for the man, if poor he is noble and as brave as his sword. He is well able to look after her."

"If he keeps his head," put in the king, while my ears burned at the uncomplimentary speech of my guardian and my heart began to sink. Then came something I did not catch from Catherine, and after that a murmur of indiscreet voices. At last the king's high pitched tones rose again. It was a voice that seemed to drill its way through the door.

"Enough! It is agreed that we pay in advance. Eh, Tavannes? Send for the little baggage, if she is, as you say, here, and we will tell her at once. The matter does not admit of any delay. St. Blaise! I should say that after thirty a man must be mad to peril his neck for any woman!"

I rose from my seat trembling all over with anger and apprehension, and as I did so the queen mother's voice rang out sharply:

"Mlle. de Mieux!"

The next moment the door opened and the dwarf Majosky put out his leering face.

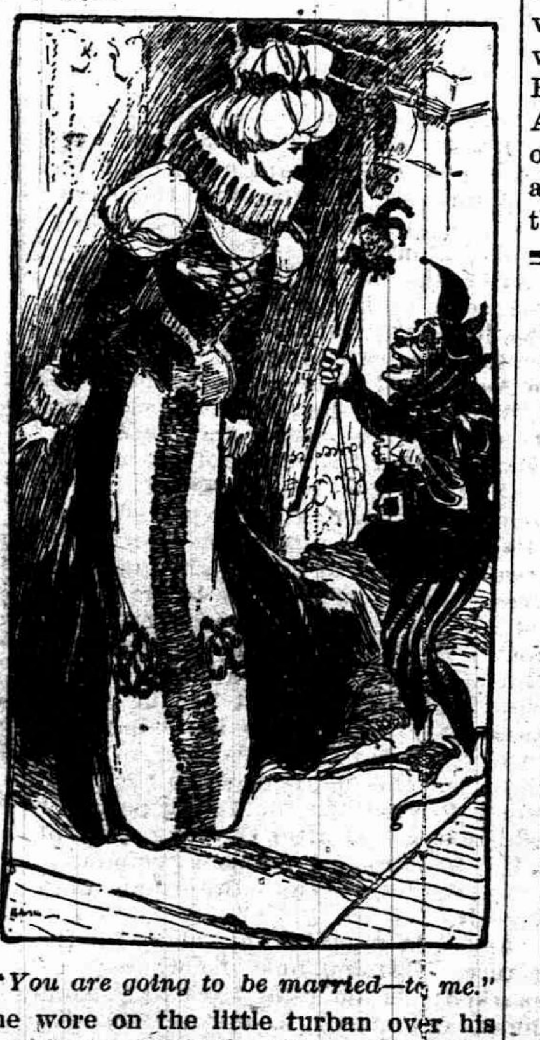
"Enter, mademoiselle!" he said, with a grotesque bow, adding in a rapid, malignant whisper as I passed him, "You are going to be married—to me."

At any other time I would have spared no pains to get him punished for his insolence, but now so taken aback was I at what I had heard that I scarcely noticed him and entered the room as if in a dream. Indeed it was only with an effort that I recollected myself sufficiently to make my reverence to the king. He called out as I did so: "Mordieu! I retract, Tavannes! I retract! Faith, I almost feel as if I could take the adventure on myself!"

A slight exclamation of annoyance escaped the queen, and Tavannes said coldly:

"Perhaps your majesty had better inform my niece of your good pleasure," adding grimly, "and I guarantee mademoiselle's obedience."

There was a minute or so of silence, during which the king was, as it were, picking his words, while I stood before him. Majosky shuffled down at Catherine's feet and watched me with his wicked, blinking eyes. I do not remember to have looked around me, and yet every little detail of that scene will remain stamped on my memory until the day I die.



"You are going to be married—to me."

he wore on the little turban over his peruke, a multitude of gems glittered. On his left side, near his sword hilt, was a bunch of medallions of ladies who had smiled on him, and this was balanced on the other hand by an equally large cluster of charms and relics. As he sat there he kept tapping the end of one of his shoes with a little cane, while he surveyed me with an almost insulting glance in the mocking eyes that looked out from his painted cheeks.

The silence was like to have become embarrassing had not Catherine, impatient of delay, put in with that even voice of hers:

"Perhaps I had better explain your majesty's commands." And then without waiting for an answer she went on, looking me straight in the face:

PRETTY AFFAIR

Percy Bowen of West Tecumseh Delightfully Entertained at a BIRTHDAY PARTY

A Happy Crowd of Friends Last Saturday.

Parties and picnics are the season's pastime, but up to the present data, the prettiest and most successful affair of its kind was the one given by Master Percy Bowen at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. F. N. Bowen. It seems Percy is amongst the boys born beneath a lucky star, indeed, his pleasure is envied by all.

It was exactly eleven years ago that Percy, then a fat, one year old, brown eyed little shaver conceived, with his parents aid, the idea of a birthday party, the invitations were accordingly sent and 29 little tots accompanied their mothers to participate in this, Percy's juvenile party; Percy was indeed a proud youngster, his little brown eyes held a merry twinkle upon his face beamed a continual smile, in fact, not a happier assemblege could be found. The time for parting at last drew near and Percy was left alone to ponder over the success of his first attempt at enteriaining.

Eleven birthdays have passed over the head of Master Percy, each year bringing new pleasures. Last Saturday July 26, twelve years were found to have placed themselves upon his shoulders. Of course Percy must make this event memorable and proceeds in the following manner.

Invitations were sent to all his young friends who honored his first birthday by their attendance, some have moved, others have been the constant companions of the host. Each one guided by their parents unerring hand, has conquered life's many trials and all are now living to greet this, one of the happiest events in Percy's career.

Twenty-three out of the 29 present at his first party attended this reception. A more enjoyable time could not have been participated in; games, there were many, each guest entering into the spirit of the occasion, made the time soon pass. Luncheon was at last served, which consisted of a two course supper.

How little those present know of the appearance they presented at the same place, for the same occasion, and upon the same day of the week, well then, could an imaginative mother have called them the "kid band" they certainly made music, not of the sorrowful kind for there were no tears shed upon that memorable occasion, nothing but the merry laughs of the little tots could be heard. The story of their first party was unfolded to them as they sat there assembled and after much discussion had been held, it was decided to hold another party when Percy had acquired the age of 21, nine years hence.

Of course their weights must be ascertained, at the former party a pair of counter scales had been employed for the purpose, but Mr. Bowen decided these were not just the proper thing at the present time so the large stock scales were brought into use, 11 years ago the following results were obtained. total weight 561 pounds, average 20 pounds each, combined ages 25½ years. The present result reads thusly: total weight 2250 pounds, average weight 70 pounds.

The luncheon was served at 5:30 o'clock and at 7:00 the guests took their departure each one wishing Percy success in life and also expressing their appreciation of the good time they participated in. Those unable to attend who were present at his first party were: Clara Waldron, Beth Satterthwaite, Elvida Steffen, Hazel Boyd, Ione Sisson and Earl Derby.

Those present at both functions were: Florence Bryan, Harry Remmington, Earl McNeil, Edith Wilson, Percy A. Bowen, Nellie Wilson, Florence Keyser, Mildred L. Boyce, Margaret Waldron, Wesley Schofield, Howard Mattis, Jas. A. Moody, Fay Mangus, Jennie Harris, Henry N. Raymond, Ethel Reed, Max Munger, Louis Lynn, Bon L. Wells, Leroy Bramble, Hazel Boyd, Geo. Witheral, Earl Mead and Claude Bowen.

Mrs. Lucy Auten, of Holloway, has commenced suit in the circuit court for $5,000 damages against Stephen Palmer Edward Palmer and Lutecia Palmer, who live on a farm near Holloway. It will be remembered that on April 15, Rachel, the 6 year old daughter of Mrs. Auten was drowned in an unused well on the Palmer premises, while playing about the place. This is the cause of the suit.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Cost of Building the Connecticut and Demand of AMERICAN NAVAL VESSELS

In the Gulf of Mexico and other Interesting Facts Discussed.

Secretary Moody has completed the system where by he expects to arrive at the exact cost of the Connecticut, which is to be built in the New York navy yard. Not only is the pay of the officers who supervise or direct the construction of the vessel to be taken into account, but the cost of their education as well, so that no penny which might be properly charged to the cost of construction will be overlooked.

Mr. Moody figures that aside from the pay of an officer during his active service, he costs the government $1,000 per year, which sum is arrived at by adding the cost of his education to the average amount of pay of a retired officer and dividing the total by 40, which is taken as the average length of active service. Therefore, if an officer spent three years supervising the construction of the Connecticut and during that time received as pay $3,500 per year, his services would be figured as costing the government, $13,800.

There is considerable interest taken in a case in the department of the interior this summer of which only the merest details have reached the newspaper men. It seems that a number of large companies have been organized for the purpose of exploiting the oil lands of Wyoming. Many of these lands are the property of the Union Pacific railroad but under the provisions of the land grant made to this company, the land would revert to the government in the event that mineral wealth was found on them. The companies referred to have undertaken to secure title under the mining law and the railroad company, seeing great possibilities for cheap fuel, has undertaken to retain possession of the land. That is the story so far obtainable although it is possible that there may be other developments which will be revealed later on.

The constant demand for American naval vessels in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico is causing no little annoyance to Secretary Moody, desired that every available ship take part in the naval maneuvers now being organized off the New England coast. The situation in Venezuela demands the constant presence of an American vessel and now an urgent demand for a United States war ship has been received from Hayti. At present the Cincinnati and the Topeka are in Venezuelan waters, the Machias is at Cape Haytien and the Mariette is at Colon. Unless the situation changes for the worse, it is thought that American interests in Venezuela can be protected with the present naval force in those waters but, if the rebellion should increase, it might be necessary to detach one of the large vessels from the North Atlantic squadron and detail her for duty in the Caribbean sea.

Considerable surprise has been occasioned by the showing of the Census Bureau in regard to the property owned by the farmers of the country. According to these figures, the farmers own but twenty per cent of the wealth of the country, notwithstanding the fact that they constitute approximately one-half the population. It would seem that the figures answered the question as to why the rising generation leaves the farms most adequately.

ROUND ABOUT US.

It is not often a man has a beard in his ear. But that was the case with Stephen Bowerman, of Raisin. He came in a few days since and Dr. E. T. Morden removed a wheat beard from his ear. The drum of the ear was considerably affected.—Adrian Press.

Paul Wright, a youthful East Sider, evidently got enthused over the Whitney show which exhibited here recently. On Monday evening, while doing acrobatic work for the edification of some companions, he slipped from the limb of an apple tree and struck the ground with sufficient force to break an arm near the elbow. Dr. Dutt rended the necessary surgical aid.

The Hudson Gazette offered three cents a pound for clean cotton rags A. O. Abbott, Jim Dwyer, Col. Thorn and Grant Fellows sent their old "cast offs" to the laundry at ten cents a piece, to be washed and found it took just three shirts to make a pound. Then they stepped down to the race track and pounded their heads.—Adrian Press.

JUST DESERTS

The Three Colored Men who Created a Sunday Disturbance here June 22 Given

FOUR YEARS

At the Jackson State Prison.

John Stone, C. B. Ralph and Wm. Hosey, the three men convicted of the crime of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, less than murder, were taken before Judge Chester in Adrian Friday afternoon and each sentenced to four years' imprisonment at Jackson. They were taken there the same night.

The crime for which the men were convicted was committed at Birdsall, near the Quaker church, Sunday, June 22. Our readers will remember that as the above named men were passing along the highway a child called one of the party "nigger," which was taken up as an insult. This brought on a row with Matthew Brockway, a one legged veteran, his daughter, Mrs. Smith, and her husband. Mr. Brockway received a scalp wound. Mrs. Smith was knocked down and her arm broken, and others maltreated.

The officers here had quite a time capturing them. There are many who thought the full limit, ten years each, should be given, but Judge Chester states, however, that on account of the previous good character of the men and especially Stone, have reputations for being good workers and not disposed to disturbances. It is their first offense.

THREE GAMES

Tecumseh Defeated by

CARLETON SLUGGERS

But Redeems the Loss in the Game Against Clinton, also with Battle Creek.

Tecumseh met defeat at the hands of the Carleton Sluggers, Friday. The game was a very hard fought contest and Tecumseh played hard to win, but had to give over to the visitors.

In the first inning Duvall ran in a score for Carleton, Thompson struck out and a double play between centerfielder Gorton and first base Gillen retired the side. Another double play was made in the third, between Gillen and North, the latter covering second, retiring Duvall and Thompson, while Gamball was thrown out at second.

In the fourth inning Germain and Furhman each run in a score, in the fifth Hantz also run the tally up one more point, during the remaining innings Tecumseh held the visitors down.

Tecumseh failed to find the ball until the sixth inning when Gorton and Schippacasse worked their way around the bases, each making a score. During the eighth and ninth innings only three men came to bat each inning. In the seventh North struck out, Chaffee batted to short and was thrown out at first, Gillen made a base, but Sanger striking out let Gillen die at first.

In the eighth Gorton batted a red hot liner to German which the latter froze on to. Schiappacasse was thrown out at first, while France batted a fly to first which was captured. In the ninth Harris made a base hit, Moggs popped a fly to short, who threw the ball to first which made Moggs and Harris retire. Chaffee gave Hantz a fly which was trapped, thus retiring the side, with the score 4 to 2 in favor of Carleton.

Following is the score:

CLINTON VS. TECUMSEH.

The combination game between Adrian and Clinton vs. Tecumseh at Clinton Saturday was all that could be expected, Clinton finds they must play ball some to ever hope to win from Tecumseh. The game from start to finish was nothing but a continual fight. No umpire, no matter how fair could have pleased Clinton, but they met their finish and died with a kick.

The Clinton—Adrian aggregation found but one score to their credit at the end of the game, this was made by Palmer in the fifth inning. In the eighth Niles lined out a pretty three bagger but was put out at the home plate A double play between France and Gillen retired McDonald and Mattison.

Tecumseh scored three times, once in the second to Harris' credit, again in the third to Gorton's credit and lastly in the fifth which score was made by Sanger. During the whole game not a man obtained a base on balls from either pitcher, six errors were placed against Clinton, with but one for Tecumseh. Martin struck out seven men while Sanger struck out five, Sanger gave Mattison his base twice by hitting him with a pitched ball. The score was 3 to 1 in favor of Tecumseh. Batteries, Martin Parm, Sanger and Chaffee. Umpire Shea.

TECUMSEH VS BATTLE CREEK.

Tecumseh 6, Battle Creek 3.

The above score greeted the spectators at the close of yesterday's game with Battle Creek. Tecumseh with Harris in the box played hard for the six runs they obtained and Battle Creek played harder, up to the fifth inning to give Tecumseh a shut out but the three scores run in during the last half by Gorton, Schippacasse and Sanger tied the score, then began a battle royal.

Duvall was the first to bat for Tecumseh in the sixth he lined one out to second and was thrown out at first. Gillen struck out, while North lined one out to third and was thrown out at first.

In the seventh Chaffee made a base hit, but was caught asleep at first and lost his base. Sanger, the next man up, knocked safe for first and was later thrown out at that base. Gorton lined out a pretty two bagger, Schippacasse lined out a good single, which brought Gorton in. France sent a fly to center which was caught, retiring the side.

In the eighth Harris popped a fly to center, which Thomas captured, Duvall reached first by being bit by a pitched ball, Gillen lined out a neat single, North batted to second and was thrown out at first. Chaffee made a pretty hit for a two bagger and brought in Duvall and Gillen. Sanger, the next man at bat, tapped a fly to third, which was captured by Calkins, retiring the side with a total of six runs for the game

Battle Creek made a good beginning but fell short at the finish. Plass, the first man at the bat, batted a liner to second and was thrown out at first, Koehler made a safe single, stole second and finally scored on Connor's single. Calkins put a liner to third and was thrown out at first, Connor scored and Roth popped a fly to second which was bagged by North.

In the second Killian was thrown out at first and Thomas and Schaeffer struck out. No scores were brought in until the fifth inning when Plass brought in their third and last score.

The latter part of the game was very much the same as Tecumseh's first, nothing ciphers in the next four innings only two more men than was necessary to retire the side, only fourteen men grasping the bat.

The result is as follows:

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by which strengthens the whole digestive system

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Barney, The Champion Strong Man

The contests of strength between Walter W. Lentz of Chicago, Albert Newberry of Kansas City, and Charles Lloyd Barney, resulted in a complete victory for Barney who won every event He is a much more graceful man than any of the others and seems to have a reserve strenght that neither Lentz or Newberry could approach. Barney is now the champion and seems to have a brilliant future before him.

The second night of the strength contest with Newberry out of it, Lentz seemed to lose confidence. Barney took every life without trouble winning the contest clean in every event. It was a wonderful display and placed Barney at the head of the strong men of the country except Sandon and it is said that an effort will be made to get the latter here in a contest with Barney.—Ottawa Saturday Sun.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY

Are the Statements of Tecumseh Citizens not more Reliable than those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question,
It is fraught with interest to Tecumseh.
It permits of only one answer.
It cannot be evaded or ignored.
A Tecumseh citizen speaks here
Speaks for the welfare of Tecumseh.
A citizen's statement is reliable.
An utter strangers doubtful.
Home proof is the best.

Mr. S. Erskine, proprietor of the well known barber shop says: "For ten years off and on I had a dull pain in my back, imperfect action of the kidneys, and often I could hardly stoop or get up again. I think it was caused by standing so much at my work. Be that as it may, I was in a bad shape. I used a great many medicines but without receiving much benefit until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store I must confess that I was agreeably surprised for after using one box I was much relieved. After the use of two boxes my back is stronger and better than it has been for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever used and I have such faith in them, I believe I will be conferring a kindness on those suffering from kidney trouble in making known their merits."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Resourcefulness of Chinese Cooks.

If there is one sphere of European domestic life in which more than another, says a traveler, the Chinaman finds scope for the exercise of his own peculiar ingenuity, without doubt it is in the regions dedicated to the pursuit of the culinary art. Here he will allow no obstacle to daunt him, no unforeseen contingency to catch him unawares. Should you, having ordered two chops for the dinner of yourself and your wife, suddenly, all unthinking, bring in a friend to share your humble meal, you will find the cook out of two chops has miraculously created a third—created it so skillfully out of odds and ends of meat deftly strung together that only the practiced eye may discern the difference.

Beefsteak on the Gridiron.

Sitting on the balcony of the Anglo-American club, Brussels, a Yankee and an Englishman spent a lazy afternoon guying each other on racial and national foibles and traits. The conversation veered into flags. "Yours," drawled the Britisher, "reminds me of nothing so much as a gridiron, a deuced big gridiron, dontcherknow!" "And yours," was the quick come back from the American, "reminds me forcibly of a beefsteak—a darned big beefsteak, but not so big that we can't cook it on our gridiron!"

Hunting For Hermit's Gold.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 28.—John F. Danovan of Milwaukee has been appointed administrator of the estate of Henry D. Rogers by the Ottawa county probate court, and Saturday he visited the old man's cabin in Lamont and made a thorough search of the premises in the hopes of finding some of the wealth he was reported to have left. Rogers was a bachelor hermit and watchmaker and was supposed to be worth $150,000. The cabin was found to be full of all kinds of rubbish and odds and ends, but the search, from the cellar, reached through a hidden trap door, to the rafters, failed to discover his hiding place. The search will be continued in the banks in this city, where he may have had a safety deposit vault.

Liberal to Their Employes.

Owosso, Mich., July 28.—Alvin M. Bentley, president of the Owosso Manufacturing company, which puts out more screen doors and windows than any other single concern in the country, has inaugurated a second annual distribution of profits to employes. The sum given away to men who have been two years or more in the company's employ amounts to $4,000, or about 15 per cent of each man's wages for the whole season. The sum given away last year was about $2,500.

Accept Company's Proposition.

Bay City, Mich., July 28.—The Street Railway Employes' union, at its meeting Sunday, decided to accept the proposition made by the company, the arrangement to be temporary. The men asked for the abolition of the sliding scale of from 14 to 17 cents an hour, with straight scale of 18 cents. The company offered a scale of 15 to 17 cents, which was accepted, the plea being made by the receivers that the present state of the finances does not warrant further increase.

Victim of Lightning.

Lexington, Mich., July 28.—Ed Hill, twenty-three years of age, a son of John Hill, on the town line, five miles north of here, was struck by lightning during the storm Saturday noon and instantly killed. He was binding when the storm came up and drove his team up to a haystack for shelter when he was struck.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by J. J. Orr.

No Sunset For Five Days.

At the head of the gulf of Bothnia there is a mountain on the summit of which the sun shines perpetually during the five days of June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23. Every six hours during this season of continual sunshine a steamer leaves Stockholm crowded with visitors anxious to witness the phenomenon. At the same place during winter the sun disappears and is not seen for weeks. Then it comes in sight again for ten, fifteen or twenty minutes, gradually lengthening its stay until finally it stays in sight continuously for upward of 120 hours.

A Question of Color.

Benjamin Constant when painting the portrait of Queen Victoria made the grand ribbon of the Garter, which was part of his illustrious sitter's costume, a certain tone of blue. The queen criticised this part of the picture, but Constant stuck to his color. One day he received from Windsor a little parcel containing the order of the Garter. The queen, fully convinced that she was right, had sent him the ribbon to prove his color sense was wrong. She did not confer the Garter upon him, however.

HAD A BREEZY TIME

Sunday's Storm Struck Oxford and Vicinity with Terrific Force.

A SCRAMBLING FOR CELLARS

Wires Down—Crops Laid Low—Houses Unroofed—Hen Lost Her Feathers—Romeo Church Partially Unroofed.

Oxford, Mich., July 28.—The worst storm ever known in the history of Oxford swept over a strip of country reaching from Thomas to Rochester, a distance of eighteen miles, Sunday afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock and lasting for twenty-five minutes.

In this village houses were unroofed, large trees were uprooted, and beautiful maple shade trees that had withstood the storms of half a century were broken into splinters. Awnings were torn from the fronts of stores, glass broken, and signs scattered all over town.

The local telephone was put entirely out of business and at the central office in A. H. Green's store the building caught fire, but it was quickly extinguished. The telegraph wires on the Michigan Central were blown down and twisted. At the P. O. & N. depot the telegraph instruments were burned out by the fierce lightning which accompanied the storm.

When the outhouses began to tip over and the trees to fall people made mad scrambles for their cellars. The residence of Harry Humphrey, which was not quite completed, was entirely razed to the ground. At Dr. W. S. Milligan's the feathers were entirely blown from a hen which had failed to find shelter. At Orion, three miles south of here, lightning struck the school building, tearing a hole in the roof three feet in diameter and traffic on the electric line was stopped.

The corn crop is leveled, while wheat and oats are lying in a tangled mass. Orchards are stripped of their fruit and the losses to farmers in this vicinity will amount to thousands of dollars.

A strange fact is that no one was hurt, as far as can be learned, although several fishing parties on the nearby lakes had narrow escapes.

Romeo, Mich., July 28.—A terrific windstorm, accompanied by hail and torrents of rain, swept over this place early yesterday afternoon. It was less than half an hour till all was calm again, but in that interval a strip twenty feet in length was lifted from the roof of the First Congregational church and the pipe organ badly damaged, orchard trees were uprooted and crops laid low. Lightning put a big hole in the steeple of the Methodist church.

At the big Methodist camp meeting, where nearly 2,000 people were in attendance, a young farmer named Fetz, while sitting in a buggy, was struck by a falling tree and had three ribs broken. The crowd was very much frightened.

Charged With Many Burglaries.

Detroit, Mich., July 28.—Twenty-four nervy burglaries are charged up to the criminal credit of three young men who are under arrest. Two of the trio were arrested Wednesday by Precinct Detectives Golden and Kunkel, and gave their names as George Moore and Walter Neumann. James Wilkinson and James Wilkie were later captured. Friday six dwellings were successfully entered in Ann Arbor, and hobos were thought to be the guilty parties. The apprehension, however, of Wilkenson led to the recovery of practically every article that was stolen in the university town. Not only that, but Chief of Detectives McDonnell asserts that stolen goods have been found which connect the three young prisoners with eighteen local house jobs.

A Fatal Runaway.

Detroit, Mich., July 28.—Mrs. Catherine Busch, the wife of a farmer living at the corner of Mt. Elliott avenue and Miller street, was killed in a runaway accident at the corner of Erskine street and St. Aubin avenue Saturday. Her daughter Mary, who was with her, was injured, but not seriously. Mrs. Burch was thrown head first to the pavement, striking her forehead on the curbstone.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Icemen Get Together.—Lansing ice dealers have consolidated. They claim that it is better for one firm to handle the business and effect an economy in delivery than for several firms to send ice wagons over the same territory.

Chapter of Accidents.—Andrew Girard, a ten-year-old boy of Detroit, fell from a beam Saturday and broke a leg. His brother went after the doctor, a short distance away, and, in returning, the horse fell and broke its leg and had to be killed.

Hobson Will Be There.—Captain Richmond P. Hobson, U. S. N., writes Mayor Maybury of Detroit, that, while he may not be able to be present during the entire convention of Spanish-American veterans, to be held in Detroit in September, he will be there at least during a portion of it.

Queen of the Carnival.—The contest for the queen of the Elks' street fair and carnival at Sault Ste. Marie developed interesting features. Mayme Baldwin won out over a field of about twenty-five by receiving 50,455 votes cast, costing one cent each. The Elks as a result of the contest net about $750.

Protest Against Duchaine.—Fishermen of Bay county are up in arms, having learned that Game Warden Morse had appointed John Duchaine deputy warden. Fishermen have already sent a protest against Duchaine's selection, and will send a petition to Governor Bliss asking him to revoke the appointment. Morse also appointed John W. Combs of West Bay City a deputy warden.

A Battle Expected.

Port au Prince, Haiti, July 28.—Three thousand men commanded by General Saint Foix Colin, military commander in this district, started Sunday to oppose General Jean Jumeau, who supports the candidacy of M. Firmin. It is expected that a decisive action will take place.

Fireman Killed in Wreck.

Tyler, Tex., July 28.—A southbound International & Great Northern passenger train was wrecked Sunday by a washout, three miles south of Whitehouse. The engine was telescoped by the tender. The fireman was killed and the engineer seriously injured.

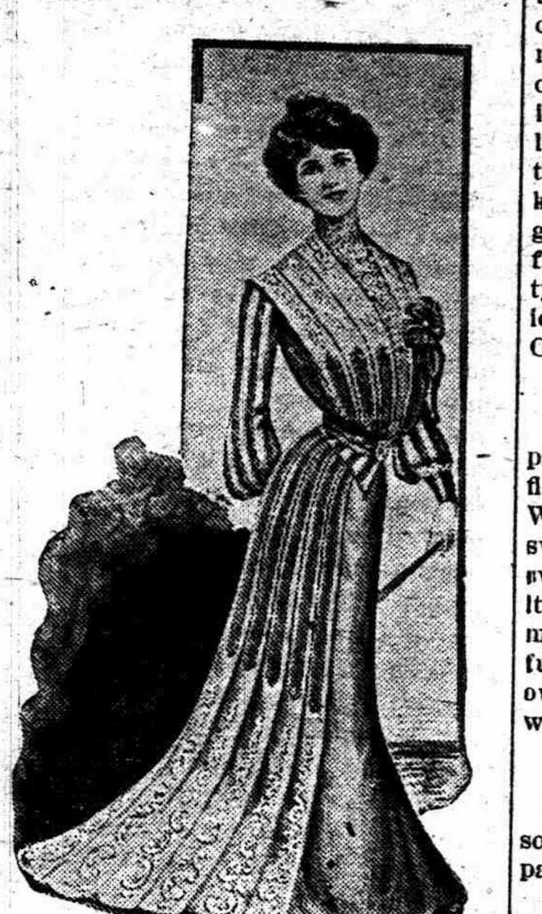
LATEST FASHION NOTES.

A TWO PIECE GOWN WITH PRINCESS EFFECT.



For slender women, gowns of voile, canvas and foulard are made up with fullness at the hips and back, produced in various ways, whether by shirrings shirred tucks, or pleats of various kinds. We illustrate a frock with the fullness at the sides and back arranged in side pleats, forming a panel effect in front, and a box pleat at the back. The lower portion of each pleat is ornamented with an elaborate applique of white cloth, stitched with pale blue Corticelli silk, the material of the frock being biscuit colored canvas. Upon the upper part of each pleat is stitched a strap of taffetas of a peculiarly soft shade of blue, the stitching of this being in biscuit colored Corticelli sewing silk. True to the one piece idea, by which so many two piece gowns carry out the Princess style, the same trimming is carried up on the bloused basque only the order here is reversed, the white cloth applique forming the yoke, and the stitched straps the lower portion of the blouse, as well as the basque. A great Louis XV Knot of pale blue panne is placed at the left side of the vest, which is overlaid with the white cloth applique.

JEALOUSY AND PRIDE.

Through One Writer's Spectacles These Two Appear as Virtues.

There is a little jealousy in all persons and especially in all women. It springs from deep love, which always desires to be first in the affection of the one beloved. A lover, whether man or maid, who is not susceptible to occasional twinges of jealousy is not truly in love.

While jealousy, considered with reference to its origin, is not an ignoble emotion, it is frequently absurd in its outbreaks. A father is sometimes upset with jealousy because he imagines that his wife loves the children more than she loves him. Mothers are frequently jealous of the husbands or wives of their daughters or sons. Wives become jealous of the sisters or mothers of their husbands. No one is immune against the little green bacilli of jealousy.

Generally the tears or frowns of jealousy are swept away with a few kind words and a caress, but there are some unhappy persons whose jealousy is chronic and who make themselves ridiculous and annoying by their fits and storms of jealous passion. The jealousy of such persons is beyond reason. Indeed, it is a form of dementia which begets every sort of violence.

Pride is the strongest controller of jealousy. The theologians reckon pride among the seven deadly sins, but as a matter of fact pride is at the bottom of much of the virtuous action in the world. Pride is the root of most bravery, fortitude, courtesy, magnanimity, humility and industry. Pride is the essential spirit of thorough breeding, and in spite of being enumerated among the deadly sins pride is not connected with turpitude.—San Francisco Bulletin.

ONE MAN'S FINE CONCEIT.

Massing of Men, He Says, Means Strength; of Women, Bonnets.

"It's an odd thing about women," remarked Jones to his wife as he settled himself for a special effort. "We admire you intensely in the individual. We adore you when taken singly, but it's a strange, sad fact that when a few hundred of you get together you lose distinction. A multitude of rare women brought together in one building for a common cause are far from venerable. Look at Sorosis. The club is undoubtedly made up of ideal mothers and wives, but one resolutely refuses to find it anything else than a convocation of bonnets. Earnest, intense women recruit the ranks of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, but its mass meetings only amuse the rest of the world. An exclusively feminine tea was never an object of envy to those who pass it by."

"And what of you men?" suggested Mrs. Jones. "Are you all so much finer in a crowd?"

"Undoubtedly," replied Jones. "It isn't open to dispute that a 'gang' of men is at all times convincing. If it is only a mob with a rope looking up a criminal, the sight does not lack impressiveness. The imagination plays about a 'smoker' and speculates as to the quality of the cigars and the stories. And a good share of the world's work has been done by men in mass for a purpose. Union to us is strength, and the novelist has always remained below when the door of the banquet hall was opened for the filing out of the ladies."—New York Tribune.

Small Things That Count.

It is said that Cæsar chose his generals according to the length of their forefingers in comparison with that of their second fingers. No man whose forefinger was over one-eighth of an inch shorter than his middle finger had a ghost of a show. Men with very short forefingers are supposed to be effeminate. I believe it is so. Napoleon's generals were selected by their noses. Cromwell believed that bowlegged men made the best soldiers. Washington preferred men with high cheek bones. Receding foreheads were the rule among his generals. Alexander the Great judged men by their teeth, those having very large canines being preferred as commanders.—New York Press.

Life In New York.

Nobody living outside New York knows how difficult it has become in that city for people of moderate means to bring up their children in the love of genuine things. It is still done by many, but with increasing effort and only by dint of a strong will and an inheritance of the truest graces of life — simplicity, the domestic affections and the love of nature and one's kind. It is to the cultivation of these graces that we must look for a rescue from the artificiality and the vulgarity of the pitiable circle in every American city known as "the smart set."—Century.

Tannoform.

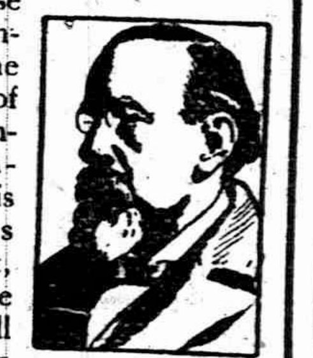
Tannoform is an insoluble powder of pinkish color. It is without odor and flavor and is practically nonpoisonous. When applied to the skin, it stops sweating and destroys the odor of sweat already secreted. Hence its utility in case of offensive secretion (bromidrosis). For allied reasons it is useful when the feet become tender by overheating. Pedestrians and others will find it useful.

Worse For the Politicians.

"Do you think that sugar is unwholesome for children?" asked the anxious parent.

"Well," answered the physician, "my observation is that it isn't likely to do children nearly as much harm as it does politicians."—Washington Star.

One of the commonest forms of lunacy is that when the insane person imagines all others have no sense.—Memphis Cimmercial Appeal.



A Good Hearted Man,

or in other words, men with good sound hearts, are not very numerous. The increasing number of sudden deaths from heart disease daily chronicled by the press, is proof of the alarming prevalence of this dangerous complaint, and as no one can foretell just when a fatal collapse will occur, the danger of neglecting treatment is certainly a very risky matter. If you are short of breath, have pain in left side, smothering spells, palpitation, unable to lie on side, especially the left, you should begin taking

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

ORDERS TROOPS OUT

Reign of Terror Prevailed in the Streets of Shenandoah.

POLICE AND MINERS FOUGHT

A Thousand Shots Exchanged—Forty of the Strikers and Several Police Fatally Wounded—Militia Is Hurrying to the Scene.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31.—Governor Stone has ordered the Eighth and Twelfth regiments and the governor's troop, of the national guard of Pennsylvania, in command of General J. P. S. Gobin, to proceed immediately to Shenandoah, the scene of last night's rioting. General Gobin left here shortly after midnight in a special train, and it is expected that all the troops, the combined strength of which is 1,500, will be on the ground today.

Shenandoah, Pa., July 31.—A reign of terror, compared with which the scenes enacted during the riots of 1900 seem insignificant, holds Shenandoah in its grasp. Since 6 o'clock last evening Center street, which is one of the principal streets of the town, has been in the hands of an infuriated mob.

The trouble started when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall attempted to escort two nonunion workers through the strikers' line of pickets. The workmen were dressed in their street clothes, but one of them carried a bundle under his arm and this aroused the suspicion of the strikers. The bundle was torn from him, and when it was found to contain a blouse and overalls the man was taken from the deputy and beaten almost to death.

In the meantime Beddall opened fire on the mob, which had gathered by this time, and emptied his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, one man being shot in the leg and the other in the foot. The deputy and the other strike-breaker were now compelled to fly for their lives and took refuge in the Philadelphia & Reading railroad depot. The depot was soon surrounded by an angry mob of 5,000, which was becoming threatening and demonstrative every moment. Joseph Beddall, a hardware merchant and brother of the deputy sheriff, was seen making his way through the crowd in an effort to reach his brother, and the mob, divining that he was carrying ammunition to those inside the depot, seized him and beat him with clubs and billies into insensibility. He died enroute to the moners' hospital.

Shortly after this the entire borough police force arrived on the scene and escorted the deputy sheriff and his man to an engine, which had been backed into the depot for that purpose. When the mob realized that their prey was about to escape, they surrounded the engine and the engineer was afraid to move. In a few moments, however, the police fired a volley, dispersing the crowd for a brief period, and the engineer turned on full steam and got away with his men. Stones were now thrown thick and fast about the heads of the police, whereupon Chief John Fry gave the order to fire. At the first volley the mob fell back, and several were seen to fall. The retreat, however, was but momentary. They turned, and with revolvers, stones and even a few shotguns, they charged on the little band of policemen and made them fly for their lives. The policemen turned in their fight at short intervals and fired volley after volley at their merciless pursuers, but the mob seemed thoroughly infuriated and smoking revolvers seemed to have no terrors for them. When the Lehigh railroad crossing was reached a passing freight train blocked the progress of the police, two of whom were caught and brutally beaten. One of them, Stiney Yacopsky, will die.

It is estimated that upwards of one thousand shots were fired, and the wonder is that more fatalities did not result. More than twenty strikers, all of whom were foreigners, were shot, and at least two of them will die.

The doctors of the town dressed the wounds of nearly forty strikers, all of whom were foreigners, whose names could not be ascertained. It was known at midnight that four of six policemen were shot.
effect Aug. 1.

All Eastern Ports Abandoned.

Willemstadt, Island of Curacao, July 31.—All eastern ports of Venezuela, including Barcelona, have been abandoned by President Castro, all of whose forces and resources are being concentrated near La Victoria, which is three days' distant from Caracas, and which is near the mountainous district of Guarico, where the advance guard of revolutionists, under General Mendoza, appeared some days ago. General Mendoza's forces retreated, however, to join General Matos' army, which is in the neighborhood of El Sombrero and advancing by forced marches. Once these two forces effect a junction, it is expected that they will take the offensive against President Castro. The president intends to leave Caracas for La Victoria today. The revolutionists have reappeared on the outskirts of Caracas. The U. S. S. Potomac has visited La Guiara.

Kid-Ne-Oids Have Merit.

For years I had shooting pains through my back and sides. My nerves were affected. Had spells of dizziness, and could not sleep. Doctors said there was no help for me. I finally was induced by a friend to try Kid-Ne-Oids, and they at once gave me relief. I continued to use them for three months and am now well and cured. Thanks to the discovery of Kid-Ne-Oids. ABLE TO WALK WITH CRUTCH

Diet Unrestricted—Date Officially Announced in the Gazette—Festivities Include a Great Luncheon, Followed by a Royal Procession.

London, July 30.—The latest and most reliable information indicates that King Edward's doctors were not mistaken in fixing Aug. 9 as the date upon which his majesty could be crowned. The sinister rumors which have pervaded all classes for the last few days now appear to have lost that semblance of probability which made even the members of cabinet nervous lest another postponement might be necessary. The apprehension that King Edward would be unable to stand the strain of the coronation ceremony has been greatly lessened by the announcement that his majesty is now permitted to use his feet and, with the aid of a stick, has done a little walking. Another late telegram from Cowes, Isle of Wight, saying that nearly all restrictions upon the king's diet have been withdrawn, has been welcomed as evidence that the recent ominous deductions were drawn without due allowance for the doctors' extreme cautiousness. While the king was testing his ability to walk, two stalwart jackies stood at his side.

Those who drew inferences from the fact that the invitations to Westminster Abbey were not dated have had their fears dissipated by the proclamation published in the Gazette last night, fixing Aug. 9 as the date for the coronation, and is altogether more important than anything which might or might not have appeared upon the cards of invitations.

According to the present arrangements, King Edward and Queen Alexandra will leave Cowes either Aug. 6 or Aug. 8 for Buckingham Palace and will return to the royal yacht Aug. 13, when the entire fleet will pass before King Edward and salute him, thus making a second naval review. After his return to the yacht the king is expected to take an extended cruise to the northward and subsequently to spend some weeks at Balmoral, where preparations for the arrival of their majesties have already been commenced.

Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, the lord mayor of London, expects King Edward to visit the city of London the week ending Oct. 11, when a great luncheon will be held in the Guild hall, which is to be followed by a royal procession through the south of London

Seven Killed in Bloody Fight.

Tucson, Ariz., July 30.—Driven to desperation by hunger and thirst, a band of thirty Yaquis, nearly half of them women, attacked the Carmen ranch near Hormosillo Saturday and a fierce fight followed. When a patrol of Mexican troops came to the rescue two of the women and five of the men lay dead. Fifteen prisoners, including two chiefs, were marched to Hormosillo, where they will be sentenced by General Torres. The band is supposed to be the last remnant of those ho took to the warpath some time ago.

Coal Supply Almost Exhausted.

Philadelphia, July 30.—It is stated, on reliable authority, that the supply of anthracite coal in the hands of railroads and dealers here will, at the present rate of consumption, probably be exhausted by the middle of September.

Injured by Premature Blast.

New York, July 30.—As the result of a premature blast in the rapid transit subway on Park avenue at Forty-first street Tuesday, four men were seriously hurt, two of whom it is thought will die.

Forming a Farmers' Trust.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 30.—Agents are understood to be working in southern Michigan to promote a great farmers' trust. The movement has its inception in Indiana. The plan is said to have originated with Professor Clarence Miller, superintendent of schools at Frankfort. It is proposed to hold wheat and corn, so as to get the benefit of tariff discrimination against imports. The raise in price will, it is claimed, gain for farmers hundreds of millions yearly. One feature will be farmers' trust banks, from which farmers can borrow as needed, giving crops as security.

1000 DELEGATES ON HAND

National Issues Ignored—State Administration Bitterly Arraigned—Whiting Re-elected State Chairman Without Opposition.

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—A cannonade of heated criticism for the present administration and harmony skirmishes among the delegates injected some life into the official routine of the state Democratic convention, which met yesterday afternoon in the Light Guard armory.

At 4 o'clock p. m. nearly 1,000 delegates were in their places when the chair called for order. Rev. S. W. Frisbie invoked a blessing upon the assembly before commencing its deliberations.

Alfred H. Lucking, temporary chairman, was the whole thing at the afternoon meeting. The following is in part his spirited address:

"We are met together to devise ways and means to redeem the state of Michigan from misrule and to prevent a great contemplated raid on her treasury. These things the Democrats of Michigan cannot do alone. We are a great and powerful minority, representing over 1,000,000 people, and we are unterrified, ready and eager on all proper occasions to do battle for the great principles of Jeffersonian Democracy, on which the life of this republic depends. But we recognize we are a minority in Michigan. We recognize, as citizens of Michigan, anxious for her welfare, that without wise, considerate and tolerant action on our part, no hope exists for a redemption of ourselves and our fellow citizens, the Republican masses, from the impending evils which all foresee.

"What, then, do we charge against the administration of Governor Bliss, and why do we demand a change?

"We arraign Governor Bliss and the last Republican legislature for willfully trampling upon the great principles of home rule, for the purpose of building up a corrupt political machine.

"We charge that the Republican platform promises upon the subject of primary elections are made to be broken, as they have been in the past.

"Upon Republican authority and testimony, we charge upon the part of Governor Bliss a truckling subserviency to the Michigan Central railroad and its interests at this critical time, when a firm and active opposition is demanded.

"We charge upon Republican authority that the cause of equal taxation has been deliberately thwarted and nullified by the appointment of tax officials at the direction of and in interest of the railroads.

"We charge the Republican administration with gross extravagance and waste of the people's money.

"We charge that instead of being free moral agents, acting for the best good of the people who elected them, they were and are but the humble slaves of a political oligarchy, headed by a United States senator and backed by large corporate interests.

"We are against government by telephone, no matter who is at the other end of the line.

"We believe that Michigan should be an independent state, and that her governor should be free.

"We object to our state being owned, body and soul, by a United States senator and a railroad. It is humiliating to feel that Michigan is nothing but a 'rotten pocket borrough' of a United States senator. The honorable senator is a man of great executive ability, but no man alone is big enough to rule Michigan and to make and unmake her public men and laws."

Chairman Lucking's appeal for "no fight for harmony," his avoidance of national issues and the general vigor of his criticisms completely won the audience.

At 8:30 p. m. Chairman Lucking again called the convention to order.

By the unanimous adoption of a portion of the report of the committee on order of business and permanent organization, Alfred H. Lucking was made permanent chairman of the convention. Delegate Joslyn of Bay county was named secretary, John V. Jackson of Wayne, assistant secretary, and John Zimmer of Ingham and Harry Stearns of Lenawee were made tellers.

A fight came on the portion of the report which provided that the new state chairman should be appointed after the nominations for candidates for state offices were made. A. L. Chandler of Shiawassee moved that this order be reversed.

Finally the convention adopted the report of the committee, and the Campau-Whiting forces won. Delegate Black of Lansing nominated Whiting for re-election as state chairman, and no voice dissented in the vote which followed.

Rabies Prevalent.

Jackson, July 31.—Excitement runs high in Blackman township of this county, because of the prevalence of the rabies. Stock has been so bitten by the dogs that at the present time there are about twenty cases of hydrophobia. Several dogs and three cattle have been killed up to date.

HAPPY IN CRIME

Grand Rapids Man Killed His Aged Sister-in-Law.

SHOT HER IN THE STOMACH

In Front of Her Own Door—She Had Driven Him Away From Her Home Because of Habitual Drunkenness.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 30.—While sitting on the steps in the rear of her home, No. 58 Caroline place, Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Dena Hubelhorst, a widow fifty-three years of age, was shot in the stomach by a muzzle-loading gun in the hands of her brother-in-law, Martin Hubelhorst. The man was soon after arrested.

Hubelhorst had boarded with his sister-in-law, but had been turned out because of drunkenness. Yesterday he returned and asked to be taken back. The woman ordered him from the premises, whereat he went to the woodshed, where he had previously secreted the gun, and got it.

He held the muzzle so close to the woman's body that all the shot entered her stomach in one spot.

When arrested Hubelhorst was told that his victim was dead. He said he was glad of it; that she ought to have been dead long ago.

BLEW OUT THE LIGHT.

Bold Trick of School Director Candidate Gets Him the Job.

Owosso, Mich., July 30.—By virtue of a neatly executed coup, John H. Pasco is now school director of Owosso district No. 4, and Alexander C. Crane, his predecessor, has been forced out of office after holding the place several years.

At a meeting held early in July, Pasco was elected by two votes. Crane was secretary of the meeting and, declaring the election illegal, refused to give up the books. He called a meeting for Monday night at the schoolhouse and rallied his friends, expecting to win out. There were two hours of wrangling before a vote was taken. Just as the ballot box was opened by the tellers, Pasco blew out the light.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Owen at once snatched the disputed books and fled. A free-for-all fight ensued, several windows were broken and partisans of both men badly marred up in the fray. Pasco had secured a writ of replevin and the books have been delivered to him by Owen, according to agreement. Crane and his followers threaten more trouble.

Depraved Juvenile Tramps.

Nashville, Mich., July 30.—As the result of a bit of shrewd investigation on the part of local officers, one of the most shocking cases of juvenile depravity ever brought to the notice of the authorities of this region has come to light in the arrest of two Ohio girls—Rosa Loar and Emma Munsell—who, with two boys—C. E. and J. H. Clapper, had been tramping the country, begging and sleeping in schoolhouses and churches along the line. They were sleeping in the McKelsey schoolhouse when captured. The boys were given thirty days' in jail and the parents of the girls have been notified.

Died a Raving Maniac.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 30.—Mrs. Margaret Challahan, after raving wildly about the streets of Benton Harbor and suffering confinement at the St. Joseph jail, was brought to the Michigan asylum at Kalamazoo, only to die within a few hours of her arrival. Considerable delay ensued before granting her admission to the asylum owing to the establishment of the fact that she was a nonresident of Michigan, having recently come from Dansville, N. Y. The body was taken to Dowagiac for burial.

Durand's Bad Man.—Henry Powell returned to Durand last week after finishing a term in the Detroit house of correction and within four days tried to steal in two different places. He has been sent back to the Detroit prison for sixty-five days longer.

Licked by St. Joe's Pride.—It took Carl Anderson, the pride of St. Joe, but 56 seconds to put Harry Covert, champion middleweight of Texas, out of business before an enthusiastic audience at the St. Joseph Athletic club Monday night. The punch on the solar plexus paralyzed Covert so that he didn't come fully to for fifteen minutes.

It Marks the Battleground—A bronze tablet that is to mark the spot once occupied by the historic Pontiac tree at Detroit, and commemorate the battle of Parent's Creek (Bloody Run), which occurred near it on July 31, 1763, is to be placed in position and unveiled with appropriate ceremonies Thursday afternoon out Jefferson avenue.

The HEART of DENISE

...By...

S. LEVETT YEATS

...COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY S. LEVETT YEATS...

"Mademoiselle, in his thought for your welfare—a kindness you have not deserved—the king has been pleased to decide on your marriage. Circumstances necessitate the ceremony being performed at once, and I have to tell you that it will take place three hours hence. His majesty will do the honor of being himself present on the occasion."

This was beyond my worst fears. I was speechless and glanced from one to the other in supplication, but I saw no ray of pity in their faces. Alas, these were the three iron hearts that had sat and planned the massacre!

The queen's face was as stone. The king half closed his eyes, and his lips curled into a smile, as if he enjoyed the situation. But my uncle, within whose bluff exterior was a subtle, cruel heart, spoke out harshly:

"You hear, mademoiselle! Thank the king and get you gone to make ready. I am sick of your endless flirtations, and there must be an end to them. There must be no more talk of your frivolities."

Anger brought back my courage, and, half turning away from Tavannes, I said to the queen:

"I thank the king, madame, for his kindness. Perhaps you will add to it by telling me the name of the gentleman who intends to honor me by making me his wife."

"Arnidieu! She makes a point," laughed the king.

"She shall marry a stick if I will it," said De Tavannes. But madame, the queen mother, lifted her hand in deprecation.

"It is M. de Lorgnac," she said.

"De Lorgnac! De Lorgnac!" I gasped, hardly believing my ears. "Oh, madame, it is impossible! I hate him! What have I done to be forced into this? Your majesty," and I turned to the king, "I will not marry that man."

"Well, would you prefer De Clermont?" he asked, with a little laugh. But De Tavannes burst out:

"Sire, this matter admits of no delay. She shall marry De Lorgnac if I have to drag her to the altar."

"Thank you, monsieur," I said with a courtesy; "it is kindness itself that you, the Count de Tavannes, peer and marshal of France, show to your sister's child."

He winced at my words, but Catherine again interposed:

"Mademoiselle, you do not understand, and if I hurt you now it is your own fault. Let me tell you that for a tithe of your follies Mlle. de Torigny was banished from court to a nunnery. You may not be aware of it, but the whole world, at least our world, and that is enough for us, is talking of your affair with De Clermont, who, as you well know, is an affianced man. It is for the sake of your house, for your own good name and because you will do the king a great service by obeying that this has been decided on, and you must—do you hear?—must do as we bid you."

She dropped her words out one by one, cool, passionless and brutal in their clearness. My face was hot with shame and anger, and yet I knew that the ribald tongues that spared not the king's sister would not spare me. I, the heiress of Mieux, to be a byword in the court! I to be married out of hand like a laundress of the coulisse! It was too much. It was unbearable. And to be bound to De Lorgnac above all others! Was ever woman wooed and wed as I?

I burst into a passion of angry tears. I went so far as to humble myself on my knees, but Henri only laughed and slipped out by the secret door, and De Tavannes followed him with a rough oath.

"Say this is a jest, madame!" I sobbed out to the queen. "I am punished enough. Say it is a jest! It must be so. You do not mean it. It is too cruel!"

"No more is happening to you than what the daughters of France have to bear sometimes."

"That should make you the more pitiful, madame, for such as I. Let me go, madame, to a nunnery—even to that of Our Lady of Lespaille—but spare me this!"

"It is impossible!" she said sharply. "See, here is Mme. de Martigny come, and she will conduct you to your room. Tush! It is nothing after all, girl, and it will be better than a convent and a lost name. Do not make a scene."

I rose to my feet stunned and bewildered, and Mme. de Martigny put her arm through mine and dried my eyes with her kerchief.

"Come, mademoiselle," she said. "We have to pass through the corridor to gain your apartment. Keep up your heart!"

"I offer my escort," mocked the dwarf, "and will go so far as to take M. de Lorgnac's place if your royal pleasure will allow. Ah! Ah!" And he broke into a shriek, for Catherine had swiftly and silently raised a dog whip and brought it across his shoulders as he sat crouching at her feet.

"Begone!" she said. "Another speech like that, and I will break you on the wheel!" Then she turned to Mme. de Martigny.

"Take her away by the private door. She is not fit to see or be seen now. Tell Pare to give her a cordial if she needs it, and see that she is ready in time. Go, mademoiselle, and be a brave girl!"

CHAPTER II.

BY ORDER OF THE KING.

YOU who read this will please remember that I was but a girl and that my powers of resistance were limited. Some of you perhaps may have gone through the same ordeal—not in the rough and ready way that I had to make the passage, but through a slower if not less certain mill, the result being the same in both cases—to wit, that you have stood, as I did, at the altar with vows on your lips that you felt in your heart were false.

A thought had struck me when I was led back to my room, and that was to throw myself on the mercy of De Lorgnac, but means of communication with him were denied to me by the foresight of my persecutors. Even my maid, Mousette, was not allowed to see me, and Mme. de Martigny, though kindness itself in every other way, absolutely refused to lend herself to my suggestion that she should aid me, if only to the extent of bearing a note from me to my future husband, in which I meant to implore him as a man of honor and a gentleman not to force this marriage upon me. I then tried Pare, who, by the queen's command, had been sent to me. He brought me a cordial with his own hands, and to him I made my request, notwithstanding all Mme. de Martigny's protests, to carry my note to De Lorgnac. He listened with that acute attention peculiar to him and answered:

"Mademoiselle, I have not yet discovered the balsam that will heal a severed neck. You must excuse me."

When he left, Mme. de Martigny tried to comfort me in her kindly way.

"My dear," she said, "after all it is not so very terrible. I myself never saw M. de Martigny more than twice before we were married, and yet I have learned to love him, and we are very happy. Believe me, love before marriage does not always mean happiness. In five years it will become a friendship; that is all. It is best to start as I did, so that there will be no awakenings. As for De Lorgnac, rest you assured that monsieur is well aware of the state of your mind toward him, else he would never have taken the course he has adopted. Be certain, therefore, that all appeal to him will be in vain."

I felt the force of the last words and was silent, and then De Clermont's face came before me very clear and distinct, and with a sob I broke down once again and gave way to tears.

I will pass over the rest of the time until I found myself ready for the ceremony, noting only with surprise that I was to be married in a riding habit, as if the wedding was to be instantly followed by a journey. Unhinged though I was, I asked the reason for this, but Mme. de Martigny could only say that it was the queen's order, and I honestly believe she had no further explanation to offer.

At the door of the oratory the marshal met me and led me into the chapel, which was but dimly lighted and where my husband that was to be was already standing booted and spurred, ready, like myself, to take to horse. There were a dozen or so of people grouped around, and one seated figure which I felt was that of the king. I made a half glance toward him, but dared not look again, for behind Henri's chair was De Clermont, gay and brilliant, in marked contrast to the somber if state-

ATTACKED BY MASKED MEN.

Operator at Dublin Passed Through Tough Experience.

Dublin, Mich., July 30.—Edward McEvoy and Ray Merrifield, operators at the Pere Marquette telegraph office, were held up by six masked men late Monday night. McEvoy was struck across the chest with a piece of gas pipe with such force that he was thrown against the wall on the opposite side of the room, but he was not seriously hurt. Merrifield received a blow which rendered him unconscious and he is yet in a precarious condition. The bandits then gagged and bound the two and ran away.

McEvoy got loose and liberated Merrifield and aroused two gangs of section men, who chased the masked strangers into the woods. Merrifield had considerable money with him, but it was untouched.

When McEvoy returned to the depot he found a note on his table as follows:

"To you fellows: We are gone tonight, but will come again.
"BLACK JACK."

McEvoy kept at his key guarded by two men the remainder of the night. The supposition of the railway people is that one of the bandits was a discharged telegraph operator, who planned to wire the late passenger train "phony" orders and carry out a wholesale train robbery on Norway hill.

SAMPLE OF GOOD ROADS.

Experts Are Building One at Greenville—Much Enthusiasm.

Greenville, Mich., July 30.—Tuesday was the first day of the Good Roads convention, in progress under state and national auspices.

A large number of delegates are on the grounds from all parts of the state and they are as enthusiastic as delegates to a political convention. The streets were enlivened by three outdoor exhibitions in the forenoon and speeches were made last evening on the subject of good roads by Hon. H. S. Earle of Detroit, Hon. W. L. Dickinson of Springfield, Mass., and E. L. Powers of New York city.

A large amount of road material was on the grounds and the road building began Monday, so that quite a strip of road has been built. The crowd was largest at that point all day, and the Ionia band furnished music.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Mr. Dickinson.

Grist of M. N. G. Commissions.

Lansing, Mich., July 30.—Commissions were issued by Adjutant-General Brown Tuesday as follows: Allen D. McLean, Detroit, major and surgeon First infantry; Julius F. Campbell, first lieutenant Company B, Second infantry, Grand Rapids; Joseph R. Stewart, first lieutenant and battalion adjutant, Second infantry, Battle Creek; Edwin A. Wells, captain; William D. Schoolcraft, first lieutenant, and Charles W. Vandergrift, second lieutenant, Company A, First Independent battalion, Adrian; Albert H. Passmore, captain and adjutant, Third infantry, Sault Ste. Marie; Guy M. Wilson, first lieutenant Company A, Third infantry, Flint.

Former U. of M. Professor Dead.

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 30.—Information has been received here of the death Monday afternoon at Redlands, Cal., of Charles Kendall Adams, who was in turn president of Cornell university and the University of Wisconsin, and before that time a conspicuous member of the faculty of the University of Michigan. Dr. Adams stood in the first rank of American educators of two generations. He was born in Vermont and was graduated at the Michigan university with the degrees of A. M. and LL. D.

On motion street commissioner was instructed to see that a walk be built around Morrison lot, corner of Evans and Logan streets.

On motion the second teamster's salary was changed from $30 to $35 per month.

On motion W. H. Hayden's resignation as village trustee, was taken from the table, and was accepted.

Health Officer Maddox submitted a paper recommending that a general cleaning of the alley and rear of the Lilley house is necessary for the public health.

On motion the marshal was instructed to serve written notice on property owners and occupants of business houses, that no more garbage or rubbish should be thrown in the rear of such houses or in the alleys, to cause a stench, that is contrary to state law, and if such notice is not observed, to prosecute the individual or individuals to the full extent of the law.

On motion the resignation of Albert Deming as deputy marshal and first teamster was accepted.

On motion the nomination of J. E. Wood was confirmed as deputy marshal and first teamster.

H. E. Riggs, of Riggs & Sherman of Toledo, submitted the plans and specifications of other villages and cities, requisite for contractors to form estimate of cost of sewerage, and suggested that drawings of plans was necessary to systematise the work and a complete record of such sewerage.

On motion the matter was laid on table until next regular meeting.

On motion the council adjourned.

HARRY C. MOORE,
Village Clerk.

LITERARY NOTES

In the Review of Reviews for August Mr. Louis Windmuller discourses pleasantly on certain "Amenities of City Pedestrians." He prescribes walking as an exercise for young and old, and recommends activity in the open air as a more reliable remedy than patent medicines, and more soothing than the advice of physicians.

Illustrated, though in a wholly different manner, is the second instalment of Mr. Charles Hemstreet's series of papers on "Literary Landmarks of New York." The cuts are mainly from old prints and engravings, and the narrative is brought down to the writers of the Revolution in Mr. Hemstree's picturesque yet simple and concise phraseology.—August Critic.

For fifteen years The Outlook has made its first of August issue a Special Illustrated Educational Number. Among the contributors are President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, Dean Jordan of Smith College, Professor Geo. E. Vincent of the University of Chicago, Professor J. R. Wheeler of Columbia and D. Edward Everett Hale.

The quick advances made by Marie VanVorst in the favor of fiction-lovers are based on talent and taste. Her short story in the August Lippincott, called "Angelo of the Perfection," is uncommonly striking and will confirm readers in the judgements passed on "The Immediate Jewel" and her recent novel.

The man who is a long time making up his mind, may arrive at a correct judgement; but it is generally too late to be of any use to him.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Britton's ex-postmaster, Louis C. Winship, who was arrested some time ago on charge of defrauding the government, was arraigned before Judge Swan, in Detroit, Thursday last week and pleaded not guilty. He gave bonds in the sum of $300 to appear when wanted, which will probably be some time in September.—Ex.

The wife of a Methodist minister in West Virginia has been married three times. Her maiden name was Partridge, her first husband was named Robin, her second Sparrow and the present one's name is Quayle. There are now two young Robins, one Sparrow and three little Quayles in the family. One grandfather was a Swann and another was a Jay, but he's dead and now a bird of paradise. They live on Hawk-ave., Eagleville, Canary islands, and the fellow who wrote this article is a lyre bird and an interested relative of the family.—Ex.

Besides the abolition of corporal punishment three additional privileges have been granted the convicts at the state prison in Jackson. Smoking in the cells, heretofore prohibited, is now allowed to the extent of twenty-eight cents worth of tobacco a month. The brands to be used are designated, so that a convict partial to dried skunk cabbage may not punish the others. Buying and selling of personal effects between convicts is also to be allowed hereafter, and the freedom of the yards three instead of two nights a week. These privileges are granted it is said, as a direct result of the better discipline following the abolition of corporal punishment. Officials say the old-time convicts now help to maintain discipline and advise the new men that only compliance with the rules pays.—Ex.

No Sports Day at Tecumseh for 1902.

Owing to the hard feelings amongst a certain class, there will be no sports day at Tecumseh this year. The business men very generously responded last year when it came to signing the subscription papers; some even doubled their subscription, but this year it seems a combine has been formed by a certain few who claim their limit is a certain figure.

This, as a matter of fact, would cramp the finance committee so the executive committee met and decided to throw the matter up. This seems really too bad, as the people in general have looked forward with great anticipation to this year's sports day, we sincerely hope some movement will be made to yet hold the day.

Were Unable to Connect with McCarthy's Curves. Not a Man Getting a Hit off Him.

Another victim added to the long list for Tecumseh. The Cadillacs, an aggregation from Detroit, crossed bat with the home team on the Tecumseh diamonds Tuesday. The Cadillacs may be good ball players, but they must play swifter ball than Tuesday's game before they can ever do Tecumseh. Although the game lacked the snap and excitement of swift playing, the fact that Tecumseh run in seven scores in one inning shows that Cadillacs could not hold them down.

Only 32 men faced McCarthy during the nine innings played, while 40 men faced Guthard in the eight times at bat. The Cadillacs made their one and only score in the fourth inning. Krans the first man at the bat, obtained his base on balls and finally made a safe connection with home plate for their only score. The remaining innings were the same old story as the first three, their chief failure was, that they could not connect with McCarthy's curves.

Tecumseh opened their half of the first by scoring two runs, made by France getting his base on a dead ball and Harris lining out a two bagger bringing France around home and scoring a run for himself. Another pretty two bagger was made by Duvall, Tecumseh's new shortstop, but died on his base.

A cipher was the only result at the close of the second. In the third Schippacasse made a neat two bagger and scored. France was caught out by a fly to third. Duvall made another two bagger and credited a score to himself. Gillen retired the side by a fly to left field.

The fourth inning was a landslide for Tecumseh. Seven scores were added to the tally. From this on Cadillacs evidently braced up, for Tecumseh failed to score again in the remaining four innings and closed the game with a score of 11 to 1.

Duvall made a clean three bagger in Tuesday's game.

In Tuesday's game the Cadillacs were anywhere except where the ball was.

Schippacasse and Duvall played with the Carleton team against Monroe at Monroe Wednesday.

Tecumseh has captured a good short stop. In last Tuesday's game he made a three bagger and two doubles.

The managers of the Tecumseh Base Ball Club have decided not to enter the team into the state league this season. Everything satisfactory for their entrance was granted but the management has decided to withhold.

Tecumseh is certainly qualified to break into the State league as far as playing is concerned, for she defeated the leaders very handily Monday, but with the small attendance turning out to their games they would run in debt head over heels.

A Missouri editor who first studied base ball rules when a Sunday school boy, enters into the following antiquities of the national game: "The devil was the first coacher. Eve stole first, Adam stole second. When Isaac met Rebecca at the well she was walking with a pitcher. Sampson struck out a good many when he beat the Philistines Moses made his first run when he slew the Egyptians. Cain made a base hit when he killed Abel. Abraham made a sacrifice. The prodigal son made a home run. David was a long distance thrower, and Moses shut out the Egyptians at the Red sea."—Albion News Leader.

City Restaurant.

After a complete remodeling throughout the interior of the Arnold building, C. C. Fish, the proprietor of the City Restaurant is ready to cater to the public's orders.

Mr. Fish is an energetic and hustling business man and has spared no expense in making his place of business a first class one. New paper and paint have added much to the inside appearance. About forty people can find accommodations at the tables. A fine line of candies is also among the dainties to be had at this place.

Ice cream, shipped from J. W. Fleming, Jackson, Mich., second to none in Tecumseh, is one of the leaders Mr. Fish desires to give the public. Mr. Fish does not come here as a venture, but has come to stay, moving his household goods and family here. He can assure prompt service and most polite catering.

"Jennie B."

Jennie B (in which B stands for Babe is the name of the M. E. Bice delivery horse. Now, Babe, is a very proud horse and as a usual thing holds her head much higher than most horses. Clarence Chase (Babe's driver) is very fond of Babe, never tiring in caring for her. His latest adornment to the wearing apparel of Babe is an elegant new piece of headgear in the shape of a hat, not the ordinary kind, no, for Babe only wears the best and this certainly does grace her appearance, blue streamers hang from the sides, in front may be seen a large blue bow, but the drapings, oh! Here is certainly the part that made Babe hold her proud head so high Wednesday. She felt like a young colt as she made the daily round with pies, cakes and other good things and to think, can it be true a boy did such an artistic job of decorating as was shown upon the hat. Well, if so, Mr. Chase certainly ought to develop his tastes. He, no doubt, will visit the city wholesale houses this fall, as Babe's headgear will need frequent remodelings.

Very Low Rates—Salt Lake City and Return.

August 6, 7 and 8, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry. will sell tickets to Salt Lake City, Utah, and return, at less than half rates. Good returning to leave that place until September 30.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY

Are the Statements of Tecumseh Citizens not more Reliable than those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question.
It is fraught with interest to Tecumseh.
It permits of only one answer.
It cannot be evaded or ignored.
A Tecumseh citizen speaks here
Speaks for the welfare of Tecumseh.
A citizen's statement is reliable.
An utter strangers doubtful.
Home proof is the best.

Mr. S. Erskine, proprietor of the well known barber shop says: "For ten years off and on I had a dull pain in my back, imperfect action of the kidneys, and often I could hardly stoop or get up again. I think it was caused by standing so much at my work. Be that as it may, I was in a bad shape. I used a great many medicines but without receiving much benefit until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store I must confess that I was agreeably surprised for after using one box I was much relieved. After the use of two boxes my back is stronger and better than it has been for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever used and I have such faith in them, I believe I will be conferring a kindness on those suffering from kidney trouble in making known their merits."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

TOWN HAD OFFSETS.

So His Claim For Damages Brought In Only $119.34.

"I had been knocking about a Kansas town in the evening," said a drummer with a limp, "and in heading for my hotel I walked plump into an open sewer which had no red light of warning.

"I had a bad fall and broke my hip, and I wasn't yet out of the sewer when I made up my mind to sue for $20,000 damages. I was taken to the hospital, and next day the city attorney called on me to know what I was going to do.

"'I am going to sue the town, of course,' I replied.

"'But what for?' he asked.

"'For personal damages. There should have been a railing or a light, but there was neither, and my injury will lay me up for weeks.'

"'But don't you know what you escaped by falling into the sewer?' he asked.

"'No.'

"'Then let me tell you that the roof of the hotel fell in last night and killed three men, and if you had been in your bed you would have been crushed to pulp. You really owe this town something instead of talking about damages.'

"When able to get out," continued the drummer, "I found that public opinion was against me and the people ready to stand a suit, and by advice of a lawyer I settled the case for $125.

"I didn't even get all that. In tumbling into the sewer I broke two planks and brought on a cavein, and the damages were assessed at $5.66 and taken out of the money."—Dallas News.

BEYOND DOUBT

Good Hard Facts Told in a Fw Words as Possibl.

Mrs. Edgar Packard, of Tecumseh, Mich., says: "Until I tried Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Chas. A. Wright's drug store I suffered a great deal from nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches and indegestion. Since using the pills I can say my nervous system has been toned up, I sleep well, the headaches are gone and my digestion is greatly improved. I think the pills a fine medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

A STORY OF HENRY BERGH.

One of His New York Experiences In Protecting Dumb Animals.

Like a well dressed, somber ghost he went striding down the snowy street, and at University place he found the thing he had expected—a car packed inside almost to suffocation, both platforms packed outside, with men clinging like big burs to bottom steps and dashboard rails, and before it, within a cloud of steam, two ill fed, bony horses with bloodshot eyes and wide, red nostrils flaring in their effort to fill laboring lungs with air, with heaving sides and straining backs and flanks, while their madly scrambling feet struck fire from the slippery stones as they strove in vain to start again the awful weight behind them. Curses, oft jerked bell and assisting yells of passengers failed of effect. The driver's whip was raised ready for the stinging blow, when suddenly the straining effort ceased, the horses' heads drooped low, and through the thick air there loomed up before them a tall, dark form, with hand upraised commandingly. And calm and distinct two laconic words reached all ears: "Stop! Unload!"

"Who the blank are you?" furiously demanded the driver. "And where's your authority for interfering with this trip?"

He knew well enough whom he was talking to, so silently Mr. Bergh turned back the lapel of his coat to show his badge, for in those days he had to do constabulary work as well as official, then repeated, "Unload!"

But, being tired, hungry and mad, the floodgates gave way, and the passengers' wrath burst forth. Abuse, satirical comment, threats, filled the air. To a few who remonstrated decently with him he expressed regret, but with grave politeness insisted on lightening the load, telling them they could see for themselves the utter inability of the horses to get them to the end of the line and gently urged them hereafter to note the condition of crowding before taking a place on a car.

The conductor was especially ugly and became unpleasantly demonstrative. His example worked like a leaven on the rest, and a spirit of riot began to show distinctly in the crowd closing about the tall, calm, self possessed man. All faces scowled, and evil names were tossed upon the air. He had just said, "You are yourselves increasing this delay; you might have moved two minutes and a half ago," when a scurrilous great brute came close up to him and, with an unspeakable epithet, shook a dirty fist directly in his face. Without the flash of an eye or the quiver of a muscle in his quiet face Mr. Bergh caught the ruffian by the shoulder, whirled him around, grabbed the seat of his breeches and the nape of his neck, and, with a splendid "now all together" sort of a swing, he fired him straight across the street, head on into the snow bank.

A silence of utter amazement was suddenly broken by one great, swelling laugh, and then followed the always thrilling sound of three gloriously hearty American cheers. Many men shook hands with Mr. Bergh before beginning their long tramp homeward. Some admitted their error in aiding the overloading.—Clara Morris in McClure's Magazine.

Morbid Sensitiveness.

The surest way to conquer morbid sensitiveness is to mingle with people as freely as possible, and, while appraising your own ability and intelligence at least as impartially as you would those of a friend or acquaintance, to forget yourself. Unless you can become unconscious of self you will never either appear at your best or do the best of which you are capable, says a writer in Success. It requires will power and an unbending determination to conquer this arch enemy to success, but what has been done can be done, and many who were held down by it for years have by their own efforts outgrown it and risen to commanding positions.

Mind Action Revealed by a Watch.

"If I suspend my watch directly in front of me by holding the end of the chain with both hands, I find that the watch will swing in the direction of which I am thinking," says a psychological writer. "If I think of it swinging in a circle, it swings in a circle. If I think of it swinging from right to left and from left to right, it swings in that manner. I try to make no movements with my hands, but find it impossible to keep them from it for any length of time, if I concentrate my attention on the movement."—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

A Ghastly Joke.

Where Things Are Made.

A clergyman in the neighborhood of Nottingham was complimenting a tailor in his parish on repairs which he had done for him. In the course of conversation he, however, incautiously observed: "When I want a good coat, I go to London. They make them there." Before leaving the shop he inquired, "By the bye, do you attend my church?"

"No," was the reply; "when I want to hear a good sermon, I go to London. They make them there."—London Tit-Bits

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by J. J. Orr.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

THE "SANKERO."

Unhappy Lot of a Peculiar Figure of the Irrigation Country.

An eastern farmer coming to an irrigated valley finds everything as different from his accustomed life as he can well imagine. He must learn an entirely new language of farming and a new set of farming rules. His neighbor greets him, not with the remark, "It looks like rain," but "Have you heard when the water is coming in?" or "The ditches are low today." He learns to speak of miners' inches and acre feet of water, and he can soon tell at a glance whether a ditch is carrying 50 or 100 miners' inches of water. He hears wise discussions of headgates, weirs, laterals and zanjes. He finds that he is "under" a certain canal, which by and by will come to seem to him like an inexorable fate.

He will very promptly make the acquaintance of the king of the irrigated land, the zanjero, in Arizona called "sankero," in California sometimes shortened to "sanky," the water master or ditch rider, a bronzed man in overalls and sombrero, who drives about in a two wheeled cart, with a shovel and a long crooked tined fork by his side and precious keys in his pockets. He is the yea and nay of the arid land, the arbiter of fate, the dispenser of good and evil, to be blessed by turns and cursed by turns and to receive both with the utter unconcern of a small god, for it is the zanjero who distributes the water. He opens the headgate of each farmer's canal, and when the water has run the necessary time he shuts it down again and again locks it securely. If the water is short, he sees that it is divided properly between Smith and Jones and Brown, usually with Smith and Jones and Brown watching him like cats. It is a hard place, that of zanjero in the valleys, subject to accusations, temptations, heartburnings; but, be it said to the credit of the American, there is many a zanjero who is universally respected in his community as an honest man.—Ray Stannard Baker in Century.

Nobility Recommends Nervine.

The above portrait is that of Countess Mogelstud, of Chicago, Ill., whose gratitude for the benefit received from the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine prompted her to make this statement:

"It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the very excellent merits of Dr. Miles' Nervine. Although I am past 80 years of age I find it soothes the tired brain, quiets the irritated nerves and insures restful sleep. I never feel contented without a bottle of it in the house." Gratefully yours,

White Smoke from Soft Coal

Round Oak Furnaces have large feed doors, burn wood or coal; but whatever they burn, give greater heat than any other furnaces, because all the gases and nearly all the smoke is consumed. The smoke is white from a Round Oak Furnace burning soft coal; that means no waste fuel. The principle is not new, but the application to the Round Oak is new—in that no holes are cut through the fire pot.

Round Oak Furnaces are different from all others in many other things—in solid construction, in reasonableness of price. If you are going to buy a furnace, send for our free furnace book—contains useful information about heating, dimensions, furnace regulation, ventilation, etc.

LABORERS KILLED

Thirteen Fall Victims of an Awful Collision

ON A WESTERN RAILROAD

Thirty-nine Others Were Injured—Company Report the Accident Was Due to Work Train Running Without Orders.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 7.—At 1:30 o'clock this morning a special train brought nine of the men injured in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road at Rhodes. One of the men, Fireman William Tharp, is dying. The special train was in charge of Dr. A. W. Trout, the railroad company's surgeon at Parry, who stated that in the wreck thirteen were killed and thirty-nine injured.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The following statement was issued from the office of the general superintendent of the Milwaukee & St. Paul road in this city regarding a bad accident at Marshalltown:

"At 1:20 Wednesday afternoon a work train and a freight train collided on the Omaha division of the St. Paul road, two miles west of Rhodes, killing both engineers instantly, as well as seven laborers. Twenty others, all laborers, were injured. The work train started west from Rhodes without orders, and notwithstanding that the signal was set against the work train and the further fact that the telegraph operator informed Conductor Craig that the freight train had already left Collins, the next station west of Rhodes, and was then eastbound between the two places."

CAUGHT ON A TRESTLE.

Two Girls Crushed to Death—Three Others Injured.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 7.—An excursion train on the Illinois Central caught five young ladies on a high trestle at Dawson Springs Wednesday. Two were crushed to death and the others, jumping, were probably fatally injured.

The dead are: Miss Johnnie Smith, Paducah, Ky.; Lucy Stevenson, Hickory Grove, Ky. Injured: Miss Lena Flint, Paducah; Edith Stevenson, Hickory Grove; Annie, Nichols. All were sojourning at the Springs.

SCHOOLS IN THE ARMY.

Native Troops in Philippines to Be Taught English.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The war department has received a copy of an order issued by General Chaffee, commanding the division of the Philippines, devoted to the personnel of the commond. He begins by saying:

"Active hostilities having ceased throughout the division of the Philippines, the division commander directs that special attention be given to the careful instruction and thorough discipline of all the troops of the division."

He says that "a high degree of efficiency and personal instruction is expected from all organizations in the division. Slouchiness, unsoldierly walk, bearing, dress, careless attention in the presence of superiors must receive the careful attention of all officers." He also directs that officers look after all the minor matters of military conduct. He directs that officers familiarize themselves with the Spanish language and also with the native dialect in localities where stationed. With the idea of teaching English to the native troops, garrison schools are to be established where companies or detachment of Philippine scouts are stationed. Intelligent and competent enlisted men are to be teachers. Philippine scouts also are to be instructed in such portions of the articles of war as bear upon their duties.

HAD IT FOR WEEKS

Bay City Family Long Afflicted With Smallpox.

THOUGHT IT CHICKENPOX

Daughter Stricken in Malignant Form—Another Case Traceable to the Family—Many Believed Exposed—Other Families Long Afflicted.

Bay City, Mich., Aug. 6.—What has been treated by the mother as chickenpox has been prevalent in the family of Mrs. Dork, Garfield avenue and Eighteenth street, for several weeks, and it was not until a daughter was stricken with so malignant a form of the disease as to cause the woman to summon a physician that the truth became known—it is smallpox. Investigation proved that it was the same disease with which the others had been afflicted.

Just how far the disease has spread is not known, but one case has already been discovered in West Bay City, which is directly traceable to the Dork family, the patient being Walter Symons. It is feared that others will come down, as many are believed to have been exposed.

A prominent physician says there has not been a time in months when there have not been families in this city in which smallpox was running a regular course, but in nearly all cases it was so mild that a physician was not called, or if called did not report the case, but an occasional malignant case breaks out from contact with these mild ones.

Michigan Inventors.

Made a Daring Holdup.

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 6.—A stand-and-deliver holdup occurred Monday night at Paw Paw lake resort. Two strangers drove up to a refreshment stand owned by Owen Dunlop, and, drawing revolvers on him, seized the cash in the till—about $40—three cases of soft drinks and several boxes of cigars, and then drove away. Sheriff Collins and deputies have gone from here to the lake to work on the case.

Bert Sills Pleads Guilty.

Lapeer, Mich., Aug. 6.—Bert Sills, the young Detroiter who assaulted Mrs. Sidney Castle, wife of a North Branch farmer, a few weeks ago, was taken before Judge Smith and pleaded guilty. He was remanded for sentence Aug. 25.

Tapped Till and Skipped.—Tuesday morning a stranger stepped into a cafe at Flint and while his order was being filled tapped the cash register and skipped. The amount secured is unknown.

Relics of Early Days.—William H. Gordon of Prescott, while digging fencepost holes on his farm, found an unusually large skull, a tomahawk and a tin box containing some curious coins which had been buried with them.

Foul Play Feared.—Fred Foster, a retail shoe salesman of Owosso, has been missing several months and his wife and family think him dead. Foster was last heard of at South Bend, Ind. He is a man thirty-five yars of age, did not drink, and it is feared he has met with foul play.

Zoo Profited by Law-Breaking.—McCurdy Park of Owosso is the gainer because a man up in Osceola county broke the game law. He caught two fawns and sold them. Deputy Game Warden W. K. Brewster arrested him, had him fined, confiscated the deer and presented them to McCurdy Park's zoo.

Bride's Generous Dower.—Norman R. McLeod of Logan, formerly a drygoods salesman in an Alpena store, was united in marriage recently to Miss Anna B. Keller, only daughter of Jacob F. Keller, wholesale and retail merchant of Montreal. The bride was the recipient of $60,000 as her wedding gift.

Telling the Weather From Mists.

The motion of mists, rapid or slow, was regarded as one of the best methods of foretelling the approach of rain or snow. When there was a mist before the rise of the full moon, if clouds were seen in the west before the sun rose or there was a mist in the fields before sunrise, wet weather was expected. When the mists vanished rapidly and the moon seemed to rise faster than usual, fine weather was sure to gladden the hearts of the merrymakers on the succeeding day. When the winds changed and the clouds flew along on "tail," the farmers predicted a storm.

ALL ARE INVITED

People of the State Requested to Attend Big Forestry Meet.

AN EXCURSION TO FORESTS

Will Be Made—Many Experts Going—Societies Requested to Send Delegates—Special Rates—Lawmakers Should Surely Be There.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 7.—The Michigan Forestry Commission has issued the following announcement of the meeting of the American Forestry association at Lansing, beginning Aug. 28th:

"The Michigan Forestry commission will entertain the American Forestry association from Aug. 28 to Sept. 1. The meeting will convene in the capitol, at Lansing, Wednesday, Aug. 28, and cintinue in session for two days, after which there will be an excursion for the visiting foresters to the Michigan forest preserve in Roscommon and Crawford counties, and on through the hardwood area of Michigan to Mackinac island. Michigan people who are interested can take advantage of a low rate and accompany the excursion. This will be a notable meeting, arranged especially in the interest of Michigan, and there should be a large attendance of Michigan people who desire to lend their aid toward solving one of the most difficult and important state problems. Many prominent specialists throughout the United States have signified their intention to be present and take part in the program.

"This great convention is brought to Michigan in our own interest, and, to reap the full advantage, our public-spirited citizens must get in touch with these visiting experts. There should be a large attendance from every part of the state. Granges, board of trade, agricultural and horticultural societies, lumbermen's association, and all organizations interested in forest products, are urged to send delegates to this convention, that they may reap the largest possible results in all branches of industry connected with forests through the visit of these distinguished experts. Those who expect to attend will confer a favor by immediately writing a card to Hon. E. A. Fildey, secretary of the Michigan Forestry commission, Lansing, Michigan, that we may know the number to be entertained. The railroads have granted reduced rates, provided 100 delegates attend. That there will be more than that number present there can be no doubt. The hotels in Lansing have made reduced rates for the convention. The sessions will be held in the capitol, but in acceptance of an invitation of the Agricultural college, a session will probably be held on the second day in the auditorium at the college.

"The Michigan Forestry commission especially invites the gentlemen who expect to assist in Michigan's lawmaking next winter to attend the meeting, that they may be better equipped to act upon important forestry measures which will be presented to the next legislature. This announcement will be sent very generally to the press, but we ask any person receiving a copy to request its publication in the nearest local newspaper. For a complete program of exercises, address Otto Luebkert, treasurer of the American Forestry association, Atlantic building, Washington, D. C. Those who attend the convention should, in the purchase of their railroad tickets, be particular to ask for certificates, as it is upon these certificates that the reduced return fare will be secured.

Killed in Fight With Posse.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 7.—Samuel Burrows, aged twenty-five, a young farmer residing in the town of Kekimi, who Tuesday made a murderous assault upon two young men who had stopped in front of his farm, intending to get a drink of water, was surrounded yesterday by Sheriff Potter and a posse, and in the conflict Burrows was shot and died soon afterwards. Two members of the sheriff's posse were slightly wounded by Burrows, who was in the house and commenced firing upon the posse as soon as it appeared. It is thought he was insane.

Woodsmen's Ghastly "Joke."

Escanaba, Mich., Aug. 7.—Two years ago a party of woodsmen, finding a lonely grave, disinterred a skull, and, putting it on a stick, covered it with an old hat. Here it hung undisturbed until a few days ago, when a passerby found it. The gruesome discovery led to suspicion of an unpunished crime, and the sensation only exploded when the facts became known. The skull has been restored to its former resting place.

COULDN'T SETTLE IT

Hanna Says Civic Federation For Once Failed.

ARBITRATING FOR MINERS

Addressed Urbana Chautauqua—He Favors the Flexible Scale For Mine Operations and Lauds the Honor of the Laboringman.

Urbana, O., Aug. 7.—Senator M. A. Hanna addressed the Urbana Chautauqua Wednesday on the top, "Labor and its relation to capital." An audience of nearly 3,000 greeted him at the tabernacle when he arose to speak.

Mr. Hanna said regarding the mining strike: "Thirty years ago I was a witness of and participated in one of the most serious strikes that ever occurred in Ohio. It was the miners' strike of the Tuscarawas valley. After it had been settled, after property had been destroyed and blood had been shed, there came a time to think it over, and I made up my mind that there was a better way to settle such disputes than that."

The senator then spoke of the Nation Civic Federation, of its origin and its work. He said the object of the organization is to better the conditions of labor, to bring them in closer contact with capital and, if possible, by effort and education, to make it impossible to have strikes. Continuing, he said:

"In every instance but one, in a ten months' existence, we have settled every labor difficulty that has come to us. This one instance where the organization failed was the anthracite coal strike.

"I admit that the Civic Federation has failed in its efforts there. It is hard to conciliate, it is hard to arbitrate a question when only one side will consider it. But in that connection I want to call your attention to another incident in my efforts in that strike and others.

"When appealing to the employers to consider some things in connection with the situation that I did not think they fully appreciated or understood, I told of the experience of myself and associates recently in connection with the coal mining of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. After days and nights of negotiation four years ago, we organized what was termed 'The Interstate Association,' composed of the operatives and operators of the local mines of these states. We agreed upon a scale of wages, flexible enough to adapt itself to different physical conditions. That scale, once agreed upon, all that became necessary was to fix the basis price. That was four years ago. The contract was made. The operators went into the markets and sold their coal and the coal miners abided by their contracts and delivered it. The next year it was renewed, and then last year it was renewed.

"Peace and harmony, good and successful business operations have succeeded that policy.

"In using that argument with others, it was said to me 'Why, what is your contract worth with a labor organization? If it don't want to keep it, it won't, and you cannot make it.' That is true, but when that remark carried with it the insinuation that men of that class had no honor in carrying out a contract, I want to say that I deny it, and now I have the proof. The prolonged strike in the anthracite country has brought about a condition that is alarming, not only to the peace of society but to the material interests of our people. The object in calling that national convention was to decide the question whether the bituminous men belonging to that organization would go out and strike in sympathy, and, believing as I did, that the men who had entered into a solemn compact with the employers, which had been in force for four years, bound only by their honor, they would defend that honor, and they did, by voting unanimously against the strike.

"Now there is one of the best lessons that has ever been presented to the American people. There is one of the strongest arguments that can be urged for getting farther with this policy and encouraging these men and their class by assuring them that they can earn and establish the confidence of their employers and the whole American people by such acts as those. It will take time and patience and work, because it is a work of education, and one of the best methods of that sort of education is to have the talk from this platform and from every other platform controlled by the Chautauqua circle.

"What there is yet to be done along the line of this great question depends greatly upon the support that we receive and that it be not confined to that small organization of the Civic Federation."

Another Operation For the King.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—A special cable to the Dispatch from London, England, says: Your correspondent learns, on high authority, that King Edward will undergo another surgical operation immediately after his coronation Saturday. Despite the reports sent out recently of his rapid recovery and steady improvement in health, he is really very ill. He will be crowned Saturday if it is physically possible for him to go through the ceremony, but then very little time will elapse before the surgeons will reopen the wound and operate for appendicitis.

The HEART of DENISE

CHAPTER III.

THE SPUR OF LES ESCHELLES.

De Lorgnac was gone. Through the open window overlooking the courtyard that let in the warm summer evening we heard him give an order to his men in a quick, resolute voice, far different from the low tones in which he had spoken before, and then he and his troop rode off at a rapid trot in the direction, as it seemed, of the Porte St. Honore. I could hardly realize that I was free and that De Lorgnac had resigned me without a struggle. All that I could think of was that he was gone, and with a quick gasp of relief I turned to my friend.

"Oh, madame, how can I thank you? What shall I say?"

"Say nothing to me, my child, but rather thank the good God that there was a little of honor left in that man. And now, before we start, you must have some refreshment."

"I cannot—indeed, no. I am ready to go at once. I want to put leagues between me and Paris."

"You must be guided by me now, Denise." And as she spoke a servant brought in some soup and a flask of wine. Despite my protests I was forced to swallow something, though I felt that I was choking, yet the little frontignac I drank, not being used to wine, seemed to steady my shaking limbs and restore my scattered faculties.

As we put on our cloaks and demi-masks preparatory to starting Mme. de Termes kept saying to herself: "I cannot understand—Blaise de Lorgnac to lend himself to a thing like this! I would have staked my life on him. There is something behind this. Child," and she put a hand on each of my shoulders and looked me full in the eyes, "have you told me all? Have you withheld nothing?"

"Has he not himself admitted what I said, madame? If that is not enough, I will add every word of what I know." And as we stood there I detailed what I have already told, forcing myself to go on with the story once or twice when I felt myself being unnerved and finishing quickly: "And, madame, I was taken by storm. Indeed I hardly know even if this is not some frightful dream."

"Would it were so," she said, and added: "Denise, I believe every word you say, and yet there is something behind De Lorgnac's action. I know him well. He would never lend himself to be the tool of others. Once, however, at Perigueux you will be safe with the vicomte and myself, and it will be a long arm that would drag you thence—nothing short of that of the Medicis. But Catherine owes much to De Termes. And now let us start."

What was my surprise when we reached the courtyard to hear my maid Mousette's voice, and I saw her perched on a little nag, already engaged in a flirtation with one of the men. When I spoke to her, she pressed her horse forward and began hurriedly.

"I was sent here with madame's things," she said. "I am afraid the valises are but hastily packed, and much has had to be left behind, but madame will excuse me, I know. It was all so quick, and I had so little time."

We were, including Mme. de Termes' servants, who were well armed, a party of about twelve, small enough to face the danger of the road in those unsettled days, but no thought of this struck me, and, as for Mme. de Termes, she would, I do believe, have braved the journey alone, so anxious was she to be by the vicomte's side, for between herself and the stout old soldier who held the lieutenancy of Perigord there existed the deepest affection.

As we rode down the Bourdonnais I could not help thinking to myself how noble a spirit it was that animated my friend. Not for one moment had she allowed her own trouble to stand in the way of her helping me. Her husband, whom, as I have said, she dearly loved, was ill, perhaps dying, and yet in her sympathy and pity for me she had let no word drop about him except the cheery assurance of his protection. Nevertheless as we rode on she ever kept turning toward Lalande, her equerry, and bade him urge the lagging baggage animals on. Passing the Grand Chatelet, we crossed the arms of the river by the Pont au Change and the Pont St. Michel and kept steadily down the Rue de la Harpe toward the Porte St. Martin. We gained this not a moment too soon, for as the last of the baggage animals passed it we heard the officer give the word to lower the drawbridge and close the gates. The clanking of the chains and the creaking of the huge doors came to me with something of relief in them, for it seemed to me that I was safe from further tyranny from the Hotel de Soissons, at any rate for this night.

As we passed the huge silhouette of the Hotel de Luxembourg we heard the bells of St. Sulpice sounding compline, and then from behind us the solemn notes rang out from the spires of the city churches. Yielding to an impulse I could not resist, I turned in my saddle and looked back, letting my eyes run over the vast dim outlines of the city, so softened by the moonlight that it was as if some opaque, fantastic cloud was resting on the earth. Above curved the profound blue of the night, with here and there a star struggling to force its way past the splendor of the moon. All was quiet and still, and the church bells ringing out were as a message from his creatures to the Most High.

I let my heart go after the voices of the bells as they traveled heavenward, and had it not been for Mousette's shrill tones that cut through the quiet night and recalled me to myself I might have let the party go onward I do not know how far. As it was, I had to bustle my little horse to gain the side of Mme. de Termes once more. It was not, of course, our intention to travel all night. That would have been impossible, for it would have entailed weary horses and a long halt the next day, but it was proposed that we should make for a small chateau belonging to M. de Bouchage, the brother of the Duc de Joyeuse, which he had placed at Mme. de Termes' disposal, and there rest for the remainder of the night, making a start early the next morning and then pressing on daily as fast as our strength would allow. Lalande had sent a courier on in advance to announce our sudden coming. We did not expect to reach De Bouchage's house until about midnight, and the equerry was now fussing up and down the line of march, urging a pack horse on here, checking a restive animal there, and ever and again warning the lackeys to keep their arms in readiness, for the times were such that no man's teeth were safe in his head unless he wore a good blade by his side.

We were, in short, on the eve of that tremendous struggle which, beginning with the day of the barricades, went on to the murder of the princes of Lorraine on that terrible Christmastide at Blois and culminated with the dagger of Clement and the death of the miscreant whom God in his anger had given to us for a king.

Things being so, the land was as full of angry murmurs as a nest of disturbed bees, the result being that the writ of the king was almost as waste paper, and bands of cutthroat soldiery committed every excess, now under the white, then under the red scarf, as it suited their convenience.

It was for this reason that Lalande urged us on, and we were nothing loath ourselves to hasten, but our pace had to be regulated by that of the laden animals, and, do what we would, our progress was slow.

Madame and I rode in the rear of the troops, a couple of armed men immediately behind us. Lalande was in front and exercised the greatest caution whenever we came to a place that was at all likely to be used for an ambuscade.

Nothing, however, happened, and finally we set down to a jogging motion, speaking no word, for we were wearied, and with no sound to break the silence of the night except the shuffling of our horses, the straining of their harness and the clink of sword sheath and chain bit.

Suddenly we were startled by the rapid beat of hoofs, and in a moment a white horse and its rider emerged from the moonlit haze to our right, coming as it were straight upon us. Lalande gave a quick order to halt, and I saw the barrel of his pistol flashing in his hand, but the horseman, with a cry of "For the king! Way, way!" dashed over the road at full gallop and sped off like a sprite over the open plain to our left.

"Did you hear the voice, Denise?" asked madame.

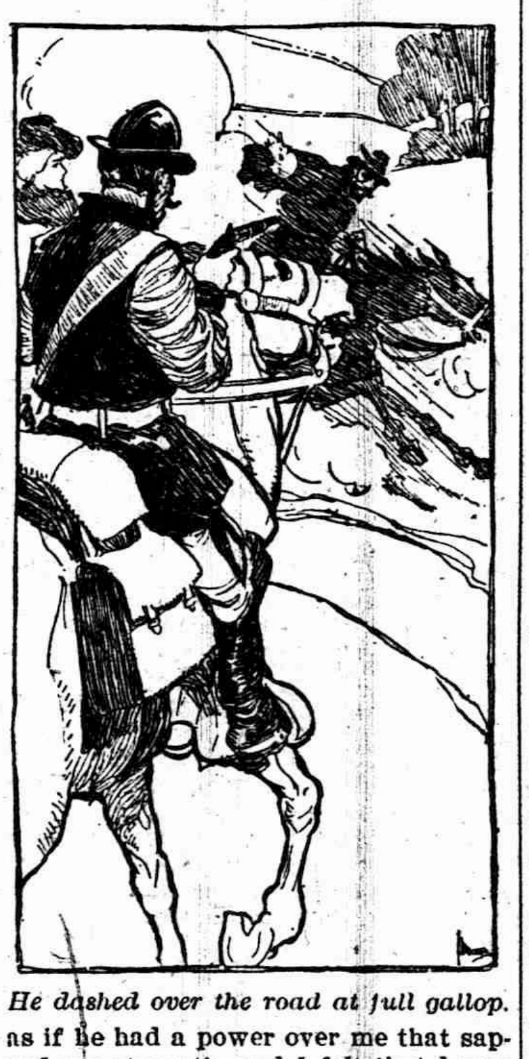
"Yes."

"It is stranger than ever," she said. And I could make no answer.

There was no doubt about it. It was De Lorgnac, and instead of going to the Porte St. Honore, as I thought when he left us, he must have crossed by the Meunniers and come out by the St. Germain gate. He had evidently, too, separated himself from his men.

"I shall be glad when we reach De Bouchage's house," I said, with a shiver, for the apparition of my husband had sent a chill through me.

"It is not far now," replied madame. And then we both became silent, absorbed in our own thoughts, she no doubt thinking of the vicomte and I with my mind full of forebodings as to what other evil fate had in store for me, and with this there came thoughts of De Clermont, whose presence I seemed absolutely to feel about me. I could not say I loved him, but it was as if he had a power over me that sapped my strength, and I felt that I was being dragged toward him. I cannot explain what it was, but others have told me the same, that when his clear blue eyes were fixed on them they seemed to lose themselves and that his glance had a power the force of which no one could put into words, nor indeed can I.



He dashed over the road at full gallop.

It was only by an effort and a prayer that I succeeded in collecting myself, and it was with no little joy that I saw the gray outlines of the Chateau de Bouchage and knew that for the remainder of the night there was rest.

I will pass over our journey till we reached the Limousin. Going at our utmost strength, we found we could barely cover more than six leagues a day, and as day after day passed and no news of the vicomte came madame's face grew paler, and she became feverishly impatient for us to hurry onward, yet never for one moment did she lose the sweetness of her temper or falter in her kindness toward me. No mishap of any kind befell us, but at the ford of the Gartempe there at last came good news that brought the glad tears to madame's eyes and the color once more to her cheeks, for here a courier met us, riding with a red spur, to say that the vicomte was out of danger and striding hour by hour toward recovery. The courier further said, in answer to our questions, that the messenger whom Mme. de Termes had sent on in advance to announce her coming had never arrived, and he himself was more than surprised at meeting us, believing madame to be yet at Paris. No doubt the poor man who had been sent on in advance had met with ill, and we thanked God for the lucky chance that had put us in the way of the vicomte's messenger and also that it was not with us as with our man, for he had doubtless been killed, and indeed he was never seen again. Back we sent the courier with a spare horse to announce our speedy coming, and it was a gay and joyous party that splashed through the sparkling waters of the Gartempe. Even I for the moment forgot everything with the glad tidings that had come like the lark's song in the morning to cheer my friend's heart, and for a brief space I forgot De Lorgnac and my bonds and was once more Denise de Mieux, as heedless and light hearted as youth, high spirits and health could make me.

It was decided to push on to Ambazac at any cost by that evening. The news we had heard seemed to lighten even the loads of the pack animals, and we soon left the silver thread of the river behind us and entered the outskirts of the Viennois. As for me, I do not know how it was, but I was, as I have said, in the wildest of spirits, and nothing could content me but the most rapid motion. At one time I urged my horse far in advance of the party, at another I circled round and round them or lagged behind till they were all but out of sight and then caught them up at the full speed of my beast, and all this despite Lalande's grumbling that the horse would be worn out. He spoke truly enough, but I was in one of those moods that can brook no control and went my own way. I was destined, however, to be brought back sharply to the past from which for the moment I had escaped. As we reached the wooded hills of Les Eschelles I had allowed the party to go well in advance of me and, stopping for a moment, dismounted near a spring from which a little brook, hedged in on each side with ferns, babbled noisily off along the hillside. To me, who, after all, loved the fresh, sweet country, the scene was enchanting. The road wound half way up the side of the spur, and the rough hillside, with its beech forests, among the leaves of which twined the enchanter's nightshade, swept downward in bold curves into a wild moorland covered with purple heather and golden broom. The sheer rock above me was gay with pink mallow, and the crimson of the cranesbill flashed here and there, while the swish of the bracken in the breeze was pleasant to my ears. Overhead, between me and the absolute blue of the sky, was a yellow lacework of birch leaves, and a wild rose thick with its snowy bloom scrambled along the face of the rock just above the spring. It was to gather a bouquet of these flowers for madame that I had halted and dismounted. The task was more difficult than I imagined, and while was wrestling with it I heard the full, rich baritone of a man's voice singing out into the morning, and the next moment the singer turned the corner of a bluff a few yards from me, and Raoul de Clermont was before me. He stopped short in his song with an exclamation and, lifting his plumed hat, said in astonishment:

"You, mademoiselle! Pardon—Mme. de Lorgnac! Where in the world have you dropped from, or, say, are you the genius of this spot?" And his laughing eyes looked me full in the face.

I stood with my flowers in my hand, inwardly trembling, but outwardly calm.

"It is rather for me to ask where in the world you have sprung from, monsieur. It is not fair to startle people like this."

"I ask your pardon once more. As it happens, I am traveling on business and pleasure combined. My estates of Clermont-Ferrand lie but a short way from here, as you perhaps know; but let me help you to add to those flowers you have gathered." And he sprang from his horse.

"No, thank you, M. de Clermont," I answered hastily. "I must hurry on lest Mme. de Termes, with whom I am traveling, should think I am lost."

"So it is M. de Clermont now, is it? It will be a stiff M. de Marquis soon." And my heart began to beat, though I said nothing, and he went on. "For old sake's sake let me gather that cluster yonder for you, and then M. de Clermont will take you to madame."

With a touch of his poniard he cut the flowers and handed them to me, breaking one as he did and fastening it into the flap of his pourpoint. So quiet and masterful was his manner that I did nothing to resist, and then, putting me on my horse, he mounted himself, saying, with that joyous laugh of his:

"Now, fair lady, let us hasten onward to Mme. de Termes. I need protection too. I fear my knaves have lagged far behind."

A MAN AGAINST A NATION.

The Most Curious European War That Ever Was Waged.

The most curious European war ever waged was that which in the sixteenth century, the period of the reformation and the renaissance, was carried on single handed for between five and six years between a bankrupt grocer of Berlin and the elector of Saxony, who was the most powerful German prince of the period. The grocer's name was Hans Kohlhase, and the immediate cause of the quarrel was the arresting of two of his horses in the elector's territory, he being a subject of the elector of Brandenburg. Failing to get redress, he adopted what was then a perfectly legal expedient and declared formal war on the realm of Saxony. The declaration was accepted in due form, and the war began.

The extraordinary part of the story is that the grocer kept the war up for nearly six years practically single handed and even went to the extremity of declaring war on his own sovereign in the meantime before he was caught. He burned farms and even villages, employed mercenaries after the fashion of the times and made himself the terror of the district. He was finally influenced to stop hostilities by Luther, and after he had taken the sacrament from his hands he was betrayed into a further act of hostility by treachery and, being captured, suffered death on the wheel after refusing an act of grace which granted him the painless and honorable death of the sword. The story is perhaps the strangest of all the romances of that romantic age.

Language.

"It's wonderful," said the meditative man, "how one small word, insignificant in itself, may induce an endless train of thought, speaking volumes, in fact."

"Yes," replied the caustic man. "Take the word 'but,' for instance, when a woman says, 'Of course, it's none of my business, but.' "—Exchange.

The Use of Bread on Water.

A loaf of bread is a favorite talisman for locating a drowned body in most European countries. Sometimes it is found sufficient of itself, sometimes it needs the aid of some other substance. Thus in England the loaf is usually weighted with quicksilver.—Notes and Queries.

LITERARY NOTES

The great crises of life are not, I think, necessarily those which are in themselves the hardest to bear, but those for which we are least prepared. There should be schools of the prophets for a betrothed girl or a bride. She should be taught to pray: "I find myself deficient in the first trait of character necessary to womanhood. Lord give me scorn."—Confessions of a wife.—August Century.

* * *

The August Atlantic is largely and seasonably a fiction number. Besides containing the continuation of the Baroness von Hutten's delightful story, Our Lady of the Beeches, it opens with a powerful "fisher" story by Norman Duncan, in the Fear of the Lord, and includes attractive and entertaining complete stories and sketches by Arthur Colton, Jack London, Alice Brown and Annie H. Donnell.

As the population of the great cities expands the problem of how to secure for everybody the privileges of the coast, which does not expand, has become a more and more vexing one. Mr. Sylvester Baxter, who was intimately concerned with securing Boston's magnificent system of public beaches, contributes to the Cosmopolitan for August an illustrated article which cannot fail to attract the attention not only of legislators but also of the citizen at large to whom this subject is a very close one.

Special attractions are provided for the little folks and pleasing up-to-date specialties are to be introduced between the acts. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

Woman.

Wonder what varmint a woman will wear next, says a crabbed old bachelor journalist, as she is now arrayed in a silk worm dress, seal skin sacque, ostrich feather and beaver hat, goatskin shoes, whalebone stays, kidskin gloves, tortoise shell buttons, spitz dog muff, mink tail collarette and alligator hide purse. Solomon in all his glory had not such a menagerie as these, and yet many love them no matter what they wear.

August "American Boy."

"Old Abe," the war Eagle, of the Eighth Wisconsin Regiment in the civil war, holds the place of honor in the August number of the American Boy. It makes a stirring theme.

This number is full of patriotic interest to American boys, treating of Lafayette at Brandywine, Relics of Early American Days, E Pluribus Unum—Its Origin and Meaning, and a new national song.

Other stories are entitled "Won by a Finger-Tip," (a bicycle race); "Sammy Dixon's Bear," "The Man on the Sugar Barrel," "An American Boy in Japan" "How Rob won a Champion," "On the War-Path," Circus Day, Hurrah," and "The Pomfret High School Bull Fight."

The advanced styles for autumn are presented most attractively in the Designer for September. Of great practical value is an article on "School Array" for boys and girls. Especially interesting among the literary features is the initial appearance of "What Women are Doing," under the editorship of the feminine readers of the Designer. The fiction of this number consists of "The Effacement of Susan Ross," by Delia E. Shute; "The Little Dark Room," by Harriet Caryl Cox, and the the continuation of "The Apology of Ayliffe," by Ellen Olney Kirk.

VOORHEIS CLEMENT

Miss Maude E. Voorheis and George A. Clement were united in

HOLY WEDLOCK

At the Home of the Bride's Parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Voorheis Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock a very pretty wedding was solomnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Voorheis on Ottawa street, in the presence of about 50 relatives and friends, their daughter, Maude being united to George A. Clement, of Monroe.

The ceremony was preformed in the parlor under a beautiful bower made of myrtle. Promptly at two o'clock the bridal couple entered the parlor, the marriage words were spoken by Rev. M. T. Seelye and were very impressive. The bride was very graceful and pretty in an exquisite white silk mull gown with lace trimmings. She carried sweet peas.

A two course wedding dinner was served after the ceremony and the bridal party had received congratulations. They received many beautiful presents.

Miss Voorheis is well and favorably known and has many friends here. She was a member of the Jolly Pedro Club. Mr. Clement is an electrician of the Monroe plant and they left for there Wednesday, where they will commence the duties of housekeeping.

Those who attended from out of town were: Mrs. Z. W. Monroe and daughter of Romolus; Mrs. D. C. Voorheis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson, Miss Cora Voorheis of Belleville; E. Chamberlain and sister of Flat Rock; Mrs. F. Downs and brother of New Boston; D. L. Ostrander, wife and daughter, J. Forsythe, wife and daughter, Cora Max, Lula Dean of Ypsilanti.

All were Saved.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from bronchitis" writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. My wife suffered intensely from asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best croup medicine in the world. A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for throat and lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 Trial bottles free at C. A. Wright's.

GOOD BALL

Selling and May Defeated at the hands of

TECUMSEH

A warm contest from start to finish.

Selling and May were defeated for the second time by Tecumseh, on the home grounds. The visitors played hard to win and up to the fifth inning it looked as though they would, nothing but ciphers greeted Tecumseh's talley while one score showed to the credit of Selling and May.

Hudson, the first man to bat for Selling and May, had three strikes called upon him but got to first on a passed ball. Smith lined out the ball, reaching first, while Hudson was thrown out at second, Smith stole second. Opp and Crout, the next two men, both struck out retiring the side

In the second Gaginer obtained his base on balls of McCarthy, Apel struck out, Burger struck out, Selleck was caught out by a fly to second retiring the side. commencing the third, Webber struck out, Hudson was put out by a foul fly to left fielder Gillen. Smith made a base hit. Opp lined out a two bagger bringing in Smith. Crout lined one to McCarthy and was thrown out at first.

The side was retired with one score to their credit, during the remaining six innings nothing but ciphers greeted the visitors. In the fourth a pretty double play was made, with Gaginer on second Burger put a fly to short stop Duvall. Gaginer lead off from second and Duvall threw him out at that base.

Tecumseh failed to score until the fifth inning, when Gorton safely reached home. In the sixth Harris scored, Duvall lined out a three bagger and scored. In the seventh, four scores were made, Schippaccasse, France, Harris and Duvall each made one to his credit. In the eighth, Tecumseh failed to score and the side retired with a tally of seven scores, making the result 7 to 1.

The result is as follows:

Tecumseh	Ab	R	H	PO	A	E

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales!

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

NIGHT GAME

Of Base Ball Played on the Tecumseh Diamonds between

TECUMSEH AND CLINTON

A large crowd witnessed the sport

Considering the rain which had fallen all day and the coolness and dampness of the evening, there was a much larger crowd at the Athletic Park last evening than was anticipated. The grand stand and bleachers were packed and the crowds almost encircled the diamond.

The diamond was brilliantly illumined by 18 arc lights making a novel and pretty spectacle. Probably no one present had ever before witnessed a ball game by lamp light and the large assemblage seemed thoroughly to enjoy the game, which was quite fast and abounded in good plays and amusing incidents. The occasion was enlivened by the Tecumseh band, and taken al together it was something worth going miles to see. The Lawson Portable Electric Light system is certainly a success and is all that it claims to be.

People commenced flocking toward the grounds at an early hour and long before the game opened the grounds were fairly crowded. The attendance was estimated to be about 600.

The chief features of the game were the double plays, one made by Tecumseh and two others by Clinton. Gorton made a home run for Tecumseh. Much enthusiasm was shown both by Tecumseh and Clinton rooters both yelling for their home team. At the beginning Tecumseh started the ball rolling with a few points to the lead but at the finish they were only one point ahead of the visitors, beating them by a score of 6 to 5. Following are the innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Clinton	2	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	—5

Two base hits, Gorton, Schippaccasse France, Hanse, Martin; three base hits, France; home run, Gorton.

COLLER'S NEW IDEAL SEAT

makes every buggy or sleigh as comfortable for three persons as two, either adult or child. By the use of this seat the third person occupies the same position (over the limbs of the other two) but all the weight and inconvenience is removed from the other occupants. It needs no fastening and fits any vehicle. It does not wear or ruin the cushion, as nothing comes in contact with it but the lower carpet. When not in use it folds and can be put in the box with the curtains. The intention of the Ideal seat is not to encourage three riding in a buggy, but to remove the necessity for suffering and inconvenience when necessary for three to occupy seat.

A SIMPLE QUESTION.

Tecumseh People are Requested to Honestly Answer This.

Is not the word of a representative citizen of Tecumseh more convincing than the doubtful utterances of people living everywhere else in the union? Read this:

Mr. Chas. Bartholomew, who runs the bicycle repair shop in the southeastern section of Tecumseh, says:

"Some eighteen years ago the doctors said I had diabetes and that I could not live. I got better but I have been troubled ever since with the kidney secretions, particularly retention of the kidney secretions, which caused me considerable anxiety. I tried all kinds of medicines said to be good for kidney trouble but the annoyance still remained. Finally my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at C. A. Wright's drug store. They are splendid. They gave me more relief and acted quicker than any remedy I ever used. From my experience I can say they are a reliable remedy and I consistently recommend them."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

A GOOD THING

Something you can readily believe as its Tecumseh evidence.

Mrs. B. E. Gray of Tecumseh, Mich., says: "Last summer I had an attack of fever which left me in a weak dizzy and nervous state. I got a box of Dr. A. W Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's drug store and after using the pills I can say my nerves are strengthened and I felt better every way. I think the pills all right."

OLD SIXTH IN REUNION.

Seventy-five Vets Met at Charlotte For Their Twenty-ninth Annual.

Charlotte, Mich., Aug. 6.—The twenty-ninth reunion of the Sixth Michigan infantry and heavy artillery was held here Tuesday, about seventy-five members and their wives being present. Major Soule of Ann Arbor and Dr. Milton Chase of Otsego, who have been president and secretary since the first reunion, was held, were re-elected.

It has been the custom for several years for Company H to hold annual reunions in this city Aug. 6, the anniversary of the battle of Baton Rouge, in which struggle Company H of the Sixth Michigan took a very prominent part. Captain H. Montgomery, who has not been present in twenty years, came all the way from Cedar Point, Kan., to attend. The company elected the following officers for the coming year: President, C. A. Hallenbeck of Vermontville; secretary, H. J. Milbourne, Eaton Rapids; treasurer, S. W. Harmon, Charlotte. The reunion of the regiment will be held at Albion next year.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 6.—The weekly crop bulletin, issued Tuesday, says that weather conditions last week were favorable for harvest work. Although much hay has been spoiled by rains a fairly good yield has been secured. The warm, bright weather has made a marked improvement in corn, but the crop is still backward and rather weedy. Beans have somewhat improved, but are still in poor condition and need cultivation. Early potatoes are ripening and are yielding fairly well. Late potatoes indicate a light crop, as much of the seed has been rotted. Oats have been ripening rapidly and they have a fine stand, although in some localities they are badly lodged, but a good yield is indicated. Oat harvest has begun quite generally in the southern and central counties. Buckwheat is doing well and is just coming into bloom. Early peaches are ripening and the yield is good; late peaches, pears and apples continue promising. Plums are falling badly, and there are some complaints of grapes rotting, although the prospect is fairly good.

He Stabbed the Thug.

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 6.—As Ransom N. Parshall, the wealthy proprietor of the Owosso city mills, was going home late Monday night, as he reached a dark place on West Main street, a footpad grabbed him. Parshall had been whitling a stick with a large jack-knife and promptly sunk the blade full length in the man's arm. The fellow turned and fled, Parshall after him, shouting for the police. He followed his assailant two blocks, but the fellow was too swift for him and got away.

Drowned in Long Lake.

Flint, Mich., Aug. 6.—Levi Smith, who for the past two years has been conducting Johnson's landing at Long lake, was drowned at the lake Tuesday afternoon. He was in a small row-boat that was being towed behind a launch in which were several boys, when for some reason the boat filled and sank and Smith went down with it in about twenty-five feet of water.

Divorced and Married.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—Less than five hours after obtaining a divorce from his wife, Blanche Seal Waddington, Dr. Joseph E. G. Waddington obtained a marriage license preparatory to his marriage Monday evening to Miss Mae Schwanecka of 21 Elizabeth street west. Waddington was granted the decree upon complaint of cruelty.

Detroit's Increase in Population.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—The new city directory is out, and is a larger volume than any of the past issues. There are 150,575 names in the book, and in figuring the population of the city on the multiple of 2½, the most conservative in use anywhere, Detroit now musters 376,437 souls. This shows an increase in the year of 18,937, figured on this basis.

Pleaded Guilty at Last.

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 6.—After maintaining his innocence for three years, John Cook, ex-city treasurer, appeared in the circuit court last night and pleaded guilty to embezzling $2,400 of the city funds. The plea was made at the advice of his attorney. Cook will be sentenced next week.

Saloonkeepers Now in Trouble.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 6.—Saloonkeepers who recently hired detectives to get evidence against druggists for violating the Sunday liquor law are now finding troubles of their own. Three of them have been held for trial to the circuit court for selling liquor last Sunday.

A Note From Tracy.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 6.—The sheriff's office at Davenpart received a message from Preston, stating that Harry Tracy spent all day Monday at the home of L. B. Eddy, a rancher on Lake Creek, three and a half miles south of Fellows. The outlaw made his appearance Sunday evening and took possession of the place. He is reported to have been there Monday night, leaving about 7:30. Pinned to the well on a farm about a mile north of Oddessa, where apparently Tracy had watered his horses, the following note was found: "To whom it may concern: Tell Mr. Cudhee to take a tumble and let me alone, or I will fix him plenty. I will be on my way to Wyoming. If your horses are any good, would swap with you. Thanks for a cool drink. TRACY."

Coughing

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by J. J. Orr.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure:

"I suffered agonizing pain in the left breast and between my shoulders from heart trouble. My heart would palpitate, flutter, then skip beats, until I could no longer lie in bed. Night after night I walked the floor, for to lie down would have meant sudden death. My condition seemed almost hopeless when I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, but it helped me from the first. Later I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with the Heart Cure and the effect was astonishing. I earnestly implore similar sufferers to give these remedies a trial."

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

AN EARLY FALL COAT.

The Directoire Eton front, arranged to be worn open or closed as the exigencies of Dame Fashion and our equally capricious climate demand, is a special feature of many of the coats of the season, whether long or short. This natty little coat is an exceptionally happy example of this design. It is made of satin finished cloth of a brilliant dark blue color, all the edgings being finished with a strap of tan broadcloth, stitched with Corticelli spool silk in self color. The coat collar is bordered by a similar strap, but the facing of revers is of white moire antique. The buttons are very handsome examples of baroque.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. Thedford's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by Thedford's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than Thedford's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.

I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

GIFT OF GRATITUDE

King Presented the Nation with Osborne House.

VICTORIA'S FAVORITE HOME

Wants It Converted Into a Convalescent Home For Officers of Army and Navy—Coronation Took Place Without a Hitch—Britain Rejoices.

London, Aug. 11.—King Edward has signalized his coronation in a memorable manner by the munificent gift to the nation of Osborne House, one of the favorite residences of the late Queen Victoria.

The gift is made in the following message to his people, addressed to Prime Minister Balfour. For reason, apparent in the document itself, his majesty makes his intention public:

"Buckingham Palace, Coronation Day, 1902.

"Under the will of the king's much beloved mother, the Osborne House estate is, as Mr. Balfour is aware, the private estate of the sovereign. Having to spend a considerable part of the year in the capital of this kingdom and in its neighborhood, at Windsor, and having also strong home ties in the county of Norfolk, which have existed now for nearly forty years, the king feels he will be unable to make adequate use of Osborne House as a royal residence, and he, accordingly, has determined to offer the property in the Isle of Wight as a gift to the nation. As Osborne House is sacred to the memory of the late queen, it is the king's wish that, with the exception of those apartments which were in the personal occupation of her majesty, his people shall always have access to the house, which must ever be associated with her beloved name. As regards the rest of the building, the king hopes it may be devoted to national purposes and converted into a convalescent home for officers of the navy and army whose health has been impaired in rendering service to their country.

"If, in order to give full legal effect to the king's wishes, it is found that application to parliament be necessary, the king trusts that Mr. Balfour will see that the necessary steps are in due course taken."

London, Aug. 11.—Edward VII., R. I., by the grace of God, of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and British dominions beyond the seas, king, defender of the faith, emperor of India, was Saturday crowned without hitch or harm, and now London is noisily celebrating the event, for which the world has waited as perhaps it never waited any other coronation.

In all respects the celebration was impressive, and it was carried out with a perfection of detail and lack of accidents that has rarely characterized such an occasion.

In Westminster Abbey the scene was nothing less than marvelous. Nearly 7,000 members of the nobility, the clergy and the gentry had gathered, with foreign princes, ambassadors, colonial rulers, Indian potentates and leaders from the furthest quarters of the globe, where the Union Jack flies, to do honor to the king.

Amid a tension that had grown to a pitch of painful nervousness, the archbishop placed the crown correctly upon the king's head.

No stage effect could have equaled the climax that ensued the moment the crown was placed, the sudden illumination by hundreds of electric lights making the thousands of priceless jewels, including those in the crown itself, to sparkle with dazzling brilliancy. The instantaneous movement of the peers, the placing of the coronets upon their heads, the choir's loud "God Save the King," with its inharmonious refrain from thousands of male and female throats, constituted such an outburst of pentup thankfulness and rejoicing.

The queen's crowning was brief and simple. When the four duchesses went to hold a canopy over her majesty's head, the duchess of Marlborough and the duchess of Portland led the way. They performed their duties excellently. At the critical period, for which the peeresses had long practiced, namely, the putting on of their coronets at the moment the queen was crowned, approached, a flutter of nervousness ran through their ranks and coronets were pulled out and patted and pinched into shape.

The departure of the king and queen from the abbey was signaled by another salute, the massed bands playing "God Save the King." The entire route of their majesties return to the palace was marked by scenes of enthusiasm similar to those which greeted their progress to the abbey, the entire crowd from Constitution Hill downwards joining in singing the national anthem.

HE IS DEAD

Senator James McMillan Succumbs to Heart Failure.

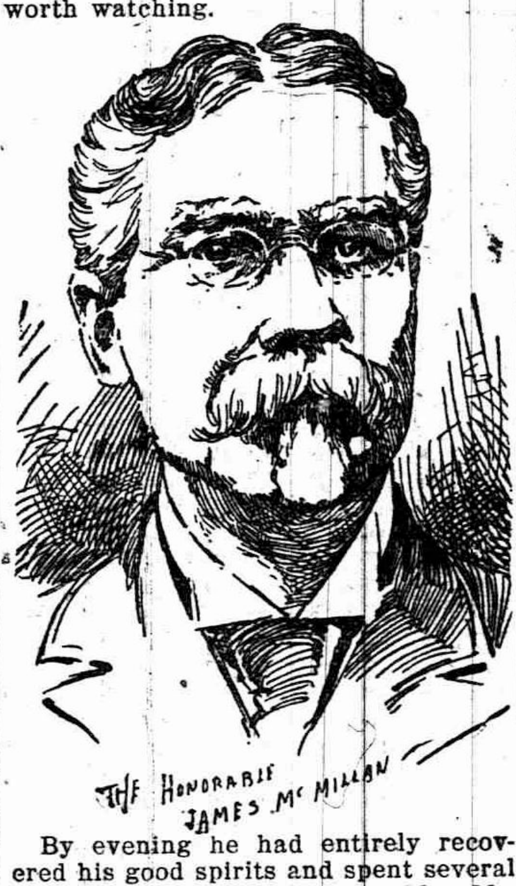
AT HIS SUMMER HOME

Started in Life a Poor Boy—Organized Michigan Car Company—President of a Railroad—Been in the Senate Since 1888.

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 11.—Senator James McMillan of Michigan died suddenly Sunday morning at Eagle Head, his country home on the shore of the Atlantic ocean, near this city.

No event could have been much more unexpected than the death of Senator McMillan. Saturday he was in his usual robust health. In the morning he enjoyed a brisk game of golf and later had a drive along the beautiful country roads near Eagle Head with some guests.

In the afternoon, while sitting on the veranda overlooking the ocean, with the spray from the pounding breakers dashing almost to his feet, he complained of feeling faint. But the faintness passed, and later he resumed his place on the ocean side of the house, where a stiff breeze from the sea rolled giant waves against the bold, rocky promontory on which Eagle Head stands, making a sight well worth watching.



By evening he had entirely recovered his good spirits and spent several happy hours in the society of Mrs. McMillan, Miss McMillan and his son.

At about 11 p. m. he retired, apparently as well as he had been in years, and with every prospect of passing a comfortable and restful night.

The senator had generally been a good, sound sleeper, and consequently when he was taken suddenly ill at midnight there was considerable alarm. At no time, however, was his condition considered dangerous, although a cough, which had been first noticed in the evening, suddenly became more severe and the usual ministrations for congestion of the lungs were administered by the physician in attendance.

At 4 o'clock in the morning, when the senator for some time had appeared to be resting easier he all at once began sinking rapidly, and in two or three minutes, perhaps in less time, had ceased to breathe.

His heart, influenced by the congestion of the lungs, had suddenly ceased to perform its functions, and death came almost before anyone at the bedside realized the danger.

The relatives in Detroit have been notified, and the arrangements for the funeral will not be made until the senator's senior son, William C. McMillan, arrives. It is understood, however, that the interment will be in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—A dispatch was received here Sunday announcing the death of Senator James McMillan at 4 o'clock in the morning, at his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Death was the result of heart failure, following congestion, after an illness of a very few hours. The news came as a great shock to his host of friends and admirers, as when the senator left Washington, shortly after the adjournment of congress, he appeared to be in good health and looked forward with much satisfaction to a quiet and restful summer. For some years Senator McMillan has made his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, having erected a very fine cottage at that place. While no information on that point has been received, the expectation is that his remains will be brought here and be deposited in the family vault at Elmwood cemetery.

Hon. James McMillan was born in Hamilton, Ont., May 13, 1838, and came to Detroit at the age of sixteen, clerking in a hardware store for two years and then becoming purchasing agent for the Detroit & Milwaukee railroad. In 1864, with John S. Newberry and others, he organized the Michigan Car company, which in ten years became one of the largest car manufacturing concerns in the United States, and led to the formation of the Detroit Car Wheel company and the Baugh Steam Forge company and other large enterprises. In 1881 he organized, with others, the Detroit, Mackinaw & Marquette railway and became its president. He was interested in numerous banks and trust companies and director in several. He was the largest stockholder and president of the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation company and the new Detroit & Buffalo line. In 1886 he jointly with John S. Newberry, gave $200,000 for the establishment of a free hospital in Detroit.

Great, however, as has been his success in the financial world, it has been even more marked in political circles. He was first elected chairman of the Republican state central committee, and in 1888 was elected United States senator, being re-elected in 1894 and in 1900. Without assuming the dictatorial attitude that makes political bosses so offensive, he rapidly and steadily gathered the reins of state affairs in velvet gloves which, however, surely hid the mailed hand of the master. For many years his influence has been potent in Michigan legislation and patronage, and his passing cannot but create consternation in the ranks of those who owe their positions and prestige to the good graces of Senator McMillan. On the other hand, the anti-McMillan faction feel, as they see the scepter fall from his lifeless hand, the kindling of hopes long abandoned, and it is not unlikely that before the bier of the chieftain is hidden from sight the skirmish lines of enemies and those of his retainers will be clashing a premonition of the great battle that will now rage around Governor Bliss, whose duty it will be to fill the vacancy for the next five years.

In the capacity of senator, congress, too, has realized his great value, and his life in the capital city has been a busy one.

He was chairman of the committee of the District of Columbia in that body and was also a member of the committees on appropriations, commerce, naval affairs, relations with Cuba, coast and insular survey and corporations organized in the District of Columbia. As chairman of the district committee, Senator McMillan was identified with district affairs and became very well known to the citizens of Washington, by whom he was highly regarded. He took a lively interest in the welfare of the district and was one of the foremost advocates in the efforts that are being made for the improvement of the city.

Senator McMillan was united in marriage in 1860 to Miss Mary Wetmore. Four children were born to them—James H., W. C., Frank and a daughter. All save James H. survive him. The latter died some months since in Arizona, whither he had gone in search of health.

Senator McMillan's family was prominent in social circles in both Washington and Detroit. In the capital he was a member of the Metropolitan and Cherry Chase clubs.

If the family desire it, a congressional committee from both houses of congress will be appointed to accompany the remains to their last resting place. The designations will be made by Senator Frye, the president pro tem of the senate, who now is in Maine, and by Speaker Henderson.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 11.—Governor Bliss was greatly shocked over the intelligence of the death of Senator McMillan and expressed the regret which he knew would be generally shared over the loss sustained by the state and nation. He absolutely declined to be interviewed regarding the matter of a successor to Senator McMillan until after the funeral, but intimated that the vacancy would undoubtedly be left to the state legislature to fill in the regular way, as that body convenes in January next, unless some unexpected contingency should render a temporary appointment advisable. He will necessarily be guided by circumstances which may arise.

Proclamation by Governor Bliss.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 10, 1902.

Hon. James McMillan, United States senator from Michigan, died Sunday, Aug. 10, 1902, in his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Death same swiftly and very unexpectedly, with one stroke ending the active and highly honorable career of one of the most eminent of Michigan's many illustrious public men. But slightly past his sixty-fourth birthday, in the maturity of a vigorous life, he had the promise of many years of useful service and his untimely demise will be generally regretted. A self-made man, resolutely he climbed the ladder of success in both business and public life, at all times clear of head and keen of judgment, a man to be depended upon, a true friend, honest of purpose and fair in his dealings with all men. In his home relations, where American manhood is at its best, he was a loving husband and a devoted father. Thrice elected to represent this commonwealth in the United States senate, by very force of character he became a leader in that august body, applying to the solution of the problems of legislation the sharpened judgment of a business man, and bringing to the execution of tasks intrusted to him executive ability of a high order. His death is a distinct loss to the nation as well as to the state.

As a mark of public respect, until after the funeral, the flags on the capitol and at all other state buildings will be displayed at half-staff. During the funeral services all state departments will be closed and as far as circumstances will admit the justices of the supreme court, state officers and heads of departments are requested to attend the obsequies.

(Signed) A. T. BLISS,
Governor.

EXPLOSION AT ADRIAN.

Young Man Killed and Five Other Persons Injured.

Adrian, Mich., Aug. 11.—Aa 8:45 Saturday morning the boiler at the Excelcior laundry, 50 West Maumee street, exploded, and young James Oram, a son of the proprietor, was instantly killed; Carl Hall, the engineer so badly hurt that he will die, and five others were seriously injured.

The building, a two-story frame structure, is practically a complete wreck. The boiler was in the rear portion and had been used for some time by Mr. Oram. The front was used for the laundry machinery and the office. The explosion tore the back end of the building to pieces. The whole interior was gutted, the machinery twisted and broken.

The dead: James Oram, blown to pieces. The injured: Carl Hall, engineer, leg broken in three places, face and body scalded; unconscious and will die. Mrs. Mary Metamore, laundress, right leg broken, ankle crushed, cut about head and face, spine hurt. Ben Bauchey, badly burned and cut about the face and head. Anna Baughey, laundress, slightly cut. William Oram, cut about head and body. Daisy Horner, laundress, arm dislocated by falling timber. Otto Krueger, pressman, struck on head and back by bricks.

Modern Teaching.

"How is it, my dear," inquired a schoolteacher of a little girl, "that you do not understand this simple thing?"

"I do not know, indeed," she answered, with a perplexed look, "but I sometimes think I have so many things to learn that I have not time to understand."—Schoolmaster.

WAS IT SET AFIRE?

Big Washery in the Mining District Burned.

STRIKERS ARE SUSPICIONED

Troops Rescue Small Family From Violence of Neighbors—Foreigners Are in a Sad Frame of Mind—Soldiers Jerred At.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Capouse washery of the Scranton Coal company, a branch of the Ontario & Western coal department, was destroyed Friday afternoon by a fire of unexplainable origin.

The flames were discovered a few minutes after the force of men returned from dinner. The company officials allege that the place was set afire during the noon hour, when the men were away at dinner and when only one man was about the plant. The fact that a washery fire was unknown until the Bellevue washery burned, a week ago yesterday, tends to lend color to the suspicion that the flames were not of accidental origin. The washery was built two years ago and is the largest in this region, holding the record for production, having once turned out 36,000 tons of coal in one month. It resumed operations July 15, and was employing sixty men.

The plant was completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $35,000. Because of the fact that a washery is for the most part saturated with water when in operation, the coal companies do not have them insured.

The Dodge colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Co., located at the southern boundary of the city, resumed work yesterday with 200 men.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 9.—A platoon of the governor's troop of cavalry went to Turkey Run Hill yesterday on an errand of mercy and rescued a small family from violence of the neighbors. There had been petty acts of violence reported from that territory nearly every day for a week. Friday Brigadier-General Gobin received a pathetic letter from the wife of a nonunion workman who is employed in the Gilbertin colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co., in which she tells of the treatment accorded her by strikers in that vicinity. Among other things, she said rocks had been thrown through the windows at night, one of them nearly striking her sleeping child; the house was damaged, and while she was out doors one night a shot was fired at her. She also said crowds gathered around the house, hooted and jeered at her and the child and hung crape on the door. Her husband, she concluded, was compelled to stay in the mines in order to earn money to keep them from starving, and as he could not leave his work she asked the commanding office rof the troops here to protect her. Turkey Run Hill has no police protection, and General Gobin decided to help the woman.

He learned that she was not in the best of health, and it was decided that she had better be taken from the place to the Pottsville hospital. To carry this out, the general ordered a platoon of cavalry to make a demonstration in that section, and while there to escort the woman and child to the railroad station. This was done.

The troops rode all over the territory and found that the population, which is made up of many foreigners, was not in the best frame of mind. The soldiers were hooted and jeered and called uncomplimentary names. Only one stone was thrown at the horsemen, and this was done by someone in a crowd on a hill out of reach of the soldiers. The cavalrymen stopped their horses and the crowd scattered instantly.

The two Lituanians who were yesterday held responsible for the death of Joseph Beddall in the riots of last week were committed without bail to the county jail at Pottsville on the charge of murder. Another Lithuanian charged with rioting was released on $2,000 bail. It is understood that a large number of other arrests will be made and more charges of murder will be brought.

The Rapid Moving Fly.

The rapidity with which insects travel is astonishing. The common house fly makes 600 strokes per second when in the act of ordinary flight, that number of strokes causing an advance movement of twenty-five feet. Our best naturalists say that this can be increased sevenfold.

The HEART of DENISE

CHAPTER IV.

AT AMBAZAC.

THE road swept onward with gentle curves, at one time hanging to the edge of the hillside, at another walled in on either hand by rocks covered with fern and bracken, to whose jagged and broken surface — whereon purples, greens and browns seemed to absorb themselves into each other—there clung the yellow agrimony and climbing rose, with its sweet bloom full of restless, murmuring bees.

Sometimes the path lost itself in some cool arcade of trees, where the sunlight fell in oblique golden shafts through the leaves that interlaced overhead, and then suddenly, without warning, we would come to a level stretch on which the marguerites lay thick as snowflakes, and across which the wind bustled riotously.

As we cantered along side by side my companion again broke forth into a joyous song that sprang full throated and clear from a heart that never seemed to have known a moment of pain. His was a lithe, leopardlike strength, and as I looked at him my thoughts ran back to the time when we first met, on his return from the Venetian embassy, whither he had gone when M. de Bruslart made a mess of things. I do not know why it was, but he singled me out for his particular notice, and, though it was openly known that he was betrothed to the second daughter of M. d'Ayen, I, like a fool, was flattered by the attentions of this gay and brilliant cavalier, and day by day we were thrown together more and more, and a sort of confidence was established between us that was almost more than friendship. There was, as I have said, that in his masterful way that had the effect of leaving me powerless, and, though he could put all its light in his eyes and all its tones in his voice, I felt instinctively that he did not love me, but was merely playing with me to exercise his strength and dragging me toward him with a resistless force. In short, the influence of De Clermont on me was never for my good, and our intercourse always left me with the conviction that I had sunk a little lower than before, and it was at times like these when I met De Lorgnac's grave eyes that I felt the unspoken reproach in their glance and would struggle to rise again, and then in the consciousness of my own folly I felt I fairly hated him for seeing my weakness. What right had De Lorgnac even to think of me? What did it matter to him what I did or said? So I used to argue with myself, yet in my heart of hearts I felt that my standard of right and wrong was being measured by what I imagined a man to whom I had hardly ever spoken might think.

When I make this confession and say that the influence of De Clermont over me was never for my good, I do not mean to imply that I was guilty of anything more than foolishness, but the effect of it was to sap my high ideas, and I now know that this man, aided by his surroundings—and they were all to his advantage—took the pleasure of a devil in lowering my moral nature and in molding me to become "of the world," as he would put it. God be thanked that the world is not as he would have made it. At that time, however, I was dazzled, all but overpowered, by him, and day by day my struggles were growing weaker, like those of some poor fly caught in a pitiless web. The knowledge of all this was to come to me later, when by God's help I escaped, but then I was blind and foolish and mad.

My companion's song was interrupted by Lalande, who came galloping back in hot haste and in no good temper to say that the whole party had halted to wait for me, and, quickening our pace, we hurried onward and found them about a mile farther on. To say that Mme. de Termes was surprised at seeing De Clermont is to say little, and I could see, too, that she was not very well pleased, but he spoke to her so fairly and gracefully that in spite of herself she thawed, and half an hour later he was riding at her bridle hand, bringing smiles that had long been absent to her face. He was overjoyed to hear of the vicomte's recovery and said many flattering things about him, for he knew him well, having served under him in the campaign of Languedoc, and then he went on to become more communicative about himself, saying that he was the bearer of a dispatch to the king of Navarre, adding, with a laugh, "a duplicate, you know, the original being carried by M. Norreys, the England free lance. Ma foi! But I should not be surprised if I reached the Bearnnois before the sluggish islander."

"Hardly, if you loiter here, M. le Marquis," I said.

"You must bear the blame for that, madame, but I will add that my orders are to pass through Perigueux as well, and so, madame"—and he turned to my friend—"if you will permit Raoul de Clermont to be your escort there he will look upon it as the most sacred trust of his life."

He bowed to his saddlebow and looked so winning and handsome that madame replied most graciously in the affirmative. A little beyond La Jonchere something very like an adventure befell us, the first on this hitherto uneventful journey. At the crossroad leading to Bourganeuf we met with a party of six or eight men who did not require a second glance to make us see that they were capable of any mischief. They had halted to bait their horses and, flung about in picturesque attitudes, were resting under the trees—as ill looking a set of fellows as the pleasant shade of the planes had ever fallen upon. Had they known beforehand that we were traveling this way they would very probably have arranged an attack on us, but as it was we came upon them rather suddenly, and as our party, which had been added to by De Clermont's two lackeys, was somewhat too strong to assault openly without the risk of broken heads and hard knocks—things which gentry of this kind do not much affect—they let us alone, contenting themselves with gathering into a group to watch us as we went by, and this we did slowly, our men with their arms ready. As we approached, however, and saw their truculent faces I had doubts as to whether we should pass them without bloodshed and begged De Clermont in a low v[illegible] to prevent any such thing. [illegible] a light rapier that he wore, but as I spoke he put it back with a snap and, holding out his hand, asked for the loan of my riding whip, a little, delicate, agate handled thing.

"It will be enough," he said as I gave it to him, and he began to swing it backward and forward, as if using it to flick off flies from his horse. To my joy they made no attempt to molest us, though at one time a quarrel hung on a cobweb, for as we passed the leader of the troop, a big, burly man, with a very long sword trailing at his side and a face as red as the constant dipping of his nose into a wine cup could make it, advanced a step into the wood and, wishing us the day, tried deliberately to get a better look at me, with an unspeakable expression in his eyes. I saw De Clermont's face grow cold and hard, and he quietly put his horse between me and the man and, checking it slightly, stretched out the whip and touched a not very clean white scarf the creature wore over his shoulder, saying:

"You are a trifle too near Limoges to wear this, my man. Take my advice and fling it away."

"That is my affair," answered the man insolently.

"Precisely, Captain la Coquille. I spoke but for your good. Ah, take care!" And De Clermont's horse, no doubt secretly touched by the spur, lashed out suddenly, causing the man to spring back with an oath and an exclamation of:

"You know me! Who the devil are you?"

To this, however, De Clermont made no answer, but as we passed on he returned my whip to me, saying: "I am glad I did not have to use it. It would have deprived you of a pretty toy had I done so."

"Thank you. Who is that horrible man? You called him by name."

"Yes, La Coquille. I know him by sight, though he does not know me. He was very near being crucified once and escaped but by a fluke. He is a robber, thief and perhaps a murderer, and"—

"And what?"

"And has something of a history. I believe he was a gentleman once and then went under—found his way to the galleys. After that he was anything, and perhaps I ought not to tell you, but in time he became De Lorgnac's sergeant—his confidential man—and it was only his master's influence that saved him from a well deserved death. It was foolish of De Lorgnac, for the man knew too many of his secrets and was getting dangerous. I hope I have not pained you," he added gently.

"Not in the least," I replied and rode on, looking straight before me. So this vile criminal was once my husband's confidential servant, was perhaps still connected with him in some of his dark designs, and then I said a bitter thing: "Like master, like man. Is that not the adage, monsieur?" But as the words escaped me I felt a keen regret.

"God help you, Denise," I heard De Clermont murmur as if to himself, and then he turned abruptly from me and joined Mme. de Termes, leaving me with a beating heart, for his words had come to me with a sense of undying, hopeless love in them, and he was so brave, he seemed so true and looked so handsome that my heart went out in pity for him. How the mind can move! In a moment there rose before me thoughts of a life far different from the one to which I was doomed, and with them came the grim specters of the vows that bound me forever and that I would have to keep. God help me! Yes, I needed help. De Clermont was right.

We passed on, leaving the gang still under the plane trees, and soon came in view of Ambazac, lying amid its setting of waving cornfields. Here for a little time we suddenly missed De Clermont and one of his lackeys, and both madame and I were much concerned, for the same thought struck us both that he had lagged behind and then gone off hot foot to punish La Coquille. We were about to turn after him when he came in sight, followed by his man, and caught us up, riding with a free rein. He perhaps saw the inquiry in my look, for he said softly to me, "I went back to pick up a souvenir I had dropped," and his eye fell on the lapel of his coat, where my rose was, a little, however, the worse for wear. After that he did not speak to me, but kept by madame and devoted himself to her with a delicacy for which I was grateful, for I felt I wanted all my thoughts for myself.

At Ambazac, which we reached after a little, we found good accommodations at a large inn, although the town was full, it being the fete of St. Etienne de Muret, and after taking some light refreshments madame and I retired to our apartments to rest until the supper hour, for we were wearied. We supped in the common hall, but at a small table, a little apart from the others, and De Clermont, who sat next to me, gave madame an interesting account of the defense of Ambazac made by her husband against the Prince of Conde. It was while he was detailing the incidents of this adventure that, with a great clattering and much loud talking, La Coquille and his men entered the dining room and began to shout for food and drink. Most of the people in the inn, being common country-folk and unarmed, made way for the crew with haste, and even an expression of alarm appeared on Lalande's face, for our own servants were but six in number, including the baggage drivers and madame's maid and my own, who of course were useless, and two of our manservants were at the moment attending to the horses; so that we were at a decided disadvantage, and La Coquille was not slow to perceive this.

"Dame," he exclaimed, looking toward us, "here are my popinjay and his sugar plum. Look you, my good fellow! Join those boys there while I bask in beauty's smiles."

His men crowded round our servants with rough joking, and he, picking up a stool, placed it at our table and held out an immense greasy paw to me.

"Shake hands, ma mignonne! Never mind the old lady and the silk mercer. There is no lover like a brave soldier."

"THE BIGGEST LITTLE SHOOT ON EARTH"

GIVEN BY THE TECUMSEH GUN CLUB

TECUMSEH MERCHANTS GAVE LIBERALLY IN BOTH MERCHANDISE AND CASH.

"Grand-dad" Wilson fixed it up with Old Probabilities that Friday, the 8th, should be a decent day. Old Prob served an injunction on Jupiter Pluvius and the heavenly stand-pipe stopped overflowing for just twenty-four hours.

This was all that was necessary to complete perfect arrangements for the biggest and best amateur shoot ever given in Michigan.

Every train brought its quota of shooters and when the first squad was called there were fifty crack shots in readiness to face the traps. Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo and all the minor cities in this section were well represented.

From 9:30 in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon the biff, bang of smokeless powder was almost incessant. Twelve thousand "blue rocks" were thrown from two sets of traps, twelve thousand charges of chilled shot were hurled at them, and six hundred dollars in prize money and prizes were distributed amongst the shooters.

The traps were keyed up to a high pitch and threw the targets to the limit. A fresh breeze blew from right to left across the score, and this, combined with the brilliant rays of old Sol kept the marksmen guessing. The best of them "fell down" occasionally and no phenomenal scores were made.

The Stanley brothers, formerly of Tecumseh, won first and second high average. Scott, of Grass Lake, was third whilst Mills, Fitzsimmons and Wilson came next in order named. The prize for the lowest average for the entire day, an order on Dr. W. D. Reed to pull two teeth without charge, fell to the lot of Ad. Collum of Ann Arbor, Another old Tecumseh boy. Mr. Collum, had an everage of 72 per cent.

The seventh event was for a solid silver loving cup originally put up by the Adrian Gun Club and won their recent shoot by "Pontius Pilate" Wood of Detroit, with a straight score of twenty-five. In this contest Mr. Wood lost to F. E. Sayers, of Leslie. Mr. Sayers scored 23 birds to Mr. Woods 22. The decisive shoot between these two gentlemen will be at Battle Creek on the first day of September.

The success of the shoot was largely due to the expedition with which the large number of shooters were handled from the time they were called to score until they were paid their prize money.

As squad hustlers Will Hicks and Faron Anderson are without a peer. As official score keeper Don Bowen displayed a capacity which will undoubtedly land him as "Keeper of the Great Roll of K. P's." Will Fisher, Bert Lowe and Jerry Blocher kept the business end straight and acted as if they had been in a counting room all previous days.

The fact of the matter is that the Gun Club is under obligations to so many of its friends that it is impossible to mention even a quarter of those who contributed to the success of the day. It was a big success, and everyone connected with it from the man who donated hard cash or worthy prize, down to the little chap who set the traps may feel that he has assisted in placing Tecumseh in the front rank of Michigan trap-shooting towns.

Appended is a compilation of the scores made by each individual. The letters at top of colums indicate the various events. "S" indicates sweepstake, "M" indicates merchandise event and "T" indicates the trophy event.

WADS.

"Bon Marche" Wolcott stayed over night as he is afraid of the cars after dark.

Orren Scotten said he was getting in practice to shoot a bull moose on the wing.

C. C. Fish received many compliments on the excellent viands he served amongst the shooters.

"Old Dog" Snow wasn't so much to be afraid of after all. He wiggled through with 84 per. which isn't so bad but which isn't invincible.

Ad Collum distinguished himself by shooting a twenty-five bird race with the Chief Squad Hustler and getting nine out of the twenty-five.

Doc. Allen loads were lost in transmit and a strange dose of powder and shot kept the usually unerring doctor out of the money most of the time.

Col. Bill Thompson wasn't in his usual fine form, due, undoubtedly, to an aggravated case of automobile nerve which he has recently contracted.

Jack Parker was barred from shooting on one leg, but he violated the rule and generally got his bird too. The gen al Jack can shoot on one leg about as well as on two.

Joe Marks says that blue rocks are too small game for him since he joined the "Burglar Extermination Society". This may, in part, account for Joe's low average.

If Guthard's Brothers could pitch as well as he can shoot, Tecumseh might might not now be wearing so many ball scalps at her belt. Had he been to shoot the last three events in as good as the other eleven he would have bagged high average.

The opinion seemed to be unanimous that the Tecumseh boys had given the best shoot in the state this year and the whole "bunch" wanted to know when another "Biggest Little" would be pulled off.

Too True to Be Profitable.

"How about that historical novel?" asked the publisher.

"No good at all," answered the reader to whom it had been assigned. "The man doesn't understand how to write historical novels, and he hasn't perverted the truth as we know it enough to make any kind of a rumpus among the critics. His book would fall flat."—Chicago Post.

Two Babies For a Cent.

A novel poster was seen by a recent sojourner in Nova Scotia. It was printed on rough paper with red paint, in a childish hand, and was tacked to a telegraph pole in a conspicuous position: "There will be a concert and fair in Mrs. Parson's sitting room today at 2 o'clock sharp. Admission—adults, 5 cents; children, 2 cents; babies, two for [illegible]"

Doing as He Was Told.

"What on earth," said a gentleman to his son, "are you doing up there, Johnny, sitting on the horse's back, when you ought to be at school?"

"Teacher said I was to write a composition on a horse," said the boy, "and I'm trying to, but it's awful dif'cult, 'cos he will keep moving so. I s'pose that's why teacher gave it to us to do, ain't it?"

One Wife's Cautious Claim.

"Is your wife one of those women who look at their husbands and say, 'I made a man of him?'" asked the impertinent friend.

"No," answered Mr. Meekton. "Henriettta is very unassuming. She merely says she has done her best."—Washington Star.

Too Much For Papa.

"Papa, do you know how to reach a conclusion?"

"Certainly. Do you?"

"Easy. Just take a train."

"What are you talking about?"

"A train of thought."

"Go to bed."—New York Herald.

D. P. Anthony and H. E. Stout were in Detroit Tuesday, purchasing more new machinery for the Anthony Fence Co. Several more mechanics are being employed and more looms to be in operations as soon as possible. They have demonstrated they can make the best fence in America, and there is every prospect that Tecumseh will soon have good reason to be proud of.

Don't Forget It.

Next Friday the big Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. will be here. The tent will seat 2,500 people and 500 reserved opera chairs. The company is a large one and the ever popular drama will be enacted upon a stage 42x64, with elegant scenery and wonderful mechanical effects. Prof. Ballinger's band of 20 pieces is the finest musical organization in the show business.

The show travels on its own special train of cars which are marvels of beauty. Don't miss the street parade at noon. Plenty of up-to-date, clean specialties are promised and the admission is 15 and 25c.

CHASE REUNION

Seventh Annual Reunion Held at Rev. L. C. Chase's

AT RAISIN CENTER

With Attendance of Nearly 100.

The seventh annual reunion of the Chase family was held at the home of Rev. L. C. Chase, Raisin Center, Mich., Thursday, Aug. 7, 1902, with an attendance of nearly 100.

A large tent had been provided for the occasion, which came very acceptable on account of the inclement weather. A little after noon an elegant dinner was served, after which the President, Dr. E J. Chase, called the company together for election of officers and committees, which resulted as follows:

Pres.—Dr. Nixon, Holloway.
Vice Pres.—Pelegg Chase, Adrian
Sec. and Treas—Merton Smith, Adrian

After attending to the rest of the business of the day a fine program was rendered. Ice cream and cake were then served. Those who attended from here were: Messrs and Mesdames Jas. Henderson and family, R J. W. Bowen and family, Comfort Chase, D. H. Chase and family, Mrs. D. Anthony and grandson Roger.

All were Saved.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from bronchitis" writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. EXPLOSION

Excelsior Laundry Boiler Explodes.

ADRIAN

Greatly Excited over the Accident.

Parallel to the grand stand disaster, which occurred in Adrian many years ago, was the horrible explosion that occurred in that city at 8:45 o'clock Saturday morning.

The explosion was something terrific and will be remembered by Adrian people for many years to come. The building in which the laundry was situated is a complete wreck, located as it was at 50 West Maumee street, it was in the business center of the city. The falling of glass, the cries of the injured as well as excited persons, made the scene one of indescribable confusion. It was hard for a few moments to realize what had happened, so sudden did it all occur, but as the people gathered their wits together, they began to realize the horribleness of the catastrope.

Buildings were shaken in every part of Adrian, people were running in every direction to get out of the way of falling debris. The laundry where the explosion occurred was a frame structure and has been occupied for some time by Arthur Oram. The front building was used for the laundry machinery and in the extreme front was the office part, in which was a large machine for ironing large pieces.

The boiler when it exploded completely demolished the rear of the building, machinery was twisted and broken in pieces, parts of the boiler were thrown long distances. The dome of the boiler, weighing about 450 or 500 pounds was deposited over five hundred feet away. The immediate cause of the catastrophe is due to a defective safety valve.

The following is the list of dead and injured: Dead—James Oram, instantly killed. Fatally injured—Carl Hall, of Blissfield, engineer, left leg broken three times, body badly burned and cut, will die. Seriously injured—Mrs. Mary Metamore, right leg broken, ankle crushed, head and face cut. Slightly injured—Ben. Baughey, burned about face and head; Willie Oram, burned and cut about face and head; Anna Baughey, shoulder dislocated; Mrs. Chas. Lincoln, knocked down; Daisy Honert, left shoulder injured; Otto Krueger, thigh bruised slightly.

Faithful to His Trade

James Pocklington of Tecumseh, has probably held his job longer than any employe in the state, and it is not a political snap either. Before the war, he was a miller at the Globe mills. He was a trusted employe, and when the trumpet sounded for men to help save the flag he donned the uniform of Uncle Sam, and while Judge Durand was valiantly fighting for a street opening in the Flint council, Jim was eating hardtack and bacon, and following the confederate army to its defeat.

On his return Jim found his place awaiting him, and he threw down his knapsack and canteen, put on his miller,s uniform and resumed duty as if nothing had ever happened. He has been with the mill through all its changes and though there has been a change of proprietors to a certain extent, Jim has not changed, and he has been faithful to his position where he has served 44 years.

And he did not abandon the democracy either, but steadfastly opposed tarriff robbery, centralized government, gold standard, and imperialism, though he lost sight of Durand during the fight for democracy, the latter having got the Cleveland sulks, and, helped turn the guns on his party. He hardly reconized him when he bobbed up asking for support last week. Mr. Pocklington is in good health, is regarded as the acme of good citizenship and faithful employe.—Adrian Press.

The whisper of a beautiful woman can be heard farther than the loudest yell of duty.

FAST BALL

Tecumseh still Continues to Play Winning Games

ADRIAN

AGAIN DEFEATED ON THEIR OWN GROUNDS FRIDAY.

INDEPENDENTS

OF DETROIT, BEATEN BY A SCORE OF 6 TO 4. YESTERDAY'S GAME WITH

JACKSON

A Hot Contest for Supremacy.

Tecumseh administered defeat to the Adrian team for the second time Friday. The game was played at Adrian and was a hot contest from start to finish. A large crowd of rooters from here accompanied the team to the city and did their part in winning the game.

Sanger was in the box for Tecumseh, and Renchard twirled the ball for Adrian, both struck out 11 men. Six hits were made off Sanger, while 12 were recorded against Renchard. Beasley made a pretty three bagger for Adrian in the fifth inning, but Sanger pulled his belt a notch tighter and prepared to work hard. Grueschow, the next man, popped a fly out to left fielder Gillen, who bagged it, while Parm and Crieger both struck out, leaving Beasley on third. Schiappacasse made a two bagger in the fifth and Duvall made a two bagger in the first both scoring for Tecumseh. This makes two games apiece for Tecumseh and Adrian. The score was 8 to 2 in favor of Tecumseh.

INDEPENDENTS.

Saturday's game was a second defeat for the Independents of Detroit. This team is a strong organization, and owing to reinforcements is much stronger than when it played here before. The game was close all the way through and at the start the score looked much against Tecumseh, but as the game progressed Tecumseh jollied up, and took the lead.

Schiappacasse proved himself the hero of the diamond, gaining much applause by catching an almost impossible liner, for which he had to resort to some pretty high jumping. Harris was in the box for Tecumseh and only four scores were obtained by the Independents, one in the first by Miller, two in the second by Slack and Miller, and one in the ninth by Densmore.

Tecumseh brought in six runs as follows, one in first by Schiappacasse, three in the fourth, Harris, Duvall and Chaffee each running in the sixth made by Furnham, another in the ninth by Furnham. Rapid playing was a feature of both sides, and Tecumseh only won by hard playing.

The result is as follows:

JACKSON LEAGUE VS. TECUMREH

All who witnessed the game of ball between Jackson and Tecumseh, saw the best sport of the season. Hard playing on both sides was the star feature of the game. Jacksen followed in the footsteps of Battle Creek, making two league teams bowing to defeat.

Martin puzzled the visitors by his masterly handling of the ball, his good work held Jackson down to five hits and three runs, the three runs being made in the ninth inning. Nothing but ciphers greeted the spectators until the fourth inning, when Tecumseh warmed up and scored for three runs, Furnham, Duvall and Gillen each tallying one run.

In the fifth inning Schiappacasse made a safe hit for first and through an error at third, scored. France popped a fly to Thomas and was put out, Furnham made a base hit, but died on his base. Duvall was caught out on a foul fly and Gillen struck out retiring the side.

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings resulted in nothing but ciphers for Jackson. In the ninth Hoff was thrown out at first by Duvall, Foy lined one out in Gillen's field to the fence and went under it. The ball was then thrown back over the fence by a "kid" and was lost in the high grass, thus enabling Foy to score a home run out of what should have been but a two base hit. Holmes made a safe hit and scored, Dushane struck out, Thomas scored. Dwyer made first on an error of France, Ceiger popped a pretty fly to Gorton who bagged, it retiring the side.

Tecumseh failed to tally in the sixth and seventh innings. In the eighth Martin and Schiappacasse each scored closing the game with the score 6 to 3 in Tecumseh's favor. Schiappacasse handled the stick like a true Tecumseh player. In five times at bat he made four hits. Gillen four times at bat made three hits. In yesterday's game the ball was batted over the fence for the first time this season, each team placing one over.

Following is the score:

Last Saturday, Tecumseh sent the Walkerville, Ont., club home with a basket of goose eggs, a companion dish to the one presented Adrian, a few days previous. The old goose of that club has to do business every day, in order to meet the demand for eggs for visitors. Today Tecumseh will play the Dakota Chiefs here. Let Adrian give the Tecumseh braves a warm welcome, and a courteous greeting. Tecumseh is doing much to uphold the base ball banner of Lenawee, and it is a club to be proud of. We hope our boys will be able to put up good, clean fast ball, and win by superior work and if we do, it will prove we have a very strong club. —Adrian Press.

Clearing Sale.

Harris & Hiteshu announce in another column a great midsummer clearing sale. Would it not be well to call and see wnat the great bargains are.

Contentment is the result of limited imagination.

He Was a Financier.

Two members of the Chicago Stock Exchange went to a restaurant for luncheon, and after a hasty glance at the bill of fare each announced what he wanted.

"I'm for a fried bass," said one.

"Ditto," said the other. "Waitress, two fried bass, please."

In a few minutes the two bass on a platter and two plates were placed on the table. One bass was larger than the other, and the financier before whom the platter had been placed calmly passed the smaller bass to his companion.

"Now I call that a downright mean trick!" said the man who received the smaller bass.

"What is a mean trick?"

"Why, to give me the smaller bass and keep the big one for yourself."

"What would you have done if you had been serving the fish?"

"I should certainly have given you the larger one."

"Well, in that case I should have had the larger one. I've got it now. What more do you want?"

The argument did not seem convincing, but at the moment the other man was unable to find a satisfactory answer to it.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Sacred Chinese Coin.

One of the coins of the Chinese Emperor Kanghi is very much sought after by the Chinese, who use it in making rings for the finger. It is slightly different from the other cash issued under the same emperor in the form of one of the characters that indicate the regnal period. The Chinese call it "Lohan cash," the word Lo-han being a transcript in Chinese characters of the Sanskrit word Arhan, "venerable," the name applied to the eighteen attendants of Buddha, who are frequently seen ranged along the two sides of the principal halls in Buddhist temples.

The tradition is that while the emperor was intimately associated with European missionaries he became imbued with a feeling of contempt for Buddhism and illustrated this phase of his faith by having a set of eighteen brass Lo-han images melted down and cast into cash. This brass is said to contain a considerable portion of gold; hence the demand for the cash.

She Had to Diet.

Doctors sometimes give their directions for taking drugs or other treatment in language beyond the comprehension of the patient. Occasionally tragic, but more often amusing, mistakes occur thereby. Judge tells one of the amusing kind, although it might have been uncomfortable at least.

A small colored girl went to a drugstore and said to the clerk, "Ma mammy wants some of de handsomest dye ye got."

"The handsomest?" repeated the clerk. "Well, I don't know. What does she want it for?"

"She done got de misery in her stummick, and de doctor say she must dye it, and she say if she hab got ter dye it she want it a handsome color."

The Force of Example.

When we read the life stories of men and women, we ourselves participate to some extent in their own experiences. Insensibly we place ourselves in the situations in which they found themselves, and the problems which confronted them seek their solution in our own brains, Their difficulties, their stumblings, their triumphs, become personal lessons by which we may get a wider experience of life than comes to us in our ordinary avocations, so that when the time comes when we are called upon for some momentous decision or to pursue some special line of conduct we have a precedent to guide us to the right course.—Scottish-American.

makes every buggy or sleigh as comfortable for three persons as two, either adult or child. By the use of this seat the third person occupies the same position (over the limbs of the other two) but all the weight and inconvenience is removed from the other occupants. It needs no fastening and fits any vehicle. It does not wear or ruin the cushion, as nothing comes in contact with it but the lower carpet. When not in use it folds and can be put in the box with the curtains. The intention of the Ideal seat is not to encourage three riding in a buggy, but to remove the necessity for suffering and inconvenience when necessary for three to occupy seat.

Mr. George Merritt, well known busiman and proprietor of the cigar manufactory, says:

"I can testify to the honesty and worth of Doan's Kidney Pills. There is no humbug about them. I was annoyed for some time with a dull aching pain in my back, at times quite severe. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and after taking them a short time I found they were helping me. Finally the pain in my back disappeared entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for all kidney ailments."

BURNED TO A CRISP

Frightful Fire in a San Angelo Texas Hotel.

SEVEN LOST THEIR LIVES

Three Others Yet Unaccounted For—Night Clerk Discovered Flames—Guests Awakened by Discharge of Guns—Other Buildings Burned.

San Angelo, Tex., Aug. 11.—A fire discovered in the Landon hotel early Sunday by the night clerk destroyed the structure entirely, burning seven persons to a crisp and doing a property damage of $75,000.

The dead: Mrs. Landon, wife of the proprietor of the hotel. Ed Hendrick of Waco, Tex. Mrs. Fowler of Houston, Tex., and her grandson. Mrs. Schulimpsky of Houston and two sons.

All of the bodies that have been recovered are fearfully charred and in no condition to be moved, except in blankets.

When the clerk discovered the flames the interior of the diningroom was a mass of flame, and he could not get through. He rushed up the main stairway, kicking the doors, calling out at the top of his voice and making noise in every way in his power.

Most of the guests were aroused by this means and by the discharge of firearms as some of the first guests got out. There were seventy-five persons in the house and all of them got out safely with the exception of the seven named and three others, who have not yet been located, but who are believed to be safe. The seven women and children got out on a small balcony and were told to jump into blankets which were being held for them, but they failed to do so and delayed until the gallery fell back into the flames, which were destroying the big frame house.

In addition to the hotel, three stables and half a dozen stores were burned, only the greatest effort preventing the entire business section of the town from being destroyed.

Bathed In His Blood.

New York, Aug. 11.—Pietro Guardina, a Neopolitan fish dealer of Brooklyn, was murdered by a Sicilian, Antonio Zirotoli, in Bulberry Bend Sunday. Zirotoli is eighty-two years old, but he wielded a knife, which his wife handed to him, with deadly precision and force sufficient to sever Guardina's jugular. The Neapolitan's wife and two children, his brother and several other relations were with him when he was murdered, and in a frenzy of grief they knelt beside the body and bathed their faces with the blood that flowed from the wound. The stabbing was the outcome of a street altercation, of which Zirotoli was merely a spectator at first. The old man became enraged as the fight proceeded and, suddenly running forward, plunged a knife into Guardina's neck.

A Fatal Lovers' Quarrel.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 11.—During a lover's quarrel at the Woman's home Sunday, Harry S. Weston shot Bertha T. Brown and himself. The woman was shot in the left temple, the bullet coming out of the right cheek. Watson was shot over the right ear, the bullet penetrating the brain and being split in four parts. Both are at the hospital and cannot recover. They are each twenty-three years of age. The woman is the wife of Robert H. Brown, but was not living with her husband.

People In Great Distress.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Aug. 11.—The people of Petit Goave, to the west of here, are in great distress and have asked for assistance. It was reported from Port au Prince Aug. 6 that further government reinforcements had started for Petit Goave to aid government forces beaten there by the revolutionists.

How She Made a Profit.

In Paris a gentleman who is very fond of fine paintings bought for 15,000 francs a work entitled "The Bride of Abydos" and was congratulating himself on becoming its possessor when he suddenly remembered that his wife disliked very much to see him spend his money in this manner.

"How can I avoid a scene?" he asked himself. "If I say that the painting cost 15,000 francs, there will be an awful time, and so I'd better say 7,000. No; I'll say 4,000."

By this time he had reached home, and when he saw his wife he told her unblushingly that he had just secured a beautiful work of art for the nominal sum of 3,000 francs. At this good news she seemed more disconcerted than pleased, but said nothing, and the painting was hung up.

Next day the gentleman was obliged to go to the south of France, and when he returned after a week's absence his wife met him with a beaming countenance and said: "I've done a good stroke of business while you were away. You know that painting you bought for 3,000 francs? Well, I sold it yesterday for 4,500, a clear profit of 1,500 francs!"

Aged People Killed by Car.

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—An aged man and woman were killed last night by a trolley car on the Willow Grove & Doylstown railway. They were riding in a carriage and attempted to cross the tracks in front of the car, which struck the vehicle and killed the occupants. The names of the victims have not been ascertained.

A pleasant surprise was given Miss Louise Clarke in the form of a kitchen shower, at her home, Saturday evening, by her young lady friends.

Mrs. Louise Bigelow, of Jackson, and Miss Hattie Bigelow, of Birmingham, Ala., were guests of Mrs. Sara Wastell from Saturday until Tuesday.

Our citizens are making preparations for a grand celebration of Sports' Day Saturday, Aug. 16. There will be races ball games and balloon ascension to afford entertainment for visitors,

Fred Kilby will give a dance at the town hall Saturday evening, the dance program includes quadrill for those who do not participate in the round dances. Grey's orchestra will furnish the music.

Shatters all Record.

Twice in hospital, F. A. Gulledge, Verbena, Ala., paid a vast sum to doctors to cure a severe case of piles, causing 24 tumors. When all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve soon cured him. Subdues inflammation, conquers aches, kills pains. Best salve in the world, 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

Foley's Kidney Cure will cure all dis eases arising from disordered kidneys or bladder. J. J. Orr.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by J. J. Orr.

Prohibitionists Refused to Alter Their Platform.

SELECTED THEIR CANDIDATES

Walter Westerman of Lenawee Is Candidate Nominated For Governor—Venerable John Russell Addressed the Gathering.

For Governor—Walter Westerman, Lenawee.
For Lieutenant-Governor — W. A. Hart, Tuscola.
For Secretary of State—Dr. A. M. Lowther, Wayne.
For State Treasurer—Manley M. Chase, Barry.
For Auditor-General—A. B. Armstrong, Ingham.
For Attorney-General—W. H. G. Fox, Macomb.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction—Prof. J. G. Ward, Hillsdale.
For Commissioner of State Land Office—George N. Roelofs, Kent.
For Member State Board of Education—George Laubach, Washtenaw.
For Justice of Supreme Court—Judge Noah W. Cheever, Washtenaw.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—Though a scarcity of candidates prevented any friction in the nomination of a state ticket by the Prohibitionists of Michigan, in session yesterday at Simpson M. E. church, the adoption of a platform was prolific of quite a respectable scrap.

The committee on resolutions brought in two reports, Charles R. Evans of Greenville, standing alone as the minority. He wanted to augment the Prohibition issue with a vigorous anti-trust declaration, and a demand fo rcompulsory arbitration of disputes between capital and labor. F. W. Corbett, chairman of the state central committee, entered a spirited protest, saying:

"We must avoid the shoals and breakers which at other times have nearly wrecked our organization. There are certain planks in this minority report which many would doubtless applaud, but which others would probably deplore. When we begin to put in divisive issues we take away our last chance for success. We are for the one issue, prohibition, first, last and all the time."

The venerable John Russell, known as the father of prohibition, spoke along the same line. Mr. Evans made a final plea for his platform, but was turned down cold, the majority report being adopted with but two dissenting votes. The platform declares for prohibition and women's suffrage.

In the congressional conventions held yesterday, E. R. Bragg of Monroe was named for the second district, and Rev. John Scott of Memphis for the seventh.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Michigan pensions were granted Friday as follows: Original—Charles N. Holden, Saginaw, $6; Amos Naughton, Jackson, $6; Marvin R. Monroe, Owosso, $6. War with Spain, increase—William White, Peach Belt, $16. Widows—Parnelia Holbrook, Fife Lake, $8; Friederika Parish, Detroit, $8; Ella Webb, Athens, $8; Martha A. Bunnell, Kalamazoo, $12; Harriet L. Burns, Adamsville, $12; Nancy Totten, Detroit, $8.

Michigan Leads In Beets.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Statistics compiled by the department of agriculture on the acreage of sugar beets show that 259,513 acres were sown all told this year, as against 137,925 acres last year. Michigan, with an area this year of 98,000 acres, shows an increase over the area of the preceding year of about 70 per cent, and for the first time in the history of the industry takes rank as the leading state in the area devoted to this product.

Farmers' Picnic Finished Him.

Alpena, Mich., Aug. 9.—Martin Anderson, a young Green township farmer, celebrated at the farmers' picnic and then went to George McGinnis' barn, wrapped himself in a blanket and curled up in the hay to sleep it off. Later he was found dead.

Burglars Busy at Ithaca.

Ithaca, Mich., Aug. 9.—Thieves broke into the department store of Henry McCormick and A. S. Barber's clothing store. They fitted themselves out plentifully with goods besides looting McCormick's cash register.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Normal School Closes.—The summer school at the Ypsilanti normal closed Friday. The attendance was 590, which surpasses the best former records by eighty-eight.

Oleo Offenders.—Deputy State Food Inspectors P. C. Heald and John McMahon got busy yesterday and took out five warrants charging Detroit grocers with selling colored oleo.

Dr. Leonard's New Job.—Dr. Albert Leonard is leaving Ypsilanti for Boston, where he will take editorial charge of the school book publishing department of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

Milford's Gala Day.—The carnival at Milford Friday was a grand success, the crowd of visitors being entirely too large for the accommodations provided. A fine program of sports was carried out, and included a baseball game between Brighton and Milford, sworn rivals for a long time, in which the visitors were beaten 6 to 5.

Lansing Minister to Japan.—After a conference with the foreign missionary board of the Methodist Protestant church at Pittsburg, Rev. F. A. Perry, pastor of the Lansing church of that denomination, has accepted an instructorship in the missionary school at Fhivvoka, Japan, and will leave with his family in October for the new field.

No Smoking.

There is one country in the world where it is considered a crime to smoke—Abyssinia. The law forbidding tobacco dates from the year 1642. It was at first merely intended to prevent priests from smoking in the churches, but it was taken too literally, and nowadays even foreigners have to be careful not to be seen smoking.

Conceded It.

"There's a burglar in the house, Benjamin," said Mrs. Frett, arousing her husband in the dead of the morning. "Hear that?" she continued. "It's surely the sound of a chisel. He's a safe burglar."

"You bet he is," sleepily returned Benjamin, turning over for another nap.—Richmond Dispatch.

Couldn't Improve the Method.

Mrs. Chugwater—I'd be ashamed to sleep in church the way you do.

Mr. Chugwater—I can't help it. It's the only way I know how to sleep.—Chicago Tribune.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

FOR COOL SEPTEMBER DAYS.

Miss matched effects are not very popular this season with two notable exceptions. One is the covert coat, to be worn with skirts of dark blue or black mohair or serge, and the other is the skirt of shepard's checked cheviot to be worn with close fitting body coats of dark blue or black matching the check. In this costume the coloring is black and white, the material being braid in radiating tucks, each of which shows a tiny piping of black cloth, and is stitched with black Corticelli silk to within about twelve inches of the edge, where it is freed to give the flare. The little close fitting Eton coat is made of black cloth, and shows the favorite velvet faced coat collar. The revers are faced with white moire, and ornamented with a single row of fancy braid.

FACT AND RUMOR.

The Story of One Postponed Cabinet Council In England.

Cabinet councils give rise at times to rumors that dodge fact and mislead public expectancy. One of Lord Beaconsfield's supplies a case in point. Queen Victoria, so runs the tale, was anxious about the state of wind and wave in the mid-Atlantic, which the Princess Louise happened then to be crossing. A lord in waiting knew a professor who was a weather diviner, and to him he went with a message from her majesty, who sent also a message to Lord Beaconsfield. The lord in waiting was sent to a theatrical supper—it was Sunday night—in search of the professor. Him he found in this lively company and was himself constrained to listen to the game of words that was passing round. Which would they choose if they had to marry, Gladstone or Disraeli? All said "Disraeli" except one, and she said "Gladstone, so that I might elope with Disraeli and break his heart."

The lord in waiting, much diverted, went forth and, finding Disraeli in rather low spirits, told him this tale as an instance of his great popularity with all classes of the queen's subjects. The whimsicality of the thing was congenial to Disraeli, who was kept waiting next day at a cabinet council for the arrival of an important colleague. To pass the time he told the assembled ministers the story of the theatrical supper. Lord Cairns (absit omen), hearing, did not smile, and his solemnity put out of countenance the prime minister, who at once made the nonarrival of the colleague an excuse for postponing the council for a couple of hours. The "balance of power" was then unstable, and that afternoon the papers had headings: "War Imminent. A Second Cabinet Council Summoned." For once the ladies of the stage made history and staggered the Stock Exchange.—London Chronicle.

Chopin rarely read anything heavier than a French novel.

Lord Clive said that "Robinson Crusoe" beat any book he ever read.

St. John Chrysostom never tired of reading or of praising the works of the apostle John.

James I. of England was a lover of the classics and very familiar with most of the Latin writers.

Bunyan read little besides his Bible and often said that Christians would do well to read no other book.

Salvator Rosa liked any kind of poetry, but more especially that relating to the country or to country scenes.

Hume said that Tacitus was the ablest writer that ever lived and himself tried to model his style on that of the Roman historian.

Locke gave most of his attention to works of philosophy. He said, "I stand amazed at the profundity of thought shown by Aristotle."

The elder Pitt liked Shakespeare, but not the labor of reading plays. He enjoyed hearing them and once said that he had learned more English history at the theater than at the university.—Literary Life.

Odd Records.

Records are kept with knotted cords in Polynesia. During the early part of the nineteenth century and previously the official taxgatherers on the island of Hawaii, in the Sandwich group, did all their accounts on a rope 2,400 feet long, which was divided into lengths, each corresponding to a district. Loops, knots and feathers tied along the rope served as memoranda for the hogs, pigs and pieces of sandalwood collected from taxpayers.

Long Flight of the Humming Bird.

That it may have the entire field to itself and escape the keen competition of hosts of tropical relatives for the nectar and minute insects in the deep tubed brilliant flowers that please him best that jeweled atom, the ruby throated humming bird, sole representative of his family east of the Mississippi, travels from Central America or beyond to Labrador and back again every summer of its incessantly active little life. Think what the journey from Yucatan even to New England must mean for a creature so tiny that its outstretched wings measure barely two inches across! It is the smallest bird we have. Wherein lodges the force that propels it through the sky at a speed and a height which take it instantly beyond the range of human vision?—Ladies' Home Journal.

Lack of Clothing In Uganda.

A lack of clothing was and probably still is the most salient characteristic of the Wa-Kavirondo. "I am afraid you will find them very naked!" said a missionary to me on the borders of their country, and so we did; nothing could have been nakeder. From their walled villages they issued in swarms and crowded round the tents to gaze upon us, monsieur, madame and bebe, without a rag to their names nor a clout between them, unless indeed a bead necklace or a hippopotamus tooth stuck behind the ear could be accounted clothing. An airy, buoyant folk, verily, and to missionary eyes a sad contrast to the semicivilized Waganda, with their greasy draperies of bark cloth.—Cornhill.

Madagascar's Two Climates.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and they rule the island.

McSwiney's Gun.

Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the seacoast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood, the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.

A Medicine for Old People.

Rev. Geo. Gay, Greenwich, Kas., is past 83 years of age, yet he says: "I am enjoying excellent health for a man of my age, due entirely to the rejuvenating influences of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It brings sleep and rest when nothing else will, and gives strength and vitality even to one of my old age."

"I am an old soldier," writes Mr. Geo. Watson, of Newton, Ia., "and I have been a great sufferer from nervousness, vertigo and spinal trouble. Have spent considerable money for medicine and doctors, but with little benefit. I was so bad my mind showed signs of weakness. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I know it saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Saved me from the insane asylum," Mrs. A. M. Heifner, of Jerico Springs, Mo., writes. "I was so nervous that I could scarcely control myself, could not sleep nor rest, would even forget the names of my own children at times. I commenced using Dr. Miles' Nervine and it helped me from the first, and now I am perfectly well."

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? AT CAMP HAWLEY

Governor Takes Up His Duties With State Troops.

CANNON FIRED JERKY SALUTE

Many Changes in Camp Functions—First General Orders Issued—Third Regiment Has New Officer—Governor Will Attend McMillan Funeral.

Camp Hawley, Manistee, Mich., Aug. 13.—The arrival of Governor Bliss last evening was the feature of Tuesday's proceedings in camp.

The governor and Mrs. Bliss and his secretary, Major Johnson, reached Manistee at 6 o'clock and were escorted into camp by the Second regiment. General Boynton and staff and the members of the governor's staff. The governor was in citizen's clothes and rode a horse.

The governor's salute of seventeen guns was fired in sections, but through no discourtesy to his excellency. The powder ordered failed to arrive and that secured in Manistee was woefully lacking in patriotism. It exploded whenever it got good and ready, with the result that the salute was a bit jerky, but it was finally pulled off.

New Camp Formation.

This year's camp function differs from that of last in many ways. The governor's staff will this year be found on the south end of the field. This change was necessitated by the more extended formation of the regiments. In former camps the regiments have been massed, now a considerable distance separates them. It is a mile between brigade and staff headquarters, and the regiments are separated by almost as great a distance.

The first general order was issued by General Boynton last night. It covers camp routine, and is of the same general tenor as those issued in former years. An innovation which the soldier boys will appreciate this year is the rifle range. Two battalions will indulge in target practice every day. The official inspector of the camp is Captain Alvord of the Twentieth infantry, U. S. A., who has been detailed for the duty.

Flags are at half-mast out of respect to Senator McMillan.

The naval reserves are expected to anchor off the bluffs on Saturday next. They are due for an inspection by the governor on Monday.

Major James S. Parker of Flint was last evening elected lieutenant-colonel of the Third regiment, to succeed W. S. McArthur, resigned. Captain W. T. Harms of Saginaw succeeds Major Parker.

Will Attend Funeral.

Governor Bliss and the members of his staff, with the exception of Quartermaster-General Kidd, will attend the funeral of Senator McMillan. The governor will leave here Thursday morning and stop off in Saginaw, while his staff will probably leave camp on Thursday night and go straight to Detroit. The governor and party will return to camp Saturday, and the former will review the troops on Monday or Tuesday.

The sham battle will occur Monday.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Foresters' Day.—Thursday will be Forester day at Pontiac. The local branch will entertain all the chapters of the Foresters of the county, and fully 6,500 people are expected.

President of Adrian College.—Dr. T. N. Lewis has been appointed president of Adrian college, vice Dr. David Jones, resigned. Dr. Lewis is president of Western Maryland college and will retain that position.

THE FIRST CLUE

Valuable Witness Found in Mysterious Chicago Murder.

A WOMAN IN BLACK

Says She Saw Thompson, Claffy and Stranger Under Suspicious Conditions on Morning of Murder—Thompson Likely to Confess.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—The police obtained their first clue of value in the Bartholin case last night, and developments that will go far toward solving the mystery are expected within twenty-four hours.

Inspector Hunt found a woman who declared that at daybreak on the morning following the night in which Minnie Mitchell disappeared in company with William Bartholin, she saw Oscar Thompson, driver for a laundry company, and who is now held in custody by the police; John Claffy, the barn boss for the same concern, and a man wearing a panama hat and a dark sack coat, at the corner of Seventy-fourth and State streets, where Minnie Mitchell's body was found. They were going back and forth in the weeks, and acting in a suspicious manner.

The description of the third man, as far as it describes anybody, is a description of Bartholin the night he was last seen with the Mitchell girl.

Thompson was then called into the office of the inspector and informed that he had been seen with Claffy and Bartholin on the morning following the night of the killing of the Mitchell girl. The information had a marked effect on Thompson, and he seemed for a minute to be on the point of collapse. He rallied, however, and declared that he was not there and knew nothing of the case in any way.

The woman was confronted with Thompson, and while he was forced to admit that he knew her, and she knew him, he denied her story. The woman declared that a light colored cap, which Thompson had attempted to throw away, was one that he wore at the time she saw him under the electric light.

When asked why he threw that cap away to wear the one he had on when he was arrested, he hesitated and then said:

"Give me until tomorrow. I will talk with you then."

This plea was taken as an indication that Thompson's wall of stolidity was broken down, at least by the strong evidence he had been confronted with, and the police think he will tell all he knows today.

Claffy, after Thompson, was confronted with the woman in black. He at first said he did not know her, but immediately afterward admitted that he did when she called him by name.

Philippine Army Reunion.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 14.—The third annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Philippines began in this city Wednesday with nearly 2,000 delegates and veterans in attendance. After a brief reception early in the day, the society was called to order in Arcanum hall by the president, General Irving Hale. Following the address of General Hale, routine business was taken up, the session lasting a greater part of the afternoon. A reception was held at Lake Manawa last night.

Dined American Officers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14.—Admiral Makaroff, governor of Cronstadt, gave a dinner on Monday to the captains and eight other officers of the American cruisers Chicago and Albany. The czar, the dowager czarina, Marie, the queen the Greece, Princess Marie of Greece, and the Grand Dukes Michael Alexandrovitch and Alexis have visited the American and other warships.

May Appoint McMillan's Successor.

Camp Hawley, Manistee, Mich., Aug 14.—When told that President Roosevelt would probably convene the senate in extra session in November, Governor Bliss said: "Well, that may affect my position with reference to filling the vacancy caused by Senator McMillan's death." "Then you may name his successor?" "Well, just say that the proposed extra session may affect the situation. It won't right away, but I'll think it over."

IN ANNUAL MEETS

Elks and K. P.'s Assemble in Western Cities.

ELKS ELECT GRAND OFFICERS

Twelve Thousand of the Order at Salt Lake—Michigan Man Elected Grand Secretary—K. P.'s Listen to Annual Reports.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 13.—Utah and Salt Lake City extended a royal welcome to the hosts of visiting Elks at the Mormon tabernacle Tuesday. Facing many thousand members of that fraternity, representatives of every section of the country, Judge C. W. Powers of Salt Lake bade them welcome to the city. Governor Heber M Wells laid before them as their own the state of Utah and the riches thereof. The meeting, which followed an immense military and civic parade, marked the formal opening of the annual reunion of the grand lodge of Elks, and was attended by Elks in such numbers that even the capacity of the great hall was taxed to the utmost. Elks were present from practically every state in the Union, and even the Hawaiian islands were represented. Probably 12,444 visiting Elks are now in Salt Lake.

New Grand Officers.

The meeting of the grand lodge was held in Assembly hall in the afternoon and after the annual report of Grand Exalted Ruler Pickett had been delivered and other reports presented, the election of grand officers for the ensuing year was taken up. This resulted as follows:

Grand exalted ruler, George A. Cronk, Omaha; grand leading knight, W. B. Vrock, Lexington, Ky.; grand loyal knight, Judge A. H. Pickens, Denver; grand lecturing knight, J. E. Henning, Anderson, Ind.; grand secretary, George Reynolds, Saginaw. Mich.; grandetreasurer, E. A. Orris, Masonville, Pa.; grand tyler, Charles Kaufman, Hoboken, N. J.; grand trustee, J. D. O'Shea, Boston.

The report of the secretary showed the order to be in a prosperous condition. An increase in membership of nearly 26,000 during the past year was shown, bringing the total up to about 125,000. The number if Elg lodges in the United States was reported at 805, on increase of eighty-five during the year. The treasurer's report showed the organization to be very prosperous financially.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—The biennial convention of the Knights of Pythias was formally opened Tuesday in the Palace Hotel. Nearly 150 delegates were present.

Supreme Representative Walker C. Graves of California, in behalf of the executive committee, welcomed the visitors.

Supreme Chancellor Fethers responded to the welcome. The supreme lodge then went into secret session. At the afternoon session the following reports were read:

Supreme Chancellor Fethers, in his annual report, said that Dec. 31, 1901, the order had 540,138 affiliated members. To this should be added at least 500,000 who have been suspended for nonpayment of dues, or who have taken withdrawal cards, making a total of more than a million. The net gain for the year was 23,194.

At 9 a. m. the imperial palace of the dramatic order of Knights of Khorassan convened in Pythian castle. Imperial Prince Frank H. Clark of Detroit, Mich., presiding.

The supreme temple of the Pythian sisterhood met in Elks' hall at 10 a. m., and the supreme temple of Rathbone Sisters assembled in Native Sons' hall at the same hour.

Rearrangement of Supreme Bench.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The retirement of Justice Gray and the appointment of Judge Holmes to the bench of the supreme court will cause a rearrangement of the positions occupied by the members of the court when it meets in October. The associate justices are seated according to seniority, alternating on the right and left of the chief justice. Following this custom, when the court convenes the present associate justices will move up one seat with the exception of Justice Harlan, who as senior member of the court, occupies the first seat to the right of Chief Justice Fuller. Judge Holmes will occupy the seat to the extreme left of the chief justice. As now constituted, the court will sit in the following order: To the right of the chief justice—Justices Harlan, Brown, White and McKenna. To the left of the chief justice—Justices Brewer, Shiras, Peckham and Holmes. Judge Holmes was admitted to the supreme court bar Jan. 16, 1879. His first and only case before the supreme court was "United States vs. Amos et al," Jan. 17, 1879, in which a decision was handed down in his favor.

Expelled From Board of Trade.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Lewin A. Wood of the firm of Edwards, Wood & Co., of St. Paul, charged with reporting fictitious trades, was expelled from the Chicago board of trade Tuesday by the directors. Transactions in grain carried through a Milwaukee house that neglected to make the required clearances formed the ground for the charges.

Terrible Fire From Explosion.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 13.—Dr. W. B. Terry was fatally injured by an explosion of gasoline at Princeton, Ky., Tuesday. He lit a match in the Terry & Frayer drug store, which caused the explosion and originated a fire that did $100,000 damage before it was brought under control.

SENATOR'S FRIENDS

Spoke Words of Praise at a Meeting in Detroit.

EX-GOV. RICH PAID TRIBUTE

Generals Alger and Duffield Spoke—Remains Arrived Today—State Senate Committee Appointed—Washington Board of Trade Adopts Tribute.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—In the great hall that owes its existence in part to his munificence, an audience of nearly 1,000 people gathered last night to revere the memory of the late James McMillan.

Eulogies such as are accorded only to the world's great flowed from the lips of eloquent speakers as one citizen followed the other with words of praise and tribute. In the audience and on the platform were men who had known the senator for the many years of his distinguished career in the city.

Among those seated in the black chairs on the stage were: General R. A. Alger, Colonel Frank J. Hecker, General H. M. Duffield, ex-Governor J. T. Rich, W. F. Quinby, Judge Whelan, Judge Carpenter, J. E. Scripps, Rev. Ernest Van Dyke, Thomas Barlum, D. Augustus Straker, Rev. F. J. Van Antwerp, Rev. A. H. Barr, A. I. McLeod, F. A. Blades, W. C. Martindale, Homer Warren, W. H. McGregor, George H. Barbour, J. B. Corliss, Michael Brennan, Mayor Maybury, Rev. W. H. Clark, J. T. Keena, H. M. Campbell and D. M. Ferry.

Mayor Maybury, who acted as chairman, called upon Rev. W. H. Clark to invoke a blessing on the meeting.

Mr. Maybury then stated the purpose of the meeting and read letters from ex-Senator Palmer and Governor Bliss, deploring the death of Senator McMillan.

"Senator McMillan was a very remarkable man in many ways," said General R. A. Alger. "He was quiet, a man of few words, but he could appreciate a business situation, and he could understand the needs of the nation. In the senate his counsel was sought more than that of perhaps any other man. He was given, not to words, but to thought and deeds. Let us join in heartfelt sympathy with the family and in remembrance of the good works he did while he was with us."

"We did not at first realize the void that his death would create," said General Henry M. Duffield, "but day after day comes some new thought of the way in which the influence of the senator manifested itself in our midst. This armory in which our citizens have met to utter the words of eulogy prompted by the heart, would never have been erected but for his liberality and generosity. He was a pioneer, if not the pioneer, of the captains of industry. He was the first business man of Detroit to develop a great and growing business, and his fortune was made, not by saving, but by carrying out broadminded views and business methods."

Governor Rich's Tribute.

Ex-Governor John T. Rich, who was long and familiarly acquainted with Senator McMillan, accorded his memory a magnificent tribute:

"There was scarcely a man in the city who had so much to live for," he said. "He had wealth, position and a fine family, whose society he enjoyed. So great a change has come in so short a time. All his enterprises involved the employment of labor. The number of people drawing their living from his enterprises is such as few men have ever looked upon. He once had an idea of having his employes attend his funeral in a body. But there are not less than 20,000 of them. He was a most confrontable man to do business with. He had time for business, time for politics, time for recreation and time for his family. It will be a long day before Michigan can find a man who will fill the position as captain of industry, a statesman and father."

Many others spoke in a like strain, after which Dexter M. Ferry offered the resolutions which had been prepared and read to the assembly by Mayor Maybury, amid profound silence. Their adoption was moved by General Alger and seconded by Attorney Brennan, the assembly concurring with unanimity. After their adoption the gathering was dismissed with a benediction from Francis A. Blades.

The train bearing the remains of Senator McMillan arrived here this morning. The body is inclosed in a cedar casket covered with broadcloth and with silver handles.

State Senate Committee.

Lieutenant-Governor Robinson has appointed State Senators Holmes, Atwood, Doherty and Charles Smith as a committee from the senate to attend the funeral, which will take place Friday afternoon, the public service being held at the residence, which will be simply decorated with flowers for the occasion.

The commissioners of the District of Columbia, Hon. H. B. M. MacFarland, Colonel John Biddle, U. S. A., also Daniel H. Burnham of Chicago and Charles F. McKim of New York, members of the senate park commission, will attend the funeral.

The active pallbearers will be: Truman H. Newberry, Clarence Carpenter, Frederick W. Whiting, George M. Black, Howard G. Meredith, Cameron Currie, Ellwood T. Hance and W. Howie Muir.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The board of directors of the Washington board of trade Wednesday held a special meeting to take appropriate action on the death of Senator McMillan. The board adopted a tribute of respect, eulogizing the late senator's work as chairman of the senate committee on the District of Columbia. It concludes as follows: "No amount of labor, however, no bronze or marble testimony, no utterances of a community bereaved, can do full justice to the noble character o fJames McMillan."

Head Crushed to a Pulp.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 14.—John Malervy, aged forty years, and for the last twenty years foreman at the Eagle plaster mills, south of this city, was found dead in the basement of the plant Wednesday morning with his head crushed to a pup. No one saw the accident, but it is supposed that he was caught in a fast moving belt and hurled to the floor.

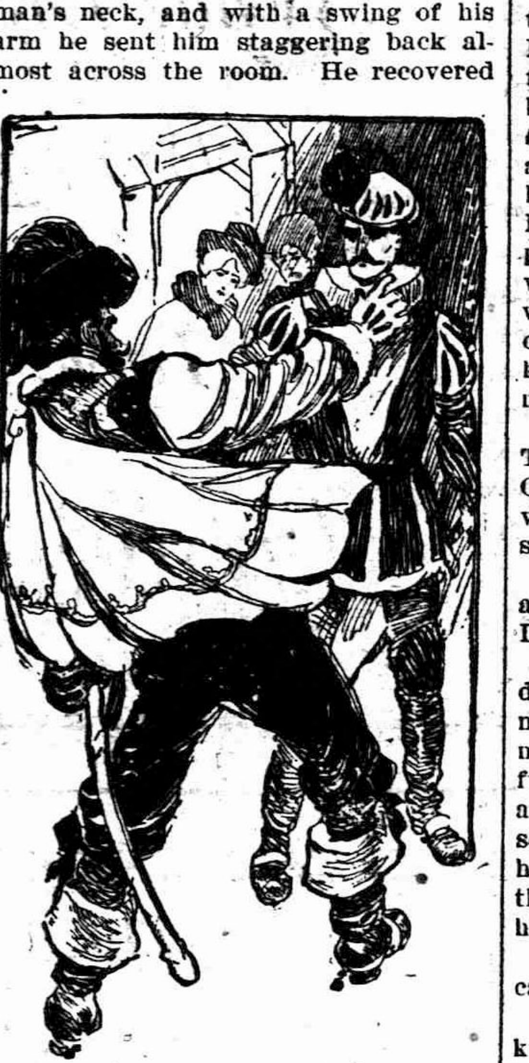
S. LEVETT YEATS

...COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY S. LEVETT YEATS...

Madame was white with anger. I had sprung to my feet, meditating flight, and the villain's followers raised a hoarse shout: "Courage, captain! None but the brave deserve the fair!"

Then De Clermont's hand was on the man's neck, and with a swing of his arm he sent him staggering back almost across the room. He recovered himself on the instant, however, for he was a powerful man, and rushed forward, but stopped when he saw De Clermont's rapier in his hand and began to tug at his fathom of a sword. His men, however, offered no assistance to him, contenting themselves with breaking into loud laughter. As for De Clermont, he was as cool and self possessed as if he were at a court function.



He sent him staggering back.

"Out of this!" he said. "Begone, else I shall have you flogged and you shall taste the carcan. Be off!"

"The carcan! You silkworm! You cream faced dancing master!" yelled the man, who had now drawn his sword. "Who the devil are you to threaten me—La Coquille—with the carcan? Blood of a Jew! Who are you?"

"The Marquis de Clermont-Ferrand," was the answer, "and these ladies are of the household of M. de Termes, and now I will give you and your men two minutes to go. If not, I shall have them stoned out of the place, and you—you know what to expect. If you are wise, you will put a hundred leagues between yourself and Perigord after this. And now be off—fool!"

The man dropped his sword into its sheath and stammered out: "Your pardon, monseigneur! I did not know. Come, boys," he said, with an affectation of unconcern, "these ladies complain that the place is too crowded. We will go elsewhere. At your service, mesdames." And, making a bow that had a sort of faded grace about it, he swaggered off, followed by his men, who took his lead with surprising alacrity. The people in the inn and our servants raised a cheer and were for going after them, doubtless to administer the stoning, but De Clermont put a stop to this, saying in a peremptory tone: "Let them go. I will see that they are dealt with."

As may be imagined, we were in no mood for much supper after this. My knees felt very weak under me, and Mme. de Termes was trembling all over, but she thanked De Clermont very gracefully, and he made some modest answer with his eyes fixed on me, and I—I could say nothing. We would have retired at once, but De Clermont pressed us to stay, and madame, with a little smile, agreed, saying, "I am afraid even after all these years I am not quite a soldier's wife." So we lingered yet a little longer and found our nerves come back to us. After that we sat in the garden, where the moonlight was full and bright and the breeze brought us the scent of the roses. Then De Clermont, bringing out his lute, sang to us. He had a voice such as neither I nor any one else I knew who had listened to it had ever heard equaled. So perhaps sang his old troubador ancestors, and the sweet notes had died with the days of chivalry to be born again in Raoul de Clermont. The song he chose was one that was perchance written by one of his minstrel forbears and described in that old tongue that we no longer use as a lover's agony at being separated forever from his mistress. The words were perhaps poor, but there was genuine feeling in them, and sung by De Clermont it might have been the wail of an angel shut out from paradise. Never did I hear the like. Never would I care to hear the like again, and as the last of the glorious notes died away in a liquid stream of ineffable melody I saw madame's face buried in her hands, and there was a great sob behind me that came from the broad chest of Lalande, who had stolen up to hear and was blubbering like a child. Then Mme. de Termes rose and hurried off, followed by Lalande, and we were alone, I sitting still with my whole soul full of that wondrous song and every nerve strung to its highest pitch, while De Clersomething you ought to know—of M. de Lorgnac."

"Is it really of importance?"

"I think so. It will remain for you to decide."

"Then, what is it, monsieur?"

"I cannot well tell you here. We will let them go onward and ride slowly behind."

I agreed silently, and we soon found ourselves at a little distance from the party. We were descending the wooded valley of the Briance, and a turn in the forest road left us alone. Then De Clermont, who had up to now remained silent, began abruptly:

"Madame, it has been given to me to find out the business on which M. de Lorgnac is engaged and over which you have been sacrificed. You are a brave woman, the bravest I have ever met, and I know you will bear with the bluntness of my speech, for this is no time to beat about the bush."

"Monsieur, it does not concern me on what business M. de Lorgnac is engaged. I only ask and pray God to give me some refuge where I may never see him again."

"Hear me a moment. I think it does concern you, and vitally too."

"Then what is it?"

"Now, call to mind your race and all that can give you strength. Denise de Mieux, your husband is nothing more than an assassin. He has been hired by the king and that she devil, the queen mother, to murder Navarre. It is a political necessity for them, and they have found an instrument in Blaise de Lorgnac base enough for their purpose. His price was high, though. It was you, Denise, and De Tavannes, who is in the secret, has paid it. How he came to persuade himself to do so I know not. He is your uncle, and I will not say anything against him."

I felt as if I had received a blow. There was truth in every line of De Clermont's face, in every tone of his voice, but I struggled against it and said faintly:

"This does not concern me. I am but a wife in name. I shall never see De Lorgnac. He is dead to me."

"Would to God he were dead indeed!" he burst out. "But there is more. Catherine is tyrant to her finger nails. She has heard that you have refused to remain with your husband, and at his request an order has been sent to De Termes to deliver you up to him at Perigueux. Norreys has taken that order, and it has already reached him.

"If you doubt me, there is the duplicate. You may read it for yourself."

He placed a letter in my hands. I knew the seal well, the red shield with the palle of the Medici—Catherine's private signet. But I could not read it. My mind became a chaos. "Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do?" I exclaimed aloud in my despair.

"Denise," he said, "there is one way of escape and only one, for De Lorgnac has already made his claim at Perigueux, and you go straight into the lion's jaws."

"What is it? Tell me."

He laid his hand on my rein. "Denise, put your trust in me and come. My dear, I love you—I love you. This marriage is an infamy. Vows such as they made you swear are not binding. Come with me, my dear, and under the banner of the emperor, with you by my side to help me, I will work out a new life, and the name of Clermont-Ferrand is already known. Denise, last night I saw the love light in your eyes. Let it burn there again for me. Come."

He made as if to turn my horse's head, and it was only with an effort that I restrained him. God knows I was sorry for the man. I know, too, that it was in my heart to take the great love I thought he was giving me and, forgetting everything, to follow him to the world's end. In the few seconds that passed I went through a frightful struggle, and then the strength of last night came back to me.

"De Clermont, it is impossible, and now go—go! If you say you love me, go in pity!"

"Denise, you know not what you say! Think, dear! In two hours we will be safe. In two hours the world itself could not part us. I will not let you sacrifice yourself. You love me, dear, and you know it, and when love like ours exists there is no right and no wrong—only our love."

"It cannot be; it cannot be. De Clermont, you are tempting the woman you say you love to dishonor. Let me tell you plainly, I do not love you. For one moment I thought I did, but I am sure of myself now, and even did I love you as I feel sure you deserve to be loved I would never consent to—to what you propose."

"Mordieu," he exclaimed hoarsely, "you are not yourself! Come, Denise. I hear Lalande riding back, and in a moment it will be too late."

"Let go my reins, monsieur, else I shall call out. I hear Lalande too. Go, monsieur, while I can still think of you as I always have. Go and forget me."

His hand dropped to his side, and, taking the occasion, I struck my horse smartly with the whip, and he sprang forward. De Clermont made no attempt to follow, but at the bend of the road, as I glanced across my shoulder, I saw him turn his horse's head and plunge into the forest, and a moment later I met Lalande.

I could only realize that I had escaped a great danger. Beyond that my mind could not go, but I was conscious that, despite the terrible earnestness of his words, there was something that was not convincing in De Clermont. The narrow escape that I had drove all other things out of my mind, and it was only when I came in sight of our party again that I recollected De Clermont's warning that by going to Perigueux I was going straight into the lion's mouth, and an absolute despair fell upon me.

When I rode up to madame's side, she glanced at me narrowly and asked for De Clermont.

mont remained standing, his lute, slung by its silken sash, in the loop of his arm.

"Denise," he said, "you understand, dear?"

"Yes." I could barely whisper the word, and then he bent down and kissed me softly on the forehead, and the touch of his lips seemed to burn into me like a redhot seal. With a little cry I rose to my feet and, hardly knowing what I was doing, ran past him, never stopping until I reached my room. Here I remained as if lost in a dream, with a hundred mad thoughts dancing in my brain. I tried to pray, but my lips could only frame words, for there was nothing in my heart, and then I thought I would seek forgetfulness in sleep, but sleep would not come, and I lay awake watching the broad banner of moonlight that came in through the open window and all the memories of the past awake within me. De Clermont's kiss still burned on my face, and I shivered with the shame and the sin of it, for I was another's wife—and heaven help me! I thought then that I loved De Clermont. Oh, the misery of those hours, when I tossed from side to side, with dry, burning eyes and bitter shame in my heart! At last, as the moon was paling, I could endure it no longer and, rising from my bed, began to pace the room. I felt that what I needed was motion, movement—I could not be still. If I could only pray! And as the thought came to me once more I heard a little clink and, stooping, picked up a small locket containing a miniature of my mother which I wore round my neck, the gold chain by which it was suspended having broken in my restless movements. I opened the locket and, standing near the window, looked at the picture, and, as I live, it seemed to lighten so that I could see each feature, with the soft eyes bent on me in pity, and then a voice—it was her voice—said:

"Denise, pray!"

And then my eyes were blinded with tears, and, flinging myself on my knees, with my hands clasped on the mullions of the window, I sobbed out, "God, dear God, have pity on me!"

I could say no more, but my whole soul went out with these words, and I knelt there, still and motionless, with the sense of a great peace falling upon me. Then it was as if the very heavens grew bright as day, and the light filled my room so that my eyes were dazzled and I could not see, and I covered my face with my hands to shield my eyes from the splendor.

When I looked up again, the glory was gone, but my soul was at rest. I stood at the window and let the cool breeze fan me, while I peered out into the darkness, for the moon had sunk and it was now the black hour that touches the dawn. As I watched I heard the bells of St. Etienne calling the lauds across the grave of night, and I knew that in two hours it would be daylight and felt that the unseen God had heard my prayer.

VICTORY

Along the Route for the

TECUMSEH BASE BALL TEAM

They Will Play Union City Today.

The Tecumseh base ball team are making a tour through Michigan this week. Tuesday they played at Homer, beating that team by a score of 14 to 1. Wednesday, at Tekonsha, the score stood 27 to 0 in favor of Tecumseh. At Three Rivers, Thursday, the score was 16 to 1 in Tecumseh's favor.

Adrian defeated Jackson Leagues Sunday by a score of 3 to 0.

For the first time this season, balls floated over the fence in Monday's game.

A large crowd from here attended the Jackson—Adrian game at Adrian, Sunday.

McCarthy, Detroit's new pitcher, did creditable work and appears to be a "comer."

McCarthy reported for duty at Detroit's American League headquarters Monday.

Schiappacasse still continues to be the hero of the diamond—five times at bat, four hits in Monday's game.

Martin, Tecumseh's pitcher, was classed as a Chinese puzzle by the Homer people at the game played there Tuesday.

Martin only allowed five hits in his pitching Monday's game against Jackson. Up to the ninth inning only two hits were made. What's the matter with Martin?

"Doggie" Miller, captain of the Jackson team, has played ball in practically every league in the country. His prefix was evidently earned by his continual barking at the umpire.—Adrian Times.

Harris does not go to Baltimore as credited. He caught cold in Saturday's game and is on the sick list. Some fan with the faculty of picturing air ships must have smoked poor tobacco.—Adrian Times.

The doctors and lawyers of Adrian will play a game of ball on Lawrence park Tuesday afternoon. The proceeds will be given to the family of the late Benjamin Baughey, who was killed in the laundry explosion.

Monte Martin looks good with a strong team behind him. He made several errors Monday by going after balls that he should have passed to the infielders. But then he had to do it at Clinton, you know, and it is hard to overcome the practice.—Adrian Times.

The D. A. C.'s of Detroit, will again cross bats with Tecumseh on the home grounds here Tuesday. The D. A. C's. are playing swift ball and will work hard to capture this game. Good clean ball has been a feature of the D. A. C's. playing this season and a good game is expected, Know Thyself.

Editors are in receipt of an offer from palmist who, for that proverbial "thirty cents," will teach them to "know themselves." For this sum the editor will be exhaustively diagnosed, mentally, physicaly, retrospective and prospective. There are good as well as dangerous associations in connection with this "know thyself business, as proposed by the palmist, but a cheaper way is to ask the neighbors or the editor of the other paper for a chart of yourself. They may not be able to tell whether the shaft of Mars in the life line points to the thingumbob of the Orient or to the Stygian equator of Plutonius, but they can possibly enlighten you as to more practical matters. They can advise you if your meat bill is paid, whether or no you are good to your wife and may possidly help in details of newspaper making.

Perhaps, after all, the palmist is the more satisfactory of the two alternatives. If he tells you you are affable and kind and the river of your life flows on serenely like a duck afloat on a mirrored lake, you are happy and have had your thirty cents' worth anyhow. Be wise enough, however, to keep the chart from the eyes of the rude and corn-fed multitude and from your mother-in-law, for while it may be nice to know thyself, it is just as well to keep other people guessing.

Ten Commandments.

Keep thou thy office clean, that thy office cat may respect and cherish thee —even her kittens of the tenth generation.

2. Beware of the kick of thy gasoline engine, lest thy already-pulled leg be disabled for "localizing."

3. Thou shalt not say "ye editor," lest thy city brother make merry with thy squibs: be precise in thy statements lest he criticise thy eulogies.

4. Thou shalt not give away free copies of thy paper to the village biggun who has written dryly, but charge therefor, lest thy pantaloons grow uncultured and sag in the concentric. Sayeth bodily thou neede st the money and stand pat!

5. Thou shalt not be the town philanthropist, going about giving free puffs when thy suspenders are greasy and thy hair needs cutting. Get thou thy just dues though the tape comes off!

6. Thou shalt not grovel, but be strong; for the Lord, and the community in which thou dwelleth, demandeth manhood!

7. Thou shall not bid below the bottom price lest thy babes starve on the milk of human kindness and thy wife grow wan mending thy under-pajamas. Get thy price, even though thou maketh a trust with thy brother editor.

8 Demand thy full subscription price like a Shylock, throwing off neither one nor thirty cents, but as a Trojan, fight for thy rights, lest thy feet get cold. Verily, be thou insistent, for this is a great evil.

9 Thou shalt do business on business principle, lest thy devil strike and compromise thy honor. If thou keepest girl typos, be thou above reproach lest thy enemies be mindful of you.

10 Above all thou must be true to thyself and thy machinery, thy friends and thy wife and children; abuse not one of these, for in dark days they are thy solace and thy succorers. Thou shalt be cheerful, industrious, firm and honest. Thus may thou prosper and grow content, thy lot happy and thy funeral great! Selah!

MRS. L. S. ADAMS,
Of Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.

A TRIP TO DENVER

A Short Account of a Trip from Tecumseh

TO THE ROCKIES

A Pleasannt Journey in a Short Time.

Owing to the settled policy which July seems to have adopted in regard to the question of being the hottest month in the year, it has become the chosen season for those who desire to get away from home and at the same time lower their temperature and bank account.

To some persons railway travel is irksome and annoying and to others it affords a never ending source of amusement and pleasure, to them, it is a treat to recline in a wide and comfortable seat and watch the everchanging panorama of the prairie, the mountains, the hillsides and the throbing city which lets you look at it a minute and then bobs behind a line of stationary freight cars. To the latter class I seem to belong and always desiring to be going along at the proper time decided to take a trip to Colorado, starting in the month of July of this year, 1902.

Thinking to help those at home to "make a little copy" while I am away and at the same time perhaps make a half hours interest to the readers of the HERALD, I will endeavor, in a plain way, to describe portions of the trip out and back, and then if that old tired feeling does not return describe a portion of what I see while away.

On Thursday, July 24, we left Tecumseh on the 10:40 morning train and after 30 minutes of repairing by the engineer got a good start on the Detroit Southern road and shortly arrived at Adrian. After three hours wait we proceeded to Chicago on the fast Lake Shore train that leaves Adrian at 3:12 p. m and arrives in Chicago at 9 p. m. This train is a "dandy," it goes along as still and quiet as can be, not stopping at any such stations as Hudson or any "cheap John" places of that sort Never did a train run smoother or, in fact, every foot of the Lake Shore track is in prime shape. To look back on the track and right-of-way is a wonder, the side ground all lined out by the ties; not a weed or stick on the right-of-way from fence to fence. Every fence from Adrian to Chicago is of the same kind of wire and fine shade trees are well grown on each side of the track from Adrian to Elkhart. In all a more perfectly kept road bed than the Lake Shore cannot be found and the rolling stock and machinery is in the best of shape, but it is evident that the men who arranged the time table and having the placing of the trains think little of the accomodation of the public so far as the common people is concerned, for at present there is no train on this road which arrives in Chicago before 6:30 p. m., unless it is one of the limited trains which make few stops and on which is charged higher fare, and as all but one of the western trains leave Chicago at about 6:30 o'clock it compels passengers for the west to remain in Chicago over night, but no doubt the Lake Shore will change this arrangement the next time the schedule of trains are changed, as it will be a source of annoyance to passengers from all towns on the old road from Toledo to Chicago.

Up at Elkhart Charles Clark runs the railroad eating house in the beautiful new station built two years ago and it is a model place in all regards.

The corn on the line of the old road has had plenty of water this summer, but on the whole is not as bad as would be expected. A few fields look first rate and very few are in a bad condition. Quite a little hay has been blackened by the rain, but the most of it has been secured in good condition.

At nine oclock to a minute we arrived at the Rock Island station, into which the Lake Shore trains run in Chicago, and in 30 minutes were in a general uproar, corner Madison and Clark streets.

It seems to me when first coming into Chicago that every person is on the run and that in less than 15 minutes I will be run over and killed by every horse, cart, street car or bus in the city. Another peculiar freak of mine is, that the whole of Chicago smells like broiled beef steak and insists on keeping up this odor for at least three days.

It was hot in Chicago, and after a night of heat and noise, during which I dreamed of runaway street cars, fire engines, and "Red Devil" automobiles, we captured breakfast and took the Colorado special over the C. & N. W. at 10 a. m. and in 30 minutes were out of the noise and jam of Chicago, speeding along past beautiful suburban homes on the line of the C. & N. W. Ry.

For 10 years of my life I lived on the line of the C. & N. W. Ry., and I, like every other man who has lived on this line, is prejudiced in favor of the road. Every employee seems to make it a business to be pleasant and accommodating and to do everything possible to make business pleasant with the roads. In fact, the whole force is just alike, whether one is dealing with the passenger department or the baggage smasher in Chicago it is always the same. Every employe endeavors to make the business pleasant and to accommodate in every way possible, and the result is, that every passenger is pleased to go over the C. & N. W. and travel no other way if he can avoid it.

The Colorado special is made up of two reclining chair cars, one Tourist sleeping car, one Pullman sleeping car, baggage car, mail car and dining car, makes very few stops and runs like the wind. The idea of the management seems to be to give every accommodation possible for the money, and on this trip, at every station, the train was on time to a minute.

Through Illinois there has been much rain and the crops look quite badly, but all through Iowa the corn looked well to me, although men on the train told me that the yield would be much less than normal.

At Boone we crossed the wonderful Boone bridge which is said to be the longest bridge of its height in the world. This bridge has been completed about one year and by building it the distance between Chicago and Omaha is shortened by an hour's ride. Aside from the saving of the distance to the road, the scenery about the bridge and Gorge is wonderfully picturesque and another beautiful place to the many pleasing scenes on the C. & N. W.

We arrived at Omaha at 12 o'clock at night, but of course were fast asleep at that time, but at 7 a. m. pulled into North Platte in a driving rain storm. My how it did rain and kept it up till eight o'clock. We took breakfast at the Union Pacific hotel, same building with the Union Pacific station, and at this back woods western hotel got what one cannot get in a fairly good Michigan hotel, good beef steak.

In fact in all these western hotels they have good meat, meat bought of Armour and Swift and it is all good. It has always been a peculiar fact to me that no Tecumseh butcher would ever handle Chicago meat, but for years we have had to eat at this time of the year, grass beef while all the first class beef has been shipped away from here.

I stopped at North Platte for a stay of a day or two at an altitude of about 2,500 feet before jumping up to Denver altitude of 5,200 feet. North Platte is a railroad town of about 3000 people. One of the division ends of the Union Pacific is here and the town is rough as yet.

The sidewalks are poor, stores are not fixed up in shape, neither are the stocks up-to-date, yet in some things they are all right. Ping Pong sets are in as good style and cost no more than they do in Tecumseh, and the display of fruit was much better than ever seen in the old Michigan town.

The next night over the Union Pacific we went on again. This road is good but not as nice as the Northwestern. On the Northwestern the A la Carte eating service was fine, everything good and prices in no way exorbitant, but the Union Pacific went on the "dollar down and dollar a bite" plan, prices were very high and nothing nicely served.

LaSalle is just 50 miles from Denver and we made the run of 50 miles in just 50 minutes so if the service in the dining car was not of the best the train did some "tall" running. The corn in Nebraska is very wet and as they grow wind mills almost as thick as cornstalks in this state one would think that between the rain and the wind engines the farmers would have all the rain needed.

The following clipping from the Chicago Inter-Ocean gives quite an idea of Nebraska's yearly devastating storms:

One of the strange things about agriculture in Nebraska is the fact that, while the crops are ruined there many times every growing season, the harvests are almost invariably bountiful.

This statement, of course, will call to mind the somewhat similar conditions which prevail annually throughout the peach district of Michigan. However, there is a difference. The Michigan peach crop is ruined as a rule by a late frost, and only once every spring, whereas the Nebraska corn, wheat, oat, rye and barley crops are ruined frequently every summer by drouth, floods, hot winds and hail storms.

Travelers through the parts of Nebraska which have been desolated most frequently are surprised to find them thickly inhabited by a happy and prosperous people. In those counties where the drouths, floods, hot winds and hail storms lay waste thousands of acres of growing grain, every season may be seen from a railway car window handsome farm houses, fine barns, fields of golden corn, herds of fat cattle and other evidences of the bounteous blessings which nature bestows upon an industrious people. Nobody but a complete stranger to the way of Nebraska, however, will permit this apparent contradiction to trouble him. The traveler familiar with the vagaries of agriculture in this trans-Missouri commonwealth will simply continue to look out the car window and say nothing.

The crops of Nebraska had already been ruined three times this season when the following dispatch reached the Inter Ocean from Hastings:

"A terrific hail storm prevailed over a considerable part of the farming country in this county this afternoon. Chunks of ice weighing nearly a quarter of a pound fell for fifteen minutes. Chickens were killed and young stock injured. Oats and corn were driven into the ground."

That the oats and corn should be driven into the ground by chunks of ice weighing a quarter of a pound will surprise nobody. Neither does it seem strange that such hailstones should kill chickens and injury young live stock. The strange thing is that there should be anybody or anything left in or near Hastings to tell the tale.

Perhaps these quarter-of-a-pound chunks of ice fell with the soft side down in most cases, or perhaps they fell with force only on the tassels and heads of the corn and oats. How far the stalks were driven into the ground the dispatch leaves us to conjecture and we are equally at a loss to know whether they can be pulled back again in time to break a corner on the Board of Trade. But we presume they can.

And now we are at Denver, a pleasant two days' ride, and if I feel like it and have time I will write another letter about that city and the mountains.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by makes every buggy or sleigh as comfortable for three persons as two, either adult or child. By the use of this seat the third person occupies the same position (over the limbs of the other two) but all the weight and inconvenience is removed from the other occupants. It needs no fastening and fits any vehicle. It does not wear or ruin the cushion, as nothing comes in contact with it but the lower carpet. When not in use it folds and can be put in the box with the curtains. The intention of the Ideal seat is not to encourage three riding in a buggy, but to remove the necessity for suffering and inconvenience when necessary for three to occupy seat.

Suspicion can't lurk around it.
Honesty is its best characteristic.
Home endorsement its salient point.

Mr. George Merritt, well known busiman and proprietor of the cigar manufactory, says:

"I can testity to the honesty and worth of Doan's Kidney Pills. There is no humbug about them. I was annoyed for some time with a dull aching pain in my back, at times quite severe. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and after taking them a short time I found they were helping me. Finally the pain in my back disappeared entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for all kidney ailments."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

Only a Mask.

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outside life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat nor sleep well. What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creatures appetites and makes sleep refreshing, and and that is Hood's Sarsaprilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine which, as we know, builds up the whole system."

Lyman Will Retaliate.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 14.—Principal Lyman of the Ypsilanti State Normal and Mr. Goddard, who had been his fellow tutor in mathematics at the university, prepared a textbook on trigonometry, which, the story goes, was tested in the university classes, found unsatisfactory and dropped by Professor Beman. Now, rumor has it that Principal Lyman proposes to retaliate. "Beman threw my book out," he is reported to have told the book agents, "and I'll show him two can play at that game." What adds to the piquancy of the situation is the fact that Professor Lyman owes his promotion from a $1,200 tutorship at the university to a $2,000 professorship at the Normal almost entirely to the efforts of Professor Beman and Dr. Smith.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by J. J. Orr.

What About Your Bowels?

If the people only attended to the regular movement of their bowels as closely as they do to their business and social affairs, half the ills of life would be avoided. Constipation and torpid liver are the forerunners of serious disease and should be cured at once with Liver-Lax, the little 25 cent liver pill. Guaranteed by

How a Spaniard Smokes.

The Spaniards are the most expert smokers in the world. A Spaniard, according to an observer who has traveled through Spain and South America, takes a heavy pull at his cigarette, inhales it, takes up a wine skin or wine bottle, pours a half pint down his throat, holding the vessel a foot from his mouth and not spilling a drop, and then with a sigh of satisfaction closes his eyes and exhales the smoke from his nose and mouth in clouds. He will also inhale the smoke, converse for a few minutes in a natural manner and then blow out the smoke.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Believed President Will Call Senate to Ratify Reciprocity Treaty.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Advices received here indicate that President Roosevelt will call the senate in extraordinary session early in November.

It is understood to be the belief of the president that a session of the senate to ratify a reciprocity treaty with Cuba would be much more likely to be fruitful of results if it is held after November elections than if it was held before.

It is assured that the question of the relations of the United States with Cuba will enter largely into the approaching campaign, and it is stated that the president feels the Democrats will be less likely to offer serious opposition to a reciprocity treaty after the election than they would before that time.

A treaty with Cuba proctically has been prepared. It requires only the finishing touches and the signatures of Minister Quesada and Secretary of State Hay to make it ready for presentation to the senate.

No definite data, it is understood, has been fixed upon for the meeting of the session, but that it will be soon after the election is reasonably certain. The president hopes to have the reciprocity question settled before the regular session of congress.

Sandusky, O., Aug. 13.—The gathering of Republican members of legislature at Cedar Point, in this city, Aug. 14, 15 and 16, on invitation of Representative Guerin of Erie, promises to have a more important bearing on the work of the general assembly at the approaching extra session than at first was supposed. Of the sixty-seven Republican members of the lower house, fifty have accepted the invitation, and all the Republican members of the senate except three. Governor Nash will be present Friday, Attorney-General Sheets on all three days, also other state officials. The Guerin code bill will be the principal topic of the speeches and discussion. It is likely that the work of approaching special session will have been pretty well outlined and the unity of action from the Republican standpoint and foreshadowed before the members return home.

Terrible Plot Thwarted.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 13.—A plot to destroy the Adams county infirmary and to kill the forty-four inmates was unearthed yesterday. A. W. Butler, secretary of the state board of charities, was making an inspection of the buildings, and in the room of Charles Echerman he found a pile of rubbish, which he ordered removed. Buried beneath the rubbish sixty pounds of dynamite, two 2-pound dynamite bombs and 115 feet of fuse were found. Echerman has been an inmate of the infirmary for more than twelve years and recently was reprimanded. Since that time he has been sulky. When the discovery of the dynamite was made, Echerman disappeared and no trace of him can be found. It is known that he has a dynamite bomb with him.

Two Murderers Lynched.

Lexington, Mo., Aug. 13.—Charles Salyers (white) and Harry Gates (colored) were taken from the county jail here by a masked mob at 1:30 Tuesday morning and lynched. They were charged with killing George W. Johnson, a wealthy farmer, who surprised them at his hen house a week ago. Before they were strung up Salyers made a statement to the mob, saying that Gates had fired the shot that killed Johnson.

Illinois' Contribution.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The Illinois auxiliary of the McKinley Memorial association report that the fund of $50,000 asked by the people of Illinois has been raised. The fund consists of over 50,000 subscriptions and, counting the individual school children who sent their pennies in through the schools, the contributors in Illinois run into the hundreds of thousands. At the close of business Tuesday the subscriptions amounted to $50,128.

Jackson Releases His Victims.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 13.—Judge Jackson has released Thomas Haggerty and six other members of the United Mineworkers who were serving 60 and 90 days in jail for contempt of court. The prisoners filed a petition for release, alleging that they had not known they were violating the injunction when they did so and promising not to do so again.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

More Boer Prisoners.—The steamship City of Vienna sailed from Hamilton, Bermuda, Tuesday for Capetown with the second batch of Boer prisoners, numbering 1,090, on board.

Colonial Premiers Honored.—King Edward, in the course of a day, granted audiences and presented gold coronation medals to five of the colonial premiers who are now in London.

Will Visit President.—Grand Duke Boris, cousin of the Emperor of Russia, and his party left San Francisco Tuesday for Chicago. The duke will visit President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

Anarchist Jumped Overboard.—The Italian steamer Citta di Milano, from New York July 23, which arrived at Genoa, Italy, Aug. 9, reports that an anarchist named Sganza of New York, committed suicide by jumping overboard while the vessel was off Gibraltar.

Coal Supply Exhausted.—The visible supply of anthracite coal in Omaha and in most of the smaller towns which depend on Omaha for a supply, is practically exhausted. Dealers are booking no orders, and say their eastern agents can give no encouragement of relief.

Russian Assassinators.—The Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung declares the recent assassination of officials in Russia to be the work of a vast secret revolutionary society, which embraces the whole of the empire and numbers 12,000 members, who are drawn from every class of society.

Home For Aged Mediums.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 14.—The state association of spiritualists has decided to purchase the Alfred Wise homestead on Cedar street in this city for a home for superanuated mediums. Recently John Goff of Marcellus gave $2,000 to this fund, and yesterday several hundred dollars more were raised at the state convention. Officers of the state association for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Dr. Odell, Paw Paw; vice-president, E. E. Carpenter, Detroit; secretary, Miss Rena Chapman, Marcellus; treasurer, O. E. Spaulding, Lansing; trustee for three years, W. A. Teall, Bath.

Michigan G. A. R. Figures.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 14.—According to the report of the adjutant-general of the Michigan department of the Michigan department of the Grand Army, there are now in Michigan 361 posts, with a membership of 14,052. During the past year 216 members have died. The Michigan headquarters train for the Washington encampment will leave Detroit and Grand Rapids on Friday, Oct. 13, and the Sunday following will be spent at the Gettysburg battlefield.

The Dead Statesm an Now Rests In His Tomb.

EVENT MARKED WITH HONORS

Distinguished Men of the State and Nation Join With His Fellow Citizens in Paying Their Last Sad Tribute to the Dead Senator.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—It is doubtful if ever in the history of Detroit so many distinguished men have assembled to pay tribute in death to one they honored and esteemed in life as gathered at the bier of Senator McMillan Friday afternoon and listened to rites that consigned him forever to the stately mausoleum at Elmwood.

The senatorial delegation was headed by Senator Marcus A. Hanna, and with him were Senators Allison, Cullum, Gallinger, Cockerel, Kane, Burrows, McComas and ex-Senator Fairbanks.

The congressmen were Corliss, Hamilton, Gardner, Weeks, Bishop, Alpin, H. C. Smith, Sam Smith and William Alden Smith.

Governor Bliss and his military aide, Major Johnson, with State Senators Holmes, Atwood, High and Kelly and Speaker Carton, with Representatives McCallum, Nevins and Martindale represented the state.

Mayor Maybury and the common council, General Alger, D. M. Ferry, Colonel Hecker, General Duffield and other prominent Detroiters were assigned places of honor.

At 2:30 o'clock, in the spacious rooms of the McMillan residence, the funeral services began.

It was an impressive scene which presented itself when Rev. A. H. Barr, D. D., the dead senator's pastor, stepped out upon the landing of the broad stairway and spoke the first words of the simple Presbyterian funeral service. The house was crowded. Somber mourning colors blended in contrast with the beautiful coloring of many floral offerings.

Seated closest to the coffin in the reception room were a group of United States senators.

In the large music room, to the east of the reception hall, were the honorary pallbearers, representing men of note from every walk of life in this city and state.

Filling the drawingroom to the west of the reception hall was a delegation of state officials. The governor, attended by members of his staff, and members of the supreme court of the state, members of the state senate and house of representatives and other prominent officials of Michigan were in this group.

In the library, to the north of the drawingroom, were city and county officials, including members of the common council of the city and board of supervisors of the county, with heads of the city and county departments.

Back of the reception hall, the diningroom and two adjoining rooms were filled with friends, neighbors, distant relatives, business associates and others who came to attend the services.

In the upper hallway, where they could hear the simple services and yet be shielded from the gaze of those seated below, was the members of the dead senator's immediate family, thrice bereaved within a few months and now suffering under the severest blow that can fall upon a loving family, the loss of the husband and father.

The silence of the form within the casket was not more intense than the silence which reigned throughout the large house when the first soft strains of Handel's "Largo" were heard from a sheltered nook in the corner between the stairway and the entrance to the library. An orchestra of five pieces, selected and led by Professor Schremser, was in the corner behind a screen of palms.

At the conclusion of this selection Mr. Barr stepped forward again on the stairway landing half way up from the first floor, and read a few verses of the Ninety-sixth Psalm and the last verses of the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians.

Another orchestral selection, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," followed, and after it Rev. Mr. Barr pronounced the invocation and followed it with the benediction.

The service was over and those who had heard it arose and passed in silence from the house. The active pallbearers took up their burden, placed it in the hearse and, followed by only the members of the family and a very few intimate friends, the body of the dead senator started on its final journey to rest in Elmwood.

Scene at the Cemetery.

The entrance of the McMillan vault at Elmwood was a flower-decked stage in the midst of a natural amphitheater. Grouped upon the surrounding hillsides and in tiers lower down, 6,000 people witnessed the final scene in the passing of Senator McMillan.

Shortly before 4 o'clock the funeral procession arrived at the cemetery. The casket, still hidden beneath its tapestry of American Beauty roses, was deposited in the center of the bower. The ushers were drawn up on one side, and facing them were the mourners and friends. Mrs. McMillan, who was supported by her son, W. C., bore herself bravely.

The burial services were read by Rev. A. H. Barr.

He closed with the Lord's prayer, those present lending their voices to the final plea to the Almighty. The pastor finished and the hush which followed spread with impressive effect over the murmuring crowd.

The active bearers alone remained for the last act in the sad drama. The entrance was partially cleared of its obstructing greenery, and the casket was slowly borne inside the tomb. After a last look the bearers filed out. The form that represented so much ambition and achievement was hidden forever from public view.

Water thrown upon ice in the arctic regions will shiver it just as boiling water breaks glass. This is because the ice is so much colder than the water.

VISIT FROM DURBIN

Indiana's Governor Royally Recieved at Camp Hawley.

BLISS GAVE HIM A MEDAL

Veterans of the Third Regiment Likewise Honored—Boys Grumbled at Sunday Dress Parade—General Inspection of Troops in the Morning.

Camp Hawley, Manistee, Mich., Aug. 18.—For a week the camp has had its dragnet out for a second governor and made good unexpectedly Sunday afternoon by the arrival of Governor Winfield D. Durbin of Indiana, accompanied by his son and Captain Hammond of the Eighth cavalry, U. S. A. The governor is staying at Charlevoix and ran down for the afternoon.

Governor Bliss and staff escorted Governor Durbin and party to brigade and regimental headquarters, where informal receptions were held.

There were thousands of visitors at camp during the day, a half dozen excursions adding big crowds to the throng from Manistee.

The Spanish war veterans of the Third regiment were presented with their medals by the governor in the afternoon. Major Irvine of the Ninth U. S. A., well known to Michigan troops, and Governor Durbin also received medals.

The troops did a heap of grumbling over being ordered to go on dress parade last evening. The army regulations provide that "military duty on Sunday be reduced to the measure of strict necessity," and the men declared that a reasonable interpretation of this regulation would cut out the dress parade. In the regular army dress parade is not held on Sunday, and the Spanish war veterans haven't forgotten the calldown received for a parade on Sunday in Knoxville. There was much visiting between Camp Hawley and the Yantic all day.

Father Kelley preached to the Catholic troops in the morning on "Discipline," and Chaplain Hanks of the Third regiment talked on "The measure of responsibility." Chaplain White conducted service at the headquarters of theFirst regiment last evening. The governor and staff attended the services.

Sacred concerts were held during the evening in the reading tent and at governor's headquarters.

There was a general inspection of the troops in the morning by Inspector-General Green and Captain Alvord, inspecting officer of the regular army. The brigade was declared to be in the finest trim it has ever been.

The governor's review takes place this afternoon.

THE WEEK'S RECORD.

List of Corporations Filing Articles at Lansing.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 18.—The following corporations filed articles of association with the secretary of state during the past week: Mansfield Mercantile Co., Remus, $15,000; Nashville Creamery Co., Nashville, $6,000; Ballentine Shoe Co., Port Huron, $6,000; National Bridge Co., Indianapalosi and Detroit, $20,000; American Typograph Co., Detroit, $20,000; Charles W. Warren & Co., Detroit, $25,000; Plymouth Shingle Co., Brutus, $6,000; Otsego Hotel Co., Jackson, $120,000; Central City Real Estate Co., Jackson, $15,000; Houghton County Electric Co., Houghton, $1,300,000.

Noncapitalized Corporations.—Societa Austriaca-Tirolese, Iron Mountain; North Goodland Freewell Baptist church, North Goodland; First Baptist church, Bay Springs; Evangelical Lutheran Emanuel church, Bridgman

The following corporations filed notice of increase of capital stock: Bay Shore Lime Co., Bay Shore, from $150,000 to $250,000; Jackson Sleigh Co., Jackson, from $10,000 to $50,000; Crystal Falls Woodenware Co., Crystal Falls, from $10,000 to $40,000; Cassopolis Manufacturing Co., Cassopolis, from $50,000 to $60,000.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Injury Proved Fatal.—Henry Malcho of Stockbridge, who was severely injured three weeks ago by a cow he was leading, is dead. His neck was hurt to an extent that produced paralysis.

Drowned in Bear Lake.—John B. Howard, aged nineteen, son of James B. Howard, claim agent of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway, of Grand Rapids, was drowned in Bear lake Saturday afternoon while swimming.

Transferred to the Goulds.—The annual meeting of the Ann Arbor Railroad company was held at Durand Saturday and at the meeting the property was formally turned over to the Goulds, who recently purchased it.

To Make It a State Park.—A movement is on foot at Mackinaw City to convert old Fort park, now local, into a state park similar to the one at Mackinac island, and to secure the erection of a monument to commemorate and mark the spot where occurred one of the bloodiest massacres of Indian savagery, June 7, 1762.

Women in the Fields.—Both because of the scarcity of help and as a matter of economy, the employment of women as farm hands has become general in the country surrounding Calumet. Between 200 and 300 young Finnish women are thus engaged. They work for smaller wages than men demand and have experience gained in the mother country.

Escaped From Jail.—Martin Egan, Glenn and Andrew Updegraff, who were arrested for stoning an Ann Arbor passenger train near Lucas several days ago, and held for trial in circuit court next October, escaped from the Lake City jail at an early hour Saturday morning by breaking away several bricks from under one of the windows.

The Chimney Swift.

Occasionally a bird is strong minded enough to break away from old traditions. Before this country was settled the swift nested in hollow trees, but after trees began to be cut down and chimneys arose above the roofs of houses everywhere the birds were quick to perceive that fires are generally out by the time their nesting season arrives. Therefore why not take advantage of the innovation? So completely did they forsake their old nesting sites to build in chimneys that the name chimney swift is now universally applied to them.—Ladies' Home Journal.

DIDN'T SEE REVIEW

Botha, Dewit and Delarey Declined British Invitation.

BUT THEY MET THE KING

Edward Received Them Sunday on Board Yacht—Dewet Is Hard at Work on His South African War Book—Description of Their Voyage.

London, Aug. 18.—The Boer generals, Botha, Dewet and Delarey, who reached here Saturday morning from South Africa, left London at half-past 9 o'clock Sunday morning for Cowes, Isle of Wight, to see King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

The hour of the generals' departure from London was kept secret; consequently the streets were deserted when the three generals, accompanied by their secretaries but by none of the ladies of their party, started for Cowes. They were stylishly attired in frock coats and silk hats.

Upon arriving at Southampton the Boer generals were welcomed on board the commander-in-chief's yacht Wildfire by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener. They immediately visited King Edward on board the Victoria and Albert, and were then taken for a trip around the fleet in the Wildfire. They returned to London in the evening, accompanied by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener, who took leave of the Boers at Waterloo station.

In an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, General Botha's secretary described the visit to his majesty. He said that when the Boer generals boarded the royal yacht King Edward came forward and, after they had been introduced shook hands with each of them. The Boers were highly pleased with their reception. After a brief and informal talk, of a nonpolitical character, with King Edward, they were introduced to Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria.

Brussels, Aug. 18.—The Boer generals, Dewet, Delarey and Botha, are expected to reach here tomorrow for the funeral of General Lucas Meyer. Enormous crowds viewed the embalmed body of Lucas Meyer Sunday. The remains will be taken to South Africa.

During the voyage from South Africa General Dewet did not mix much with his fellow passengers. He was engaged most of the time in writing his book on the South African war. In common with his colleagues, snapshot photographs were constantly being taken of him, and he worried with requests for his autograph until he had to protest against the nuisance. General Botha, on the contrary, was extremely genial and indulged in all the sports on shipboard. He was constantly in the smokingroom, where he played cards. General Delarey, besides playing draughts, took keen pleasure in discussions with British army officers on board the steamer. It is said that General Botha is greatly annoyed that his home at Vryheid has been annexed to Natal. The premier of Natal is reported to have offered General Botha a place in the national ministry, which the general has declined. The refusal of Boer generals to witness the review of the fleet at Spitshead and visiting King Edward caused great exultation in the press and undoubtedly upset the plans of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain had appeared extremely anxious that the generals should see no newspaper representatives before their visit to King Edward, and he accordingly caused instructions to be issued that no reporters be allowed on board the Wildfire or Nigeria, while very unusual restrictions were placed on all reporters. The general impression is that General Botha and his companions declined the invitation to witness the review and see King Edward because it came direct from Mr. Chamberlain, but on receiving the king's invitation for Sunday they readily accepted.

Dread of Poverty Caused Suicide.

Columbus, O., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Isaac Rosenbaum committed suicide Sunday by drinking carbolic acid. Before the death of her husband, two years ago, Mrs. Rosenbaum lived in luxury, but her small legacy was soon exhausted, and of late she has earned a comfortable living keeping roomers. Her dread of poverty led her to remark recently that she would not face it. She was forty years old and has relatives in Cincinnati.

Iowa Visited by a Storm.

Keokuk, Ia., Aug. 18.—Another series of severe lightning and wind storms passed through southeastern Iowa Sunday afternoon, doing much damage. In the last few weeks more than 100 barns have been struck by lightning near here, and more than that number in southeastern Iowa. Many northeast Missouri counties have suffered the same way.

Thompson Held For Murder.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Oscar Thompson has been held to the grand jury by Judge G. W. Patton on the charge of having murdered Mrs. Anna B. Bartholin. At the same time John Claffy, the old stableman, who is better known as "Daddy," was held as an accessory after the fact to the murder of Miss Minnie Mitchell. Thompson also was held on this charge.

Indians Acted the Custer Battle.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 18.—The retreat of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians from General Custer and his troops was re-enacted Sunday by 400 members of those tribes on their council grounds in western Oklahoma. The occasion was the annual feaste, at which many indulge in their war dances and crow dances, socalled.

ANDREWS FOUND GUILTY.

Detroit's Bank Wrecker Will Apply For a New Trial.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18.—Frank C. Andrews was found guilty Saturday afternoon by the jury in Judge Murphy's court of drawing an $8,000 check with intent to defraud the City Savings bank. The jury had retired at 10:16 o'clock in the forenoon, after listening to Judge Murphy's charge, and was out three hours and fifty-four minutes, the verdict being returned at 2:10 p. m. Andrews was at once taken to the county jail, where he will be kept pending the outcome of his attorneys' motion for a new trial.

Attorney Beaumont moved for a delay of sixty days in which to file a bill of exceptions and apply for a new trial.

"The prosecution has not the slightest objection to that," said Prosecutor Hunt, his voice betraying a note of exultation.

The application was granted, and Attorney Beaumont gave notice that on Monday he would move to have his client liberated on bail pending the result of his application. His contention is that a defendant has an absolute right to be admitted to bail under such circumstances, and that there has never been a precedent in the history of the state for a judge refusing such an application.

This contention most of the attorneys are inclined to think is well founded, and the general belief is that the recorder will have to admit Andrews to bail.

Traverse City, Mich., Aug. 18.—George W. Lardie has shipped the first carload of new potatoes from Bates to Chicago. The car contains 500 bushels and 25 cents a bushel was the price paid.

When Irish Duels Were Common.

Once upon a time, and not so very many years ago either, duels were so common in Ireland as to be regarded as everyday, matter of course affairs. There was much truth in the story which has been told of Dick Martin of Galway, who, being in conversation with the prince regent, was addressed by the prince with, "So you are going to have a contested election in your country?"

"Yes, your royal highness, as usual."

"And who will win?"

"The survivor, please your royal highness," Martin answered with Hibernian coolness.

CHAPTER V.

M. LE MARQUIS LEADS HIS HIGHEST TRUMP.

When I came down in the morning, I found we were all ready to start. Madame was mounted, and De Clermont was standing to assist me to my horse. It all seemed so strange after the crisis of last night. I had not schooled myself. I had not had time to meet De Clermont with unconcern, and, overcome by a sudden shyness, I declined his aid, and he said in his cool, level voice:

"You are very proud this morning."

The touch of proprietorship in his tone, which he so often used toward me and to which I had hitherto submitted, jarred on me now, and in a moment my courage had come back. I looked him full in the face and answered:

"It is necessary to be proud sometimes, monsieur."

Our eyes held each other for an instant, and for the first time I saw in his clear blue glance an expression of hesitation and surprise, and I felt that the compelling power of his look was gone, and then he dropped his gaze and, stepping back, lifted his hat without a word, but I saw the white line of his teeth close on his nether lip.

Then we started, and De Clermont dropped away to the rear of the party, leaving Mme. de Termes and myself alone. She was full of the strange song of last night.

"I had heard of his voice before," she said, "but never thought it was anything like that. St. Siege!" and she gave a little shudder. "I am an old woman, but it was maddening. I forgot everything. I could think of nothing except that sorrow in that last verse—the poor man, the poor man!" And the dear old lady's eyes filled once more with tears at the recollection. "But it was not a good song," she went on in a moment. "It was a beautiful evil thing, and he shall sing it no more. I will speak to him. It is wrong. It is wicked to touch the heart as that song can. He is very silent and grave today. I wonder if it affected him as it did me?"

But I made no answer, for my mind was full of other things—of the hopeless love in the heart that I thought so strong and brave and of the wondrous power that had come over me and enabled me to be victor over myself, and I cast up an unspoken prayer that this strength should be continued to me. And then I found De Clermont once more by my side.

Madame kept her word about the song, and he said gravely:

"I promise. I will never sing it again. It hurts me too." And, changing the subject, other matters were spoken about. In a little I found myself separated from madame, and De Clermont, bending forward, said:

"I have news I should have given before that will interest you, madame—

I answered truly enough that I did not know, and she looked at me again with her clear, searching eyes. "It is odd, Denise, but do you know that his lackeys have gone too? They left us an hour ago, and now it seems he has gone, too, without a word of goodby."

"Monsieur made too sure of the success of his plans," I said bitterly, and madame's answer was sharp and swift.

"Denise, there is something wrong. What is it?"

And as we rode close together, side by side, I told her every word, hiding nothing. My voice sounded hard and dry to my own ears, my eyes were burning, and when I had finished she said: "Denise, I cannot believe M. de Clermont's story. I feel it is untrue. Even if it were true De Termes would never carry out the order about you. He is incapable of such baseness."

"There is always one way of escape, madame, and I am my father's daughter."

"And there is a God above, girl. Your father's daughter should never talk like that."

"Then why does he not hear my prayers?" I said in impious forgetfulness. "Is heaven so far that our voices cannot reach there?"

And my dear old friend sighed deeply in answer

We were to halt at Chalusset for the night, and here confirmation was received of the truth of De Clermont's story, for an equerry of the vicomte's met us here with a letter to his wife in his own hand in which he said that our message, the one we had sent from the Gartempe, had reached him and that he was hastening forward himself to meet us. Then he went on to other matters, and his letter concluded with a postscript:

"M. Norreys is here with an order from the king, or, rather, from the queen mother. It is very unfortunate, but must be obeyed."

She first read the letter herself—we were sitting together in her apartment in the one inn at Chalusset—and then she handed it to me with a request to read it aloud to her. I did so, but on coming to the postscript my voice faltered in spite of myself, and then she bent forward and kissed me.

"Denise, it will never be. Are you strong enough to do a brave thing?"

"I will try."

"It is clear to me that De Termes' postscript is a warning for you not to go to Perigueux. I knew that he would be incapable of carrying out such orders as he has received, and I can read his meaning between the lines of his message. Denise, you must not be with me when my husband and I meet."

"God himself seems to have abandoned me. What can I do? Where shall I hide?"

"I will tell you. My sister Louise is abbess of Our Lady of Meymac. I will send you to her. The convent has special rights of sanctuary that even Catherine herself would not dare to violate, but she will never know you are there. Yet it is a long journey, and you will have to cross the mountains. Will you risk it tonight?"

"I am ready now, madame."

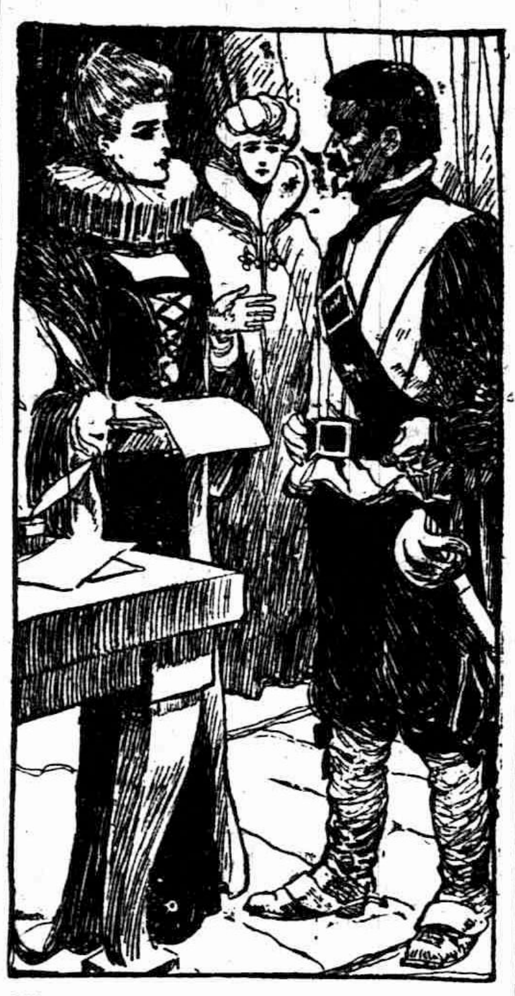
"Very well," and, calling to her maid, she asked for Lalande, and when the equerry came she turned to him.

"Lalande, how long is it that you have followed M. le Vicomte?"

"Thirty years, madame, from the days when monsieur was a simple cavalier of the guard."

"And you would do anything for monsieur?"

"Madame, I have been his man in lean times and in fat, in famine and in full harvest. He saved my life at Cerisolles, and it was I who got him out of the Bastille. I have been by his side from the time he was a simple gentleman to the present day, when monsieur is a marshal and a peer of France. You ask if I would do anything for monsieur. If M. le Vicomte were to ask me to lay down my life tomorrow, I would do so willingly."



"You must protect her with your life. Do you understand?"

"I believe you, Lalande. Now, listen. Mme. de Lorgnac here is in great danger. It is M. le Vicomte's wish that she should be conveyed to the Convent of Our Lady of Meymac, and we trust her to you. No one is to know where she is placed. You must protect her with your life. Do you understand? And you must start now and alone, for madame's hiding place is a secret."

"We could start in a few minutes, madame, and I will do what you say."

"Then be ready in half an hour."

"Madame," and he was gone.

"Do not let Mousette know whither you are bound, Denise. She is a chattering ape, and, though she loves you, can never keep a secret. As for De Termes, I will arrange to manage him. And, dear, keep a brave heart. I would go with you myself; but you know it is impossible."

The moon was just rising when, after taking an affectionate farewell of Mme. de Termes, who had been to me as a mother, we started, Mousette, Lalande and myself. Our horses had been brought to a little gate at the back of the straggling garden attached to the inn by the equerry himself, so that we might get away unobserved. Hither madame accompanied us and, after giving some further instructions in a low tone to Lalande, embraced me again and again, and I am afraid we both wept, while Mousette joined in to keep us company. Finally we started, and I turned once or twice to look back and saw the slender, gray clad figure still at the gate, growing fainter and fainter in outline at each step we took and seeming at last to slip away into the silver haze of the moonlight, until when I turned for the last time I could see nothing but the winding road, the ghostly outline of the trees and the pointed roof of the inn. I have often wondered if the girls of the present day would endure and act as we women had to do then. All women have to endure passively. This will be so for all time unless the world be made anew, but with us there were times and seasons when we had to act like men.

Last year, when I was in Paris, where I had taken my daughter for her presentation, a great lady called on me, the wife and daughter of a soldier, and she reached our house almost in hysterics because one of the wheels of her coach had come off and she had to walk a hundred paces or so. She was in fear of her life at the accident, and when we had made much of her and she was gone my husband's eyes met mine, and the same thought struck us both, for he came up and kissed me, saying:

"Mordieu, I thank God I am not thirty years younger!"

The Little Finger.

Adepts in palmistry assert that the length of the fourth or little finger is the most important sign in the hand. There is no great man—no man who rises to importance in any line of life—without a long and straight little finger.

The type of finger, whether spatulate, pointed or very nearly square, causes the capacity to be directed into very different channels. With the long spatulate little finger success in business will result, while the long pointed one denotes tact and the management of people.

This indeed is the finger of "wheedle." The old saying, "To turn people round your little finger," is, like most old proverbs, the result of continued and close observation and in the case of "the long pointed Mercury," as Ben Jonson in The Alchemist calls the fourth finger, is undoubtedly entirely true.

How Coal May Be Saved.

When it is understood that the same amount of fuel is consumed in producing either gas or heat, it is readily seen why one person will use four times as much coal as another without producing any more heat, if as much. When feeding coal after the fire is made, only a small quantity should be fed at a time, and that spread evenly over the surface of the fire, for when fresh coal is added it for a time lowers the temperature of the fire box (just as pouring cold water into a pot of boiling water stops the boiling by lowering the temperature) until the added coal is heated up to the igniting point, when it first begins to burn and adds its heat to the mass. When but little coal is added, this lowering of the temperature will be hardly noticed, but add a large quantity, and it can be plainly seen.

ONCE AGAIN

Clinton Bows its Heads in Defeat to

TECUMSEH

As has been the Case Every time Tecumseh has Crossed Bats with this Aggregation.

Sports' Day at Clinton was enlivened by the game of ball which was pulled off at that place between Tecumseh and the local team. The game from start to finish was a hard struggle, but the result was the same as in former games, defeat for Clinton.

Martin occupied the box for the Clinton team, while Chaffee showed that he could twirl the ball as well as catch it. Much enthusiasm is always displayed whenever these teams cross bats and that it proved a drawing card for the Day of Sports, was clearly made manifest by the large attendance which crowded the grounds.

Up to the fifth inning the score stood 2 to 0 in Tecumseh's favor, France scored in the first and North in the second. In the fifth inning Clinton pulled in the only scores made during the game. Palmer the first man at bat placed a ball in second baseman North's field and owing to North's inability to handle the ball, safely reached first. Beasley made another of his famous three baggers, bringing in Palmer, Martin made a safe hit, Palmer scored and Martin was thrown out at second. Wreidt popped a fly in left fielder Gillen's hands which was safely bagged. Niles, Matteson and Grueschow the next three men at bat each tallied making five scores. McDonald obtained his base on balls but was thrown out at third while Alvord died on base. During the remaining innings Clinton failed to score and the side retired with a final score of five.

In the sixth inning Schiappacasse made one tally, in the seventh two scores were obtained, one by Gillen and one by Chaffee. In the eighth, Harris was the only man to score, while the ninth inning witnessed the tally run up three more scores. Sanger was the first to grasp the bat and made a safe hit, Gorton made a base hit, placing Sanger on second. Schiappacasse followed Sanger's and Gorton's example. France the next to try for first lined the ball between second and third, clearing the bases of men, but was thrown out at second. Harris put a fly in right field which was bagged by Palmer and Duvall, retiring the side, by popping a foul fly to Beasley. Clinton recorded thirteen hits, while Tecumseh registered twelve. Thus the game ended with a score of 9 to 5 in Tecumseh's favor.

Harris and North were the lucky men to find the ball for a three bagger Saturday.

France knocked a pretty single and brought in three men at Clinton, Saturday.

Pitcher McCarthy of the Tecumseh club has been signed by the Detroit league. The "Injuns" have two fine twirlers left, however—Sanger and Harris.—Adrian Press.

Carleton Sluggers defeated the Monroe ball club at Carleton Friday, by a score of 5 to 4. It was a pitchers battle from start to finish. German occuppied the box for Carleton and Scanlon for Monroe Carleton now claims the championship of Monroe and Lenawee county.

Tecumseh defeated Union City at that place Friday by a score of 6 to 2. All through the game the battle was between the pitchers, Barney striking out 11 men and Harris 15. Union City played an errorless game while Tecumseh made three. Union City made nine hits, Tecumseh 14.

McCarthy, the gentlemanly young twirler of the Tecumseh team, has made a good impression by his work in Detroit against Philadelphia. In the first game they secured but nine hits off him. Friday 12 were registered, but the critics excuse this, as two games in succession are too much for even an experienced man.—Adrian Times.

Over at Tecumseh the people are getting so cranky over baseball that they can't give the ball team any rest and even ask them to come out and play by electric light, but, of course, this is because Stacy of the Herald, and Hawkins of the News, are so busy with their newspaper work that they can't attend ball games in the daytime.—Hudson Gazette.

The afternoon game between the famous Tecumseh team and the home nine was much like a contest between giants and pigmies. The visitors fooled with our fellows for two hours and kept them hunting the ball in the corn field for the amusement of several hundred spectators. When the agony ended the score looked like this—Tecumseh 26, Tekonsha 0. Tecumseh has the fastest team in southern Michigan, without doubt, and withal are gentlemen.—Tekonsha News.

League Team Coming.

Arrangements have been made for a benefit ball game here on Monday Aug. 25. It is the general opinion that the Tecumseh ball club has been the greatest advertiser the village has had for years. The present club is the strongest bunch of ball players in southern Michigan and are known by the state press as the Famous Tecumseh Team. The management have been up against bad weather nearly the whole season, and have been playing to much smaller crowds than they are deserving of.

The management have secured the Toledo American Association team for this benefit game and ask that all who are interested in the national game and who wish to have the present team remain during the ball season, show their appreciation by their attendance and and patronage to the game on Monday next. There is an impression out that the admission to this game is to be one dollar. this is not so, the regular admission of 25c, ladies 15c, children 10c will be charged.

PITCHER McCARTHY

Is Making a Creditable Showing in

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

He was late a Pitcher of the Tecumseh Team.

A very fine half tone of Archie J. McCarthy, late pitcher of the Tecumseh team until about two weeks ago, when he joined the Detroit Tigers, appeared in the Sunday Tribune We clip the following from that paper:

Archie J. McCarthy, the young pitcher who has made such a creditable showing in the American league during the present eastern trip of the Tigers, is a native of Ypsilanti. He is 20 years of age, stands 6 feet in his stockings and weighs 160 pounds. His father, now dead, was a well-known railroad man, formerly a conductor on the Michigan Central and on the Ann Arbor, but his mother died when he was quite young, and the lad's education and athletic training have been the care of an uncle, Prof. E. C. McCarthy, formerly of the Cleary Business college in this city, now of the Western high school, Detroit.

Young McCarthy did his first pitching for the Cleary college nine three years ago, and pitched for the institution again last spring. He is a thorough student as well as a promising player. Late in the spring he was signed by the Wyandotte Alkali Co. and was released by them to Tecumseh. From that town he went to Detroit.

The Education of the Parrot.

To teach a parrot to talk it is never necessary to place the poor bird in a darkened room or to starve him. Common sense would suggest that he should be made as happy as possible in his surroundings. Give him good food—hemp, maize, oats, biscuit. As a slice of fruit is always beneficial, a bit of apple, of pear, of banana or of carrot will do very well. Also see that your pet has pure drinking water, a large cage, some soft wood to gnaw, with plenty of coarse grit on the floor of the cage, for he needs the small stones to aid his digestion. A parrot in those comfortable circumstances may then be left alone in a room while his teacher conceals himself in another. The teacher, who should be heard, but not seen, should repeat, with infinite patience, over and over again the word or words he wishes his pet to learn. The female parrots do not talk—the female of the song birds, it should be remembered, is not a singer—so that efforts of education in that line are quite thrown away.—Our Animal Friends.

Boss Your Boss.

Boss your boss just as soon as you can. Try it on early. There is nothing he will like so well if he is the right kind of boss. If he is not, he is not the man for you to remain with. Leave him whenever you can, even at a present sacrifice, and find one capable of discerning genius. Our young partners in Carnegie Bros. won their spurs by showing that we did not know half as well what was wanted as they did.—Carnegie's "Empire of Business."

Had to Swallow Many Things.

An amusing anecdote is related of the late Hungarian statesman Tisza, who when one day dining at the Hofburg with the Austrian emperor placed a large pear upon his plate at dessert.

The emperor remarked to his minister that cold fruit after a hot dinner was injurious to the digestion.

Tisza replied, "The stomach of a Hungarian premier, your majesty, is obliged to be a strong one."

Nothing Remarkable.

Mrs. Grumpps (looking up from the paper)—A brother and sister who had not seen each other for sixteen years met accidentally the other day.

Mr. Grumpps—Huh! A brother and sister seldom meet any other way.

The Professor.

"The easiest title in the world to honestly acquire," said the tobacconist to the wooden Indian, "is that of professor, for isn't any man who professes to be a professor necessarily a professor?" —Syracuse Herald.

He Did It.

Teacher—No one can arrest the flight of time.

Pupil—Well, as I was coming to school this morning I stopped two minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

Singular.

"My entire clerical force went out on strike yesterday," said Bluffman.

"That so?" replied the caustic man. "What was his grievance?"—Philadelphia Press.

MARRIED AUG. 14

At the Bride's Home in

BRITTON

John W. Baluss and Miss Blanche Kniffen.

Thursday, Aug. 14, at high noon was solemnized the marriage of Miss Blanche Kniffen and John W. Baluss at the home of the bride's parents in Britton. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few friends and relatives and the impressive words that united two happy souls were spoken by Rev. G. W. Foltz, after which came congratulations. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Miss Kniffen attended the public schools here for some time and has the highest respect of everybody who is acquainted with her. In Britton both Miss Kniffen and Mr. Baluss are highly respected. Their many friends in Tecumseh send congratulations to the happy couple for a prosperous married life.

A Good Man.

Friends of Gen. Fred B. Wood of Tecumseh, have thought of him in connection with the second district Democratic nomination for congress and are examining his limbs and punching him in the ribs and brisket to discover whether there have come any ringbones or spavins or impairment of his bellows that would retard him in a race with Townsend. They claim not to have found any blemish about him that would prevent him from being a good starter. Gen. Wood once beat the present Congressman Smith for prosecuting attorney, overcoming a heavy republican majority.

He was appointed quartermaster-general of state troops by Gov. Winans and filled the office with much credit. Gen. Wood's companionable nature, polished but quiet manner, personal good looks and elegant military bearing made him very popular with the state soldiery. He is a Tecumseh lawyer of recognized ability, a good stumper and able discussionist but always fair in debate. He has few personal enemies and many friends in all parties. The general's friends believe he would give the Jackson Charlie a hot-foot race.—Adrian Telegram

ABOUT DENVER

It's Climate, Ways and People.

INTERESTING LETTER

From Geo. N. Stacy, who is now Sojourning there.

Denver, Col., Aug. 9, 1902.

Denver the Queen City of the Plains, has about 133,000 population, is situated on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains and one can say it is an up-to-date city in every way. The streets are well taken care of, main thoroughfares well paved, and the city has 150 miles of well run railroad, cable and electric, which is very well conducted by the Denver City Tramway company. In fact the railway service is very good. Transfer tickets conduct one to any line in one direction for five cents. The cars are run at frequent intervals on convenient streets. They are new and nice, built on a new plan, part open and part closed making in all a fine service.

The climate for which Denver it is famed, is as is claimed, mostly sunshine There is no rule here as to rain. In summer it rains and shines as to the moods of the mountains, but mostly shines all the time, and such sunshine, perfect blue sky and the sun is so bright that in the middle of the day there seems to be no shade on any side of any building. One street on which we go from our room to the city we call the "hot" street for from 9 a. m. till 4 p. m. there is not a particle of shade on either side of this street, the sun seems to shine directly over the top of each building.

The sunshine and high altitude make this the great climate for consumptives and in fact a most delightful place to live. During the day the temperature is warm, some days hot, but at evening the air cools off and the nights are delightfully cool, never too warm for refreshing sleep. This bright sunshine has its disadvantages as well as pleasures. This or something else has seemed to take the rosy cheeks from the faces of the women. The face of every lady seems the same. The women are not plain, but they lack the pink and white freshness that they have in the east. There is sort of a sallow faded look as if the sun and blue sky had faded their complexions.

Comparisons are at any time odious, but are yet sometimes necessary to explain differences, and the differences in looks, actions and customs are all there are to write about. There are many people with us who have never been west of the Missouri river and between them and those who have always lived in the west, there is much difference in actions and ways of living.

For example, in Denver the ice man makes his trip on Sunday the same as any other day in the week. The post master makes a delivery Sunday morning the same as any other morning and the sprinkling cart does not stop at all Sunday. The theatres all run here on Sundays and the bands play at the parks Sunday afternoon and evening, yet the churches are as strong here as in the east and there seems to be as much religious interest. It is simply the "way" of the people and is hardly right to say that they are more or less religious than in the east.

"Fads" seem to be quickly taken up here. I have not seen an iron tired buggy, the rubber tires seem to have taken their places altogether. The buggies, that is the single light sort, seem to be of a short waisted tall kind, ill looking and far from being easy, but very stylish.

People eat here differently than in the east. It is a city of restaurants and in every first class place at noon or lunch time one can buy and take away with them roast beef, fish or anything in the eatable line. This place makes light house keeping very easy. Breakfast and lunch can be brought home and dinner taken at some restaurant. The prices at these eating places are very reasonable and good day board can be procured at from $4 to $5 per week.

The differences between Denver and Southern Michigan is more this year than in any other season. We have had had so much rain there this year from early spring all through the summer and in Denver there has been very little for two years.

The annual rainfall for Denver is about 15 inches and for the last eight months there has been a fall of less than five inches. The water is so scarce that the city has been very dry, sprinkling has been cut down from six to two hours per day and the sprinkling carts have been taken off many of the streets. The difference between a moist climate like that of Southern Michigan to one as dry as Denver is quite wonderful. Everything here is bone dry, even to a man's throat, and they have had several dust storms which fill everything full of dirt, so with all the sunshine there are some disadvantages.

Near the south side of the business portion of the city is the State capital building. This is a massive stone structure, located on a slight hill, surrounded with about 20 acres of lawn and this is the most beautiful place in Denver. To the eastern eye this is a peculiar sight. Every foot of this lawn is kept in beautiful shape and there is not a "keep off the grass" sign in sight. Nice iron seats are scattered in convenient places all over the grounds and hundreds of people go there each evening to watch the sunset over the mountain

Here one can see Pikes Peak and all the mountains this side and the beautiful sunsets are indeed wonderful. It seems that the citizens of Denver desire to allow the common people all the pleasure possible for as well as at the capital town there is not a "keep off the grass" sign in a park in the city and I never saw more beautiful or better kept grass anywhere. Hundreds of invalids take their daily exercise at the capital and it is a pleasure to all Colorado.

I am at times quite worried, the papers here are full of advertisements to secure for clients divorces for $10 and I shall have to hurry home or the Lord knows how quickly my wife may be tempted to take $10 and try on the deal. The following clipping from the Rocky Mountain News shows how particular the Denver woman are:

"Suit for divorce was filed in the district court yesterday on behalf of Aida E. M. Simmons against John C. Simmons on the ground of cruelty. The complaint sets forth that the defendant 'willfully, persistently and spitefully neglected and refused to bathe with any degree of frequency or otherwise to conform to civilized ideas of cleanliness.'"

Quite a number of Tecumseh people are now in Denver. Mr. and Mrs. David McNair, their son Bert McNair; Mrs. Montgomery, her daughter, Mrs. Klinke, and son "Col" Montgomery. It will be remembered that Mrs. Montgomery, on account of the ill health of her daughter came here five years ago. Florence is now entirely recovered and in the best of health. Morrett VanAntwerp, brother of James VanAntwerp, is also near Denver and they also have a sister living in Denver. Yesterday on the street I met two of my news boys who carried papers for me 11 years years ago in Elgin, Ill. They had grown from boys to men and they stopped me clear across the street. This is indeed a small world no matter how far one goes.

DEWEY FAMILY

ALPHONSO DEWEY

One Mile West of Tecumseh.

The third annual reunion of the Dewey family was held on Thursday last at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Dewey, near Tecumseh, Mich.

Sixty-three members of the family congregated around the hospitable board of the local branch, renewed acquaintances and enjoyed all the good things for which the occasion is noted. Underneath a cloud cast sky, though a beautiful day, the spacious lawns of the entertainers were early thronged with visitors and the morning hours were pleasantly spent in general handshaking and an exchange of greetings among relatives, many of whom had been years absent from the family circle.

At one o'clock in the afternoon the guests repaired to the dining rooms where a sumptuous repast was served amid an environment of floral fragrance and tastefully decorated tables. The dining rooms were artistically trimmed with smilax and pink and green bunting with a profusion of flowers scattered about in tasteful elegance. The attractiveness of the scene was enhanced by the congenial atmosphere of the dining rooms, and with a royal good dinner, the route to all hearts was laid bare and a jolly good time enjoyed by all.

Praper—I. S. Dewey, Decatur, Mich.

Opening address by the president, Hon. Chas. H. Dewey, of Cambridge, Mich., in which he eloquently welcomed home the members of the large family of Deweys and recalled other similar occasions in days gone by.

John W. Dewey of Cambridge, followed with an interesting history of the family, portraying the struggles and hardships of the early Deweys in their efforts to settle and establish themselves in this country.

Miss Ada W. Dewey of Detroit, rendered a pleasing piano selection after which Franklin S. Dewey of Detroit, spoke at some length on subjects of interest to Deweys, giving some instructive remarks and profitable advice to the rising generation.

Mrs. A. L. Moulton of Decatur, Mich., sang a solo, "For all Eternity," which called forth merited applause, and Mrs. Cynthia L. Musgrave of Des Moines, Iowa, assumed the role of editor and inaugurated a Dewey annual, which abounded in all the spice and pleasantries of newspaperdom, together with a touching and interesting memorial of departed loved ones.

Further toasts were given by Mrs. L. M. Dewey, Francis Keeney, Rev. C. E. Marvin, Miss Linda Dewey and others. Mrs. Geo. Randall of Jersey City, read the records of previous reunions, after which an election of officers ensued in which the present encumbent, Hon. Chas. H. Dewey of Cambridge, was unanimously chosen the president of the next annual reunion.

Those present were Chas. H. Dewey, Chas. Dewey, Miss Linda Dewey, John Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Copeland Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dewey and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Alderdice of Cambridge, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. I. S, Dewey, Mr. and Mrs A. L. Moulton and Will C. Moulton of Decatur, Mich.; Mrs. Geo. Randall of Jersey City; Mrs. W. C. Dewey, Howard L. Dewey, Dudley O. Dewey and Mrs. Dorothy E. Dewey of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Musgrave and children of Des Moines, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Dewey, Mrs. F. A. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Keeney and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Dewey and children, and Francis Keeney of Adrian, Mich.; Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Marvin of Buchanan, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Dewey, Miss Ada Dewey and Mrs. Mary Duchene of Detroit; Mrs. Lovinia Swift and granddaughter of Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. Degarmo Dewey of Washington, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davidson of Ridgeway, Mich.; Miss McLaran of St. Catherine, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stretch, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Dewey, Geo. Marsden and Mr. and Mrs. Alphonzo Dewey and family of Tecumseh.

"Here lies the body of John Mound,
Lost at sea and never found."

THEY ALL SAY SO.

Not only in Tecumseh, but in Every City and Town in the Union.

If the reader took the time and trouble to ask his fellow residents of Tecumseh, the simple question given below, he would obtain the one answer. If he would read the statements now being published in Tecumseh, which refer to this answer, it would surprise him to note that they number so many.

As many more could be, and may be, published, but in the meantime ask the first person you meet what cures backache? The answer will be Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a citizen who endorses our claim:

Mr. C. Patterson, the well known sexton, residing in southeastern part of Tecumseh, says: "For over a year I had a soreness and pain in the small of the back at times quite severe more especially if I did a hard day's work or took cold, for it always settled in my kidneys. The kidney secretions were also discolored and irregular and I had all the symptoms of agravated kidney complaint. I heard several people praising Doan's Kidney Pills so concluding to try them I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and commenced the treatment. I found it just suited my case for it helped me right from the start. It stopped the pain in my back and regulated and cleared up the kidney secretions. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone having any difficulty with their kidneys."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

"Dying in poverty," says a modern moralist "is nothing; it is living in poverty that comes hard on a fellow."

When Apollo dipped the god Pan into the sea, what did he come out? A dripping Pan.

Half the ills that man is heir to come from indigestion. Burdock Blood Bitters strengthens and tones the stomach; makes indigestion impossible.

Catgut From Silkworms.

Probably but a small percentage of the fishermen who use flies strung with fine translucent catgut are aware that the almost unbreakable substance that holds the hooks against the fiercest struggles of the struck fish comes from silkworms. The principal center of the manufacture of this kind of catgut is the island of Procida, in the bay of Naples, but most of the silkworms employed are raised near Torre Annunziata, at the foot of Vesuvius. The caterpillars are killed just as they are about to begin the spinning of cocoons, the silk glands are removed and subjected to a process of pickling, which is a secret of the trade, and afterward the threads are carefully drawn out by skilled workers, mostly women. The length of the thread varies from a foot to nearly twenty inches.

Turcoman Brides.

When a Turcoman belle is to be settled in life, the whole tribe turns out, and the young lady, being allowed the choice of horses, gallops away from her suitors. She avoids those she dislikes and seeks to throw herself in the way of the object of her affections. The moment she is caught she becomes the wife of her captor, who, dispensing with further ceremony, takes her to his tent.

The bride race is also an established custom among the Kalmucks, and the girls are such excellent horsewomen that, we are told, it would be impossible to catch one against her will.—London Standard.

STARTLING REPORT

One that speaks Volumes, tells of a Great good done, of a certain Cure for the Nervous and Sleepless.

Mrs. E. Anderson, of Tecumseh, Mich. says: I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night and was quite dizzy. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's drug store and now since using the pills I can say my nerves are steadied, I rest better and the dizziness is relieved. I think the pills a splendid nerve medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

MICHIGAN MAN HURT.

Wreck on Chicago & Erie Killed Passenger and Injured Others.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—George W. Farris, twenty-one years old, of Cave Coty, Ky., was killed, and his brother, Daniel E. Farris, twenty-eight years old of Millet, Mich., was fatally injured by a railroad accident at Hammond, Ind., Sunday. They were on a Chicago & Erie railroad freight train, which was standing on the tracks at Hammond, when it was crashed into by an excursion train, running on a special schedule, on the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville road. The excursion train had 600 passengers froh southern Ohio, and was running forty miles an hour.

The Farris brothers were in the caboose of the freight train.

Several of the excursionists, who were painfully cut and bruised, had their wounds dressed at theHammond hospital, but the hospital attendants did not take their names. The locomotive and baggage car of the excursion train were badly wrecked, but the passenger coaches were not much damaged. As soon as the tracks could be cleared the excursion train proceeded toward Cincinnati with its passengers.

THE SHAH WAS TIMID.

Had the Ship Go Slow on His Sea Trip to England.

London, Aug. 18,—Muzaffar-Ed-Din, Shah of Persia, arrived at Dover at noon Sunday on board the steamer Empress from Calais. At the shah's request, the Empress made the trip over at slow speed. The steamer was escorted by the British cruisers Galatea and Immortalite, and was greeted by salutes from the batteries at Dover and an imposing military display.

The shah is said to have exhibited great nervousness upon embarking on the Empress at Calais for his first sea trip. But he bore the journey well and when Prince Arthur of Connaught boarded the Empress and greeted him, the shah smiled and conversed with animation through an interpreter.

The shah and Prince Arthur walked together through the cheering crowds at Dover to the Warden hotel, where M. Muzaffar-Ed-Din spent the night, coming to London today.

Big Reception For Taft.

Manila, Aug. 18.—Governor William H. Taft is expected to reach here next Thursday. He left Singapore straits settlements last Friday, on board the United States gunboat General Alava. The plans for the reception to be given Governor Taft are most elaborate. The shipping in the harbor will be decorated when he arrives and a procession of small craft is to accompany the General Alava up the bay. A series of arches are at present being erected along the line of Governor Taft's march from the office of the captain of the port, where he will disembark from a launch, to Malacanan palace, where a reception will be given him. There will be a banquet the evening of the governor's arrival. The trial of Frederick Kerr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, who are charged with libelling Benito Legarda, a Filipino member of the civil commission, was concluded Saturday. Judge Ambler will announce his decision in the case today.

Street Railway Employes Strike.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 18.—The Amalgamated Order of Street Railway Employes Sunday ordered a strike on the Lafayette street railway, and the Central Labor union declared a boycott against the company. Union men on the line quit work. The company refused to reinstate several men who were discharged and to have any further conference with committees of the union. No violence has been resorted to by the strikers.

Sent Him Gunpowder.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 18.—An attempt to kill Robert E. Pattison, former governor of the state and present candidate for the same office upon the Democratic ticket, has been made by persons whose identity is yet concealed. A package containing several pounds of gunpowder in a concentrated and highly powerful form, was sent to Mr. Pattison, but, by chance, the powder was not ignited.

Terrible Tragedy.

Muscatine, Ia., Aug. 18.—The decomposed body of Mrs. Jessie Tuman was found last night a hundred yards from her home, near here, and her husband, unconscious and with mortal wounds, was found on the floor in the house, which showed signs of a desperate struggle. The couple are known to have had considerable money, which cannot be found.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

Prominent Southerner Dead.—Colonel William A. Hemphill, former mayor of Atlanta, Ga., and founder of the Atlanta Constitution, died suddenly Sunday night.

Hot in Nebraska.—Sunday was the hottest day of the year in Nebraska, the temperature ranging from 96 to 102. At Fairbury, for six hours it was above 100, and hot winds were blowing.

Army Lieutenant Drowned.—Lieutenant Ralph E. McDowell of the Twelfth United States cavalry, was drowned Sunday in Pinto creek, near Fort Clark, Texas. He and Lieutenant Lusk were bathing when McDowell was seized with crampsand went to the bottom before help could reach him.

Acquired Opium Monopoly.—In a dispatch from Hongkong, the correspondent of the London Daily Mail says Ngpikao, formerly chief consul at Singapore, Straits settlements, has acquired the opium monopoly of Canton by undertaking to contribute $1,000,000 annually towards the indemnity China is paying the powers.

Cicero.

Cardinal Newman was a master in the art of writing English. In one of his published letters he expressed the following opinion:

"As to patterns for imitation, the only master of style I ever had is Cicero. I think I owe a great deal to him and, so far as I know, to no one else."

Bishop Wordsworth of St. Andrews, another masterly writer of English, says in his autobiography:

"So far as I have derived benefit from any one in the matter of composition it has been from Cicero. I do not underrate the advantage of a combined study of authors such as Addison, Swift, Bolingbroke, Johnson, Burke, Hume, Gibbon, Macaulay and, I may add, Horace Walpole, but I must repeat that I believe I got more good, not only in writing Latin, but for writing English, from reading Cicero and learning him by heart than from any other source."

The Fishes of Japan.

The islands of Japan are remarkable for their richness of animal life. The variety in climatic and other conditions, the nearness to the great continent of Asia and to the chief center of marine life, the East Indian islands; its relation to the warm black current of Kuro Shivo (the gulf stream of the orient) and to the cold current from Bering sea, all tend to give variety to the fauna of its seas. Especially numerous and varied are the fishes of Japan. It has been noted that the fish fauna of Japan bears a striking resemblance to that of the Mediterranean, and Dr. Gunther has suggested that this can be accounted for by supposing that in recent times a continuous coast line and sea passage extended from one region to the other, the isthmus of Suez not existing.—Popular Science Monthly.

Hair and Grass.

There is a major in a certain English regiment who has a great contempt for incapacity of any kind and is somewhat impatient into the bargain. Some time ago he was in charge of a detachment of men, and a sergeant complained that he could get no man to undertake the duty of barber to the company.

"Is there no gardener in the company?" asked the major testily. "I seem to remember one. Send him to me."

The man was duly sent, but on receiving orders to act as barber ventured to expostulate.

"Great heavens!" yelled the major. "If you can cut grass, you can cut hair! Go and do it."

The man went, but what the others said is unprintable.

Uncalled For Courtesy.

The Vicomte Toussaint was formerly a colonel in the French army and mayor of Toulouse. He was a brave man and a dashing officer. During one of the hottest engagements of the terrible year, noticing that his troops were bending forward under a galling fire to escape the bullets of the enemy while he alone maintained an erect position, he exclaimed, "Since when, I should like to know, has so much politeness been shown to the Prussians?" The sarcasm took instantaneous effect, for the soldiers rushed forward and carried everything before them.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well.' For sale by J. J. Orr.

Thought He Missed a Car.

In a neighboring city lives a young man whose name is Carr. Carr is deeply smitten with the charms of a young woman who resides with her mother in a pretty villa near Sandlake, on the line of the Troy and New England railroad. He asked permission of his inamorata to call upon her at her home and the young woman accorded [illegible] the privilege. Mr. Carr reached the villa where his Juliet resided and pressed the electric button at the door. The ring was answered by the mother of the young woman. The latter had never seen the young man. "I'm Mr. Carr," he said, bowing profoundly.

"Um—er—well," was the reply which staggered him, "you may sit on the stoop until one comes along."

Five minutes later the daughter told her mother she expected a caller and asked who had rung the bell. She was informed that there was a young man sitting on the stoop who had missed a car. The daughter looked through the blinds and saw her lover perched disconsolately on the steps. He was quickly within the portals and mutual explanations followed.—Albany Press and Knickerbocker.

The Verdict of a Jury.

"Nothing is more uncertain than the action of a jury," said a lawyer prominent in New York. "I remember a story my father told me when I was a boy in Alabama. The story was of his Satanic majesty and a plain citizen who met one day on a narrow pathway cut in the edge of a cliff. On one side there yawned a precipice; on the other side was the solid rock. There was only room for one to pass, and of these two one must lie down and let the other walk over him.

"'If you'll propound three questions I can't answer,' suggested Satan, 'I'll lie down and let you pass over my body.' The citizen asked:

"'What is whiter than snow?'

"'Cotton,' was the answer.

"'What is sweeter than sugar?'

"'That's easy again—molasses.'

"'What will be the next verdict rendered in this county by a petit jury?'

"'Pass on your way,' said the devil as he made a carpet of himself."

SCANDAL AT MANISTEE.

Aldermen Make Accusations Against the Mayor.

Manistee, Mich., Aug. 16.—Manistee has a full-fledged municipal boodling scandal. It was sprung on the people by Alderman C. A. Wall and Water Commissioner Ray, who makes accusations of corruption against Mayor Michael Fay, City Treasurer Zobel, City Clerk Pfeffer, City Engineer Todd, the special paving committee, certain of the other aldermen and the Central Bitulithic Paving company. About $125,000 is to be expended in paving. The specific charges include allegations that Mayor Fay called secret sessions of the council, of which no records were kept; that he tendered money and that Wall accepted $30 from him to vote a contract to the Central company; that Engineer Todd is trying to save the paving company money at the expense of the taxpayers, and that the paving specifications have been deviated from in about twenty particulars.

Mayor Fay is out of town, but is expected back Sunday. Some fifty business men are understood to be backing Ray and Wall in making the charges. Judge McAlvay has issued an injunction, stopping all paving operations pending an investigation of the charges.

Doings at Camp.

Camp Hawley, Manistee, Mich., Aug. 16.—Bronze medals will be presented by the governor to the Spanish war veterans of the First regiment this evening. The Third regiment will receive their medals Sunday afternoon. Major Irvine of the Ninth U. S. A., who was the mustering in and out officer for Michigan's troops during the Spanish war, is the guest of Colonel Bates. More thefts have been reported and the Manistee police have locked up a bunch of toughs on suspision. There are seven patients in the hospital, one having the mumps, but none are seriously ill.

A member of the Second regiment was courtmartialed for sleeping at his post. He was let off with a fine. Under the strict discipline and hard work, the troops are rapidly rounding into shape and drill like regulars. The marksmanship at the rifle range has been only fair.

Detective Elias Baker yesterday afternoon arrested at the camp Clayton Dunsenbury, who was implicated in the burglary of Marks' hardware store in Detroit.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Michigan pensions were granted Friday as follows: Ogirinal—William Tafel, Detroit, $6. Increase—Blase Barney, Alanson, $17; David J. Ziengenfuss, Greenville, $24; Freeborn Gardner, Traverse City, $24; Andrew J. Stevens, Pine Run, $30; Lewis H. Fountain, Scottville, $8; Horace P. Eldridge, Coldwater, $30; Url Isbell, Stockbridge, $10; Albert H. Freeman, Kirk Lake, $8; Edson Amidon, Muskegon, $10; George F. Westgate, Adrian, $10; Albert Frank, Cassville, $6; Amos F. Drew, Mount Pleasant, $12; Sidney M. Smith, Ionia, $12; William P. Baird, Attica, $12; Ira Remington, Rankin, $12; James V. Mickel, Ionia, $12. Widows—Helen J. Rawson, Paw Paw, $8; Eliza A. Teachout, Montgomery, $12; Johanna Glaser, Williamston, $8; minors of Joseph Erskine, Hancock, $16; Lydia Towsley, Lester, $12; Mary J. Baker, Birch Run, $12 (war with Spain).

Andrews Case to Jury.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—Prosecutor Hunt's closing address to the jury yesterday involved a study in criminal contrasts. He spent some time picturing to the jurors the frequent immunity of the rich. He compared the bank wrecker, living in luxury while his guilt is being decided by the clogged wheels of justice, to the bootblack who steals a pittance and is swiftly railroaded to prison. The fate of Frank C. Andrews may be settled today. This morning Recorder Murphy will charge the jury, which will then decide as to the culpability of Andrews for the wrecking of the City Savings bank.

Alger May Be a Candidate.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—By all appearances, McMillan's son will have a rival for senatorial appointment in General Alger. At a meeting of the advisory council of the State League of Republican clubs, held at the Cadillac at noon yesterday, President Fred R. Fenton announced that he had spoken to General Alger on the subject that morning, and the general had said to him: "Come to me on Monday." Alger was seen at his residence last night, but declined to make any statement just yet.

Oil Story a Fake.

Mass City, Mich., Aug. 16.—The reported discovery of rich oil well here is a fake. It is the second bogus oil discovery in the Upper Peninsula since Jan. 1.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Officers in Pursuit.—Muth's saloon at Watervliet was robbed of $70 Thursday night, the robbers escaping on a freight train. Deputy Sheriff Eagan started in pursuit on the express train.

Michigan Appointments.—Frank G. Seymour of Battle Creek, Charles H. Wermestown and Frank B. Raymond of Grand Rapids have been appointed railway mail clerks.

Sues For $10,000.—George H. McCull of Royal Oak has commenced suit against the Detroit United Railway to recover $10,000 damages for injuries received by being run into by a snow plow belonging to the company in February last.

Municipal Ownership.—The Cadillac city council has secured an option on the W. W. Cummer electric light and water works plant until the spring election of 1903. It is probable that the voters will favor municipal ownership.

New Paper at Kalamazoo.—The Kalamazoo Plaindealer, a weekly devoted to the interests of the colored population, has made its appearance at the Celery City. The publisher at G. W. Perry, formerly of Springfield, Ill. Politically the new paper professes independence, but it supports Durand and the state Democratic ticket.

How the Nations Sleep.

In this country the unhealthy feather bed is being driven out by the healthier mattress, which also rules in America. French beds are noted for their hardness, and German beds are so ridiculously short that foreign visitors are often much too big for them. Many Norwegian beds are made to pull out from recesses. The hammock rules in South and Central America. Japanese lie upon matting laid upon the floor, with a stiff, uncomfortable wooden headrest. The Chinese use low bedsteads, often elaborately carved.—London Health.

Rhinoceros Horns.

The horns of the African rhinoceros sometimes grow to the length of four feet. In olden times rhinoceros' horns were employed for drinking cups by royal personages, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling. There may have been some truth in the idea, inasmuch as many of the ancient poisons were acids, and they would decompose the horny material very quickly.

A Question of Dinner Time.

A cardinal who commanded the troops of Pope Boniface IX. in the march of Acona, finding himself on one occasion in a position in which he must conquer or die, promised his soldiers that if they secured the victory those who fell should dine that very day with the angels. They marched to the combat with alacrity, but finding that the cardinal was careful not to expose himself, "How is it," said one of them, "that you show no anxiety for the celestial banquet to which you have invited us so warmly?" "Because it is not yet my dinner time, and I am not hungry."—All the Year Round.

The First Knitting Machines.

In the reign of Queen Elizabeth first mention is made of hand knitting. William See in 1589 invented the first knitting machine, called a knitting frame or stocking frame. He was refused a patent in England and went to France and established a factory at Rouen. This machine was introduced into the United States shortly after the Revolutionary war, was modified and improved by a Yankee and a factory established at Cohoes, N. Y., in 1832.

A Startling Metaphor.

For a "startling metaphor" take Sydney Smith's when he saw a little girl stoop down and stroke the shell of a turtle.

"Why are you doing that, Belle?" he asked.

"To please the turtle."

"My child, you might as well stroke the dome of St. Paul's to please the dean and chapter."

An Old Smallpox Cure.

The following primitive "cure" for smallpox has been discovered by the Leytonstone (England) Guardians in one of their registers for the year 1700: "Take thirty to forty live toads and burn them to cinders in a new pot; then crush into a fine black powder. Dose for smallpox, three ounces."

His Cleverness.

The Lady—Jack, why don't you write a book or paint a picture or do something clever?

The Gentleman—Because I selected a millionaire for a father, and I think that was clever enough to last a lifetime.

A Bit of Information.

The London Chronicle casually drops the bit of information that the people of Missouri are called Pikes, "after their great peak." Thus is American history made in the English papers.

PLAYING AT WAR

Sqadrons of the Navy Are Doing Lively Maneuvering

OFF THE EASTERN COAST

"White Squadron," Under Pillsbury, Is Endeavoring to Make a Landing—Higginson, With "Blue Squadron," Will Try to Prevent It.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 21.—The unique war game in which the rival fleets of Admiral Francis J. Higginson and Commander John E. Pillsbury are pitted against each other began at noon Wednesday. The North Atlantic coast is now threatened by a theoretically powerful squadron of hostile ships from the attack of which an equally able fleet will attempt to defend. This is the first series of maneuvers in which the ships will participate, and it will be under the direction of the navy department alone.

Commander Pillsbury's fleet, which is known as the "white squadron," sailed from Provincetown on Monday and is now at sea. Its present whereabouts is unknown to Admiral Higginson, whose force is known as the "blue squadron."

It was understood that the latter fleet, which made its appearance in this harbor last Saturday, would remain until after noon yesterday. At any time after that hour Admiral Higginson was free to sail in search of the "enemy."

It will be the object of the white squadron to effect a landing at some unfortified place along the coast as soon as possible after this fixed hour and occupy the position without interference for at least six hours. It is the duty of the defending fleet to prevent the invaders from accomplishing their purpose. If Admiral Higginson finds the hostile vessels before they can get within striking distance the victory is with him. If Pillsbury with his ships should elude Higginson and land his force, he must occupy the place he has captured and be free from discovery during the six-hour period agreed upon. If he is located before this time limit expires it is scored as a defeat for him.

Admiral Higginson lost no time in getting under way after the hour agreed upon for the beginning of the contest had arrived.

First the Mayflower and one of the torpedo boats headed outside the breakwater, bearing toward the north. A second torpedo boat followed toward the northeast. The Brooklyn and the Olympia moved out together, with the Alabama astern of the latter, and the Massachusetts at the end of the line.

These ships seemed to make directly east. Just before noon a torpedo boat came in from the south, and after joining another vessel of the same class, both steamed out together, accompanied by the Scorpion.

The Thornton and Gloucester went out by the southern passage just before 2 o'clock. At about the same moment the Montgomery, accompanied by the Leyden, moved out to the southwest. This left the Kearsarge and one torpedo boat inside the breakwater.

All the ships, after going two miles off shore, dropped their speed and lay to, apparently waiting for the Kearsarge to join them. The crowd of spectators increased, and from every advantageous point the proceedings were eagerly watched.

While the vessels of the white squadron are understood to represent an attacking force of great power, in reality it can hardly be compared with the defending complement.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Naval officials here generally agree that the chances against the white squadron, in the game which is on, are very great, and that practically its only chance of success would lie in the existence of a heavy fog, under cover of which Commodore Pillsbury might slip through the cordon of scouts and reach an anchorage in an undefended position. The distance between Cape Hope, the southern extreme coast defended by Admiral Higginson's fleet, and Portland, Me., is only about 100 miles. In addition to the torpedo craft and his lighter ships, which he could use as scouts, and string along between these points almost within signal distance with each other, while the heavier ships were held together ready to move at some central point, Admiral Higginson has stationed ensigns all along the shore to report the enemy the instant it is sighted.

Child Brutally Murdered.

Russellville, Ky., Aug. 21.—Zoda, the fifteen-year-old daughter of C. M. Vick, a prominent farmer of this county, was killed yesterday in sight of her father's house. She had gone to a spring for water, and, failing to return, a search was instituted. Later the body, with the head crushed, was found in a fence corner, partly covered with leaves. One hundred men, with bloodhounds, have gone to the scene of the crime, and if the guilty person shall be caught a lynching will follow. The Vick home is about five miles from here, near the asphalt mines.

Tried to Lynch Automobilist.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—The police administration of the Rhine country is taking measures to resist the invasion of Belgian automobiles. Parties from across the frontier race recklessly through German villages and fatal accidents were reported from three villages. The inhabitants tried to lynch an automobilist who ran over an eight-year-old girl at Sinzig; a Belgian count killed an aged man at Bruhl, and a child was run over and killed at Puenderich, on the moselle.

1,000 Boers Sail For Home.

Jamestown, Island of St. Helena, Aug. 21.—A thousand Boers, including General Cronje, his wife and his staff, sailed from here Wednesday for South Africa.

EXPENSES OF GOV'T

Allotment of Last Session Totals Over $800,000,000.

FUTURE EXPENSES ALLOWED

Also Reach the $200,000,000 Mark—Expenses Exceed Preceeding Session by Several Millions—Army Expenses Reduced.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The volume containing statements of appropriations, new offices, etc., required by law to be prepared and published at the end of each session of congress under the direction of the committees on appropriations of the senate and house, has been completed for the first session of the fifty-seventh congress by Thomas P. Cleaver and James C. Courts, chief clerks respectively of those committees. A summary of the appropriations shows the grand total of $800,624,496.55. The details, by bills, are as follows:

Agricultural	$ 5,208,960 00
Army	91,730,136 41
Diplomatic	1,957,925 69
District of Columbia	8,544,469 97
Fortifications	7,298,955 00
Indian	8,986,028 10
Legislative	25,396,681 50
Military, acadamey	2,627,324 42
Naval	78,856,363 13
Pension	139,842,230 00
Postoffice	138,416,598 75
River and harbor	26,771,442 00
Sundry civil	60,163,359 13
Deficiencies	28,050,007 32
Miscellaneous	2,722,795 13
Isthmian canal act	50,130,000 00
Permanent appropriations	123,921,220 00
Total	$800,624,496 55

In addition to the specific appropriations made, contracts are authorized to be entered into for certain public works requiring future appropriations by congress in the aggregate sum of $262,711,465.00. These contracts include $21,695,900 for for additional ships for the navy and for permanent improvements of and increased facilities at certain navy yards; $15,943,650 for additions to old public buildings and the construction of new buildings in various cities of the country; $38,336,180 for improvement of river and harbors; $3,500,000 for reconstruction of old and erection of new buildings at the military academy at West Point; and $180,000,000 for the construction of an isthmian canal.

A comparison of the total appropriations made at the last session of congress for 1903, $800,624,498.55, with those of the preceding, or short session of the fifty-sixth congress for 1903, $730,338,575.99, shows an increase of $70,285,920.56. In this amount are included increased appropriations for the department of agriculture, $626.540; for the diplomatic, District of Columbia, legislative, executive and judicial and naval service, $1,706,981.74; for the military academy, $1,854,670.74; for the postal service, $14,633,910; for the whole of the river and harbor act, none having been passed at the preceding session, $26,771,442; for deficiencies, $12,132,560.38; and for the isthmian canal, $50,130,000. On the other hand, there appear reductions of $24,003,912.69 for the army; $65,056 for fortifications; $761,442.99 for Indian service; $5,403,000 under requirements for pensions; $1,632,549.08 by the sundry civil act; $5.267,223.54 by miscellaneous acts, and $437,000 under permanent appropriations, which cover interest on the public debt, making a net increase as stated of $70,285,920.56.

Discovered Fur Seal Rookery.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Captain Shoemaker of the revenue cutter service has received a report from Captain Charles H. McLellan, commanding the cutter Manning, recording the discovery of a new fur seal rookery in the Aleutian islands, on the island of Bouldyer. There he found a rookery of fur seals similar to those found on the Pribiloff islands. Bouldyer is between Bering sea and the Pacific ocean, fully 3,500 miles west of San Francisco, but still within American jurisdiction. Lieutenant Berthoff approached the herd closely enough to observe that none of the seals had been branded, and there was no sign that white men in search of fur seal had ever been near the island. The Manning will continue searching to discover if there are other rookeries in that locality.

Four Men Killed.

Schnectady, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Four men were killed, one seriously injured and a score of others slightly injured near Hoffmans Ferry, ten mile from this city, last night by the breaking in half of a New York Central eastbound freight train and the subsequent crashing of the rear half into the front part, which had stopped.

FOR U. S. SENATOR

General Alger Is Willing to Be Nominated.

MAKES FORMAL STATEMENT

Kalkaska Republicans Willing to Work For William Alden Smith—Republicans of Saginaw Bring Forward Hon, Benton Hanchett.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—General Alger is a candidate for the senatorship made vacant by the death of James McMillan. The general has issued the following formal statement:

"I will not seek the appointment or election to the office of United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McMillan. The office and honor are too great to be thus gained. Should, however, the people of Michigan, through their legislature, see fit to elect me to that high office, I will accept it and fill it to the best of my ability.

"To the friends who have so kindly expressed a desire to have me thus chosen as their representative, I wish to tender my grateful thanks.

"R. A. ALGER."

The announcement followed a consultation of the general's political friends and advisers, and is taken to mean that a vigorous campaign will at once be instituted. His friends say that General Alger is an anti-machine candidate for United States senator against W. C. McMillan.

General Alger was asked if he had selected a campaign manager. He replied:

"No, I haven't had time to think of that; I have been too busy deciding whether or not I would be a candidate at all. The names of William Judson of Washtenaw county and Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, both my friends, have been suggested, but I have selected no one to manage my campaign."

General Alger is in unusually good health and his friends say able physicians have recently pronounced him sound and good for at least ten years or more public service. He is now nearly sixty-seven years of age.

Kalkaska, Mich., Aug. 21.—At an enthusiastic meeting of the local Republicans last night a "William Alden Smith club" was organized with 150 members, and resolutions adopted urging Congressman Smith to be a candidate in the approaching election of a United States senator to succeed the late Senator McMillan. E. T. Smith was chairman of the meeting.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 21.—The Saginaw county Republican convention was held Wednesday. Strong resolutions were passed endorsing the present state administration and pledging the hearty support of his neighbors and friends to the election of Governor Bliss. The following resolution was unanimously adopted, amid great cheering:

"The Republicans of Saginaw couney, fully appreciating the masterly ability and fidelity to Republican principles of the Hon. Benton Hanchett, do hereby present his name to the Republicans of Michigan as our choice for the office of United States senator, and request the members of the legislature from this county to use all honorable and proper means to secure his election to fill the vacancy in that office caused by the death of the late Hon. James McMillan."

The following legislative ticket was named, all renominations:

For senator, John Baird. For representative, First district, Leonard Baumgartner and Andrew J. Scott; Second district, Asa Sanderson.

Governor Bliss arrived from Camp Hawley last night. He made the statement that he would not appoint to the senatorial vacancy unless some now unforseen necessity should arise.

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 21.—There has been considerable comment among the Democrats here lately concerning the proposal of William C. Maybury's name for congress. The Post today comes out with an editorial, in which it makes the following statement:

"The Post takes pleasure in presenting the name of the Hon. William Maybury of Detroit and the Sixth district for the congressional nomination at the hands of the Democratic party."

Torrey Died of His Injuries.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—Chief Engineer Augustus Torrey of the Michigan Central railroad died at Harper hospital at 6 o'clock last evening from the injuries sustained in an accident near Albion on the previous afternoon. Mr. Torrey has been connected with the Michigan Central for nearly twenty years. He has successfully filled the position of chief engineer since 1892 and knew the road from end to end. He was beloved by all the officers and workmen of the road. He leaves a widow and four children.

Disease in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 21.—Reports to the state board of health from representative physicians in active general practice in different parts of the state, indicate that diarrhea, neuralgia, rheumatism, tonsilitis and bronchitis, in the order named, caused the most sickness in Michigan during the past week. Meningitis was reported present at 7 places, diphtheria at 13, whooping cough at 22, measles at 24, smallpox at 38, scarlet fever at 66 and consumption at 222.

IS NOW COMPLETED

Wonderful Power Canal at the Soo Finished.

DEVELOPS 49,000 HORSE POWER

Canal Is Two and a Third Miles Long—320 Turbines Will Operate Eighty Dynamos—Power Will be Used For Manufacturing.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 20.—The Michigan Lake Superior company's water power canal, now completed and ready for formal opening, represents an expenditure of more than $5,000,000, its construction consumed four years of time, and in its completion it is regarded by engineers as the most magnificent work of its kind in the world. All is ready, at the word of the president of the company, F. H. Clergue, to turn the waters of Lake Superior into the broad, smooth channel.

The canal is two and a third miles long from the mouth of the intake above the rapids to the outflow far below the entrance to the ship canals. The average width is 224 feet, and the depth is 22 feet. The intake has an area of more than 15,000 square feet, through which will flow a volume of water estimated at 30,000 cubic feet per second, with a velocity of about two feet per second, or about one and a half miles per hour. The entrance is 891 feet wide and 18 feet deep. In its excavation some 300,000 cubic yards of solid sandstone were removed.

The canal, in its course through the city, crosses thirteen streets, and at the present time is spanned by fire steel single span bridges. One more is under construction, and others are projected by the city for the future, as business demands them.

The river front of the forebay is closed by the powerhouse, the duplicate of which cannot be found in the United States. It is constructed of red sandstone, is 48 feet over a quarter of a mile in length, is 100 feet wide and 125 feet high.

The energy to be developed by this immense engineering achievement is estimated at 40,000 actual horse power, developed by 320 turbines of the McCormack type. Four of these turbines in pairs are placed in each penstock. All of the turbines are joined to one huge shaft of pressed steel and are housed in iron cases, leaving no openings save for the passage of water.

As the rush of water passes through the turbines the wheels will revolve, in turn revolving the big shaft, and thus the power will be produced to turn the dynamos awaiting on the floor above.

The electrical equipment of the power house consists of eighty single dynamos constructed by the Westinghouse company.

After converting the water power into electrical power, the latter will be transmitted by feed wires to the doors of the various plants, which are either in course of construction or planned, and which are expected to use the energy thus produced. Among other things, the power will be used to light the streets of the Soo and to propel its street cars.

Completed, water filling it brim full, held in check at its foot by a power house of immense proportions, turning the wheels of machinery sufficient to run the mills of a manufacturing city of half a million souls, the great American Soo power canal stands as the achievement of the genius and daring of one man, F. H. Clergue, who saw the opportunity, gasped it, enlisted the capital, employed lieutenants of the highest skill, and today sees the realization of the idea which formed in his own brain but a short four or five years ago. In the industrial history of the great northwest, this canal will stand as an enduring and significant monument to his memory.

Woman Instantly Killed.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Eliza Jones, aged forty-five, a resident of Trail street, Jackson, a widow and mother of three children, was struck by the Detroit & Grand Rapids express at Michigan Center at 7 o'clock last night and instantly killed. Her ten-year-old daughter was with her at the time and witnessed the awful death of her mother.

Drank Poison and Died.—In a fit of despondency, caused by a suspicion of theft that hung over him, Charles Robinson of Detroit committed suicide by drinking poison. Robinson was thirty-five years old, unmarried and until recently had been employed by the Art Stove company.

Coal Famine Hits Three Rivers.—The coal famine has struck Three Rivers. The three principal dealers, who handle over 3,000 tons yearly, have none on hand. Coal drummers have been there lately, but none of them would quote prices, much less specify a time when they would make delivery.

The Soo Wants Teddy.—A strong effort is being made by the people of the Soo to have President Roosevelt visit that city on his western itinerary. The council has passed a resolution of invitation, which will be handsomely engrossed, and next week Mayor Stradley will leave for Oyster Bay to personally present it to the president.

Michigan Pensioners.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Michigan pensions were granted Wednesday as follows: Original—John Devree, Sutphen, $8; Samuel S. Hudson, Lowell, $6; Roswell W. Pinney, Middleville, $6. Increase—George W. Shulters, St. Johns, $12; Gemaliah Groom, Maple Rapids, $14. Widows—Eliza J. Colter, Muskegon, $8.

Chose All Ex-Mayors.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 21.—Mayor Palmer yesterday appointed a reception committee to act with him during the convention of the League of American Municipalities, Aug. 27, 28 and 29. He has chosen all the living ex-mayors of Grand Rapids, together with the present city officials.

CHAPTER VI.

AT THE SIGN OF THE GOLDEN FROG.

AT first we managed to get along at a fair pace, as the road was good and we were well able to see our way by the moonlight, but after crossing the Taurion by a frail wooden bridge, which creaked and groaned ominously as we passed over it, Lalande took a turn to the right and followed a narrow track whereon we had to ride nose to tail. Womanlike, I began to think he was taking the wrong road and asked him whither he was leading us.

"St. Priest-Taurion lies on the main road, madame, and it would be well to avoid it. Let not madame have any fear. I could make my way to Meymac blindfold."

"And want to show off by picking the most horrible paths!" shrilled out Mousette, whose temper, never of the best, had gone to ribbons, and little wonder, too, poor thing!

"It would be well if we speak in lower tones—better still not to speak at all," said the equerry, and, silencing Mousette with a reprimand, I asked Lalande to lead on.

While the motion was fast it was not possible to think, but now that we were going at something like a snail's pace I unconsciously gave myself over to my reflections, though I had by this time reached a state of mind when it seemed impossible for me to distinguish between right and wrong or to think coherently. The proof of the truth of De Clermont's story had accentuated the bitterness in my heart against my husband, and this was not lessened when I remembered the infamy of the enterprise which he had undertaken and of which I was the price. I had it once or twice in my mind to try to prevent the crime he contemplated by attempting to warn the Bearnnois, but it was impossible to do so from here, and I should have to make the attempt from Meymac. Then that thought gave place to De Clermont and with the memory of him regrets that I had not taken his offer and by one desperate stroke freed myself forever from De Lorgnac, even at the cost of that good opinion of the world we pretend to despise and yet value so much, even against what I felt to be the teachings of my conscience. After all, I was merely holding to vows that I had never really made. The priest's benediction surely could not bind me forever to a hateful life.

I had my dreams, as all young women and young men have, of a life that I could share with one whom I could trust and honor and love; one whose joys would be my joys, whose sorrows would be my sorrows, whose ambitions and hopes would be my ambitions and hopes, and so to pass hand in hand with him until one or both of us were called away to fulfill the mystery of life by death. And De Clermont? Could he have been the one to have so traveled with me? Did I love him? For the life of me I could not tell at that moment. At one time I seemed dragged toward him, at another there was a positive repulsion, and through it all there was an ever warning voice within me, like the tolling of a bell hung over a sunken rock to warn mariners of danger, telling me: "Beware! Beware!" I felt in my heart that he did not ring true metal. Why, I could not tell, nor can I tell now, but I suppose that God, who has limited the capacity of us women to reason as compared with man, has given to us this faculty of intuition by which we can know. Would that it were followed more often; would that its warnings were ever heeded! Such were the thoughts that chased each other through my brain as the long hours passed, and then they seemed to twine themselves together into a network that left me powerless to follow them and unravel the tangle. Oh, it was a weary ride! Overhead hung the moon, now light, then darkened by flitting clouds, with a few stars showing here and there in the sky. On all sides of us floated a dim silvery haze that made it appear as if we were going through dreamland; dark shadows of trees, fantastic rocks that might have been thrown here and there by giants at play and a road that turned and twisted like a serpent's track, full of stones and bowlders, on which our horses continually stumbled, but mercifully did not come down and bring us with them. There was one advantage we derived from these bowlders. They kept the horses and ourselves from sleeping, for after a stumble and a jerk both beast and rider began to see the folly of nodding and bravely strove to keep awake.

At last we came to something that looked like level ground, and Lalande suggested that we should increase our pace to a canter, adding, truly enough, that it would rouse us all up. We followed his advice, nothing loath, and kept at this pace with occasional halts to rest the horses for the best part of the night. At last, however, neither Mousette nor myself could endure going on longer, and indeed our horses were as much if not more worn out than we were. In short, we were so fatigued that I had got into a frame of mind in which I did not care what happened to me, one way or the other, and Mousette, poor girl, was crying softly to herself, though she kept her way with the greatest courage. This being the case, I called to Lalande that we could not go on any farther, but at his intercession we made yet another effort, and at last we halted near a clump of beeches, close to which a small brook purled by. I do not think I shall ever forget the kindness and attention of the honest fellow. He made us as comfortable a resting place as he could contrive with the aid of saddle and rugs, and then, giving us some wine to drink, bade us sleep, while he retired a little distance, not to rest, but to attend to the horses and keep a watch. So utterly tired out were we that we must have fallen asleep at once, and the sun was already rising when Lalande aroused us.

"If madame does not mind," he said, "it would be well if we moved farther up into that wood yonder and rest there while I go to a village hard at hand and procure some food and take news of the state of the road."

To this I assented readily, and after walking for about a quarter of a mile we found a spot which exactly suited our purpose and where both we and the horses could be concealed for the remainder of the day, if it was so necessary, without any fear of discovery. Lalande then started off for the village, and we waited his coming with a hungry impatience, taking, however, the opportunity of his absence to make a forest toilet. It was some time before the equerry came back, and we were just beginning to be alarmed at his absence when he appeared, bearing with him the things he went to procure, and while Mousette and I were eating he told us what he had found out, adding:

"I regret that madame will not be able to travel by daylight—that croquemort La Coquille and his gang passed through St. Bathilde yesterday and are in the neighborhood, and not they alone, but one or two others of like kidney. We shall have to make our way as best we can by night."

But this was too much. Not for anything was I going to endure the misery of last night over again, and I argued and expostulated with Lalande, Mousette joining with me with shrill objurgations, and at last the poor fellow gave in, but, I confess, with a very bad grace, grumbling a good deal to himself and declaring he would be no longer responsible for our safety. I own now that we were wrong in persisting as we did, but I put it to any one if they would have endured that we had to endure without protest, and, then, we were women, and I am afraid possessed some of that contrariness of disposition which I have heard the opposite sex credit us with, though for pure, mulish obstinacy give me a man who thinks he has made up his mind.

Lalande was, however, determined upon one thing, and that was to avoid the main road, and, as I had so far successfully opposed his plan of forcing a night journey, I did not feel justified in making further objections and allowed him to follow the bypaths he chose without further protest, though indeed it was as if there was some truth in Mousette's remark of last night that he was choosing the most difficult tracks to show how well he knew the way. We now entered the mountains of the Limousin, and what would have been a mile elsewhere became three here with the ups and downs, the turns and twists. For miles we passed never a human habitation except now and again a few woodcutters' huts and sometimes a small outlying farm, and I felt the justice of Lalande's remark when he defended himself from a sharp attack by Mousette by saying he had chosen this road because it was safe from gentlemen like La Coquille, who never found any bones worth the picking on it and therefore left it and its difficulties severely alone—though, of course, there was the odd chance of our meeting them, and so again to the old argument of traveling by night.

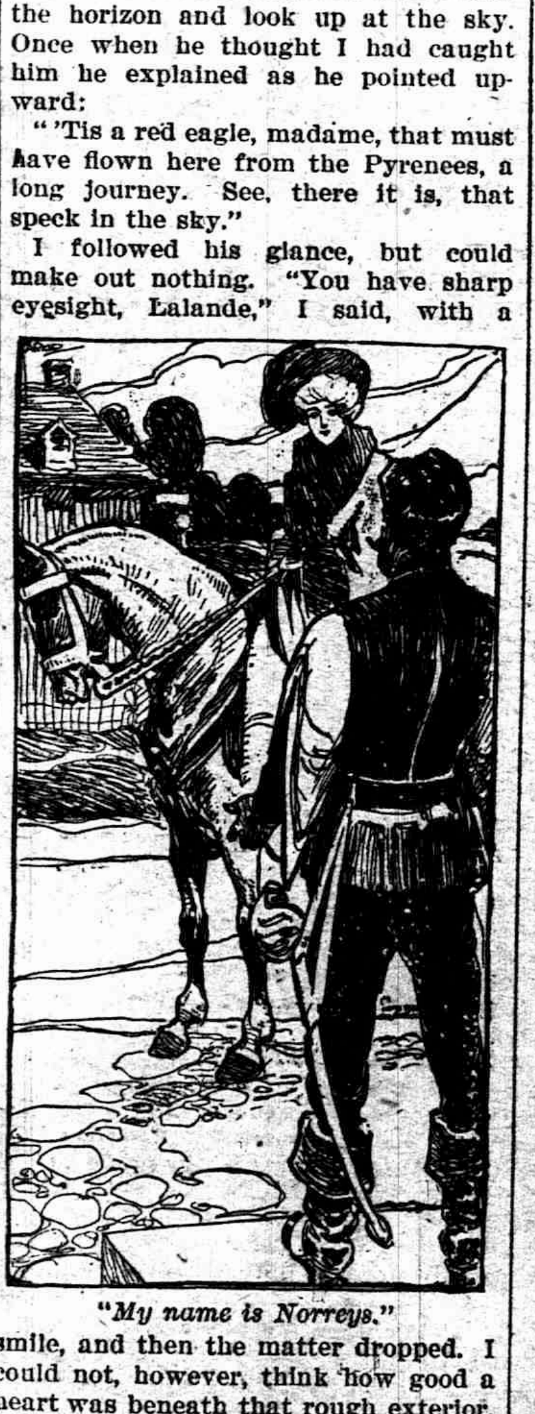
As we went on the scenery became wilder and more savage, and once a large gray wolf with two cubs by her side appeared on the track about fifty paces or so in front of us, and after giving our party a quiet survey and showing us a line of great strong teeth as she snarled on us trotted calmly off with her family down the hillside. Both Mousette and myself were not unnaturally alarmed, but Lalande, with a "Never fear, madame; there is no danger," kept quietly along, though I saw that he had pulled a pistol from his holster. As the day advanced we became aware that the sun was being obscured by clouds more often than it should be at this time of year, and every now and again gusts of wind would race down the ravines and lose themselves with ominous warnings through the forest. Still the horizon was clear, and high above all others we could make out the crest of Mount Odouze. I asked Lalande if he thought there was likely to be a storm.

"It is hard to tell, madame. Storms come on very suddenly in these hills. But if there is one it will not be very bad, for we can see the Cradle, as that dip between the two peaks of Mount Odouze is called, quite distinctly."

But, though he spoke thus reassuringly, I saw that he increased the pace and that ever and again he would scan the horizon and look up at the sky. Once when he thought I had caught him he explained as he pointed upward:

"'Tis a red eagle, madame, that must have flown here from the Pyrenees, a long journey. See, there it is, that speck in the sky."

I followed his glance, but could make out nothing. "You have sharp eyesight, Lalande," I said, with a smile, and then the matter dropped. I could not, however, think how good a heart was beneath that rough exterior, and not the finest gentleman I have ever met could have behaved to us with more chivalrous courtesy than did that simple underofficer of horse. A little past midday we rested for an hour or so, more for the sake of the animals than ourselves, and then continued our journey.



"My name is Norreys."

"We should make St. Yriarte by about 3 o'clock, madame," said Lalande, "and there is a small inn there kept by my sister and her husband, for we are of the Limousin. It is called the Golden Frog. We will stay there for the night, and a long march tomorrow will bring us to Meymac by nightfall."

"Thank goodness!" exclaimed Mousette, "for every bone in my body aches as if some one had beaten me."

As the time passed, bringing with it no storm, I began to think we were safe from that annoyance, and at last from the crest of a hill over which we were riding we suddenly came in sight of St. Yriarte lying below us in a little valley. As we did so Lalande called out, "We will be there in half an hour, madame, and save all chance of a wetting for tonight!"

It took us a little time to descend the slope of the hill, but after that we came to more or less level ground and in a few moments reached the gates of the inn, which stood in a somewhat large garden some way apart from the hamlet, for St. Yriarte could be called by no other name.

As we rode in a dog commenced to bark. Lalande called out: "Jeanne! Jeanne!" And, on our halting near the entrance, gay with honeysuckle in full bloom, Lalande's sister and her husband came out to meet us and, seeing him, fell to embracing him, and there was an animated converse carried on by all three at once while Mousette and I were kept waiting. While we did this patiently I began to look around me and for the first time became aware of the presence of a stranger. He had been sitting on a garden seat, half hidden by the falling honeysuckle, but as my eyes fell on him he rose politely and stood as if in doubt whether he should offer to assist me to dismount or not. He was a tall, well built man, with aquiline features, fair hair and blue eyes, and wore a short, pointed beard slightly tinged with gray. His dress was simple, though rich, and it was easy to see that, whoever he was, he was a person of some consequence. The position was getting just a little absurd when Jeanne's voice rang out sharply:

"Of course! Of course! Mme. de Lorgnac shall have the best we can provide."

"I saw the stranger start perceptibly, and an odd, curious look came into his eyes. Then, as if with an effort, he stepped forward and, lifting his hat, said with a foreign accent:

"Will Mme. de Lorgnac permit me to assist her to alight? I have the honor to be known to M. le Chevalier de Lorgnac. My name is Norreys—Colonel Norreys—of whom perhaps you may have heard."

I became almost sick with fear and apprehension, for this was the very man whom I last wished to meet. It was he who had borne the order concerning me to De Termes. He must therefore be aware that my presence there meant that I was in flight. He acknowledged himself to be a friend of my husband, and I felt that all was lost. Mustering up as much courage as I could, I thanked him for his offer, and he helped me to dismount, saying as he did so:

"Madame will find the inn more than comfortable. I have been here for two days awaiting a friend. If he comes this evening, I shall have to leave tomorrow with the greatest regret. It has been so quiet and peaceful here."

I glanced at him again. It was a strong, good face. The eyes looked at me honestly, and in their clear depths I could see no deceit. That woman's instinct of which I have spoken told me at once that here was a man to be trusted; that he was incapable of treachery. But the same feeling used to come over me whenever I saw De Lorgnac, and yet who was more base than he?

Nevertheless I was now moved by an impulse I could not resist.

"M. de Norreys, will you see me in an hour? I have a favor to ask of you?"

He looked a little surprised, but bowed. "If there is anything I can do for you, madame, command me." His tone was cold and formal and chilled me. Then he stepped to one side to let me pass, and I entered the inn.

I had made up my mind. I felt sure that he was here to prevent my going farther. What else could have brought him to this out of the way place? But he looked a gentleman and a man of honor, and I could follow the dictates of my heart and throw myself on his mercy.

The boiler explosion, which occurred at the Excelsior laundry in Adrian, Aug. 9, has been occupying the attention of the jury this week. At the inquest which closed Tuesday morning, a verdict was rendered placing the blame on Arthur Oram. Explosion said to be due to the placing of a valve on the water boiler, thus making the low water alarm useless. What will be done with the case is not yet determined.

Tuesday afternoon, Miss Anna Clymer and Leslie Darling left on the 3:05 Lake Shore for Adrian and were quietly married at Justice Humphery's office. They stayed in Adrian Tuesday night, returning to Tecumseh Wednesday morning and were met at the train by a party of friends who literally showered them with rice and old shoes. Miss Clymer is well known in Tecumseh and has a large circle of friends. Mr. Darling is a machinest at the car shops. They are now stopping at the Lilley House, where they will remain about a month and will then proceed to the duties of housekeeping. Congratulations.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE

Said to be the Cause of the Young Man Becoming Despondent.

Russell B. Coleman, a young man 25 years of age, committed suicide at Adrian Wednesday morning. Young Coleman has been in Adrian for the past few days Domestic trouble led he and his wife to seperate some time ago, and it is thought that he came to patch up some differences with her, as she is in the millinery business at Adrian. At eight o'clock Tuesday evening he met his wife in Mr. Aldrich's shoe store and held a short conversation with her. When he left her he bade her goodnight in a most pleasant manner, and appeared to be on the best of terms with her.

He evidently went direct from the shoe store to Andrew & Johnson's drug store where he procured the poison. At about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning he entered the Stag Hotel, asked for a glass of water, went into the wash room where Chas. Wright, the porter, saw him take a bottle from his pocket, empty the contents into a glass and drink it. Fifteen minutes later he was found by officer Stadler, lying on his back at the rear of Hayes shoe store unconsious and gasping for breath. Dr. Seager and Dr. Johnson were called, but his life was extinct before help arrived.

He is the son of Mrs. Eliza Coleman of Morenci, who has been notified of his death. He resided in that village a number of years. He leaves one brother and three sisters. He leaves no children. A greater portion of his married life he had resided outside of the city. Mrs. Coleman has resided with her parents, supporting herself at her trade, that of a milliner. It is a sad ending of an unhappy life.

SNOW-TEMPLE

Dr. Frank R. Snow and Miss Helen Temple were united in

HOLY WEDLOCK

At the Home of the Bride's Parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Temple, on Brown Street.

Wednesday evening Miss Helen M. Temple and Frank R. Snow of Kalamazoo, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Temple, on Brown street.

The wedding was especially characterized as quiet and elegant, being preformed in the presence of only the immediate relatives. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms and ferns and the mantel was banked with cut flowers.

At the appointed hour, six o'clock, the bridal party entered the parlor and took their position before Rev. M. T. Seelye, who spoke the impressive words that made them man and wife.

After the happy couple had received congratulations the party was ushered to the dining room where a wedding supper was served. Mrs. John Campbell catered.

Mr. Snow is a graduate of the dental department of the U. of M., and has gone into business in Kalamazoo. The bride is a girl of great loveliness of character, and has been the center of a circle of devoted friends all her life. She attended college at Albion and was a graduate of the Ypsilanti Normal.

They left on the 8:24 Lake Shore train, Wednesday evening, amid showers of rice and old shoes, for their new home in Kalamazoo.

All were Saved.

SURPRISE PARTY

Tendered Mrs. C. A. Stacy and Daughter, Miss Loana at

THE STACY MANSION

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON BY FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

Thursday, August 21, was the fourteenth anniversary of Mrs. Judge Stacy's golden wedding and the ladies of the Universalist church taking "time by the forelock" as they usually do in matters of social interest, conspired together to give their venerable leader and her daughter Loana a genuine surprise. It is said that no one woman can keep a secret, and so thirty of them undertook it and succeeded perfectly. The scheme was aided by a luxuriant field of corn, which this year obscures the grand view from the Stacy home to nearly the end of Chicago street and not until the whole procession of church people, neighbors and lunch baskets hove in view and swarmed over the lawn did the hostesses realize like Sampson of old "The Philistines be upon thee" and there was no time to escape, or even to don a reception gown.

The Stacy mansion has not in a long time been the scene of such a pleasant old time gathering. The near neighbors aided the parish ladies in contributing to the enjoyment of the occasion. All were seated at the long tables in the dining room and a picnic supper was served which bore out the reputation which these ladies have gained for excellent cooking and dainty serving.

It was an event to be remembered by the hostesses and their guests and a pleasant reminder of the many such delightful gatherings for which the Stacy mansion has been famous.

MILL STARTED

AFTER A FIVE WEEKS SHUT DOWN FOR EXTENSIVE REPAIRS THE HAYDEN MILLING CO. RESUME OPERATIONS.

The Wm. Hayden Milling Co., who have been closed down five weeks undergoing extensive repairs, under the competent supervision of their efficient head miller, Joseph Marsh, have again resumed operations and expect to run night and day until their back orders have been caught up with.

The repairs consisted of the construction of a new flume, placing and connecting new water wheel, regrinding and recorrugating the rolls and a thorough remodelling and overhauling of the feed grinding department that had previously been conceded a model, but now will be a shining light in the feed grinding business.

The mill has been under continual operation for four years with but a few shut downs of a day or so at a time for trivial repairs, and their popular brand of flour, "1900," has become a household necessity in thousands of homes within a radius of thirty miles of beautiful Tecumseh. Each year has seen many grocers names added to the large list of original retailers, until the capacity of the mill is at all times crowded or sold ahead.

Probably no mill in southern Michigan has the facilities for and capacity of this one in grinding custom feed. The management has at all times been up-to-date, adding the latest and most approved machinery from time to time and today they can grind from 8,000 to 10,000 pounds of feed meal per hour.

The force of hands at the mill are all intelligent, congenial and withal strictly honest and it is a pleasure to deal with them.

We bespeak for the mill many days of rushing business and are confident they will have their share.

For the Second Time This Season, the Strong

D. A. C. CLUB

Of Detroit, Scores Nothing but Defeat from the Famous Tecumseh Club.

Tuesday the strong D. A. C. club of Detroit, registered its second defeat on the Tecumseh base ball grounds. The team came here in anticipation of carrying home the laurels of the game, but as has been the case before, they had to acknowledge defeat. The Alkali battery, Egan and Taft, did the heavy work for the visitors and as one enthusiast was heard to say, "Well, if we can't beat you with this bunch, there is no need of the Tigers trying it," and as they failed to down us, we have no fear of the Tigers.

The game went off with fast playing for both sides, but as has been the case most every time this year. Tecumseh had the faculty of obtaining hits at just the right time and place. The fact that the game was of short duration goes to prove that fast playing was a feature of both sides.

Reip, the first of the visitors to grasp the bat, reached first on France's inability to cover the ball, Kilsey made a safe first base hit but was put out at second. Fitzpatrick found a base. Thomason lined out a two bagger. Reip and Fitzpatrick scored, Thomason was thrown out at third and Miller, the next up, was put out at second, retiring the side with two tallies.

Gorton obtained his base on balls, reached second on a passed ball and stole third. Schiappacasse was thrown out at first, France lined out a pretty two bagger. Gorton scored and France was thrown out at third. Harris placed a fly in second baseman Reip's, territory which was bagged, putting Harris out and retiring the side with one tally.

The score remained as above until the fifth inning, when Tecumseh registered three more scores, made by Duvall. Gillen and France. The visitors failed to score in the fifth. In the sixth Fitzpatrick was put out by France unassisted.

Thomason placed a fly in centerfielder Gorton's hands, and was placed on the bench. Miller lined out a pretty two bagger and finally scored. Ducharme hit for a single, Lodge popped a fly to second which was bagged by North retiring the side, with Ducharme left on base.

A cipher was the result of the sixth inning for Tecumseh, while in the seventh three tallies were recorded, made by Schiappacasse, North and Furnham. Schiappacasse and Furnham each lining out two baggers. In the eight North was the only man to score. Furnham coming in for another two bagger, the side retired with a total of eight scores for the game.

In the seventh Taft was thrown out at first, Egan struck out, Reip obtained a base on balls, Kelsey made a safe hit. Fitzpatrick struck out retiring the side, leaving Reip and Kelsey on bases.

In the eighth two tallies were made by the visitors, Ducharme and Lodge each registering one tally. In the ninth only three men grasped the bat. Reip lined one out to Duvall and was thrown out at first. Kilsey placed the ball in France's locality and of course was put out at first. Fitzpatrick, the next and last man, was also handled by France catching him out on a fly and closing the game with the score 8 to 5 in favor of Tecumseh.

League Team Coming.

Arrangements have been made for a benefit ball game here on Monday Aug. 25. It is the general opinion that the Tecumseh ball club has been the greatest advertiser the village has had for years. The present club is the strongest bunch of ball players in southern Michigan and are known by the state press as the Famous Tecumseh Team. The management have been up against bad weather nearly the whole season, and have been playing to much smaller crowds than they are deserving of.

The management have secured the Toledo American Association team for this benefit game and ask that all who are interested in the national game and who wish to have the present team remain during the ball season, show their appreciation by their attendance and and patronage to the game on Monday next There is an impression out that the admission to this game is to be one dollar, this is not so, the regular admission of 25c, ladies 15c, children 10c will be charged.

"Here lies the body of John Mound,
Lost at sea and never found."

THEY ALL SAY SO.

Not only in Tecumseh, but in Every City and Town in the Union.

If the reader took the time and trouble to ask his fellow residents of Tecumseh, the simple question given below, he would obtain the one answer. If he would read the statements now being published in Tecumseh, which refer to this answer, it would surprise him to note that they number so many.

As many more could be, and may be, published, but in the meantime ask the first person you meet what cures backache? The answer will be Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a citizen who endorses our claim:

Mr. C. Patterson, the well known sexton, residing in southeastern part of Tecumseh, says: "For over a year I had a soreness and pain in the small of the back at times quite severe more especially if I did a hard day's work or took cold, for it always settled in my kidneys. The kidney secretions were also discolored and irregular and I had all the symptoms of agravated kidney complaint. I heard several people praising Doan's Kidney Pills so concluding to try them I got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and commenced the treatment. I found it just suited my case for it helped me right from the start. It stopped the pain in my back and regulated and cleared up the kidney secretions. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone having any difficulty with their kidneys."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

"Dying in poverty," says a modern moralist "is nothing; it is living in poverty that comes hard on a fellow."

Both Horses Killed.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 21.—In an attempt to cross the Michigan Central track at Harrison street ahead of the fast eastbound train, a carriage driven by James H. McLaughlin of Oshtemo was struck. Fortunately McLaughlin's worst injury consisted of a scalp wound, while his companion, Miss Teed of Keeler sprang from the buggy in time to escape unhurt. Both horses were killed.

Her Son Lives.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Andrew Leanna has received a letter from her son Ephie, whom she supposed was dead. He is serving in the Philippines in Company F, Twenty-eighth United States regulars. About a month ago a telegram was received by Mrs. Leanna from the commanding officer of Ephie's regiment stating that he had died from the effects of Asiatic cholera.

Grangers of Washtenaw.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Aug. 21.—The Washtenaw county grange held its fourth annual picnic at the farm of Joseph Warner of Ypsilanti township, Wednesday morning and afternoon, about 250 being present. The principal speaker was E. P. Cole, past lecturer for the New York State Grange, his subject being the benefit the grange members derive from their organization.

STARTLING REPORT

Mrs. E. Anderson, of Tecumseh, Mich. says: I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night and was quite dizzy. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's drug store and now since using the pills I can say my nerves are steadied, I rest better and the dizziness is relieved. I think the pills a splendid nerve medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well.' For sale by J. J Orr.

Headache

kills, not necessarily suddenly, but SURELY. It preys upon the intellectual powers more than we realize. It consumes the vitality faster than nature can replenish it, and we cannot tell just what moment a temporary or complete aberration of the mind will result. Headache and pain should be promptly removed—but properly. Many pain cures are more harmful than the pain. Beware. If you would be safe, take

Dr. Miles' Pain Pills.

"As a result of neuralgia I lost the sight of my right eye, and the pain I have suffered is incomprehensible, being obliged to take opiates almost continually. A friend gave me one of Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and it promptly relieved me. I then purchased a box and now my trouble is gone. They have also cured my daughter of nervous headache, and I heartily recommend them to others."—W. J. CORLEY, Bremond, Texas.

Monthly Pure Food Bulletin.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 21.—The monthly bulletin issued by Dairy and Food Commissioner Snow shows that there were pending at the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, thirty-eight cases for violations of the food laws. Since the date named four cases have been commenced, and there have been two convictions, leaving forty cases at the close of the month. Of the twenty-nine samples of food products of various kinds tested by State Analyst Doolittle during the month, eighteen were found to be adulterated. The principal products found to be impure were oleomargarine and pepper.

WRIT OF ERROR GRANTED.

Supreme Court Gives Andrews a New Lease of Life.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 20.—Chief Justice Hooker and Justice Moore, sitting in chambers Tuesday, granted a writ of error in the case of the People vs. Frank C. Andrews. This means that the bank wrecker may not have to go to Jackson just yet to begin his fifteen-year sentence.

A formal order was made continuing Andrews in the custody of the sheriff until further proceedings are taken.

The next move will be to apply for bail. Justice Hooker intimated that all efforts to get bail in the Detroit courts should be exhausted before asking the supreme court to admit Andrews to bail. Although Judge Murphy, before whom Andrews was tried has refused to admit him to bail, it is within the jurisdiction of any of the circuit judges to fix bail.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—The action of the supreme court in granting a writ of error in the Andrews case and also in declaring a stay of proceedings has no significance as to the merits of the case whatever, and it does not mean that any error was made in the trial.

The information that he would not have to go to prison at once was conveyed to Frank C. Andrews by Marcus Pollasky, who had a telegram from Attorney Groesbeck announcing the decision of the supreme court. "Barrister" Eddie Barnett was also present when the news was given to Andrews.

The bank wrecker smiled with joy and a great sigh of relief escaped him. He stood up, shook hands with Barnett and Pollasky and was almost jubilant.

THE LAST CAMP DAY.

Governor Bliss Praised the Boys—Sham Battle Drew a Crowd.

Camp Hawley, Manistee, Mich., Aug. 20.—What is conceded on all sides to have been the most successful encampment of the Michigan National Guard in two decades ended Tuesday.

The military board will meet today to consider, among other things, the location of next year's camp. The Manistee people are very desirous of retaining the camp, and will send a delegation to the meeting. It is altogether probable that the present location will be the choice for next year.

A general order issued by the governor, in which he paid a fine tribute to the troops, was read at dress parade last evening, and another of similar tenor will be forwarded to the commander of the naval reserves.

The sham battle in the afternoon drew a big crowd of spectators. The second regiment and the independent battalion opposed the first and third regiments. Governor Bliss was opposed to the battle, fearing accidents, but finally gave his consent. Late in the afternoon the Dorothea, with the first division of Illinois naval reserves, of Molin, and Adjutant Smith of Illinois aboard, reached Manistee. General Smith, Captain Tuttle of the reserves, and other officers visited the camp and were entertained at lunch.

Old Paw Paw Soldier Arrested.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Captain William H. S. Banks of Paw Paw, Mich., has been arrested here by Deputy Sheriff Chappell of Van Buren county, charged with forging the name of Benjamin Smith to a note for $300, about a year ago. He was taken to Michigan, waiving the formality of the requisition. Captain Banks protests his innocence. He is a veteran of the civil war and says he will soon get a pension of $36 a month, with a big bunch of back pay.

Chief Engineer Torrey Hurt.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 20.—A. Torrey of Detroit, chief engineer of the Michigan Central railway, was dangerously injured at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon near Albion, while riding on a gasoline car in company with two other men, by being run down by a fast freight near a curve. The men had just time to jump, but in doing so Torrey struck a rail pile and three ribs and his right arm were broken.

President Summons Smith.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 20.—William Alden Smith has been summoned to Oyster Bay by a telegram from the president. He left yesterday. He refused to discuss his senatorial boom, either to confirm or deny it, and would not even say if the summons had anything to do with the boom.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, sideache, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhœa, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Thedford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in mammoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Illewara, La.

Economical Fuel

Whatever fuel is most economical, most convenient to your house, can be used in a Round Oak Furnace—chunks of wood, soft coal, hard coal, coke—anything that fire will consume. Whatever you put in it will give most heat, because Round Oak Furnaces waste no fuel; burn all the fuel, the gases, and most of the smoke; keep fire 12 hours with wood, 24 hours with coal. The is solidly constructed and is airtight (the only airtight furnace), and is reasonable in price. All of the heat goes into the house—no waste through flues outside the casing, chimney or in cellar.

If you want a furnace, write for the Round Oak Furnace book—full of fuel facts, hints on furnace regulation, etc.

FATAL ACCIDENTS

Two of Them Occurred on Rail-Roads Sundsy.

TOTAL OF SIX LIVES LOST

Three Persons Killed in a Headon Collision—Engineer, Brakeman and Fireman Killed in Freight Wreck Near New Albany, Ind.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore terminal line late Sunday afternoon, three persons were killed and many others badly injured.

The dead are: W. S. Yandell, motorman; C. B. Colden, motorman; Linwood Fentress, aged ten.

Ahe accident occurred 400 yards beyond Futas siding, about three and a half miles from Norfolk. One car was coming from Ocean View and the other going to the View. The orders were that the shorebound car should wait at the siding for the other. Motorman Yandell failed to obey the orders and the crash came 400 yards beyond the siding. Yandell endeavored to jump, but was crushed between the telescoped cars and died hanging by his right leg. Motorman C. B. Colden of the other car applied his air brakes as soon as he saw the danger, as did Linwood Fentress, the ten-year-old son of R. B. Fentress, president of the Norfolk Storage & Ice Co. Both Colden and Fentress were caught under the platform of the shorebound car, which piled up on the other, and were killed outright. Colden's head was almost torn from his body, and both legs were cut off. The Fentress boy was crushed to death. Both cars were full of Sunday excursionists and few escaped uninjured. There is no complete list of the injured. Mr. R. P. Waller, a brother of Major L. W. T. Waller, was on one of the cars and sustained serious injuries.

St. Louis, Aug. 25.—A special from New Albany, Ind., says:

In a disastrous freight wreck on the Southern Railway near Georgetown, ten miles west of here, early Sunday, Engineer "Red" Duval, Fireman B. Cox and Brakeman Ross of one train were killed outright, and Engineer Harry Coodall and Fireman George Myers of the other train were probably fatally hurt.

Fourteen boxcars loaded with wheat, with two locomotives, were tumbled over a trestle to a ravine forty feet below and were demolished. All the traffic on the Southern Railway between Louisville and St. Louis has been blocked. Two sections of the through freight were coming east, and the first section, in charge of Conductor Walter Alvis, had stopped at Duncans to switch, leaving a "cut" of cars on the main track. There is a heavy grade at this point, and by some means the cars broke away and rolled down the track, gaining momentum at each revolution of the wheels. Just as the runaway cars were approaching the trestle the second section, drawn by two mogul engines, came thundering over the hill, and the crash occurred a moment later. The cars piled over the locomotives and all went down into the ravine in a heap.

Both Duval and Cox went down with their engine. Ross was on one of the runaway cars and was crushed beneath it. Engineer Goodall and Fireman Myers, in charge of the other engine, jumped and saved their lives, although they may yet die. Conductor A. G. Lewis and Brakeman John Burns of the second section jumped and escaped serious injury. Duval had been married but a few days. The loss to the railroad company will amount to about $75,000.

Constabulary Cornered by Ladrones.

Manila, Aug. 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty Ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seventy constabulary have taken the field in pursuit of the Ladrones.

BEST YEAR SO FAR

Fraternal and Insurance Companies in Good Shape.

COM. BARRY ISSUES REPORT

Volume of Business Done Exceeds All Previous Years—Barry Practiced Economy—Demand of License Has Improved Conditions Decidedly.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 25.—In the thirty-second annual report covering the business of life, casualty and fraternal insurance companies, which will be received from the state printer today, Insurance Commissioner Barry says. the volume of business transacted by the various companies during the year far exceeded all previous records, and that generally the companies are in excellent condition. Mention is made of the fact that it has been the commissioner's endeavor to conduct the department with the greatest economy consistent with efficiency, the result being that, although the work of the department has materially increased, and its receipts were nearly $53,000 greater than under any of his predecessors, the expenses of the department of every nature were $1,715 less than for the last year previous to his administration, the total for the year being $12,211.11.

The receipts of the department, all of which were covered into the state treasury, for the year were as follows: From fire and marine companies of other states and foreign countries, 3 per cent on gross Michigan premiums, $163,916.30; from life companies of other states and foreign countries, 2 per cent on gross premiums, $132,127.65; from casualty and integrity companies, $11,738.06; from assessment life, accident and sick benefit companies, $700; retaliatory fees, $14,545; total, $323,027.01.

The enactment of the last legislature requiring agents of all companies and associations, except fraternal beneficiary societies and farmers' mutual fire companies, to have personal licenses from the insurance department, has greatly improved conditions surrounding this important phase of the business. It gives the department direct control over these agents and enables it to protect the public from such as may prove unworthy, the penalty for improper conduct on the part of the agent being the revocation of his license and his inability, therefore, to do further business in Michigan.

The report deals to considerable extent with the case of the National Protective Legion of Waverly, N. Y., to which the commissioner declined to issue a renewal certificate of authority for the reason that, in his judgment, it was paying its members a profit in violiation of the Michigan statute, which provides for the payment of benefits only in case of the death, accident, sickness, disability or old age of the member. Inasmuch, however, as the several thousand Michigan members of the order became such during the several years, the legion has a license from the department, the commissioner felt that the department was to a great extent responsible for their being such members and that it was his duty to protect them as far as possible. He, therefore, gave the society a license which expressly provides that it should not thereafter issue in Michigan any certificate providing for the payment of a profit to members, or for the payment of any benefit not provided for in the Michigan fraternal law. This conditional license was formally accepted in writing by the society.

Bold Robbery at Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 25.—The treasurer's office in the courthouse here was Saturday the scene of the boldest robbery which ever took place in this city. During the noon hour, while County Treasurer Fellows and his assistants were at dinner, some person or persons effected an entrance into his office, wrecked the lock on the door of the big vault by the use of a fuse and nitroglycerine cap and rifled the safe therein of its cash contents and valuable papers. Nearly $350 in cash was secured, part of the money belonging to the county and part to the employes of the office. The cracksmen left absolutely no clue upon which to work.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Gave Him Five Years.—Herbert Adams, a Port Huron youth who pleaded guilty to feloniously assaulting his sister and abusing her in a shocking manner, has been sentenced to five years' imprisonment at Ionia.

Wants Husband Pardoned.—Mrs. W. H. Groner, wife of W. H. Groner, who was sentenced to two years at Jackson last spring by Judge Smith for blackmail, is circulating a petition among Milford people asking that Groner be pardoned.

Financially Embarrassed.—The Magic Manufacturing company, a patent paint concern in which several prominent Ann Arborites are interested, has gone up in the air and a petition will be made to have it declared a bankrupt concern.

More Rural Delivery.—An additional rural free delivery route has been ordered established at Fenton, Genesee county, on Oct. 1, the carrier to be appointed later. The route will be 22⅝ miles long, will cover an area of 24 square miles and serve 500 people.

Bad Mishap; No One Killed.—A steam pipe at the Port Huron Light & Power Co.'s plant blew up shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday evening and temporarily put the concern out of business. One hundred and fifty pounds of steam were carried at the time and the explosion tore out part of a wall and cut out about 200 square feet of roof as clean as though sawed out by hand. Fortunately no one was injured.

Indian English.

An intelligent sepoy one day came to a telegraph office in India and handed in a message to send to a station in central India. Having read the message, the operator said there was something wrong. "No, sahib; me knows English," he said. Again an attempt was made to explain to him that it was wrongly worded. "Me knows English," he declared haughtily and indignantly. "If you no send, me report Superintendent Mandalay." Thus threatened, the message was forwarded. "Come quick: father dangerously dead."

WANT PA'S PARDON

Toledo Couple in Port Huron Eloped and Were Married.

FATHER OPPOSED THE UNION

Brother Has Been Searching in Windsor For Them—The Pair Claim the Ceremony Was Performed in Detroit—Are Living in Clover.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 23.—For the past few days Mr. and Mrs. Ameen George Yared have been registered at the Harrington, in the bridal chamber, and a number of Port Huron people have made their acquaintance. They are very pleasant young people, and the story of their life did not come to light until yesterday, when it was learned they had eloped twice before succeeding in getting married.

The story told by the Detroit papers led to the suspicion that they were the couple for whom Michael H. Nassr Jr., was searching in Windsor and Sandwich, and when Yared was interviewed at the Harrington he acknowledged that they were the people referred to, but they contradicted several statements made by the brother, who said that while his father was wealthy, being engaged in the importing of European novelties, that Yared was penniless, and that this is the second escapade in which the two have figured. Yared and his bride are certainly living in clover at the Harrington and must have money to put up for it.

Yared claims the ceremony was performed in Detroit on Wednesday, and the notice suppressed. They afterward went to Windsor and sent the telegram to the irate father.

"We did not want them to know where we were," concluded Yared.

Yared claimed they did not elope six months ago, but that his wife was of age this week and they decided to overcome the opposition of the father by running away and getting married. The bride is a pretty brunette and was handsomely gowned in a tailor-made blue traveling dress.

Fruitless Attempt at Suicide.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 23.—Thursday afternoon William Gartner, aged nineteen, son of Jacob Gartner, attempted suicide by taking a teaspoonful of fluid extract of aconite root. No motive is given, but it is thought he is weak-minded, as several years ago he had trouble with his brain. The nausea following the dose led the young man's mother to send for a physician, upon whose arrival he told what he had done. Stimulants were given him and artificial respiration resorted to, and after two hours' work he was brought out of immediate danger, although his heart action is still very weak. After the boy had somewhat recovered he said he had reasons of his own for the act, and next time he would take a gun and make sure of killing himself.

Hale, Saginaw, $14; William Armstrong, Mason, $10. Widows—Isabell Mundell, Fowler, $12; Josephine Schaller, Port Huron, $8; Sarah L. Mick, Clarksville, $12.

Hudson Girl Is Missing.

Hudson, Mich., Aug. 23.—There is considerable excitement here over the alleged disappearance of a girl named Grace Lockmer. The young lady had been visiting her sister at Toledo, and on Monday started for home, her sister going to the station and seeing her on the train. On Wednesday the girl's mother received a letter from her daughter in Toledo, saying her sister had returned home. After Grace took the train at Toledo that is the last seen or heard of her. Mrs. Lockmer went to Toledo Thursday. The conductor says he did not take up a ticket for Hudson during the trip it was supposed the girl came home.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Soo Hatchery's Limit.—The Soo fish hatchery will again this season be taken care of by the United States commission. The plan is to have 5,000,000 trout and 40,000,000 whitefish hatched there for the next planting.

Burglars Working Cass City.—Burglars at Cass City entered Dr. Deming's residence and stole $600 in government bonds, the property of Mrs. Cole, aunt of the Demings, also several dollars in change from the children's bank. No clue.

Fell Twenty-five Feet.—John Hartwig, aged forty-five, a laborer of Detroit, fell twenty-five feet from the roof of the building at 855 Fort street west, yesterday afternoon, and landed astride a wooden horse. He was taken to Harper hospital, where his injuries were found to be serious.

Life Crushed Out.—Charles Gilmore of Detroit, a lineman, employed by the Michigan Telephone company, was killed Thursday afternoon while assisting in unloading telephone poles from a train between Edmore and Mecosta. One of the poles became dislodged and rolled on him, crushing out his life instantly.

Returning to Duties in Chi[illegible].—Professor Harry E. King and Mrs. King, whose home is in Coldwater, will soon return to China, where Professor King will resume his duties at the Pekin university. At the time of the boxer outbreak Mrs. King was at a resort in the mountains, but escaped with other American and English missionaries to Japan. Professor King was in Pekin during the siege. Both are alumni of the University of Michigan.

ALLEGED MURDERERS.

Two Tramps Taken Into Custody at Detroit Who Answer Descriptions.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—Two thugs who are suspected of having committed an atrocious murder in Tiledo last Friday evening are in cells at police headquarters awaiting identification by the Toledo authorities. The men were detained by two detectives in West Detroit about noon yesterday, as they answer to the description of tramps who are believed to have brutally butchered an old man named Peter Riley in the suburbs of that city. The pair gave the names of Ruben Cooley and Charles Smith, but the police are positive these names are assumed. They were unable to satisfactorily account for their presence in this city.

The crime for which the men are awaiting identification was committed at a late hour last Friday evening in the suburbs of Toledo. The old man was found lying prone on his face, which was battered beyond recognition. A blood-stained ax lying beside the victim showed the manner of death he had met.

The man had been drinking heavily during the evening and at a nearby saloon he had offended three rtamps by ordering them from the place. When Riley left it was the last seen of him alive, and the supposition is the tramps waylaid him for his money The descriptions given of the men correspond well to the men taken into custody. Their talk, however, has failed to disclose any secrets.

AFTER HORSETHIEF.

Corunna Sheriff Is Having Lively Time With Nervy Man.

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 25.—Sheriff Daniel J. Gerow of Corunna is just winding up a hard chase after a fleeing horsethief, and word that he has captured his man and started back for jail is expected at any moment. On Friday evening a $200 horse and buggy was stolen from in front of the Maine saloon in Owosso. Abe Snyder, the owner, says two hangerson of the place embroiled him in a quarrel while a third party slipped out and untied the horse. Snyder got to the curb and shouted as the thief reached the middle of the street and was off at a gallop. Officers Frank Mack and Lee Retan chased the thief on foot, firing their revolvers, but the rig kept on going. Sheriff Gerow took up the chase Saturday noon, discovering that the rig had passed through Perry. She sheriff has a good team and has since been but a few miles behind the man with Snyder's horse. They passed through Shaftsburg and Williamston and are headed south. At the above towns an officer telephoned ahead, but the thief has been shrewd enough to elude those who tried to intercept him.

A Drunken Rampage.

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 25.—George Nye, a farmer residing west of this city, while intoxicated Saturday night raced his horses, attached to a heavy lumber wagon, madly through the downtown streets. They collided with a buggy containing Justic Warriner, his wife and three children and a friend of Mrs. Warriner's. The carriage was smashed into kindling wood. Mrs. Warriner was stepped on by one of Nye's horses and several ribs broken. She also sustained serious internal injuries, and others of the party sustained cuts and bruises. A warrant has been sworn out for Nye's arrest and officers are searching for him. His father, Myron Nye, proprietor of a notorious saloon, is under arrest for assault and battery.

Two Little Girls Drowned.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 25.—A double drowning fatality occurred at Campbell Lake, two miles east of this city, Saturday afternoon, the victims of the sad accident being Grace Lino, aged twelve, daughter of Henry Lino of Kalamazoo, and Wilbur Macoy, aged twelve, son of J. E. Macy of Chicago. Early in the afternoon these two children and Josephine Lino, the six-year-old sister of the drowned girl, walked out to the lake. The two older children found a raft near shore, which they pushed out into the water and paddled around gathering water lilies. In some manner they both fell off the raft where the water was about eight feet deep and were drowned.

Caught Between Drawbars.

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 25.—Alvin Bossonette of Saginaw, a Pere Marquette brakeman, lost his life while switching in the yards near the depot Saturday afternoon. He was caught between two drawbars while attempting to adjust one of the couplers. Bossonette was twenty-one years of age.

Young Fisherman Drowned.

Mackinaw City, Mich., Aug. 25.—Joe Metty, a fisherman's son, from Naubinway, some time during Saturday night fell into the water from the fishing dock and was drowned. His body was found in six feet of water.

Quick Capture.

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 25.—The farmhouse of Farmer Hartman, near Eau Claire, was robbed just before noon Saturday. A neighbor saw three men leaving the house with valuables In two hours the men were captured and are now in the county jail.

Pimples.

A great many persons are troubled with pimples on the face, which are unsightly at best, and especially annoying when they come, as they often do, on the nose. Of course they arise from some impurity of the blood and need constitutional treatment, but until this is obtained a safe and easy way of preventing them is to apply arnica to the skin. A pimple never comes without warning. A few hours before there is always a slight inflammation or swelling, and if a drop of arnica be applied to the spot when the swelling begins half a dozen applications in the course of a day will drive the pimple back under the skin.

CHAPTER VII.

UNMASKED

NOW do I reverently thank God that by his mercy I was strong enough to take the course I adopted, for had I not done so I know not what had been my fate. On the surface the impulse on which I had acted seemed foolish and ill advised, yet when I think over all calmly now, and especially of the circumstances that led to my meeting with M. de Norreys and the events which followed, I am sure and confident that the merciful power which had so far watched over me had heard my prayers and answered them. At the moment, however, I did not know one thing of this. My one idea was to try, if possible, to enlist the Englishman on my side, and if this was not to be then I knew not what I should do, though the most desperate resolves were rioting in my brain. I was too excited to rest, but a bath, a change of toilet and a little food refreshed me and steadied my nerves, and then I sat for a space by the open window of my small room to try to collect myself for my interview with M. de Norreys. The clouds seemed to have passed away, though far behind over the mountains there was a gray bank that showed that the storm was hovering over us and the wind still blew in fitful, uncertain gusts. Below me Lalande was attending to the horses, and a bowshot or so beyond the garden of the inn under some walnut trees I saw what I had not noticed before, and that was a small encampment of lances. This did not tend to reassure me, and if I had any doubts as to whom the troops belonged they were set at rest by the sight of Norreys mounted on a powerful black horse riding slowly toward the inn, evidently with a view of keeping his appointment with me. I had tried to set out in my mind what I would say to him, but each effort seemed to be worse than the other, and at last I determined to simply throw myself on his chivalry and stand the hazard of the result.

At one time I thought that we might perhaps make a dash for it and escape, but even I could see that our wearied horses would not have a chance against fresh ones, and if it came to a struggle we had but one sword to depend upon—a brave one, it is true, but what could one poor man do against ten? No, there was no way but the one way, the idea of which had come so suddenly to me. Now I heard Norreys dismounting at the door of the inn, and after a moment's hesitation I took my courage in both hands and stepped down to meet him. He was standing in the little parlor, his back to the light, as I entered, so that I could not see the expression of his face, but he bowed, I thought stiffly, on my coming in and handed me one of the rough chairs in the room, saying as he did so: "I trust I have not kept you waiting, madame. I was delayed a little longer than I expected with my men, as I have much to arrange for." The last words, measured out in his prim, formal speech, appeared to me to convey a hint to be quick with my business and as a natural result all but took away the power of saying anything from me. Mustering up courage, however, I took the chair he offered, saying as I did so, "Will you not be seated, monsieur?"

"Thank you," came the answer in the same set tone, and then he fixed his eyes on me with a grave attention, in which, however, there was mingled, as I thought, much repressed curiosity.

"M. de Norreys," I began desperately, "you cannot but be aware that I fully understand why you are here."

He started slightly, but recovered himself at once, though he said nothing.

"And, monsieur," I went on, "I have come to throw myself on your mercy. Monsieur, you look a gentleman. What object can you gain by carrying out your orders against a poor, weak woman, whose only end is to hide herself from the world? I have done no wrong, monsieur, and if you knew my story you would pity me. I ask you as a gentleman, as a man of honor."

"Madame," he interrupted, genuine amaze in his voice, "I do not understand. As far as I am concerned, you are as free as air. I know you to be the wife of my friend De Lorgnac, and my only regret is that I am unable to offer you my escort"—

"Say that again, monsieur. Do you mean your business here has nothing to do with me?"

"Absolutely nothing, madame. I am afraid you have alarmed yourself needlessly."

"But M. de Clermont told me. He said you had gone to Perigueux to have me delivered over to my husband."

"Madame, I know of no necessity for doing so, and if I was not certain that you must be mistaken I would say that M. de Clermont deceived you."

"I tell you he did not. He showed me the dispatch with the queen's cipher on it and asked me to read it. Monsieur, listen. He did not lie, and I shall tell you why. It is you who deceive me and are playing with me. Wait, monsieur."

A flicker of a smile passed over his face and shone in his eyes, but he answered simply:

"I am attention; but, madame, think before you tell me things which perhaps I ought not to know."

"Let me be the judge of that, and I will show you, monsieur, that it is useless, even in kindness, to hide your orders from me."

Then I told him briefly of my marriage and of the circumstances attending it, while he leaned back in his chair and listened without a word and with so little sympathy in his look that he might have been cut out of a block of wood. The result was that as I spoke I grew somewhat excited, and my tongue was bitter against De Lorgnac, whom, to my sorrow, I upbraided with the infamy of this enterprise, and then I spoke of De Clermont, of his bravery and kindness, forgetting other things that had happened and how he had warned me of my danger, and especially about Norreys himself, finishing with a rapid "And, monsieur, surely you will let me go. I put myself on your chivalry."

He stopped me with a movement of his hand and, rising from his seat, faced me. "Mme. de Lorgnac, I tell you again that you are utterly mistaken. I have nothing to do with your movements. Yet I am glad you have spoken, for De Lorgnac is my friend, and I now see what the other man is. It is not my habit to meddle with other people's affairs, but because De Lorgnac is my friend I will tell you something that will give you pain, but will open your eyes, and you must forgive the plain speech of my country, for we have no mincing turns of the tongue. On the authority of the Marquis de Clermont you have accused me of playing catchpole. That is not a matter that troubles me—my honor is in safe keeping; but you have also accused your husband and my friend and believe Blaise de Lorgnac to be an assassin and of forcing a marriage on you for the sake of your wealth. For your own sake, for the sake of De Lorgnac, you shall know the truth."

"I listen, monsieur."

"I'll tell you. At a supper party given by that croquemitaine of a king of yours a certain matter was discussed, but the execution of it had to be dropped, as no one of those present who was offered the enterprise would accept it. Later on the wine passed, and a fool, after the fashion of your court, began to boast openly of his conquests and spoke openly of your favor."

"Monsieur how dare you!"

"Madame, it is the fashion among your fine gentlemen to lie like this. I will do De Clermont the justice to say that it was not he, for he was not there, and the man who spoke is dead, so let his name pass. But Tavannes was there and had to be reckoned with. The king offered to have you married, and the marshal burst out that he would give you to the first man who asked."

"Oh!"

"Blaise de Lorgnac was on guard at the door. He had heard every word, and now stepped forward and claimed your hand, offering at the same time to undertake the affair for which an agent could not be found. His offer was accepted, and in the early morning, madame, in the yard of La Boucherie, where I had the honor to be your husband's second, your traducer met with his death, and with his last breath confessed that he had lied. That was the very day, madame, that you foolishly rode out with De Clermont. Stay; there is yet a little more, and that concerns the dispatch. My business at Perigueux was to give an order to De Termes to receive at St. Priest-Taurion a prisoner of state, who was to be handed over to him by myself and De Clermont. I am here to receive that prisoner, and it is Blaise de Lorgnac who is intrusted with the duty of taking him alive. The duplicate dispatch, if there is such a one—and you say you have seen the cover—does not refer to you, and De Clermont has lied. I will settle with him for using my name; but, madame, you are as free as air, and may go where you like, and for Blaise de Lorgnac's sake I will help you all I can—and this is all."

"Oh! I don't know what to think."

"You are free to go, I say, and, as De Clermont will be here soon, and not alone, I would advise an immediate departure. I will detach a brace of lances to act as further escort, and let me give the order now. I will be back in a moment."

He did not wait for my reply, but, turning on his heel, stepped out of the room, and I sat with my brain burning and my head between my hands. I could not doubt this story, and if ever woman passed through a furnace of shame and anger I did so in those few minutes. I now knew what De Lorgnac was. I now for the first time saw De Clermont in his true colors, with his mask off, and yet—and yet—perhaps Norreys was mistaken about him. I had proved myself to be so utterly wrong, to have jumped to conclusions so rashly, that I dared not sit in judgment any more on a soul, and while I floundered on in this way Norreys came back.

"I have arranged everything, madame. The orders have been given to your people. They will be ready to start in a half hour. About midnight you should reach Millevranches, and I should halt there and go on with the morning."

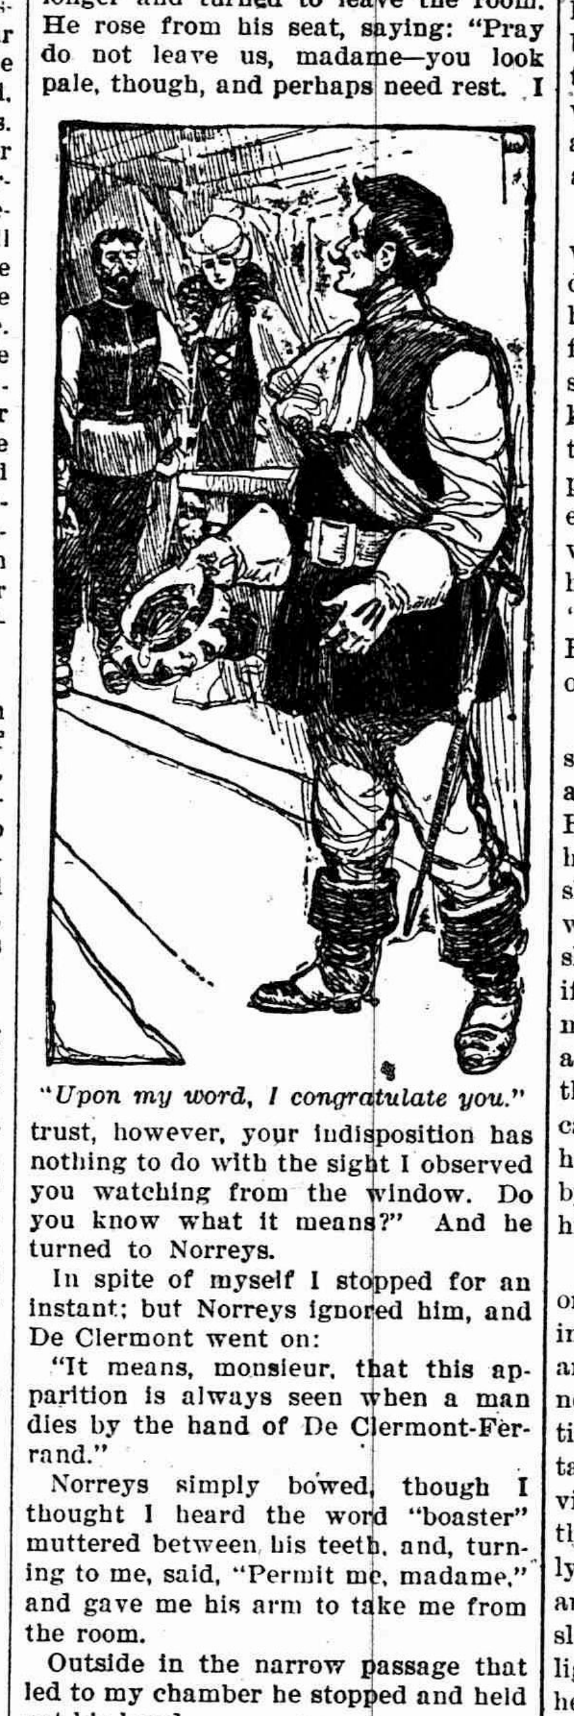
"Monsieur, how can I thank you? I have no words."

"Let the matter rest, Mme. de Lorgnac." And then his voice took a gentler tone. "I would not urge your going at once except that we are on De Clermont's own estates, and he has a hundred lances with him at his Chateau de Ferrand. It is shut out from view by the hills, but it lies yonder." He pointed to the west through the open window, and as he did so an exclamation of surprise burst from him, and he crossed himself.

I followed his glance and saw high in the heavens, hanging over the mountainous pile of reddening clouds that lay in the west, the grim outline of a vast fortress. The huge walls reflected back with a coppery luster and red light of the sun, and it was as if we could see figures moving on the ramparts and the flash of arms from the battlements. From the flagstaff on the donjon a broad banner flaunted itself proudly, and so clear and distinct was the light that we made out with ease the blazon on the standard and the straining leashed ounces of the house of Clermont-Ferrand. And then the clouds took a duskier red, and the solid mass of castle faded away into nothing. I stood still and speechless, and Norreys burst forth: "Sorcery, as I live. Madame, that was the Chateau de Ferrand."

I had never seen the like before, never again did I see it, nor do I wish to, and it left me so chilled and faint that Norreys noticed it at once and called for wine. As he did so I fancied that I heard the beat of a horse's hoof, but paid no attention to it, and then the wine came, and I drank, he standing over me. I was just setting down the glass when there was a grating at the entrance, a long shadow fell through the doorway, and De Clermont stepped in with a cheery "Good day, M. de Norreys. I see you have not been neglecting your time here. Arnidieu! Denise! Is it you? You seem to be forever dropping from the clouds across my path." And he held out his hand. But I took no notice, though I rose from my chair, and Norreys merely bowed frigidly in return to his greeting. De Clermont seemed in nowise disconcerted, but there was an angry flash in his eyes, and for a second he stood tapping the end of his boot with his riding whip and looking from one to another of us with a half smile on his lips. Then, putting his plumed hat on the table and drawing off his gloves, he drawled out with a veiled insolence in every tone of his voice, "Upon my word, M. de Norreys, I congratulate you, and if it were not for our business I would leave you in peace, for madame seems to have learned the lesson that 'it is well to be off with the old love before you are on with the new.' "

He had grasped the weakness of the situation at a glance and took full advantage of it, but, though outwardly cool and self possessed, there was death in his eyes. I could bear it no longer and turned to leave the room. He rose from his seat, saying: "Pray do not leave us, madame—you look pale, though, and perhaps need rest. I trust, however, your indisposition has nothing to do with the sight I observed you watching from the window. Do you know what it means?" And he turned to Norreys.



"Upon my word, I congratulate you."

In spite of myself I stopped for an instant; but Norreys ignored him, and De Clermont went on:

"It means, monsieur, that this apparition is always seen when a man dies by the hand of De Clermont-Ferrand."

Norreys simply bowed, though I thought I heard the word "boaster" muttered between his teeth, and, turning to me, said, "Permit me, madame," and gave me his arm to take me from the room.

Outside in the narrow passage that led to my chamber he stopped and held out his hand.

"Let me say adieu, madame. I would accompany you if I could, but it is impossible. I would advise you to leave at once before any of M. le Marquis' men come up. I can see he is ripe for mischief."

"M. de Norreys, I am no fool—I can understand. For mercy's sake, avoid a quarrel with De Clermont. He is a deadly swordsman, and if anything happens to you I shall feel all my life that I was the cause of it. God knows, I owe you much, for you have opened my eyes. Promise me, monsieur, promise me!"

"Madame, the use of the sword is not confined to your country nor to De Clermont alone." And then he saw the tears spring to my eyes. "Ah, madame, not that; you will unman me. See. There is your equerry. Commend me to De Lorgnac when you meet, and adieu."

He dropped my hand and turned on his heel, but I could not let him go like that.

"Monsieur, not that way. Promise me what I ask."

"I promise to avoid a quarrel if possible. I can say no more." With that he went, erect and stately. Of what followed I never knew, but, alas, there is one sorrow that ever haunts me! And in the quiet churchyard of St. Yriarte is a tomb which I visit yearly with my husband, and it covers the heart of as brave and gallant a gentleman as ever lived—poor Norreys!

A Fillet of Beef.

For a fillet of beef, cut two pounds into round slices half an inch thick and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Fry in two ounces of butter seven minutes at the most and brush over each piece with glaze. Place a border of mashed potatoes on a dish, lay the fillets on it with alternate slices of baked tomato and the fried beef fat. Also have a piece of maitre d'hotel butter on each fillet. Fill the center with nicely cooked vegetables and pour around a little good beef gravy.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Editor Stacy of the Tecumseh Herald is enjoying a trip to Denver and other points west. He writes home to his paper an account of his trip and refers to Hudson as a "Cheap John" place where his flyer did not stop. Wait till he goes down to the street fair. They won't do a thing to him.—Adrian Press.

The following is said to be from the pen of a Springfield newspaper reporter who recently found himself to be a proud father: "walked away the hours while his heir in gargles strong kept the bedroom walls a ringing with a stirring marching song. Not a swear word did he utter as the wind whisked up his back; not a murmur did he utter as he trod the upturned tack. But he inwardly decided that when baby's years are four, he will get a walnut paddle and he'll even up the score."

A lady of fashion at Danville who was about to make some calls by card, directed her coachman to go into the house and get her cards which she had forgotten. He came out and offered some cards to her, but she said: "You keep them and I will direct you where to leave them." She stopped at many places and the coachman left a card at each place. She finally remarked: "We will leave only three more." Imagine her horror when the coachman replied: "I have only the Jack of spades left." He had taken her euchre deck instead of her case of calling cards.

An old maid once lived in our town, so it is said, who, if you called a dress a gown would blush like poppies red. Her mind was neither frail nor weak—her modesty was rare; of autumn trees she'd never speak because their limbs were bare. When night its sable shadows threw, she'd tumble in a swoon if curtains did not hide from view, the man up in the moon. She never sang a a sacred song—a very modest whim; to think of one she thought was wrong because it was a hymn. A plumber caused her death one day—so the story goes—by asking her in a carless way, to let him see her hose.—Onsted News.

A Wayne lady awakened her husband one night lately, claiming she was dying from excruciating pains in her head and neck. The liniment bottle stood near, but there was no light, nor any time to secure one. The husband obtained the bottle, and at once began a vigorous application of the liniment to the neck and face, rubbing it in smartly. In a short time the pain subsided, and the poor victim sank into a sweet slumber. The husband had time to light the lamp and what a sight he beheld! He had used a bottle of shoe blacking and polished his wife to the queen's taste.—Adrian Press.

Dorothea's Stolen Cheese.

Little Dorothea is one of those children whose silence when awake is regarded as a certain sign that she is in mischief. One day when she was about two and a half years old her mother gradually became aware of a silence which boded trouble. She was about to look for the baby when Dorothea came in, her rosy lips still bearing the traces of a feast.

"Where have you been, Dorothea? What are you eating?"

"Cheese," said Miss Dorothea.

"Where did you get it, dear?" asked her mother.

"In the mouftrap," answered the delinquent.

"In the mousetrap!" exclaimed the horrified mother.

"Yes."

Then the mother laughed. "But what will the poor mousies do? You will frighten them all away."

"Dey wasn't a bit frightened, mamma. Dey was two moufies in de trap when I eated the cheese."—Brooklyn Life.

WASHIMGTON NOTES

New Secretary of Treasury is Making Some

GREAT REFORMS

Influence Extends Somewhat oyer other Departments.

While it has become almost trite to to apply the word "strenuous" to the present administration, few people realize the extent to which that quality has entered into the execution of the law in Washington, nor the marked improvement which, what westerners are wont to describe as "hustle" has made in the executive departments. There is no better exponent of this quality in Washington than the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr Shaw. Coming fresh from the breezy prairies of Iowa with an experience as a western banker, Mr. Shaw was aghast at the dilatoriness with which the work of the government was performed and at the lack of genuine energy displayed by the employees of Uncle Sam's great counting house.

No immediate change was made, however, by the new secretary, and his subordinates began to congratulate themselves upon having found an "easy" employer but, the secretary was merely getting his bearings. Having gotten them, he inaugurated a course of reform. Newspaper reading during business hours was prohibited. Gossiping in the corridors of the department was forbidden to the host of genial and entertaining old ladies who constitute a considerable portion of the working force. Chiefs were incited to greater effort and prompter returns from auditors and disbursing clerks were required.

Finally, and that quite recently, an order, which was regarded as almost revolutionary by the employees, was promulgated. It is stated that all inquiries addressed to the treasury department or any officers thereof must be answered, or at least acknowledged, on the day of their receipt.

The consternation which greeted the order has, however, changed to admiration for the more business-like methods which now prevail. Accurate and rapid clerks are receiving merited promotion. The public is getting better service than ever before and there is little liklihood that the treasury department will ever again slip back into the slow and unbusiness-like methods which have, in the past, excited the disgust of every business man who came in contact with it.

Another department which has felt the benefit of a young and forceful chief is the navy department. Mr. Moody is an eastern man, but he is a business man and a fearless one. Long familiarity with the workings of the department, gained in his position of chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, enabled him to inaugurate changes without waiting as long as did Secretary Shaw to secure a grasp on the situation. Shattering old traditions with a ruthlessness which caused the old employees to shudder, the new secretary has put in force reforms which from his former position he knew ought to be made.

Officers who regarded their influence all sufficient to secure for them during the rest of their naval careers a pleasing berth in the capital of the nation have been ordered to sea, and the end is not yet. Mr. Moody even threatens to replace a number of bureau chiefs who are trained officers with civilians, so that the officers may be free to render to their country the special service for which they have been educated by the government at great expense. Perhaps the most startling reform with which Mr. Moody threatens the tenets and traditions of the service is the systematic effort which he is making to secure a modification of the laws, which will facilitate the promotion of non-commissioned officers into the line.

The difficulty which is met in the efforts to secure recruits for the navy, the secretary has traced to the fact that it is more easy for a camel to pass through the needle's eye than for an enlisted man to secure a commission. Such promotions the officers regard as a violation of the aristocratic tenets of the navy. They say that only "gentlemen" should be made officers and those will not be found among enlisted men. But Mr. Moody says that if promotion is made as easy of attainment as it is in the army, there will be many gentlemen who will enlist and prepare themselves for the examinations which should be open to every seaman and that those who earn their promotions will prove as well qualified to command as the graduates of Annapolis.

To a considerable extent the same spirit has infused the department of agriculture. Secretary Wilson, who returned from the west last Friday, told your correspondent that he had secured perfect organization in his department, and that, as a result, he was prepared to meet promptly and effectively a new problem which has been presented for his consideration in the northwest.

The secretary, during his western trip, inspected a large area of land in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, which has been denuded of its pine forests by the lumbermen and burned over by fire. This land is now being settled by farmers, Americans, Scandinavians and Danes, and the secretary will immediately order the experts of his department to examine the district, ascertain the best varieties of grains, grasses and legumes for that particular climate and soil and will render every assistance to the new settlers in making a great agricultural country out of what is now a desolate stump land.

Not Forgotten

An Owosso special of Aug. 21 states that something more than ten years ago Ray L. Needham of the Saginaw Evening News, went out of his way to do Rev. J. P. Varner, the Methodist clergyman of this city, a favor. He refused to take the pay therefore and Mr. Varner laughingly said, "Very well, but you make up your mind to get married and I'll tie the knot for nothing."

Mr. Varner recently received a letter reminding him of the promise, and yesterday Mr. Needham was married at the minister's residence to Miss Nellie Briggs of Saginaw, a school teacher. The wedding was a complete surprise to the young people's friends.

Rev. Varner is well known in this county, having been pastor of the M. E. church at Tecumseh for five years. He has many warm acquaintances in Adria

GOOD TEAM

Bit the Dust on the Tecumseh Diamonds

MICHIGAN ALKALIS

Run up Against the Real Thing in the Shape of Tecumsehs Famous Ball Team.

Again we hear the sounds of victory, Tecumseh's famous ball team prove to much for the Michigan Alkali team of Wyandotte. The visitors could only score one tally and that in the first inning.

Martin did the twirling for the local team against Davison for the visitors. Only one man obtained his base on balls off Martin, while Davison permitted two to walk. Harris lined out two two-baggers, Martin also placed one two-bagger to his credit.

During the game Martin struck out nine men against Davison's five, and allowed but three hits registered against him. The game was full of swift playing from start to finish and it was by hard playing that Tecumseh registered the five scores throughout the game.

Following is the score:

Gorton cf	3	0	0	0	0	0

TOLEDO LEAGUE VS. TECUMSEH.

The fourth defeat administered to Tecumseh was done by the Toledo League, the game was hard fought but Tecumseh found the visitors to much for them and felt rather shaky when facing the leagures. The chief features of the game were short stops, Turner's fine work and the home run made by Graffins, who placed the ball over the fence in left field, bringing in a man. Nothing but ciphers greeted Tecumseh until the sixth inning, when Schiappacasse reached home for their first and only score.

The superior pitching of the visitors was a hard proposition for Tecumseh as the final result shows. Only one error was credited against Toledo, while Tecumseh finished the game with seven errors against them. A large crowd attended the game, estimated in all, 800.

The result is as follows:

Tecumseh	Ab	R	H	PO	A	E
Gorton	4	0	0	2	0	0
Shiappacasse	4	1	3	2	3	0

DIBBLE REUNION

Held at Geo. Dibble's in Adrian Township

Aug. 20. It was a very Pleasant Affair,

Wednesday, Aug. 20, about forty-five people assembled at the commodious home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dibble of Adrian township to observe the fourth annual Dibble reunion. The spacious lawn was well shaded with trees and canvas where trees were not and the home, especially the dining room, was beautifully decorated with artificial flowers and emblems suitable to the occasion.

During the forenoon Chas. Dibble, of Adrian, photographed two groups of four generations each. There were other groups present but some declined to be "took." Promptly at one o'clock the dinner was announced, which proved to be a repast to fill the epicurean heart with joy.

Next the meeting was called to order and the following program carried out:

Song by the assembly with Mrs. Irving Barnes at the organ.

Prayer—John Patterson.

Roll call.

Reading of the minutes.

Song, "Echos"—Ena Beach.

Recitation—Leon Curtiss.

Solo, "Dolly Gray"—Mrs. Bernice Dibble.

Recitation—Mrs. R. W. Langdon.

Solo, "Childhood's Dreams"—Miss Getty Dibble.

Recitation—Howard Curtiss.

Interspersed with the above were graphophone selections which completed a very interesting program.

The following officers were then elected:

Pres.—A. T. Curtiss.

Vice Pres.—Chas. Dibble, Ridgeway.

Sec.—Mrs. Daniel Fetzer.

Historian—Mrs. R. W. Langdon.

Reporter—A. T. Curtiss.

It was voted to hold the next meeting with Stephen V. Dibble of West Palmyra.

Those attending from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Dell Vedder of Monessen, Pa., Mrs. Sitts, Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Louisa Dibble of Mason.

A vote of thanks was heartily tendered the host and hostess, the company then breaking up and all hands were weighed, the grand total being 4972 pounds. The day proved a very pleasant one and all departing felt that it had been well spent.

ROUND ABOUT US.

The following notice is to be seen over a little country store in Georgia: Johnathan Wilkins, Ice cream in season and embalming on reasonable cash terms. Also millinery and tooth pulling. Boots shoes, books and bacon. Coffins on the installment plan.

Pontiac Leader: A friend, a farmer, needing a good woman in the house to help his wife, spent three days in vain racing over the country to find one. He said it seemed queer that when a man could find a dozen good women who would marry him and do his housework for nothing, it was impossible to hire one to do it.

A summer resort landlord, received a letter the other day like the following: "Dear Sir:—Two years ago I rented a cottage of you. My wife was taken sick and died there and the doctors said that the situation of the house on the low marshy grounds was the cause of her contracting the disease that killed her. About a year ago I married again. If you can get me that same cottage for the season I will pay you a good price for it and myself and wife will at once move into it.—Exchange.

A story is in circulation to the effect that a rustic couple got married in Missouri a short time ago and boarded the train on their wedding trip. Strolling into a Pullman sleeping car the groom said in a confidential tone: "Mister, me and my wife just got married and are looking for the best accommodations this train has." "Looking for a berth, I suppose," said the dusky son of Ham, as he returned to assign seats to the other passengers. "A birth! Thunder and lightning, no. We just got married. We only want a place to stay all night."

Down below Hannibal recently a farmer lost a valuable cow, says the Quincy Ill. Herald. It was struck by a steam engine on the railroad and instantly killed. The owner, of course, sued the company for damages. When the case came up for trial a jury made up of colored men was secured. The foreman was an Afro-American who lorded it over his fellows considerably from the fact that once in his career he had been janitor at a school house and was supposed to be learned. It was on this account he was made foreman and it was on this account that he was required to write the verdict. When the document came in to be read in the court there was a scene of wild confusion. It stated that the cow had died of locomotive attackyou and that the railroad company was not to blame. The ex-janitor had heard of locomotor ataxia and thought it a good chance to work it in.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause.

Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Tecumseh people endorse this.

Mrs. J. W. Owen, wife of the well known carpenter, living in the southeastern section of Tecumseh, says:

I am very well pleased with Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at C. A. Wright's drug store and they did me a lot of good. I had heart trouble and my kidneys did not perform their proper duties. This condition existed for some time. I tried different remedies which were recommended to me but received little if any benefit from them. I will cheerfully say this for Doan's Kidney Pills. I received more permanent relief from their use than from any other medicine I ever used. I am pleased to testify to their value."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cents per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

Volcano in Action in Italy.—Mount Altomonte, in Calabria, Italy, has been in eruption since last Friday and is emitting showers of stones and flames.

Telegraph Men Get Raise.—Four hundred telegraph operators, one-half the force employed by the Northern Pacific road, will get a raise of salary Sept. 1.

Killed by an Elevator.—Luke E. Ryan was killed at Indianapolis Sunday afternoon in an elevator of the Grand hotel. The body was mangled beyond recognition, being forced through a space five inches wide.

Shot Himself.—William B. Meadowcroft, cashier for the Pacific Express company at Milwaukee, committed suicide Sunday in the office of the company by shooting. No reason is known for the deed.

Five Were Suffocated.—The four children of William Kronberg and his servant girl of Portland, Me., were suffocated in a fire in a two-story house. When the firemen arrived the father stood half clad on the sidewalk calling piteously for time to go to the aid of the children, but there was no chance for them.

Town Was Shaken.—Sharon, Pa., was shaken from end to end Sunday by five successive explosions at the National Steel company's furnace, north of that city. The explosions were caused by the molten iron breaking out of the stack and running into the water around the bosh. The shock was so great that houses were rocked as if by an earthquake. Great damage resulted.

Gold Pens.

The first gold pens made in this country were all manufactured by hand, the gold being cut from strips of the metal by scissors and every subsequent operation being performed by hand. These handmade gold pens cost from $5 to $20 and were far inferior to the machine made article of the present day.

ALL RUN DOWN

An Every Day Story, No Ambition, Constant Headaches, no Rest, no Sleep, Listless, Languid All played out, a Tecumseh citizen gives the cure.

Mrs. John Perrin of Tecumseh, Mich. says: "As a remedy for nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches and run down system I consider Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Chas. A. The Flaws In the Rose.

When a garden first becomes a joyful possibility, most people turn at once to the thought of roses. Now, roses have no place in landscape gardening. As a rule they do not belong in the front yard. This may sound shocking and heretical, but it is true at least so far as the common double flowered roses are concerned. The place for roses is in the flower garden, and the place for the flower garden is in the rear or off at one side by itself. Roses have too many insect enemies. Their foliage is always being destroyed. For the ordinary person it is not worth while to spray them.

Probably half the plants of all kinds sold in America by nurserymen are roses. Everybody loves roses, but in practice no one takes good care of them except the rose specialist. Personally I prefer peonies to roses for my garden. They have larger flowers which last longer than roses. They make a more compact and shapely bush, have an abundance of rich, dark green foliage, come into bearing earlier, are hardier and longer lived than most roses, and they are remarkably free from insects and disease. All they lack is poetry, perfume, thorns and bugs.

But I shall not quarrel with any one who prefers roses. If you really want roses, you would better have them even if you fail.—Wilhelm Miller in Pilgrim.

Killing a Bull Without a Weapon.

Cayetano, a famous Spanish toreador, once was strolling across a meadow with a couple of friends when his attention was attracted by an old and infuriated bull which was galloping toward them with lowered head and erect tail. Cayetano had no weapon, not even a cane, but he seized a dustcoat which one of his friends was carrying over his arm. As soon as the bull got close to them Cayetano bade his companions make their escape while he engaged the animal's attention. Using the coat as a capa, he drove the bull crazy with fury, stepping aside with the deftest agility at each of the animal's charges. In this manner he caused the bull to turn sharply in the midst of its onward rushes until finally an ominous crack was heard, and the bull fell in a heap, with its backbone broken by the sudden wrench given by the animal's abrupt swerve.

His Own Medicine Chest.

The surgeon of an English ship of war was noted for the monotony of his prescriptions. He apparently considered salt water taken externally or internally as a cure for all the ills that flesh is heir to, for he ordered his patients to take it, no matter what might be the malady presented to his notice.

One day he went sailing with a party of friends, and in the course of a squall the boat was upset, and the surgeon came near being drowned.

"Well," said the captain of the ship when he was told of the narrow escape, "I'm glad you were saved, but it hardly seems possible in any event that you could have really drowned in your own medicine chest, now does it, doctor?"

Cats In Ancient Wales.

An ancient statute ascribed to Howel the Good, a Welch prince, who ruled in 948, regulated the price of cats. A penny was the price of a kitten before its eyes were open, twopence until it had caught its first mouse, fourpence when it was old enough for combat. He who stole a cat from the royal granaries forfeited either a milk ewe, with its fleece and lamb, or as much wheat as would cover the body of the cat suspended by its tail with its nose touching the ground. A penny was a coin of great purchasing power in the tenth century.

An Innocent Query.

At a dinner party in England the host introduces to the favorable notice of the company, amid murmurs of admiration, a splendid truffled pheasant.

"Isn't it a beauty?" he says. "Dr. So-and-so gave it to me; killed it himself."

"Ah! What was he treating it for?" says one of the guests.

Life's Disappointments.

"There's a fire!" shouted the boy from the country. "Here come the engines! Let's foller them!"

"'Twon't do no good," said the city cousin disconsolately. "The blamed firemen'll put it out before we can get there."—Chicago Tribune.

Rebuffed.

"You have so much address I can hardly be expected to compete with you," said the letter to the envelope.

"Now, don't get excited," replied the envelope, "because you know you can't contain yourself."

Jury Duty as He Found It.

"I hear you were on jury duty all last week."

"Yes."

"Tedious, wasn't it?"

"It certainly was trying."—Philadelphia Record.

A Troublesome Trio.

"The most troublesome member of my flock," said the parson, "is a young woman who wants a husband."

"My most troublesome client," said the lawyer "is a middle aged woman who wants a divorce."

"The most troublesome patient I have," said the physician, "is a spinster of uncertain age who doesn't know what she wants."—Chicago News.

Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too.

New Bills For Old Ones.

Not every one is aware of just what the United States subtreasury will do for a person with soiled currency. If any one has such bills, in no matter how small quantity, and wishes to get brand new bills, all he has to do is to go down to the subtreasury and hand the old currency over the counter. The government will hand him in return new bills of any desired denomination.

Perhaps under a strict interpretation of the law the government clerk might refuse certain bills on the plea that they were still fit for circulation, but in practice the government is inclined to be very obliging, and, unless the supply of clean money on hand should happen to be temporarily short, the clerk will without hesitation hand over perfectly new and unfolded bills in return for money which has been folded possibly only a very few times.

As a matter of fact a vast amount of money is turned in which could not have circulated among more than half a dozen hands. But it is all redeemed and the new currency issued in exchange. The subtreasury supplies the new cash, too, without any expense, no matter if millions are to be exchanged.—New York Times

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter a prominent physician of Ponama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentry. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well.' For sale by J. J Orr.

Juvenile Erudition.

Here are a few extracts from compositions written by boys in a high school of Vienna:

"Many a man lies down in good health and gets up dead."

"In Rome the bones of the martyrs were collected and torn by wild beasts."

"Human beings ceased to walk on all four and walked on the hindmost."

"He sacrificed a rich woman and other priests."

"Hannibal stood with one foot in Spain, while with the other he beckoned to the troops."

"God's punishment followed immediately after ten years."

AN EXTRA SESSION.

Ohio Legislature Meets to Enact Laws For Municipal Government.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The Ohio legislature will convene in extraordinary session today for the purpose of enacting a code of laws for the government of the municipalities of the state.

The governor will urge, in a special message to be submitted at the opening of the session, that the legislature confine its work to the enactment of a municipal code and the repeal of the Roger law passed at the session last winter, which by an error deprived the supreme court of jurisdiction in a large number of civil cases.

The code prepared by the governor will be introduced simultaneously in the house and senate, and it is expected that it will be considered by each of these bodies sitting as a committee of the whole. In the opinion of leading members, the work of the extra session will be completed in two weeks.

New City Added to Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 25.—Advices from Washington to the territorial officials state that the interior department has approved the Johnson & Kidder survey of the 89th meridian, which places it four and a fraction miles east of the present boundary between Oklahoma and the Chickasaw nation, Indian Territory, thus adding to Oklahoma the city of Chicksha, the most important commercial and railroad point in that part of the southwest. A long-drawn-out legal battle is expected to follow this decision, and the matter must ultimately be passed upon by the United States supreme court.

Cholera Situation in Islands.

Manila, Aug. 25.—Official cholera statistics show a total up-to-date of 25,664 cases and 18,000 deaths. The actual number of cases and deaths is greatly in excess of the official reports. In Manila there were but eight cases reported last Saturday. In some of the provinces of Luzon the cholera situation is bad, 414 cases and 317 deaths were reported from the province of Ilocos last Saturday.

Mogul Engine Boiler Exploded.

Mexico, Mo., Aug. 25.—One man was killed, three fatally injured and one seriously hurt early Sunday morning by the explosion of the boiler of a mogul engine, drawing the first section of a Chicago & Alton train, eleven miles east of this city. All the men were riding on the engine when the accident occurred. The boiler was blown 200 yards and nine cars were ditched.

Lashed, Tarred and Feathered.

Eaton, Col., Aug. 25.—One hundred lashes with a cowboy's quirt were administered by citizens here to Jerry Crimmins, a sugar factory employe, who was charged with having assaulted a woman. He was then tarred and feathered and run out of town, being warned never to return on pain of death.

May Make Ireland Cardinal.

Rome, Aug. 25.—Strong pressure is being brought to bear on the Vatican to have Archbishop Ireland elevated to the rank of cardinal and placed in charge of the archbishopric of Chicago, with jurisdiction over the west, Cardinal Gibbons retaining jurisdiction over the east.

Toledo Man Victim of Murder.

Toledo, Aug. 25.—Peter Riley of Metamora, O., a stone mason, aged seventy years, has fell the victim of a foul murder. The old man was found by the roadside with his head chopped open. The ax which was used was found near the body. Three tramps are suspected of having committed the deed.

Mirth Ended in Death.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 25.—Thomas C. Garrett of Chicago while out riding in an electric launch with six companions near King's Landing, on St. Joseph river, fell overboard in a fit of laughter, while joking with companions. The party had been out from King's Landing but fifteen minutes when the accident occurred. The body was recovered immediately. Garrett was employed as clerk in a wholesale drug house, and was twenty-seven years of age.

Battle Creek Man Killed.

Hinton, W. Va., Aug. 25.—James Vincent, aged thirty-five, of Battle Creek, Mich., leaped from a train ten miles east of here and was instantly killed, his neck being broken. He was a traveling man. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The Part He Played.

Mr. Stalate—So your sister keeps you well supplied with pocket money, does she?

Tommy—Yes.

Stalate—I presume you have to render some little equivalent?

Tommy (yawning)—Oh, yes; I have to come in and yawn when visitors are staying too late.

Useless Expense.

Drug Clerk—We don't happen to have the drugs named in this prescription, but we have others just as good.

Customer—I suppose that's all right; but what a fool I was to pay the doctor $3 for that prescription! That's what bothers me.—Boston Transcript.

No Time to Lose

You cannot afford to disregard the warnings of a weak and diseased heart and put off taking the prescription of the world's greatest authority on heart and nervous disorders—

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

If your heart palpitates, flutters, or you are short of breath, have smothering spells, pain in left side, shoulder or arm, you have heart trouble and are liable to drop dead any moment.

Major J. W. Woodcock, one of the best known oil operators in the country dropped dead from heart disease recently, at his home in Portland, Ind., while mowing his lawn.—The Press.

Mrs. M. A. Birdsall, Watkins, N. Y., whose portrait heads this advertisement, says: "I write this through gratitude for benefits I received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I had palpitation of the heart, severe pains under the left shoulder, and my general health was miserable. A few bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me entirely.

BLISS WAS FINED.

Kangaroo Court Salted the Governor at Elks' Carnival.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 23.—The Elks' kangaroo court, which has been a feature of this week's carnival, did a land office business yesterday. The patrol wagon was unusually busy, and it was only at rare intervals that the bastile, which was located on the main thoroughfare, was without an occupant. Shortly after noon the patrol wagon was rushed off to the capitol. Three burly policemen invaded the executive office and escorted Governor Bliss to the conveyance, the horses were started on a run for the jail. After a brief incarceration the governor was brought before Chief Justice Sanford on a charge of being too good a Republican to suit the Detroit News, and fined $5. He pleaded so guilty to the charge that he was permitted to pay twice the fine assessed. Later in the day all the state officers who happene to be in the city were run into the ja and fined for various offenses.

WRECKED HIS HOUSE.

Someone Attempted to Blow Up a Gaylord Man's Home.

Gaylord, Mich., Aug. 23.—An attempt was made at about 4:30 Friday morning to blow up the house of Village Marshal Arthur L. More of Vanderbilt with dynamite. The bay window was destroyed and the glass of all the other windows in the house and of several in the next were broken. Morse was away on a trip, and Mrs. Morse was alone in the house. She went to a window and raised the curtain upon hearing the growling of a dog in the house and saw a man run away. The explosion, which followed immediately, knocked her down. She has been insensible nearly all the time since, but recovered sufficiently to describe the man, who is not known or captured yet.

Young Men Worked Slick Game.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—A. J. Connor and George L. R. Warren, with the firm name of Warren Chemical Co., 403 Wetherbee building, were arrested Friday by Deputy Marshal Cash P. Taylor on a charge preferred by the postal authorities of fraudulently using the United States mails. They advertised to give ladies employment at home copying letters. Applicants were told they must send $1 in order to get the job. The work consisted of copying in handwriting a long letter about indigestion intended to advertise "Arthur's Dyspepsia Tablets." This was printed in Roman type and was so long that it would take a rapid writer an hour to make one copy. The remuneration was $12 per thousand copies. When the dupes found they could make about a cent an hour they gave up. But they didn't get their dollars back. Connor and Warren are young men of nineteen and twenty. They were surprised at their arrest.

Druggists Must Look Out.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 23.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the State Anti-Saloon league, held here, it was decided to give immediate attention to the situation in Eaton county. Although Eaton is a local option county, it is alleged that there is a great deal of liquor selling within its confines. The league will try the moral suasion act, and if that proves unavailing, the law will be resorted to It is alleged that sufficient evidence has been gathered to convict several druggists of violations of the liquor law. The league will employ a legislative superintendent, whose business it will be to look after nominations of candidates for the legislature in the various counties.

A. O. H. State Election.

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 23.—The state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians closed here Friday with the election of the following officers: President, P. D. Farrell, Grand Rapids; vice-president, John R. Maloney, Sault Ste. Marie; secretary, Matt Dennison, Ishpeming; treasurer, F. W. McQuillan, Jackson; medical examiner, D. H. O'Donnell, Detroit. The ladies' auxiliary elected these officers: President, Bridget Mahoney, Calumet (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. Montroy, Alpena; secretary, Miss Allie Ratigan, Detroit; treasurer, Mrs. B. Donovan, Ironwood; medical examiner, Mrs. Dr. Anna T. Dunn-Roe.

But They Wouldn't Wait.

Ypsilanti, Mich., Aug. 23.—To the surprise of her parents and friends, Miss Helen Wiard, daughter of George Wiard, has announced her marriage, May 15, to William Foster of Detroit. The young people had been engaged for some time, and there was no objection to their marriage except that Mr. Wiard wanted them to wait a year or so.

Alleged Defaulter Detained.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—Detectives have arrested Henry Tyson Detwiller, the alleged defaulting accountant of the City Trust & Deposit Co. of Philadelphia, who is said to have fled that city March 17 last, several thousand dollars short in his accounts. The prisoner is a well-dressed man of excellent appearance. It is believed by the police that he intended to sail for the orient.

Mountain Climbers Met Death.

Grindiwald, Switzerland, Aug. 23.—The bodies of two Londoners named Fearon and those of two guides, who started Aug. 19 to ascend the Wetterhorn and who did not return, have been found by a search party near the summit of the mountains. Two of the party were apparently killed by lightning and two met their deaths by falls.

Woman Starved to Death.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 23.—Mrs. Sarah Schumacher, aged seventy years, was found dead in her room and her daughter Martha was wandering in a half-crazed condition about the lower floor of their home. Coroner Jones said that Mrs. Schumacher had died from starvation. Martha Schumacher said she and her mother were too proud to tell anyone of their impoverished condition and that for several days neither had had a meal.

Didn't Fear His Dead Patients.

There is a doctor of the old school in one of the New England villages near Randolph, Mass., whose house is surrounded by a cemetery. The cemetery is behind the house and comes up flush with the road on either side, running off to east and west for an eighth of a mile. Some people might find such a house lot doleful, and surely the neighbors are not lively. But that thought never troubled the villagers so much as the prospect of going home at night. In the country towns of New England the graveyard at night is still a thing of terror, an inherited terror. There are still towns where all the graves are dug on a line running due east and west, with the footstones toward the east so that the dead may rise face to face with the Judge on the last day. So the doctor is often asked the question, "Are you not afraid to go home sometimes at night?"

And his answer is always the same: "No. My neighbors will never trouble me. They all owe me money."—New York Tribune.

Downing Street.

Downing street, London, perpetuates the name of a clever man from Massachusetts. Those were the days before the Fourth of July had any significance in American annals, and George Downing, the first scholar in the first public school in Massachusetts and the first graduate sent out by Harvard college, came to England and became a chaplain in Cromwell's army.

By a remarkable stroke of fortune he was sent to represent England at The Hague when Europe was trembling before Oliver, and during three distinct eras in England's history he held the office of British embassador at the Dutch court. He was as popular or as clever under the Merry Monarch as under the protector and the commonwealth, and it came to pass, in the reign of Charles II., that the man from Massachusetts was granted a great tract of land at Westminster, where he built huge mansions and laid out Downing street.

To this day Downing's street is Downing street still, and, though George Downing is forgotten, there is no name in the British empire which is more familiar to us than his.—St. James Gazette.

Guests Pass With Glaciers.

Hotel keepers in the Alps have a new trouble and are complaining of the loss of patrons, who are moving away from the glaciers. Yes, the attractive glaciers are actually passing from the landscape, and as they recede the hotels along their borders find that their registers are shortening.

These glaciers are not running away by any means, but they are deteriorating slowly with a persistency that means their final annihilation. Hotels that a few years ago stood very near to a great river of slowly moving ice now find themselves a considerable distance away, and the attractiveness of the site is lessened.

The famous glaciers of the Rhone have shrunk 3,000 feet in the last twenty years, or about 140 feet a year. A number of the well known glaciers approximate this diminution, and the scientific fact is established that these reminders of the great glacial period are surely disappearing.

Placing Himself.

One day a drill sergeant in the British army had a number of recruits to drill and wanted the married men separated from the single ones, so he formed them in a line and gave the word of command. "Single men advance and married men fall back in the rear!"

All took their positions except one, an Irishman, who stood still. The sergeant asked the reason why he had not moved, but no answer came from Pat.

"Come, my man, are you married?"

"No," replied Pat.

"Then you are single?"

"No."

"Then what are you?"

"I am courtin' Biddy," was the reply.

YOU MAY SING

IF WELL AND HAPPY

If you feel the throb of pure blood in your veins and the thrill of life in your body you are fit for anything, you can laugh and sing, you are in condition for work or play and you will enjoy life.

PURE BLOOD MEANS LIFE

If you do not feel right, if you are troubled with a gloomy feeling, with tired and nervous spells, look out for the following symptoms:

Foul Breath, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sallow Skin, Pimples and Blotches, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Side, Lame Back, Pains Under Right Shoulder, Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Pains.

These signs show that your kidneys and liver are out of order, and if they are they will not carry off the impurities and you will feel bad and are liable to have a spell of sickness. Better attend to it at once.

KINYON'S BLOOD AND KIDNEY REMEDY

WILL SET YOU RIGHT

Mrs. Balch of Mishawaka, Ind., says: "I was very sick for over two months, troubled with gall stones and general kidney trouble, at times I screamed so with pain that people could hear me a block away. I had a number of doctors and they could do nothing for me. I kept getting worse, could not rest or sleep. In desperation I used Kinyon's Blood and Kidney Remedy. I took $2.00 worth and got well. For the last year I have enjoyed good health."

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

FIFTEEN PERISHED

Great Calamity Visited on the Pacific Coast.

THE FORESTS ARE IN FLAMES

One Whole Family Burned to Death and Other Persons Missing—The Whole Country Panic-Stricken and Fleeing For Life.

Kalama, Wash., Sept. 15.—News has reached here that the forest fires on Lomis river have wrought sad havoc. D. L. Wallace, his wife and two children were burned to death. They were camping in the woods when caught by the fire. Their wagon was found burned up, the charred bodies lying near. A twelve-year-old boy of Mr. Manley's also is dead. Mrs. John Polly, her baby and a brother, name unknown, and Mr. Newhouse and Mrs. Graves are dead. Fifteen others were found without clothing, except gunny sacks.

Five logging camps are burned out completely. The following families have lost everything: Eliza Street, O. S. Curtis, L. M. Child, Thomas Matthews, T. Wilkerson, H. E. Dartland, Dr. Ellis and others.

The fire has spread from Lewis river north to the Kalama river, and fifty sections of the finest timber on the coast have been destroyed. It is impossible to give any estimate of the amount of the damage done to property. Oak Point, twenty miles below here on the Colombia river, has been destroyed. There are no reports of lives lost, but loss to property is estimated at about $300,000.

A great fire also is raging on the Coweman, in the northern part of the county. Everything combustible in its path has been consumed. The air is thick with smoke and falling ashes. Three lumber camps are reported destroyed or badly damaged. The men from Barr's camp are reported missing; people are panic-stricken and crazed over the loss of property. Cowlitz county thought it was going to escape until yesterday, when the reports came thick and fast, each worse than the last. Five persons are dead and two missing, with only partial reports from the burned district. The horrible news has cast a gloom over the entire county that hardly can be described. A courier just arrived from Lewis river states that only two houses are left standing on Lewis river from Trait's place to the head of the river, a distance of thirty miles, and that not less than fifteen persons have perished.

Never Said It.

Berlin, Sept. 15.—Major-General Henry C. Corbin who, together with Major-General Samuel B. M. Young and Brigadier-General Leonard Wood, attended the German army maneuvers near Frankfort-on-the-Oder last week, gave out a statement before he left for Dusseldorf denying what purported to be an interview with him, in which he was represented as unfavorably criticising the German infantry. In this statement General Corbin said: "My companions and I have reached the conviction that the German army, in every respect, but particularly in organization, instruction, discipline and equipment, is among the best in existence, if not the best. The army excited the admiration of all the American officers who witnessed the maneuvers, and we shall never forget the many marks of distinction and courtesy bestowed upon us by Emperor William and his officers."

Express Companies to Merger.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—The postponed annual meeting of the stockholders of Wells, Fargo & Co. will take place today and there is much speculation whether or not F. H. Harriman will be chosen president to succeed the late John J. Valentine. In case he shall be made the head of the company it is thought by many that a merger of all the express companies will be in order. Harriman and the Southern Pacific company are credited with owning one-fifth of the Wells, Fargo & Co. stock.

Held Up Express Messenger.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 15.—Train No. 23, of the Atlantic Coast line, was held up about seventy-five miles from here. Soon after the train left Lanes a young white man entered the express car, blindfolded the messenger, G. G. Lewis, and robbed him of about $160 in cash and then robbed the car of several packages of jewelry and other articles. He did not try to tamper with the safe. When the train got to Charleston the robber jumped off with his booty. Messenger Lewis shot at the man as he left the train.

There Is No Escape.

Amsterdam, Sept. 15.—Mr. Reitz, formerly state secretary of the Transvaal, will sail Sept. 25 for New York to give a series of lectures both on behalf of his own finances and for the benefit of the Boers. This unexpectedly early departure of Mr. Reitz for the United States is said to be due to the insistence of the Boer generals, Botha, Dewet and Delarey, that the anti-British propaganda in Europe must be moderated.

Instantly Killed.

Tamaqua, Pa., Sept. 15.—By the accidental discharge of a Winchester rifle in the hands of Hugh Black, a deputy at the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company's No. 4 stockade, near Nesquehoning, last night, Paul Harlick, a union man, was instantly killed.

Burned Itself Out.

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 15.—The burning gusher ceased flowing of its own accord Sunday morning and the fire was easily extinguished. Smouldering fire at the big tank it all that remains of the flames.

The Poor Tailor.

"Your tailor is a mighty poor one," said an Atchison woman to her husband. "This is the third time I've sewed on this button."—Atchison Globe.

PRESIDENT'S VISIT

Big Week of Events Is Expected In Detroit.

PROGRAM OF THE OCCASION

Committee Will Keep the President and Other Distinguished Visitors Busy—A Monster Parade Will Be a Feature of the Affair.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 15.—Beginning next Monday the banner gala week of the year will open in Detroit, and all records for crowds is expected to be broken.

With President Roosevelt, Clara Barton, Secretary of the Navy Moody, Richmond P. Hobson and a score of other notables as drawing cards, it is predicted that the third annual reunion of Spanish War Veterans will bring to Detroit one of the greatest multitudes ever gathered within the city limits. And that these predictions are not unfounded is evidenced by the inquiries which are pouring in from every quarter upon Captain George T. Gaston, secretary of the executive committee having in charge the arrangements for the reunion.

Secretary Gaston has opened headquarters at the Hotel Cadillac, as has Adjutant L. C. Dyer, of the National command, and Corps Commander H. L. Warren, of the Michigan Spanish War Veterans.

The banquet Monday evening promises to be a success from every point of view, applications for tickets coming in at a rate that assures a large attendance. There will be 800 seats at the tables at $3 apiece, and 1,000 in the gallery at $1 each. As Spanish War veterans will be given the first choice, it is desired that all who propose attending the banquet notify their captains at once. The menu cards promise to be works of art, the covering containing a three-quarter length picture of President Roosevelt.

Official Program.

Sunday, Sept. 21.—President and party will arrive about 7 a. m. and will be driven to the Hotel Cadillac for breakfast, escorted by a squad of mounted police.

10:30 a. m.—Will attend Fort Street Presbyterian church with members of the executive committee.

12 m.—Lunch at General Alger's.

2 p. m.—Drive about the city, the evening being spent as the president may desire.

Monday, Sept. 22.—8:30 a. m.—President Roosevelt will drive to Central high school and Clinton park, where he will make short speeches to school children, who will be massed at those points.

10 a. m.—Opening of Spanish War Veterans' convention. Brief address to delegates by the president, following which convention will adjourn until Tuesday morning. After the business of the convention is over Governor Bliss will present the state medals to Michigan Spanish War veterans.

11 a. m.—Boat ride on steamer Tashmoo for president and party and invited guests.

12 m.—Lunch for president and his party on the boat.

3:30 p. m.—Grand military parade, in which President Roosevelt will ride at the head of the column in the police carriage, provided by Commissioner Fowle, afterwards reviewing the parade from the stand.

8 p. m.—Banquet to president by Spanish War veterans at Light Guard armory. Mayor William C. Maybury, toastmaster. Speeches by President Roosevelt, Secretary of the Navy Moody, Captain Richmond P. Hobson, U. S. N.; Miss Clara Barton and others. Music by Homer Warren, Harold Jarvis and Sam Slade.

12 m.—President leaves on his special train.

Tuesday, Sept. 23.—10 a. m.—Session of convention. Adjourn until Wednesday morning.

1 p. m.—Boat ride on Tashmoo for veterans. Lunch and music provided.

Wednesday, Sept. 24.—10 a. m.—Session of convention. Adjourn until Thursday morning. Afternoon spent as delegates may desire.

8 p. m.—Big campfire and general entertainment at Light Guard armory for delegates and Spanish War veterans.

Thursday, Sept. 25.—10 a. m.—Session of convention. Adjourn sine die.

The Spanish War Veterans are not the only ones who propose making President Roosevelt's visit a memorable occasion, as the following general order issued by the officers of Mecca Temple, Knights of Khorassan, indicates:

"Mecca Temple No. 56, D. O. K. K., will have a fantastic night parade on the evening of Sept. 22, the day that President Roosevelt is in Detroit. A number of inquiries from other organizations have been received regarding joining in with the Khorassans, and making the night parade a fitting winup to the holiday and the president's visit."

Maccabee Jubilee at Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 15.—Arrangements for the big Maccabee jubilee celebration, which occurs here Sept. 18 are practically completed, and it promises to be a hummer. Father Boynton and Great Lady Commander Frances E. Burns are among the speakers and there will be all kinds of games and sports. The Michigan Passenger association have granted a rate of a fare and a third within a radius of fifty miles.

Knights of Columbus.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 15.—A council of the Knights of Columbus, with a membership of about ninety, was instituted here Sunday afternoon. Visiting knights from Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Bay City, Detroit, Port Huron and Pontiac to the number of about 500 were present. Saginaw, Detroit and Pontiac knights exemplified the work, which was followed by a banquet.

Judge Durand Steadily Improving.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 15.—The third week of the illness of Judge Durand begins with a reiteration of the encouraging statement on the part of the attending physician that his patient is still on the gain. The remarkable improvement which the patient made during the first of last week has not been maintained in the same ratio during the past two or three days, but though less pronounced than it has been, the improvement is steady and every day brings the judge nearer to the point from which his ultimate recovery may be looked forward to with some degree of assurance. His appetite is comparatively good and he daily grows just a little bit stronger, while all his symptoms continue favorable.

TO USE DYNAMITE

The Desperate Resort of Pennsylvania Rioters.

A SHERIFF'S PLUCKY STAND

Removes His Family to Place of Safety and Defends His Prisoner—Religious Excitement Causes a Firce Riot in England.

Butler, Pa., Sept. 15.—The attack made on the jail here last night by a mob, in an endeavor to lynch Jerry Bennett for assaulting a six-year-old girl, is the sole topic of conversation, and Sheriff Hoon is receiving many compliments for his masterful handling of the mob. At 6 o'clock no response had been received to the message sent to the governor, requesting aid to protect the jail, and it is not now thought that the assistance of state troops will be needed.

All day there was a crowd of people about the courthouse, but none were allowed to approach the jail, the sidewalk about the building was roped off and policemen patrolled the outside, while a number of armed guards were on duty inside.

Speaking about Saturday night's affair, Sheriff Hoon said that he did not anticipate any more trouble, but that if it came he was prepared for it, and the leaders of the gang would not get the consideration they did.

The condition of the little Wagner girl, Bennett's victim, is improved today and her physician thinks she will get well.

The town is quiet and no more trouble is expected, though there have been threats that an attack would be made on the jail during the night.

Later.

At about midnight Sheriff Hoon said he had been apprised of an attempt to dynamite the jail, and had removed his family to a hotel. He has taken every precaution to protect the jail. The streets in the vicinity are roped off and about twenty guards, armed with Springfield rifles, are in readiness to meet any hostile party who may approach. Up to 2 a. m. no demonstration had been made.

An English Mob.

London, Sept. 15.—Extraordinary scenes, verging upon riot, occurred Sunday at Clapton, where nearly 5,000 persons attempted to mob a former Episcopalean clergyman named Smith Piggott, who is now the leader of an eccentric sect called the "Agapemonites."

Piggott last week announced himself as the Messiah. Exposures of the man, which filled many columns in the newspapers, hightened public interest in the matter to such a pitch that yesterday Piggott was only taken from the mob by the efforts of mounted policemen. In spite of warnings, the chapel in which Piggott held services yesterday, was invaded by jeering crowds, but in the face of howling disorder Piggott again affirmed that he was the Christ.

Looks Like Business.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—In response to hurry orders from Washington, the auxiliary cruiser Panther, in command of Captain Wilson, left the League Island navy yard at 6:30 o'clock last night for Colon. On board of the Panther is a battalion of marines, numbering 320 men, who are in command of Lieut. B. R. Russell. The cruiser took along a field battery of four Colt rapid fire guns and two other pieces and ample ammunition. When the orders were received the Panther had on a full supply of coal and was in every way prepared to go.

Very Bad Liquor.

Cumberland Md., Sept. 15.—The bodies of William G. Little, thirty-two years old, master workman of the switchmen's union here, and John Strekman, aged twenty-eight, of Hyndman, Pa., were found twenty feet apart on the street here Sunday. A half emptied bottle of carbolic acid and a full bottle of whisky were found in the pockets of Strekman. It is supposed that Strekman gave the poison to Little by mistake for the whisky bottle and also partook of it himself.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

Porto Rican Politics.—Felipe Cuevas has been nominated for Porto Rican commissioner to the United States by the American federal party by a large majority.

Received With Honor.—Senor Billinghurst, who was at one time vice-president of Peru, has arrived at Lima. There was an enthusiastic manifestation in his honor, in which more than 10,000 persons took part.

Irish Protest.—Some 20,000 persons, the biggest open air gathering that has been seen in Dublic in years, assembled in Phoenix park Sunday to protest against the action of the government in "proclaiming" the Irish capital.

Lost the Fight.—The striking weavers at Olneyville, R. I., the center of the fight against the American Woolen company and its two loom systems, has voted to return to work where one loom is operated. Lack of money to carry on the fight was announced as the cause of the action.

Stopped at Last.—"Captain" Bilo, a leader of Ladrones in Bulacan province, Luzon, who is guilty of thirty murders and who has been an outlaw for years, was killed by the native contabulary last Friday. Bilo was surrounded but refused to surrender. He was then shot to death.

German Bark Lost.—The British steamer Rydal Hall, from Liverpool for Port Natal, reports having seen the German bark Euterpe, from Port Talbot, Wales, founder Sept. 8 in latitude 19.36 north, longitude 8.13 west. An explosion had occurred on board the Euterpe, killing seven of her crew and injuring several.

Let Him Come.

Brussels, Sept. 15.—Le Soir, referring to the announced visit of King Leopold to the United States, says it is quite possible that this visit will occur, but adds that nothing is known of it in official circles.

Not Doomed for Life.

"I was treated for three years by good doctors," writes W. A. Greer, McConnellsville, O., for Piles, and Fistula, but, when all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me in two weeks. Cures Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Sores Eruptions, Salt Rheum, Piles or no pay. 25c at C. A. Wright's drug store.

GORED BY A BULL.

Woman at Midland Received Injuries Which May Cause Death.

Midland, Mich., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Clarissa Wronge, of Larkin township, aged about 50, was attacked by a mad bull Thursday evening as she was attempting to tie him up. The enraged animal hooked her in the left side, just above the hip, ripping the abdomen open clear across to the right hip, the ayful wound permitting the intestines torn loose from their attachments to fall out. Luckily they were not punctured.

Dr. Morrison was summoned and found one of the worst cases ever brought to his attention. He had great difficulty in replacing the intestines and dressing the wound. The injured woman will probably not recover.

Reunion of "Stonewall Regiment."

Ypsilanti, Mich., Sept. 13.—The Seventeenth Michigan Infantry will hold its annual reunion here Sept. 17. The following eminent members of the regiment have promised to speak: Senator Julius C. Burrows; General Withington, of Jackson; General Swift, of Detroit; Colonel Luce, of Monroe, Lieutenant-Colonel Rath, of Jackson, Major George H. Hopkins, of Detroit; Ex-Congressman Alfred Milnes, of Coldwater; Captain Winegar, of Grand Rapids, and Prof. Irwin F. Shepard, of Winona, Minn., permanent secretary of the National Education association. Major Safford, of Detroit, and Sergeant George Herrick, of Grand Rapids, will sing the old war songs. This regiment was nicknamed the "Stonewall regiment,' because, at South Mountain, their first engagement, they took by storm a stone wall that had been regarded as an impregnable barrier. The regiment lost 27 killed and 144 wounded in this fight.

Forger Shear Returns.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 13.—A great sensation was caused here this morning by the return of Luther W. Shear, who drove from Grand Haven and delivered himself up to justice.

Shear was agent of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., a deacon in the First Congregational church, and otherwise prominent citizen, who on the 11th of June left home. A few days later it was found that he had forged notes on his friends to the extent of $50,000. Shear was arraigned before Justice Sullivan, waived examination, was bound over until next week, and locked up in default of $10,000 bail.

Robbed a Veteran.

Charlotte, Mich., Sept. 12.—G. S Butler, a veteran, was robbed of $68 pension money last evening. He had cashed his check during the afternoon, and during the night someone gained entrance to his bedroom and took his trousers, which were found this morning in the back yard.

Tribute to McKinley.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—A tribute to the memory of the late President McKinley was paid Friday by the school children of Chicago in most of the educational institutions throughout the city. Music, singing of patriotic songs and addresses by well-known men made up the general programme.

Colonel Garnett Kills Himself.

New York, Sept. 12.—Col. John G. Garnett, one of the most prominent southerners in New York, a West Point graduate colonel of artillery under General Robert E. Lee in the confederate army, and a native of Wakefield Plantation, Westmoreland county, Va., was found dead to-day in the Ross hotel. He had committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. The body had been lying in the room for two days before it was discovered. Several days ago Mr. Garnett was visited by his brother, Dr. Garnett, of Hot Springs, Ark., aand it is supposed they quarreled. A note which stated that the writer had been contemplating suicide for five days, was found beside the body. Mr. Garnett was head of the St. James Publishing Co., and was at the time of his death engaged in writing a history of the West Point Military academy. Among the letters and papers found was one from President Roosevelt, endorsing a plan to establish a benevolent order of Spanish-American war veterans.

King Ed Is Vivacious.

London, Sept. 13.—There has been a marked improvement in the king's health since the coronation. His diet is strictly regulated in quantity and character. Those who have seen and talked with him in Scotland assert that he is in better health than for many years, and that his vivacity and cheerfulness are noticeable. His June illness is now regarded by many as a blessing in disguise, which may help to prolong his life for many years.

McKinley Memorial at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 13.—The anniversary of the death of President McKinley, Sept. 14, which falls on Sunday, will be appropriately observed here. At the request of the president, Rev. Dr. Washburn, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, which the president attends, will conduct memorial services and like services will be held in the other churches.

1,000 Ohio Miners Strike.

Murray, O., Sept. 13.—One thousand miners are on strike at Job's mines in Athens county, over the question of the check-off system. The companies have heretofore stood good for the check-off of miners who were behind in their store bills, but they refused to continue to do so longer, and the miners went out.

Another Revolution In South.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Sept. 13.—The rumor that a revolutionary expedition is being prepared at Maranhaos for the purpose of invading the territory of Acre and opposing the Bolivian authorities has been confirmed. It is reported that Rodrigo Cervalho is the leader of the movement.

Belgium's Queen Again Ill.

Spa, Belgium, Sept. 13.—The queen of the Belgiums has been seized by a severe attack of asthma and a physician has been hurriedly summoned from Brussels. Marie Henriette, queen of the Belgians, has been ill for a long time with a malady of the heart.

Power For Mining Companies.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 15.—A company of local capitalists have organized the Boulder Creek Milling & Power Co., with a capital of $2,000,000. The company proposes to erect and operate a plant on Boulder creek, Colorado, for the purpose of furnishing power to mining industries. The present high price of fuel in the mining region is a serious drawback to large profits and the company proposes to furnish electric power to a number of concerns, realizing a good return for the investment. The water power of Boulder creek will be utilized. W. C. Penoyar is president of the company; B. Boutell, vice-president; W. H. Boutell, treasurer, and R. W. Norrington secretary.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Never Ask Advice

When you have a cough or cold don't ask what is good for it and get some medicine with little or no merit and perhaps dangerous. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy, it cures coughs and colds quickly. J. J. Orr.

The baby wants the moon and when he is grown he wants a fence around it additional.

Water Cure for Chronic Constipation

Take two cups of hot water half an hour before each meal and just before going to bed, also a drink of water, hot or cold, about two hours after each meal. Take lots of out door exercise—walk, ride, drive. Make a regular habit of this and in many cases chronic constipation may be cured without the use of any medicine. When a purgative is required take something mild and gentle like Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver tablets. For sale by J. J. Orr.

Danger in Fall Colds

Fall colds are liable to hang on all winter leaving the seeds of pneumonia, bronchitis or consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar cures quickly and prevents serious results. It is old and reliable, tried and tested, safe and sure, contains no opiates and will not constipate. J. J. Orr.

A Communication

MR. EDITOR—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with bronchitis and could not sleep at night. PRINCE TIMOTEO

CHAPTER II.

WHILE we were talking Gian Jacopo had been hauling the rope from the windlass and paying it out over the cliff. When it was about a third out, it began to run very quickly of itself until the whole 1,200 feet had gone down and the windlass stopped with a jerk. I did not think to remark about the matter while he was busy at it, but now, when I saw him pull a long knife from his girdle and draw it twice or thrice swiftly across the rope, I realized his intention and sprang toward him that I might thwart it. But I was too late. Even as I seized him he gave one more vicious cut. The rope parted, and I saw the end of it whiz over the parapet.

"Villain!" I shouted. "What have you done? How is it possible for me now to descend?"

"Descend?" he queried, with much stupefaction. "Hast thou forgotten that the penalty prescribed by our laws for leaving the country is death and that the same penalty awaits the stranger who intrudes himself upon us? During the last 400 years I know of no one besides thyself who has made the descent alive, and well I wot that thou art the only one who ever came up. Have I not, then, done well thus to destroy the evidences of thy crime?"

My amazement was great as I listened to the old man. Here was a pretty situation. I could see no immediate way of getting down without killing myself, and I would be killed by these hospitable people if I stayed where I was. It was a fine nest that I had climbed into. But my resolution was immediately formed. I had been taken by this old driveler for Prince Timoteo, and, come what might, Prince Timoteo I must remain.

"But these enemies of my house!" I objected. "Peradventure they have still the same kind intentions toward me which they had formerly. By my halidom, I fear them not. But would it not have been well to keep this means of escape as a last resort?"

"Nay, Timoteo. The present ruler of Firenzalino, the Duke Castruccio degli Albizzi, is an ancient dotard, who is tottering to his fall. He has lost the martial instincts of his ancestors, his time is spent in tournaments, in dancing festivals and drinking bouts. Perdio, put thyself at the head of thy true adherents and win back the princely throne which was wrested from thy race three generations back by the Albizzi. All that thou hast to fear when thy presence becomes known is a chance stab or two in the back from thy opponents; for the which I recommend that thou shouldst straightway invest thyself in a suit of mail or plate, either of which in good assortment thou wilt find in the wardrobe of thy noble father. And that remindeth me that we must hasten to his bedside, for, as I have informed thee, he is veritably in extremis. God forgive me for babbling at such a time."

Of necessity I followed the old man, though, as may be supposed, I had little wish to meet the illustrious sire of the runaway Timothy. The place where I found myself was a garden or pleasure ground of about an acre in extent and inclosed on all sides by high stone walls. A small house, surrounded by a veranda and built of whitewashed brick, stood at one end of the close, and the grounds were laid out in green sward, gravel walks and flower beds and were shaded with olive, lemon and orange trees. A fountain played refreshingly in the midst, from which I argued that this island or country of Little Florence, or, as Jacopo called it, Firenzalino, was not flat and even, as I had before supposed, but that it abounded in hills and valleys and running streams. Without these there would have been no fountains.

Following my guide, I now came to the house and, passing through a corridor, entered with fear and trembling the chamber of the princely patriarch. Upon a bed lay the emaciated yet noble figure of a man of seventy years. His long and snow white beard flowed down upon the coverlet, his aristocratic and hawklike features were waxen pale, and his eyes were closed. Gian Jacopo hastened to his side and seized his wrist and bowed down and listened for his breathing. Then suddenly crying out, "Holy Virgin, he is dead!" he dropped upon his knees and buried his face in his hands. Then presently he arose and, turning to me sadly, said:

"We are too late! We are too late! Look upon him, Timoteo; look upon the last of thy father, the noble Arnolfo de' Pazzi. Eccelentissma," he continued, "we must eftsoons seek out and inform Father Sylvester, the old and worthy priest who for many years has been the confessor of thy good sire, that he may arrange for tonight's watch over the corpse. Fortunately his grace was shriven and absolved by him yesterday, so that his passage hence must have been straight and easy. After I have found Father Sylvester I will put into thy possession the prince's strong box, that thou mayest examine its contents and reckon thy inheritance."

"Where is the strong box of which thou speakest?" I asked.

"Marry, it is here, my master, upon the floor, under the prince's bed, concealed by yon valance of embossed leather, and the key will doubtless be found under his pillow."

The old servant dragged the box from its hiding place and lifted it with some difficulty upon a heavy oaken table in the center of the apartment. While he was feeling under the pillows for the key I was examining the box itself. It was not much over a foot in length and something less than a foot in width, being wrought out of iron, and at the same time was of great strength and worked so curiously and beautifully as to be a fortune in itself. Never had I supposed it possible to file and hammer out of iron such leaves and flowers and tiny human figures as appeared in high relief upon all its sides and upon the lid.

"Jacopo," I demanded, "does the workman live who fashioned this box?"

"No, perdio, illustrious signor, nor has he lived these 400 years. The trinket was made for one of thy ancestors by a young artisan of ancient Florence. Thou canst read the maker's name within the medallion upon the

I looked, and my surprise and wonder were great when I beheld the name and date, Leonardo da Vinci, 1477. "Talk of your Cellini vases and your Palissy pottery," thought I. "Here is a treasure which surpasses all of them together."

Jacopo had now found the key, and we opened the casket without difficulty. It contained a large number of precious stones of one kind and another and a very goodly quantity of golden florins. Most of the latter bore the face of Cosmo de' Medici and dates ranging from 1440 to 1460. They were all rather light in weight, which bore out the theory I had always had of old Cosmo and his system of banking. I determined to touch none of this money for my own use, but I gave over to Gian Jacopo a handful, with orders to lay it out in what might be necessary to give to the old gentleman a sendoff proportionate to his rank.

The trusty old domestic having departed upon his errand and left me with the remains of my distinguished forbear, I set myself to musing upon the almost miraculous experiences which I had that day encountered.

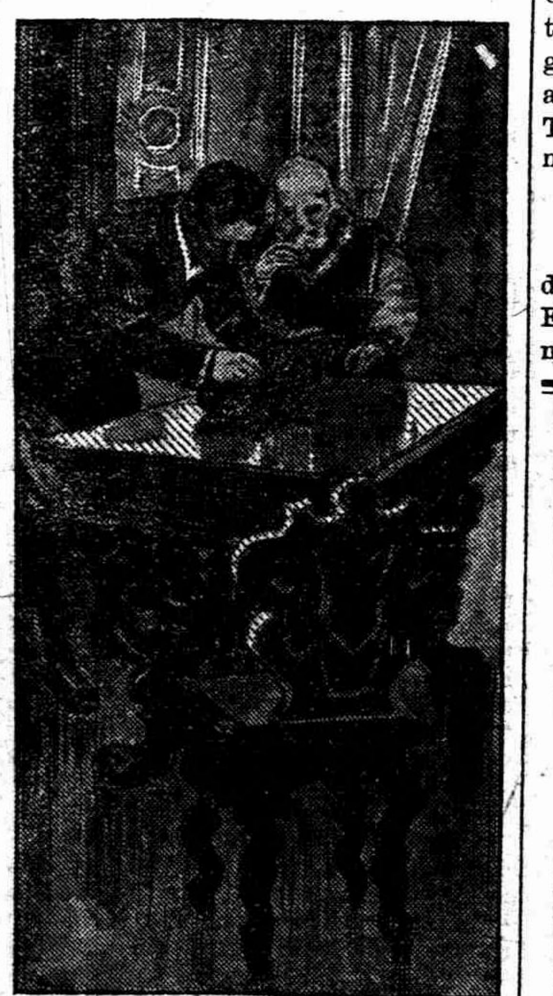
The explanation of the puzzle was nearer at hand than I imagined. Upon a marble writing leggio which stood near the head of the bed lay a very voluminous manuscript engrossed in a small but distinct handwriting. Possessing myself of it, I found that it was entitled "The Chronicles of Firenzalino, From the Year 1492 Until the Present Time, Set Down and Commented Upon Briefly by Signor Arnolfo de' Pazzi." If I was anxious for anything, it was to know something about the strange land into which I had so strangely been introduced, and in this manuscript I beheld the authority which best would enlighten me. I therefore sat down and perused it with avidity and in an hour or thereabout had mastered its contents. I do not say that I read more than a tenth part of the whole matter which it contained. To do so would have been impossible in so short a time, but by reading the heads of chapters and glancing hurriedly over the less important details I managed to make myself reasonably conversant with the history and appearance of the country and with the customs, peculiarities and occupations of its people.

Upon the arrival of Father Sylvester I withdrew with Gian Jacopo into the garden, taking the casket with me, and there, under the shade of a gigantic olive tree, I put to the trusty henchman such questions as might enlighten me further upon the subject of this mysterious mountain and this ancient and valiant race of men, taking care at the same time to clothe my inquiries in such garb as to awaken no suspicion in his mind that I was not the real simon pure Timoteo.

I will here set down as plainly and as briefly as possible the results of my examination of the chronicles and of my conference with Gian Jacopo, the same being the story of Firenzalino and its people, or as much of it as it is necessary for you to know.

From the middle of the thirteenth to the end of the fifteenth century many people were exiled from the great and glorious city of Florence—some for crimes and the most of them for different political reasons. Among these were the great family of Pazzi, exiled for complicity in the murder of Giuliano de' Medici, and another great family, the Albizzi, exiled by their enemy Cosmo when he got the upper hand of them.

Well, in time, perhaps along toward the middle of the fifteenth century, a great number of these exiles and descendants of exiles, after wandering about Italy for many years and trying without avail to get back into their beloved city, took up their abode upon a barren island in the midst of a lake, which lay some thirty or forty miles to the north of Florence in the very heart of the Apennines. Upon this wild and desolate spot, which nevertheless was almost within sight of their native land, they fortified themselves, and they sent for their possessions, cultivated the island and worked at their several handicrafts. Eventually they prospered and increased in numbers and made something of a place of it.



We opened the casket.

And it was in the summer of the memorable year of 1492, the year of the discovery of America by Columbus, of the death of Lorenzo de' Medici, of the fall of Grenada and of the expulsion of the Jews from Spain, when there came up one night a great storm, followed by a dire earthquake, which so shook the island that all the exiles rocked back and forth in their beds as though they had been in so many boats on a rough sea, and when they got up and went out in the morning and took a look around, lo and behold, their island had shot up with the earthquake 1,200 or 1,300 feet out of the lake, and they beheld themselves high and dry upon the top of a mountain whose sides were so precipitous and smooth that he who should attempt to descend them would face certain death. They were, in fact, as completely separated from the rest of the earth as though they had been suddenly transplanted to another planet. They had a small world completely and incontestably their own, and here, at the time when I made my ascension, they had been living and dying and marrying and giving in marriage and working at their businesses and fighting and making peace and what not for more than 400 years.

The number of persons upon the island at the time of the earthquake in 1492 was something less than a thousand, and by the natural law of increase in the course of a century or so it was fair to suppose that the population should have passed the supporting limit of the land. Such, however, had not been the case. At the time of my arrival Firenzalino contained a little less than 10,000 inhabitants, of whom 8,000 dwelt in a well built, walled city which stood at the eastern end of the mountain, and 2,000 were scattered about the remaining territory, engaged in tilling the soil or as herders or woodsmen. Nor could I learn that the number of these people had at any time been greater during the 400 years of their history.

The reason for this was obvious. There had been no fewer than forty-eight revolutions in the republic or principality or duchy of Firenzalino, most of which had been accompanied by devastating and cruel wars, and not one of which had passed without bloodshed.

From the time of the earthquake down to the date of my appearing among them the inhabitants had been divided into two great political parties, the Elevationists and the Depressionists. The Elevationists believed and maintained that at the time of the earthquake the island had arisen or shot up out of the lake to its present height. The Depressionists, on the contrary, believed and maintained just as stoutly that the island had not stirred from its former position and that it was the lake, as well as all the surrounding territory, which had gone down or had become depressed. This honest difference of opinion had been the occasion of most of the forty-eight revolutions, though there is no doubt that hatred, revenge and thirst for power had a good deal to do with bringing them about.

With forty-seven of these revolutions I have nothing to do, but my tale is of the forty-eighth and last.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

W. F. SISSON,

About forty neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Church Friday evening and from there proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heck on Shawnee street. Mrs. Heck had gone to one of the neighbors to spend the evening and was immediately sent for and upon entering the house was greatly surprised to find that it had been taken possession of. Sixty-three was the principal feature of the evening. A delightful conclusion to the game was the serving of refreshments. Mrs. Heck was presented with a set of beautiful hand painted cups and saucers. The prizes were awarded to Miss Rena Purviance and Mrs. C. E. Coleson. The former received the first prize and latter the consolation.

Marks Bros. Coming.

The Marks Bros. No. 1 company, headed by Tecumseh's greatest favorite, Tom Marks, will be seen at the New Bradley in that gem of comedy dramas, "The Night before New Years."

This season Mr. Marks has been extremely fortunate in securing players, and has surrounded himself with the most talented and evenly balanced company that has ever supported him.

Mr Marks has also secured for this season a complete repertoire of new and original plays which will be staged and costumed in a manner never before attempted by a traveling repertoire comcompany.

In the past, local theatre-goers have been very generous in their support of this company, and have been kind enough to say they had been pleased with the entertainment offered, but this season all will be more than pleased for the show is larger, better, brighter and more up-to-date than ever before. All ladies should avail themselves of the special Thursday night offer. The prices during the engagement will be 10, 20 and 25 cents.

LILLIAN MILLER

The four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cass Miller met a

HORRIBLE DEATH

At her Home in Holloway Friday.

While playing with matches at her home a mile and a half east of Holloway little Lillian Miller met a most horrible death. The little girl was out in the door yard playing, when all at once her mother was attracted by the screams of the little girl, when she reached the door, she was horrified to see her daughter running toward her enveloped in one mass of flames.

The mother carried the little one into the house, medical aid was at once summoned and everything possible was done to relieve the little one's suffering, but all in vain and death came to her relief Saturday morning.

It is thought the child got some matches and went into the yard to play with them, and in some way set fire to her clothing, which was burned from her body leaving the flesh fairly cooked.

The parents are nearly crazed over the affair, as the little girl was dearly beloved and the pet of the neighborhood. The funeral was held Monday at Ridgeway, where the body was interred.

Novel Cattle Thieves.

Sheriff Shepard spent a part of Wednesday afternoon and this morning looking up cattle theives over in Macon, and finally located the culprit in the shape of a big straw stack. The sheriff received word Wednesday that Chester Ellis, who lives about a mile west of Pennington Corners of Macon, had lost two head of cattle Monday night and another Tuesday night. He left for the Ellis farm at once to investigate. He could not believe that cattle theives would make two trips after three head of cattle, but it seemed that they had in this case, as they were certainly nowhere to be seen about the barn yard. This morning Sheriff Shepard discovered a small entrance leading into the big straw stack. Getting a lantern he made his way into the stack and found all three of the cattle about 25 feet in, where they could not work their way out. Two of the cattle had evidently worked their way into the stack Monday night and the other had followed on the night succeeding. They were uninjured but a few hours longer confinement would probably have proven disastrous to them.—Adrian Telegram.

Coal

Peoyle are beginning to wonder what they are to do this winter for fuel, the schedule of prices from the Chicago Tribune of Saturday is as follows: The price of Pocahontas Sept. 1 was $3.75 per ton; Friday was $7 to $9; Maryland Sept. 1 $3.10; Friday $6. Good bituminus Sept. 1 $6.50; Friday $13. Anthracite was practically unattainable and quoted by some dealers as high as $25 a ton.

Although the situation does not look so critical here in Tecumseh at present matters are, however, rapidly reaching a crisis, and coal dealers find it rather hard to supply the large demonds under which they are placed.

ROUND ABOUT US.

When a young man who, having passed a delightful evening with the young lady nearest his watch pocket, is returning at the hour for the ghost procession, his thoughts dwelling on the girl he left behind, it is a disgusting interruption to be met in a head-end collision by a carriage from the opposite direction and pitched heels up into a nasty ditch "dressed in his best suit of clothes." Such was the recent happening to a Clayton barber. The soil of the drain was a rich adherent muck, and when the tonsor emerged from the Jeremire he looked like a sand bump from an artesian well, but did not say much. He couldn't. His mouth was plastered up.

We recently heard of a man who attended a grand ball with his wife and had a grand time. While dancing a quadrille he noticed that his pants were ripping and hurriedly retired to a dressing room with his wife who procured a needle and thread and began sewing up the rip. While the man was standing there without any pants on, he heard the rustling of skirts and it occurred to him that he had taken refuge in the ladies dressing room. He appealed to his wife and she shoved him to a door which opened as she thought, into a closet. Opening the door quickly she shoved him through and locked the door "Mary," he screamed, "I'm in the ball room!" The door, instead of opening into the closet, opened into the ball room.

TO DOUBT THIS

Is to Disbelieve the Evidence of Your Own Senses

It's Tecumseh proof for Tecumseh people.

It's local endorsation for local readers.

It will stand the most rigid investigation.

Postmaster J. W. Wightman, well known to every reader of this statement says: "I have no hesitation in endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills procured at C. A. Wright's drug store. They have been used in my family and the most satisfactory results followed the treatment. They proved to be a remedy of merit. You can use my name to that effect if you think proper."

Knights of the Grip Meet.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 15.—The board of directors of the Michigan Knights of the Grip held a meeting in this city Saturday to consider matters of business. Those present were John A. Weston, Lansing, president of the Knights; James Cook, Jackson; George H. Randall, West Bay City; C. W. Hurd, Davison; L. J. Koster, Grand Rapids; J. W. Schram and L. Houran, Detroit, and M. S. Brown, Saginaw. Four deaths were reported, Harvey A. Radcliffe, Detroit; Frank M. Tyler, Grand Rapids; S. Machman, Toledo; Ben S. Harrorer, Toledo. The four claims were considered and warrants were drawn in each instance. The reports received show the order to be in a flourishing condition, and there is a balance of about $1,500 in the treasury. The membership is gradually increasing and the order is now on a more substantial basis than it has ever been before.

Druggists Sent Up.

South Haven, Mich., Sept. 15.—Some time ago the druggists selling liquor illegally in Covert and South Haven were brought before a justice. All except four were bound over to the next term of court. Charles Rogers and Ellis Price of South Haven, and Ph. Bailey and Glad Beatty of Covert were tried before Judge Carr, who sentenced Rogers to 90 days in the county jail, $200 fine and $91 cost. Bailey, 30 days, $91 costs; Price, 20 days and $91 costs. Beatty got off on $9 and costs on account of his age. This is the first real blow to drug stores in the county, and has set the rest thinking what their fate will be. No such imprisonment was expected. The defendants each carried a large amount of money with which they expected to pay heavy fines and be released.

Heavy Losses by Frost.

Royal Oak, Mich., Sept. 15.—The heavy frost Saturday night caused thousands of dollars damage in this township. Hundreds of acres of corn, beans and potatoes that were not ripe were killed and will be a dead loss to the farmers.

Coldwater, Mich., Sept. 15.—Branch county suffered Saturday night from a frost. Some fields of corn near Coldwater were hit very hard, while others escaped. Garden truck on the lowlands were injured.

Three Rivers, Mich., Sept. 15.—The first genuine frost of the season came Saturday night. Reports from various sections say apparently little damage was done. Unless warmer weather comes soon there will be much soft corn. There was another heavy frost last night.

BEYOND A DOUBT

Good hard facts, told in few words as possible

Mrs. Edgar Packard of Tecumseh, Mich., says:—"Until I tried Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Chas. A. Wright's Drug Store I suffered a great deal from nervousness—sleeplessness—headaches and indigestion. Since using the pills I can say my nervous system has been toned up, I sleep well—the headaches are gone and my digestion is greatly improved. I think the pills a fine nerve medicine."

LIKE KILKENNY CATS.

Guerilla Warfare Still Raging on the Isthmus of Panama.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Neither the state nor the navy department has any late news regarding affairs at the Isthmus of Panama. The cruiser Cincinnati, which was ordered to proceed from Cape Haitien to Colon, where she is to look out for the protection of American interests, is expected to reach that place either tonight or tomorrow.

A belated telegram received at the Colombian legation, dated Bogota, Sept. 10, and signed by President Marroquin, contains the following advices. "Revolution in the interior of Colombia ended with the surrender of the remaining guerillas. A numerous army is on its way to Panama."

The army spoken of in this dispatch is said to be that referred to a number of times in the press dispatches and contains about 10,000 men, of whom 2,000 are reported to have already reached Colon. The whole force is in command of General Gonzales Valencia, the commander-in-chief of the Colombian army and a well-known officer.

Word has reached the navy department that the gunboat Montgomery, which has been overhauled at the New York navy yard since the naval manoeuvers, is on her way to [illegible] to replace the Cincinnati.

Panama, Colombia, Sept. 15.—Acting Superintendent Prescott of the Panama railroad has obtained permission from the government that the employes of the railroad who are liberals may attend to their duties, notwithstanding the decree issued by General Salazar, governor of Panama, prohibiting liberals from appearing on the streets under pain of imprisonment. This courtesy has also been extended to the steamship companies in order to prevent interruption of traffic. As a result of international treaties, almost all foreign vessels coming to Colombia have in the past enjoyed the exemption of tonnage duties which was extended to ships under the Colombian flag. A decree recently issued revokes this concession, and from now on the duties in question must be paid by all vessels. It is believed that the recent difficulty of the government with the Pacific Steam Navigation company of Liverpool, when the company refused to transport government troops from Buenaventura to the isthmus on board the steamer Ecuador caused this decree to be issued. Advices from Baranquilla say the government cruiser Cartagena is at this port awaiting the arrival of troops down the Magdelena river from Honda. The Cartagena will reach Colon today. A dispatch reached here from the minister of war at Bogota saying that General Perdomo and his army are coming to reinforce the isthmus as quickly as possible; the war minister orders General Salazar to employ all the means in his power to resist the insurgents pending the arrival of General Perdomo.

GOVERNOR REFUSES.

Corbett and McGovern Fight Forbidden in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15.—Governor Beckham has decided that legal steps should be taken to prevent the proposed contest between Young Corbett and Terry McGovern, before the Southern Athletic club at Louisville, a week from today, if it is to be a prize fight and in violation of the Kentucky laws. He will hand to Attorney-General Pratt today a letter requesting him at once to institute proceedings to determine whether the contest is to be a prize fight or only a boxing contest, the latter being permitted. The decision will be reached in ample time to prevent the fight.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.

Is safe and pleasant to take and quick and sure to cure. 25 and 50 cents. All Druggists.

THE TONSILINE CO., CANTON, OHIO.

The telephone girl and the bill clerk to whom she had promised her heart and hand were sitting in front of the fireplace talking about the happy days to come when they would be one. From one little detail to another the talk drifted to the subject of lighting fires in the morning. He stated it as his emphatic opinion that it was a wife's place to get up and start the fires and let her poor hard-working husband rest. After this declaration there was a silence for the space of about three-quarters of a second. Then the telephone girl thrust out the finger encircled by her engagement ring and murmured sweetly but firmly: "Ring off, please; you have got connected with the wrong number."

BIG DEAL CLOSED.

Minnesota Pine Bought by Alger, Smith & Co.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 15.—The big deal in timber in northern Minnesota, which was mentioned about ten days ago, was closed last Saturday. By this deal Alger, Smith & Co. secure from the Mitchell, McClure Lumber company of Duluth 80,000,000 feet of standing pine, situated north of Duluth among the Detroit firm's other holdings; also thirteen miles of railroad, a number of camps and mills, including the big mill of the Mitchell, McClure company at Duluth. The consideration is $635,000.

General Alger signed the papers which cinched the transfer and sent them on to Duluth on Saturday.

Alger, Smith & Co. have sold about 80,000,000 feet of standing pine on the Pigeon river, including camps, horses, etc., to the Pigeon River Lumber company, the consideration of this deal being about $80,000.

Shakeup at Bay City.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 15.—Engine No. 83, drawing an Arbeiter excursion from Saginaw to Alpena, and switch engine No. 262 sideswiped in the Pere Marquette yards here Sunday morning. The passenger train was running about eight miles an hour and met the switch engine coming onto the main track from a water tank. Both engines were badly wrecked, No. 83 being thrown over on its side. The front end of the baggage car was slightly smashed and the baggageman was shaken up, but no one else was injured. The passengers were badly frightened for a few moments at the sudden stoppage of the train, which took on a good sized crowd and pulled out to its destination, another engine being substituted.

Ended in Murder.

Omaha, Sept. 15.—Earl Caldwell was killed and his companion, M. W. Ball, was seriously injured in an assault committed on the two men as they were returning to the Union Pacific shops at an early hour Sunday. Both men had been employed at the shops as strike-breakers. When near the shop yard entrance they were accosted by several pickets, and after some words the assault occurred. Caldwell was badly beaten up, but Ball made his escape. The latter secured assistance and went to the aid of his companion. Caldwell expired before medical aid could be summoned. A physician found his skull fractured in two places. Nine arrests have been made. The killing is the culmination of a number of assaults during the past two weeks.

They Are Comig

To Tecumseh Mich. and will be at the Lilley House for two days, Monday and Tuesday September 22nd and 23rd. Specialists from the Electric Medical Institute Philadelphia, Pa. will make regular visits to this place.

The first being an advertising trip to introduce their new system they will give to all who call on the above dates, consultation, examination, advice and all medicine necessary to complete a permanent CURE—FREE.

It will be expected of all patients taking advantage of this offer to state to their friends the result obtained by their new system of treatment. They treat ALL KINDS OF CHRONIC DISEASES AND DEFORMITIES.

It is very seldom that a community so situated as the one in which we live has the privilege of consulting such renowned specialists, who are in constant attendance to wait upon you, diagnose your case and give you the benefit of their medical knowledge. There is no experimenting or guess work. You will be told whether you can be cured or not. If your case is curable they will treat you; if incurable they will give you such advice as to prolong your life.

They treat deafness by an entirely new method, and hearing is restored at once. $100 forfeit for any case of deafness that we fail to make hear from the first treatment. CATARRH, in all its VARIED FORMS cured so it will never return, by breaking up the cold catching tendency by the electrical absorption of medicine. If you have weak lungs or consunption do not fail to be examined.

The new discovery of absorbing medicine by electricity in paralysis' loss of manly vigor, rheumatism and all diseases of the nervous system, including EPILEPSY, is a God-send to suffering humanity. Medical men stand amazed at the marvelous cures that are being effected wherever this system is being introduced. Thousands who have given up all hopes of ever being cured now have an opportunity of a life time to consult doctors of a national reputation. Remember their knowledge of medicine combined with electricity gives them control of diseases that others do not possess If you have WEAK EYES, come and see the greatest AMERICAN and EUROPEAN EXPERT OCCULIST. He with his remarkable discovery cures all those afflicted with failing eyesight, cataracts or functional blindness. The blind made to see by our entirely new method. No experiments. Come and test it for yourself. Eyes expertly tested and treated. ALL THIS IS FREE OF CHARGE. WE STRAIGHTEN CROSS EYES TO STAY STRAIGHT BEFORE YOU LEAVE THE OFFICE. NO KNIFE. NO PAIN. This is done by our new system.

Don't fail to call on these eminent specialists, as a visit costs you nothing and may save your life.

If you suspect kidney trouble, bring a two-ounce vial of your urine for chemical and microscopic analysis.

Go early, as their offices are always crowded. If you are improving under your family physician do not come and take up their valuable time. They wish to give each one plenty of time, but cannot listen to long stories not pertaining to your case. The rich and poor alike treated.

NOTICE—Morphine, cocaine, laudanum, opium, tobacco and liquor habits cured in a short time.

N. B.—CANCERS, TUMORS, ULCERS, all blood, skin and scalp diseases treated by an entirely new method. PILES cured in five or ten days without the knife. They make a specialty of diseases peculiar to either sex and cure where others fail.

Remember this liberal offer is for this first trip only and not one cent will be charged for all the medicines required to make a permanent cure to all those commencing treatment on this first visit. Also a positive guarantee to cure will be given to all patients that we accept on this our advertising trip.

NOTICE—MARRIED LADIES must be ACCOMPANIED BY THEIR HUSBANDS.

ROUND ABOUT US.

If nothing serious happens Michigan will have the largest apple crop this year that orchard owners have harvested in the past five years. The outlook for late fruit is good, and in most localities, where wind and hail have not stripped the trees, the crop will be about as good as anyone can ask for.—Adrian Times.

The Monroe Canning Company's factory up to this week put up only 1,000 bushels of tomatoes. The cannery was run Tuesday and it is expected that enough tomatoes will be brought in from now on to keep it running the greater part of the time. The output of the factory this year will fall considerably short of last year's run.

Chaplain Orwick of the Jackson state prison resigned last week, being charged with writing compromising letters to women. After some argument with the board of control, he signed a statement exonerating Warden Vincent of any attempt, as alleged by Detroit papers, of having compelled his resignation for political reasons. It was asserted by the Detroit papers that the desire on the part of the warden seemed to be to turn the prison into a Bliss-Judson machine. Judson recently paid a visit to the Central City and whenever silent Bill goes there seems to be good grounds for suspicion that there is "something doing.. Jackson newspapers have been very reticent regarding the matter.

The girls in the finishing room at the woolen mill thought their wages too small and on Friday morning made the superintendent's office a call in a body. They asked for a raise of ten cents per day but were refused and walked out. All but four of them became lonesome after twenty minutes and returned to work. The other four came back at noon. In the afternoon about five o'clock they were all called over to the office and informed that it had been decided to give them a five cent raise. They were also complimented on returning to work as they did. This is the first strike this company has ever experienced and all parties are to be congratulated on the happy outcome.—Clinton Local.

A Certain cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me. For sale by J. J. Orr.

New Yatch on Gogebic Lake.

A beautiful new steam yacht has recently been placed by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co., on Gogebic Lake for use of guests at the Gogebic Hotel The vessel has two decks, is 56 feet long, 10 feet 9 inch beam, has a speed of 12 miles an hour and is equipped with an electric light plant. The interior of the cozy inclosed cabin is beautifully finished in mahogany. It is one of the finest and most luxuriously equipped boats on western waters; and and patrons of Gogebic are to be congratulated on this acquisition to the lake's attractions. The yacht makes daily trips around the lake from the hotel, and the sight is a beautiful one when it starts out in the morning with a fleet of small boats in tow, dropping the occupants at their fishing grounds for a days' sport where bass abounds.

Hay fever sufferers will find at Gogebic all the elements that are required for quick relief from their unpleasant ailment. Woods of balsam fir and pine, cool air and absence of moisture make Gogebic one of the finest resorts in the country for those who seek to rid themselves of this malady.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure:

"I suffered agonizing pain in the left breast and between my shoulders from heart trouble. My heart would palpitate, flutter, then skip beats, until I could no longer lie in bed. Night after night I walked the floor, for to lie down would have meant sudden death. My condition seemed almost hopeless when I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, but it helped me from the first. Later I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with the Heart Cure and the effect was astonishing. I earnestly implore similar sufferers to give these remedies a trial."

PING PONG

Some Anecdotes about the Game, and a few

RULES

And Other Amusing Items.

New York, July 8, 1901.

DEAR FRED—

Billy and I are the real article now for we know all about ping pong! How did it happen? Well, you see we were invited to help burn the edge off an evening over in Brooklyn, and it developed into a ping pong party. I didn't know what we were up against until we were in the house and had had a "So-charmed-to-meet-you" round with each assembled guest.

When I heard the mad revelry going on in the dining room and realized what the stunt was, I was for dodging, but no, sir! Then I proclaimed loudly that I didn't know how, but was promptly assured by a fairy in pink that it was "awfully easy to learn" and then she enticed me out to the field of battle and proceeded to doctor my education. First she placed a pyrographied paddle in my hand and stood me up at one end of the table. "Now, I'll serve," she gurgled, as she took her corner, "and when the ball bounces once, you knock it back to me." Well, that sounded easy and we went at it.

Over came the fat little celluoid and I landed on it to the tune of permanent disability for a Wedgwood teapot on the sideboard. My next shot winged a china cup, while my third put a Serves out of the show business beyond a shadow of doubt. "I'm afraid you biff too hard," ventured the pink fairy, as she and the hostess with infinite tact herded me back into the drawing room, somewhat to my regret, for I thought the game was just getting good. I had my eye on a fragile looking sugar bowl and had hoped to land that next.

Shortly afterward Billy made his debut as a ping ponger, and, from the sounds of shivering crockery, which came from the direction of the dining room, I'll gamble he put as much bric-a-brac to the bad as anybody.

Say, but it's a cruel game, too! Why the way those big husky brutes of men stand up and soak that innocent little ball in the slats is truly pathetic. It's a good case for the humane society any time. And as for faces, why "bike" faces or "fighting" ain't one, two, three with a properly developed ping pong face. Honest to goodness, I've seen sweetly angelic looking girls turn into hatchet-faced blood-thirsty appearing females after making a couple of swipes at one of those devilish little balls.

And the men! Wow! but I'd hate to get mixed up in a dream with one of those faces. But ping pong is all right. It's got every other game looking neglected. On the way home Billy told me he thought the best part of it was hunting for the balls. I didn't get next to the drift of his remark until I remembered how many times he and Kitty had shown up guilty but blissful looking faces from under the dining room table that night after protracted and oftimes vain hunts for the ball. O you can be sure that if there's anything to it, Billy's right there with the goods.

Yours,

JIM.

RULES FOR PING PONG.

Rule 1st. Under the net and over; two up and one to play, always discard the ace and lead trumps.

Rule 2nd. Play in other people's parlors as much as possible if you love your own furniture.

Rule 3rd. It's a table stakes game, always. If your pardner gets fussy throw the bat at him and walk off the fields.

Rule 4th. If you should accidentally step on the foot of a spectator call for help and have him pinched.

Rule 5th. Driving the ball through an open window makes the score "thirty all;" through a closed window it is "thirty cents."

Rule 6th. Always show your teeth when you serve.

Rule 7th. If the ball hits you in the face, close it quickly and say nothing. One of the best jokes of the game is to let the ball slide gracefully half way down your throat, and stand perfectly still while your opponent crawls under the sideboard looking for it. If you swallow the ball you lose one point.

Rule 8th. If you have a losing streak never bite the table, especially when ladies are present.

Rule 9th. Every time you win a set raise your head and bark like a sea lion. This will attract attention to your voice.

Rule 10th. When in doubt never try to chew the vellum off the paddle. If you do, you lose little casino and maybe a tooth or two.

Rule 11th. Never play ping pong on an empty stomach. Always use the dining table

Rule 12th. If anybody, not playing, happens to be struck by falling chandeliers or plaster, the score then is "Love-all," and the game starts over.

WON THE POT.

That little hand!
I hold it firm in mine,
And scan its outlines fine.
My eyes expand,
And grow with love intense and strong;
I gaze upon it fond and long,
That little hand!

That little hand!
It is so smooth, so pure and white,
And covered o'er with diamonds quite,
In beauty grand.
Oh, how I love it! See me press
It to my lips in fond caress,
That little hand!

That little hand!
There are no others fair as you!
I lay you down and gladly too,
With manner bland.
It was a diamond flush and straight!
Soon may I hold its charming mate!
That little hand!

New Way to Polish a Stove.

No Waste—Odor—or Dirt.

By sprinkling Sifter Stove Polish on the stove and then rubbing with a damp rag and gently brushing with a dry cloth, a brilliant, jet black lustre is obtained. Sifter Stove Polish comes in a large box with a perforated top, through which the polish is sifted just like peppering a beefsteak. Sifter Stove Polish is made of pure powdered graphite, which is not affected by fire, produces the most brilliant polish, and when applied, won't rub off. It is odorless. It never dries up. It does not require soaking in water before using. A 10 cent box of Sifter Stove Polish will polish more stoves than three times its cost in any other polish. Get Sifter Stove Polish of any dealer at 5 cents a box, a 10 cent box contains more than twice as much. Insist on the yellow label with the hand.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Sick Headache? Food doesn't digest well? Appetite poor? Bowels constipated? Tongue coated? It's your liver! Ayer's Pills are liver pills; they cure dyspepsia, biliousness.

Do you want any better evidence that summer is over than the fact that all the vacationers have returned? But there is evidence better than that. You have felt it right along now for a number of mornings and evenings. Winter is close at hand, are you ready for it? Now the question that concerns us most is, where will you buy the to keep you warm? We were never so proud of a clothing stock as the one we show this fall. It contains clothing so far ahead of the usual ready-made that you wont be quite sure but what you have chanced on a custom made garment which luckily fits you. This advertisement may or may not bring you to look over our stock. That's the uncertainty of advertising, but if you do, you will like the clothes you buy, you will get a fit and receive satisfaction of a highly satisfactory sort. That's the certainty of buying here. Glad to show 'em to you, and you will be glad you looked. Overcoats, $6 to $24. Suits, $6 to $20. If you are looking for clothes out of the old beaten track, better make tracks for this store.

CRAZED BY DRINK

An Aged Wyandotte Man Thirsts for Blood.

WIFE WILL PROBABLY DIE

Stabbed Her Repeatedly With a Butcher Knife and Then Cut His Own Throat—Both Are Over Seventy Years of Age.

Wyandotte, Mich., Sept. 18.—The frenzy of drink caused a tragedy at Wyandotte Wednesday afternoon that will likely result in two deaths.

Charles Brooklyn, one of the oldest residents of Wyandotte, returned to his home on Third street a little afternoon, apparently a raving maniac from the effects of liquor. Seizing a butcher knife, he set out to murder his wife and before she could escape from the house had stabbed her several times in the breast.

She finally managed to get away from him for a moment and ran into the yard, where she fell bleeding from her wounds.

The old man, still bent on her destruction, followed her and stabbed her again several times in the face. In the struggle her hands were cut and she was so badly injured that she will probably die.

The screams of the old lady were heard by John Lorenz, Sr., a neighbor, who lives just back of the Brooklyns, and he climbed over the back fence to her assistance. At the moment he arrived the frenzied drunken man had desisted in his attack on his wife, and had just plunged the knife in his own throat. Lorenz grappled with him and succeeded in getting possession of the weapon, but not until the old man had hacked a deep gash in his neck.

Physicians who were called found that Mrs. Brooklyn had escaped a vital wound, although stabbed in all twelve times, but it is thought the loss of blood will prove fatal to her, as she is nearly seventy years old.

Brooklyn's one injury is serious and he was taken to Emergency hospital, Wyandotte.

The couple had lived in Wyandotte peacefully together for the last thirty-five years.

Brooklyn, who is about eighty years old, has always been a peaceful citizen and had never in his life before been known to harm anyone.

No one had seen him under the influence of liquor for years, and he was first noticed in an intoxicated condition about 10 o'clock.

Good For William.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—The naval maneuvers were ended by the hostile fleet under the command of the emperor, who was on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, forcing an entry to the Elbe, defeating the German fleet and breaking up a line of submarine mines. The maneuvers were much hindered by stormy weather. Wireless telegraphy was used more completely during this year's naval maneuvers than ever before and with good results. It was seen, however, that the wireless system was not absolutely reliable under all conditions, it being sometimes impossible to get connection owing to the belts of different temperatures in the atmosphere and on account of storms.

Very Important.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—The supreme court affirmed the conviction of Clayton Voorhis, agent at Gladstone of the Minneapolis Brewing company, for selling liquor without $500 license. By this decision, brewers of other states will have to pay $500 annual tax for every cold storage and distributing warehouse maintained in Michigan. Michigan brewers will pay a similar tax for each such warehouse operated away from the brewery, the latter being covered by $65 manufacturers' tax, the court declaring that the right of manufacture carries the right to sell the product at the factory.

Michigan M. E. Conference.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 18.—The opening session of the Michigan M. E. conference was held yesterday. The candidates for examination are: A. L. Cook, Charlotte; J. W. Hayward, Ionia; L. E. Holmes, Stittsville; W. E. Doty, Lansing; Arba Martin, Mattawan; Harry E. Walker, White Cloud; W. H. Irwin, Scottville; H. A. Lyon, Lawrence; G. J. Porter, Lisbon; J. S. Delong, Gladwin; W. A. A. Fortner, Middleville; C. E. Pollock, Stanton. The results are to be announced Friday or Saturday. About 500 ministers are here.

Disease in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—Reports to the state board of health from representative physicians indicate that rheumatism, diarrhea, neuralgia, bronchitis and tonsilitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the past week. Meningitis was reported present at four places, whooping cough at 13, measles at 23 diphtheria at 23, smallpox at 26, scarlet fever at 38, typhoid fever at 75, and consumption at 222.

Killed Himself on Wife's Account.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 18.—A colored man named West committed suicide here because he believed his wife was untrue. He fired one shot at her and then ended his own life. His wife's father, Joseph Kurne, who was standing by, warded off the gunshot and saved his daughter's life. West was twenty-six years of age.

A BIG SURPRISE

Speaker Henderson Quits the Race for Re-election.

GIVES HIS REASONS PLAINLY

He Differs From His Constituents as to How the Tariff Should Be Handled and How Trusts Should Be Dealt With.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 17.—Speaker Henderson, finding that his views in respect to the treatment of trusts by reducing the tariff, in whole or in part, are not in accord with the views of many of his party in Iowa, has declined to accept the nomination for congress, and has withdrawn from the race.

The following letter was addressed to C. E. Albrook, chairman of the notification committee, Eldora, Ia., by Mr. Henderson:

"My Dear Sir: I have never answered the kind notice communicated by you and your assistants, advising me of my nomination for the eleventh time, by acclamation, as the Republican candidate for congress for the Third congressional district of Iowa. Reported conditions in the public mind in my district upon public policies induced me to make this delay. Since my return to the district I have made a careful study as to the sentiment in the district and state, and I believe there is no little sentiment and a growing sentiment, among Republicans, that I do not truly represent their views on the tariff question. Believing this condition to exist and knowing that I do not agree with many of my people that trusts, to which I am and have been opposed, can be cured, or the people benefitted by free trade, in whole or in part, I must decline to accept the nomination so generously and enthusiastically made. I have devoted twenty of the best years of my life to the service of my people and my country, and I have fought for what I believed to be best for the farmer, the laborer and the business interests of this district and state. I am grateful for the devotion that has ever been accorded me, and to the hour of my death I will hold in a grateful heart the memory of that devotion. I will give later on, in some detail, my views and convictions on our conditions and on public questions and will state my reasons why the Republican party and its policies should continue in the confidence of the voters of the United States, and why the doctrines of the Democracy should find no lodgment in the faith and teachings of the Republican party.

"Very truly yours,
"D. B. HENDERSON."

Speaker Henderson announced his withdrawal after a conference of several hours' duration with Chairman Glasser of the congressional committee and friends yesterday afternoon. Speaker Henderson had been contemplating this action for two weeks, but had intimated nothing of it to friends until Monday. At yesterday's conference his friends implored him not to take the action, but to no avail. He said he had made up his mind and no argument could cause him to change his decision. When asked for his reasons for his withdrawal, Mr. Henderson said: "My letter to Chairman Albrook is the whole thing in a nutshell. You cannot kill the trusts by applying free trade without killing our industries. The foreign trusts are fighting the American trusts and I don't believe, for the purpose of controlling American trusts, we should make a market for foreign trusts, thereby crushing out industries of this country. After my conference last Saturday at Waterloo, hearing the views of the chairmen of my district, I concluded that my views on the tariff question were at variance with those of many of my party, and I did not desire to appear in a false position."

THOSE FAKE LEGACIES.

Bank of England Writes United States About Them.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The state department has made public the text of a letter from the chief accountant of the Bank of England, in regard to the numerous inquiries from persons in the United States relative to alleged unclaimed estates in England. The letter says that the bank recently has received a great number of applications respecting the Whitaker estate, the name of Whitaker being variously spelled. The original basis of these inquiries, it is stated, probably is the occurrence of the name in lists of unclaimed stock and dividends published by the bank in the early part of the last century. However, the total amount at present unclaimed on several accounts with which the name of Whitaker is connected is less than £100. Some time ago, it is stated, a person called at the bank and said that he had been delegated by the heirs of the Whitaker estate to investigate their claims. He was told that there was no such estate in the knowledge of the bank, but subsequently it was found that he gave the "heirs" a different version and spurred them on to renewed efforts. The inquiries almost all date from the United States and have been received since 1897, but never until the present year in such volume.

Very Exclusive.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 17.—The annual meeting of the supreme council of sovereign grand inspectors general of the 33d degree of Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masonry for the northern jurisdiction of the United States began Tuesday at Masonic Temple. It is a three days' meeting and fully 250 of the most prominent Masons in the country in the northern Masonic jurisdiction are present. Many of them are accompanied by their wives, for whom an entertaining program has been arranged. The business of the forenoon session was presided over by Judge Henry L. Palmer of Wisconsin.

State Pharmacy Figures.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 18.—The annual report of the state board of pharmacy shows that only about one-half of the persons examined receive certificates as either pharmacists or assistants. Thirty per cent of those who apply for certificates as pharmacists had to be content with assistants' certificates, while 24 per cent failed altogether. During the year 217 applicants for licenses as pharmacists were examined and 100 passed, while of the 94 applicants for licenses as assistants 54 passed. At the close of the fiscal year there were 4,876 registered pharmacists in the state.

DANGEROUS TALK

Are Chicago Anarchtsts Preparing for President's Visit?

DETECTIVES INVESTIGATING

Published Reports Cause Secretary of Reception Committee to Resign, and Other Members Are Reported to Be Anarchists.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Ephraim Philip Rosenthal, secretary of the committee arranging for the reception of President Roosevelt during his visit to Chicago next month, has resigned his position. He took this step immediately upon the publication of a rumor that the Roosevelt committee contained one, and possible two, members whose sympathies leaned toward anarchy.

Mr. Rosenthal's name was coupled with the announcement that a city detective was investigating the report in such a way that he could not but understand that the inference was that he was the man concerned. He decided to step aside, he announced, not because he was concerned over the insinuation on his own account, but rather that he desired the visit of the president to be absolutely clear from the shadow of any suspicion that any one whose name had even been coupled with the subject of anarchy was to be associated with those having him in their care during his stay here.

Max Rabinoff, a member of one of the entertainment committees, also found himself connected with the gossip going the rounds, because of his friendship for Mr. Rosenthal, but he vehemently denied having any interest in anarchists or their beliefs. He did not tender his resignation.

Health at Manila.

Washington, September 18.—General Chaffee has cabled a list of deaths reported to the army headquarters at Manila since the last report on Sept. 1. The total number is twenty-nine, of which nine were caused by cholera and seven by dysentery. Two cholera cases were in the Fifth cavalry, two in the Fifth infantry, one in the Eleventh cavalry, one in the First infantry, one in the Ninth cavalry, one in the Second battalion of engineers and one in the Second infantry. Officers of the war department reason that cholera is spread about to a considerable extent, as it is found in so many different regiments. The cholera deaths occurred between Aug. 28 and Sept. 14.

Forest Fires Continue.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 18.—Three townships have been burned over by forest fires along the Wilson river in Tillamook county, destroying timber estimated to be worth $1,500,000. Large bodies of timber lands in that section have been purchased by eastern capitalists during the past year. The timber is said to be the finest in the state and very little of it has been cut, owing to its inaccessibility to market.

The Antietam Monuments.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 18.—The handsome monument which the New York Thirty-fourth regimental volunteer association had erected on the Antietam battlefield was dedicated Wednesday, the fortieth anniversary of the battle. About 150 persons, including members of the association, their wives and children were present. The monument stands on a plot sixty feet square. Ohio will shortly erect twelve monuments on Antietam field, one of which will be to the memory of President McKinley.

Rockefeller's Home Burned.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The residence of John D. Rockefeller at Focantico Hills, Westchester county, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The building was burned to the ground. The fire is supposed to have started from crossed electric wires. The house stood on the top of a hill, about 600 feet above the level of the Hudson river, overlooking the country for miles in every direction. The estimated loss is $40,000.

Fires in Wyoming.

Saratoga, Wyo., Sept. 18.—The forest fire situation is more encouraging today. Owing to the heavy clouds of smoke which hang over the district it is impossible to see the fire, but reports indicate that the fire at Pearl, Col., is being brought under control. Mine owners and ranchmen in the path of the flames have taken precautions and little improved property is being destroyed.

Earthquakes Continue.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—Repeated violent earthquakes occurred throughout the entire eastern portion of Turkestan from Aug. 26 to Sept. 3. Numerous houses were destroyed in Kashgar and in neighboring villages and a number of fatalities have been reported.

Root Will Campaign.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of war, has returned to Washington after his trip to Carlsbad. The secretary looks rugged and says he is in splendid health. Secretary Root expects to deliver a political speech at Peoria, Ill., Sept. 24, opening the Republican campaign in that state.

New Departure.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The secretary of the navy has appointed a naval examining board for the examination of candidates for admission to the service as civil-engineers. Candidates must present themselves for examination on the 29th inst., at either the navy yard, New York, or the civil service commission room, postoffice building, Chicago.

THEY FAVOR ALGER.

Barry County Republicans Declare Themselves.

Hastings, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Republican county convention here nominated the following ticket: Sheriff James Brown; clerk, Samuel Valte, treasurer, George Coleman; prosecutor, A. E. Kenaston; commissioners Donald McLeay and J. M. Smith; representative, John J. Perkins.

Cassius L. Glasgow of Nashville was indorsed for senator and will be the nominee for the Fifteenth district, as the nomination is conceded to Barry country.

Strong resolutions were passed indorsing the national administration and General Alger for United States senator.

In the evening the third annual banquet of the Barry County Republican club was held. Congressman Hamilton and William Alden Smith, Hon. P. F. Powers and Hon. W. W. Wedemeyer were the speakers. Every available seat had been sold and the campaign in Barry county was opened with a boom.

Out For Ferry.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Kalamazoo Telegraph, of which Hon. E. N. Dingley is the editor, has declared for Ferry for United States senator. In an editorial taking this stand, the Telegraph compliments Alger, but states that as a matter of expediency the election of Ferry is the part of wisdom. His business qualifications are the chief argument in his favor, according to the Telegraph, which closes its editorial with the significant statement that "Men who talk most are apt to have the least influence. Business qualities count more than anything in the senate."

Dingley was turned down in his district for renomination to the legislature.

Walker in the Fifth.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Democratic congressional convention, held here, placed in nomination Hon. Myron H. Walker of the law firm of Walker & Fitzgerald of this city. Several candidates proposed declined the honor.

Myron H. Walker, the Democratic nominee, has always lived in Grand Rapids. He was formerly prominent as a prohibitionist, and as such was nominated for several offices on city, congressional and state tickets. He became a Democrat on the free silver issue in 1896.

Youmans Again.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 17.—Hon. H. M. Youmans of Bridgeport is the Democratic candidate for congressional honors in the Eighth district. He was nominated at a largely attended convention held here yesterday afternoon. The selection of his name was made by a conference committee, composed of representatives of each county in the district, and the committee's report was unanimously indorsed by the convention.

Monroe County Democrats.

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Democrats nominated the following ticket at Dundee: Circuit judge, Willis Baldwin, Monroe; sheriff, W. L. Hause Ash; clerk, C. A. Maurer, Monroe; register, L. A. Harschman, Summerfield; treasurer, J. S. Knapp, Ida; prosecuting attorney, John J. Kiley, Monroe. Charles B. French of Petersburg was nominated for the legislature.

Quarantined For Smallpox.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—H H. McCormick, a traveling man of this city, went to the office of Health Officer Lupinski Tuesday to find out what was the matter with him. Upon examination the doctor pronounced it a case of smallpox, and ordered him to the city hospital. McCormick had just returned from a trip on the road and had circulated freely among friends.

Will Not Raise.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 17.—The coal dealers here, after a stormy meeting, decided not to raise the price—$7.50 a ton, at which it is now being sold. The rule of only to sell two tons to each customer was also abrogated. It is said there are only 500 tons of hard coal in the city that has not been sold.

Abuse of State Ward Charged.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17.—Israel Delano and Roland Hill have been arrested, charged with statutory assault the victim being Lea, the thirteen-year old daughter of David B. Horton, with whom both men have boarded. The girl was an inmate of the reformatory at Adrian for a couple of years, having returned here in April.

Will Increase Capital Stock.

Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Bacon Manufacturing Co., which was incorporated for $15,000 about 1880, is about to increase its capital stock to $60,000. The firm manufactures the Bacon bean packer, and their business has enjoyed a steady growth. It is understood that the firm will erect an up-to-date factory building.

Would Not Testify.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 17.—It was announced that the motorman, Euclid Madden, and Conductor Kelly would not testify during the Craig inquest. An opportunity was given the men some days ago to appear on the witness stand if they so desired. They were offered the privilege of having their counsel present, who could decide for them what questions should be answered. It is understood Mayor England's testimony yesterday was about the arrangements made with the representatives of the Pittsfield Car company with reference to the request that cars be stopped during President Roosevelt's visit to the city.

In Close Quarters.

Houlton, Me., Sept. 17.—The Maine and New Brunswick officers who have the Florenceville bank robbers surrounded in the woods, about twelve miles from here, have not captured them. The robbers are expected to make an attempt to leave the woods, and the entire country is being closely watched.

Wife Not Mentioned.

New York, Sept. 18.—The will of the late Bradford B. McGregor of the Standard Oil company, who died at Mamaroneck Sept. 7, after an operation and who married Miss Clara Schlemmer of New York a few hours before he submitted to the surgeon's knife, has been filed. It was reported at the time of his death that he had left a large fortune in the Standard Oil shares to his wife, but she is not mentioned in the will. She will have a dower right in all the real estate left by him, which consists of large holdings in Florida, Ohio and New York. Mrs. T. B. McGregor, the testator's mother, is the heir to the bulk of the property.

PRINCE TIMOTEO

....By DAVID SKAATS FOSTER

Copyright, 1898, by the International Literary and News Service

CHAPTER III.

At the time of my coming the Depressionists had the upper hand of it, the reigning duke, Castruccio degli Albizzi being the recognized head of that faction. Forty years before his grandfather, Galeazzo Albizzi, had led an uprising against the Elevationist government of Prince Lodovico de' Pazzi, had succeeded in overthrowing him and had put him to death, and the principality became a duchy under the rule of Duke Galeazzo I. The new constitution provided that the throne should not descend from father to son, but that the duke should be elected by the people every ten years. The Albizzi, however, by shrewd and able practices, such as were known to the Medici in Florence and of which the politicians of this very day are cognizant, had succeeded in keeping the title in the family and had sat continuously upon the ducal throne. When you understand that the deposed and murdered Lodovico was my reputed great-grandsire, you will at once be able to estimate the importance which I attached to this particular part of the history of Firenzalino.

There is one thing more: For some inexplicable reason, through some influence which I am unable to explain, this curious and antique race of people had not changed one iota, one single particle, in their manners, customs, peculiarities or dress in all of that 400 years, and when I came to know and go among them it was precisely as though I had taken a backward step of four centuries and suddenly appeared a man from the threshold of the twentieth century in the quaint, stirring and romantic times of Louis XI. and Charles the Bold.

As may be supposed, I found much to interest me that afternoon in the homely discourse of my retainer. Considering his station, he showed a remarkable knowledge of European affairs and events of that epoch immediately preceding the hoisting into the air of Firenzalino. I found also, when I afterward came to talk with others of his countrymen, this same surprising familiarity with the happenings of the last half of the fifteenth century. Their knowledge of the Europe of 1492 was as complete and accurate as is my own knowledge of the Europe of today. To them that momentous year had been to all intents and purposes the end of the world.

The old man deluged me with such an overwhelming flood of questions about the city of Florence and its history since that most memorable year that I was altogether borne down and almost drowned by it.

I cannot at this moment recall the words with which I answered him, but I spoke at great length of the glorious history of Florence and her great men.

"Anent Savonarola, of whom thou didst speak erstwhile," said Gian Jacopo when I had finished, "there is to be a goodly pageant this very night in the public square of Firenzalino, which I would not have thee miss for a ducat. A monk of St. Mark's, one Brother Ambrose, is to be burned at the stake."

I looked at him suspiciously.

"Wherefore, menial," said I, "doth Savonarola remind thee of this monk who is to be burned at the stake?"

"Wherefore, most puissant prince?" answered he, without hesitancy. "Marry, for the reason that Savonarola was prior of St. Mark's in ancient Florence, whereas Brother Ambrose is a monk in our own convent of St. Mark's in Firenzalino."

I saw that it was a coincidence and nothing more.

"Honest Jacopo," said I, "for what sin is this Brother Ambrose to be burned?"

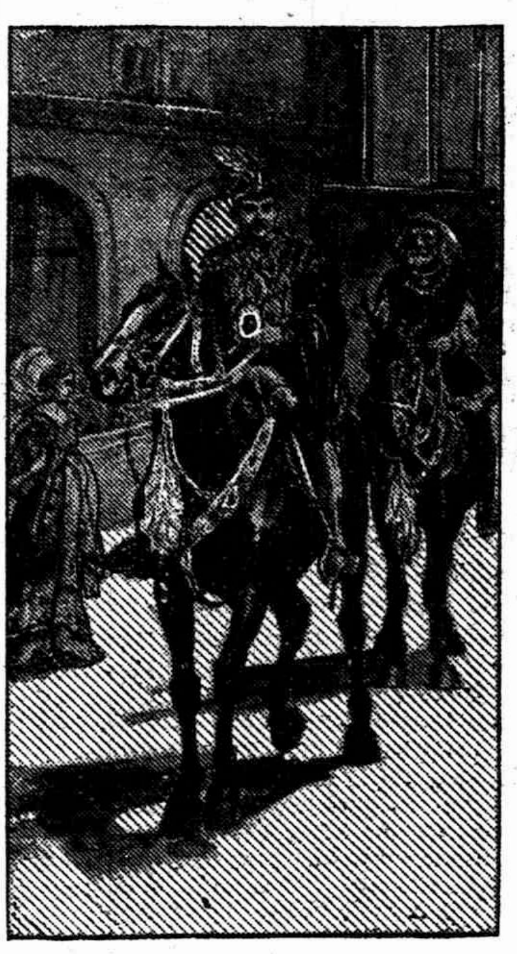
"For the crime of blasphemy, my illustrious master—rank and awful blasphemy uttered in the presence of the holy prior of the convent. The ceremony will take place at vesper time this night upon the public square of the city, and well I wot that it will be a rare privilege to assist at the performance. There will be much people present upon such a holy day. But since thy palace within the city, fronting upon the street of the Lions, is secretly connected with a small building which faces upon the piazza publica, from the loggia of this small building we may enjoy the pageant without inconvenience from the multitude. We will now ascend into the wardrobe of thy deceased parent, that thou mayest select and invest thyself with such costume as befits thy rank and pretensions, not forgetting at the same time to conceal under thy finery a good steel hauberk as protection against the chance thrusts of which I spoke erstwhile. The which done, it behooves us eftsoons to set out for the town, as the city gates are ever closed at 24 of the clock, and none may thereafter enter."

I followed my venerable adherent into a sort of storeroom, which was so full of spangled, embroidered and gaudy colored silk and velvet apparel and armor and arms of all kinds that it resembled the property room of a large theater. Without much difficulty I chose a suit of velvet, the body of which was wine color, with sky blue silk slashings, and the puffed sleeves and short puffed breeches of which, vice versa, were blue, slashed with wine color. To these I added a pair of silk hose, one garnet and one blue; a blue and garnet velvet cap, surmounted with a heron's plume; a pair of blue and garnet leather shoes with points which turned up into the air at least six inches and a good Ferrara rapier, with engraved blade and embossed hilt, and I was at last fully garbed and equipped as a cavalier of the fifteenth century.

When I came to the armor, I had considerably more trouble in pleasing myself. The plate armor was heavy and cumbersome and would not fit. I tried on corselet after corselet, only to throw them into the corner in disgust, and when at last I thought I had found one that was comfortable Jacopo informed me that I had it on wrong side before.

The suits of mail or chain armor were not much better. From being much worn by my predecessors and from being much sat down in every one of them was baggy at the knees, and it went against my first principles of dress to wear them. At last I managed to find a very fine, light steel hauberk, or rather a shirt made of well tempered chain woven together like a steel dishclout, and, having placed it next my underwear and beneath the gorgeous doublet which I have just described, I prepared to set out upon the road to the city of Firenzalino.

Gian Jacopo brought around for me to the front porch of the villa a spirited black charger full sixteen hands in height, whose name was Aldebaran and who had been the war horse of the late Arnolfo, and my servant mounting a stout and well fed ass, we set forth gayly toward the encounter of ventures as wonderful as any ever engaged in by the knight of La Mancha and his squire.



We set forth gayly.

The gates of the town were but a mile from my country house, and the ten or fifteen minutes of our ride were occupied by my trusty seneschal in describing a great dancing festival or ball which was to be given by Duke Castruccio in his palace that very night after the burning of the monk. Learning from Jacopo that all the nobles and highborn ladies of the duchy had been asked, that it was the custom of those who so willed to go masked and finally—and this was the most important consideration—that the duke's daughter Ippolita, who was to be present, was more divinely fair and lovely than was imaginable, I immediately resolved to attend the function. Gian Jacopo interposed a feeble objection on the ground of the recent death of the Signor Arnolfo, but I overruled him with the explanation that it would be good politics thus to appear disguised among my enemies at a time when they least expected it. He ended by applauding my resolution and offering to conduct me to the palace of the duke.

We entered the city through a gate at the southwestern end of it. My house, as I before remarked, was in the street of the Lions, and thither we now repaired. It had the air of being uninhabited and was a gloomy, square mansion of stone, surmounted by towers and turrets and gables, and at the extreme top of these towers, singularly enough, there was a dilapidated and unused windmill.

Entering a great archway which stood beside the keep of the castle, we came to two large doors, one of which led to the stables and the other to the dwelling part of the house. Having put up our beasts and given them enough provender to last for twenty-four hours if necessary, we now entered the deserted hall of my forefathers. I will not describe the inside of it or the contents of it further than to say that it was embellished and furnished in the splendor and taste of a century long gone by and that the marks of age and decay were upon everything.

After I had given the palace a very cursory inspection and had exhibited all the joy which a man ordinarily feels when he finds himself, after long absence, once more in the house of his childhood my trusty vassal fetched a lamp and, descending with me into a subterranean vault beneath the castle-like mansion, took hold of a ring in the floor and, lifting out a large block of the stone pavement, disclosed a stairway leading down into the darkness. Down these steps I followed him, and when we had come to the bottom of them we went along a level passageway, which seemed to have been cut out of the solid rock, for a distance of 200 feet or more until we came to another stairway leading upward. Mounting this, we arrived upon a narrow platform, and here Gian Jacopo paused and seemed to undo a bar and to press upon a certain part of the wall. Suddenly a large square stone moved out and away from us, as if it were hung on pivots, and we saw the light of day, and, coming through an aperture fully two feet square, we found ourselves in a small, unfurnished, strongly built house, with bare stone walls and narrow grated windows.

My ancient follower pushed the stone back into its place, and, closing with a sharp click as of a stout spring, it left no mark upon the wall to show where it had opened.

"Behold, Prince Timoteo," said he, "the house of which I spoke. It faces, as thou dost see, the public square, and from the loggia thou mayest behold the burning of Brother Ambrose with security. This building and the secret passage we have traversed were devised by thy family more than three centuries since, and the knowledge of them has descended from father to son until it has reached thee. This hiding place and means of escape has saved many a worthy ancestor of thine from hanging or burning, that he might in course of time come to an end more befitting such gallant gentlemen, by being run through with a rapier or having his throat cut."

We passed through a hallway and came to the street door of the house. It was a solid affair and hung within an arched stone frame, resembling very much the door of Dante's house in Florence. We opened it with a large key which Jacopo had provided and, standing in the doorway, looked out upon the great square. It lacked but a few minutes of 7 o'clock, the hour set for the ceremony, and already the plaza was filled with a surging, noisy crowd of people.

From the main entrance of the palace of the seigniory a platform ten feet wide and raised about five feet from the pavement extended out to the middle of the square, at which point stood the post and fagots.

As I gazed at the scene it seemed strangely familiar to me. I had seen the exact picture of it before in an old woodcut of the burning of Savonarola in 1498.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

In the Michigan crop report it is stated that the weather during August was too cool for the ripening of crops, but was favorable for earing of corn. Frost at this time would do much damage. With two weeks of warm weather so that corn could ripen would insure a fair yield, where the crop was not too badly damaged by water early in the season. The season this year in most localities has been favorable for oats. Potatoes were not damaged as much as beans were by the heavy rains. The crop can be cultivated later in the season so that farmers have been able to clean out their potato fields during August. Clover has made a large growth since haying time but in some cases has not filled well.

THE BRASS BAND

Pen Picture of a Peculiar National Institution of the County clipped and sent to the Herald by

HARRY B. ROOT

Now a Business man of Buffalo, but who was, years ago, a member of the Tecumseh Brass Band.

> "Oh, listen to the band!
> Oh, ain't it something grand?"
> —Popular Song.

How it may be in Europe I cannot pretend to say, but in this country a town without a brass band of its own must be a poor thing, shamefully lacking in local pride and public spirit, a town with no "git-up" to it at all. I do not know that there are such. I hope not.

I like to think that everywhere in my country they speak in an affectionate way of the musicians as "the band boys" and brag about how much better they can play than the Mt. Victory band. I like to think that all the merchants and storekeepers in town helped out when the band was organized and the fellows came around soliciting subscriptions for the first payment on the instruments, and that when the other installments fall due everybody buys tickets to the home talent minstrel shows got up to raise the money, not only because there will be more fun than a little, but also because they wish them good luck. And how proud we all are of them when the boys turn out for the first time in their new uniforms!

Talk about Solomon in all his glory, I have seen bandsmen that would make him look as if he had overalls on And the drum mojor! If I could be a drum major for a living, and look the part and dress up like him and walk in front of the band, tossing up my silver-knobbed baton and catching it again the way he does, I wouldn't bother my head about being President of the United States. Not for a minute. I can just see the bandstand on Main street or perhaps in the court-house yard, where on Saturday nights the band gives concerts by torch-light and plays "On Duty March" and "Helter-Skelter Gallop," and maybe "No. 23 in the Black Book," while the farmers listen, well paid for the long drive in from the country ten or fifteen miles.

Fair time, political rallies, firemen's tournaments, ball games, Decoration days, Fourth of July, I can see the boys swagger along in the middle of the street and hear the drums roll: "Prrrrr-rompom!" before the tune strikes up. When they brought home Colonel Clayburn's body and led his riderless horse behind the hearse, it was the band playing Webster's Funeral March with a handkercheif stuffed between the snares of the tenor drum to muffle the sharp note that made all seem so solemn, and who can forget how lonesome sounded the melody of "taps" on one single cornet just before the grave was filled in?

Inseperable from all our civic functions, the band has in the country town nearer and more neighborly associations For example, when 'Squire Morgan and his wife celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. Everybody thought the world and all of the old 'Squire and Aunt Margaret, and so, for a surprise, when it got dark, the band slipped quietly into the front yard and began to play, "When you and I were Young, Maggie." It is a sweet old tune, and we all stopped our chatter to listen. As it floated in on the warm June air scented with honeysuckles, something clutch at our throats and made them ache.

> "But now we are aged and gray,
> Maggie,
> The trials of life nearly done;
> Let us sing of the days that are gone,
> Maggie,
> When you and I were young."

The two old people stood listening. Their lips trembled, and the tears stole into their eyes. Their hands sought and clasped each the other's. When the notes ceased and the old 'Squire went out on the front porch to thank the boys his voice broke and he could only beckon to them. And then they came trooping in, Charley Rodehaver, Frank and Will Pettigrew and Len Dysart and Henry Myrice and Clif Howard (old Jim Howard's boy; he's out in Kansas now), and the whole posse of them, all laughing and wishing many happy returns of the day. And how those fellows did make the ice-cream and cake 'vanish! You would have thought they were hollow to their heels. Regular cut-ups, all of them, and Minnie De Wees put Clif's helmet on and tried to blow on the tuba. Such a time!

I like to think that in every town in the land tonight somebody is praticing on his "tooby" out in the barn with a lantern—a tuba makes such a noise in the house—and going "Poomp—poomp—poompoompoompoom," and that out on the Milville road the tenor horn is slapping his foot on the floor for the accented beats and tooting on the off beats: "Hoof-ta, hoof-ta, hoof-tatty ta-ta;" that the alto horn has his book on the kitchen table, propped against the coffee pot, and is blowing; "T a a-t a a—Ah-ta-ta," and that the soprano cornet is working at his part with his chest raisad and a surprised and swell-up look on his face. Each of them from time to time wipes his mouthpiece and then his puffed lids and says to himself, "Dad blame it! Why can't I get that thing right?"

I like to think of their regular practice night (Tuesday, I think it is) in the upstairs of Hook and Ladder No. 1. Each fellow carries his instrument to the hall done up in a bag, and before practice begins they all bleat away, each playing over his part, regardless of what the others are doing. By-and-by comes the sharp rattle of the leader's baton, and in the silence the chairs scrape and squeal as they are hitched into a semi-circle on the bare floor. "Now, we got a new piece," says the leader; but, now, I guess we better start in on No. 16. Now, boys, quit your fooling. Attention, now One, two, three, four, one, two, three tat-ta-rat-tat-taa!" and away they go.—From Ainslee's.

The age of chivalry is gone, writes Burke, who had probably been eating mince pie.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

Mad Dog.

Monday morning about nine o'clock Dr. R. M. Nelson shot a mad dog which had chased around the city of Hudson two hours, having bitten two persons and attacked the third.

The one most seriously injured is Miss Mattie Spalding, aged 12 years, who was bitten nearly through the right hand. The beast finally let go his hold and attacked a Mr. Wagner, a patient at the sanitarium, who managed to beat him off.

He then made an attack on Peter Snyder and bit him in the leg but just how bad it is impossible to learn as he took a train for the east. Miss Spalding was sent to the Pasteur institute in Chicago for treatment.

STORYETTES

Current newspaper joke: A Kansas editor wrote a nice little puff for a milliner in which he said he was glad to see her "stocking up." Meeting the scribe on the street, she soaked him with her parasol and threatened to tell his wife. The unsophisticated editor has never been able to find out what was wrong with his item.

The editor of a neighboring paper in writing the obitnary notice of one of the citizens of his town used the expression: "He has gone to that undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler returns," but the intelligent compositior made him say "burn" The editor has been horsewhipped by the widow and has a slander suit to defend.

Two of our young people were overheard remarking about a young lady's hair, and one of them said she wore a wig. The other one objected and said it was a switch. Whereupon the first one facetiously remarked that if it was a switch he would like to know where the railroad came in. After a fast train of thought, the boilers exploded and the air was freighted with laughter.

An exchange observes that a boy can sit on a sled six inches square tied to a sled moving nine miles an hour, but can't sit on a sofa five minutes for a dollar. A man can sit on an inch board and talk politics for three hours, but put him into a comfortable church pew for forty minutes and he gets nervous, twists and goes to sleep. A man can pouch his cheeks with tobacco and the juice running down his chin feels good; but a hair in the butter simply knocks him out completely.

A good story is told on the better half of a couple who went from the country to spend the honeymoon in a large city. One day the bride, finding that she needed to purchase a few small articles, left the young husband and the hotel to go shopping. She returned shortly and made her way upstairs to the door she thought opened into her own room. Knocking gently at the door she called affectionately: "Honey, let me in." No response came and she knocked again and called in insinuating tones: "Honey please let me in." "Madam," answered a gruff voice from within, "this is no bee hive. This is the bath room."

Public Funds Get No Preference in City Bank Failure.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—Judge Donovan has handed down a decision declaring the funds of the board of education and the library commission, deposited in the City Savings bank, ordinary commercial deposits, and not invested with the character of trust funds. The board of education had $481,000 in the bank and the library commission $38,000, and the case will be appealed to the supreme court by Corporation Counsel Tarsney.

Judge Donovan's decision cited the same reasons as in the case of the county funds, which he also declared a short time ago commercial deposits after a bitter fight on the part of the county to have the funds paid out dollar for dollar.

The doctors advising her, she started for California, Dec. 31, 1901, accompanied by her husband, daughter, parents and sister, who remained with her until her death, which occurred Sept. 10 at Pasadena, Cal. The remains arrived here Monday the funeral being held at the home of her parents, Wednesday at two o'clock p. m. Rev. T. M. Mott officiating.

A Certain cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me. For sale by J. J. Orr.

A young lady visited a cooking school recently and her attention was divided between a dress worn by a friend and directions for making cake. So when she undertook to write the recipe for her mother, the old lady was paralyzed to read the following: "Take two pounds of flour, three rows of plaiting down the front, the whites of two eggs cut bias, a pint of milk ruffled round the neck, half pound currents. with seven yards of bead trimming, grated lemon peel with lace fichu; stir well, and add a semi-fitting paletot with visite sleeves; garnish with icing and passementerie. Bake in a moderately hot oven until the skirt is tucked from the waist down on either side, and finish with large satin rosettes.

A Medicine for Old People.

Rev. Geo. Gay, Greenwich, Kas., is past 83 years of age, yet he says: "I am enjoying excellent health for a man of my age, due entirely to the rejuvenating influences of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It brings sleep and rest when nothing else will, and gives strength and vitality even to one of my old age."

"I am an old soldier," writes Mr. Geo. Watson, of Newton, Ia., "and I have been a great sufferer from nervousness, vertigo and spinal trouble. Have spent considerable money for medicine and doctors, but with little benefit. I was so bad my mind showed signs of weakness. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I know it saved my life."

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Saved me from the insane asylum," Mrs. A. M. Heifner, of Jerico Springs, Mo., writes. "I was so nervous that I could scarcely control myself, could not sleep nor rest, would even forget the names of my own children at times. I commenced using Dr. Miles' Nervine and it helped me from the first, and now I am perfectly well."

The Newspaper Hoodoo.

There is a hoodoo in every newspaper office, says the Ottawa (Kan.) Herald. It hides behind the cob-webs and comes out at critical times and gets in its dastardly work. The story of how the newspaper hoodoo was born is told with hushed breath in every printing office. Those who know say that when Herr Guttenberg started the first newspaper in Germany a maiden lady of advanced years persuaded some irresponsible youth to marry her. She left word at the newpaper office that the thing be properly written up. The paper told the facts, including a statment about the bride's age, looks and disposition, and she, being mad with rage, sold herself to the devil and was transformed into an evil spirit. To this day this evil spirit prowls around newspaper offices. Don't laugh when you see ludicrous things in the paper. They are the devil's work.

The Editor's Heaven.

An editor who died of starvation was being escorated to heaven by an angel who had been sent for that purpose.

"May I look at the other place before we asend to eternal happiness?"

"Easily," said the angel so they went below and skirmished around' taking in the sights. The angel lost track of the editor and went around hades to hunt him. He found him sitting by a furnace fanning himself and gazing with rapture upon a lot of people in the fire. There was a sign on the furnace which said: "Delinquent subscribers."

"Come," said the angel, "we must be going."

"You go on," said the editor "I'm not going. This is heaven enough for me."

Let no Man Put Asunder.

A Sunday-school teacher in Carthage Ill., has a class of little girls, and it is her custom to tell them each Sunday of one little incident that has happened in the week, and request the children to quote a verse of scripture to illustrate the story. In this way she hopes to impress the usefulness of Biblical knowledge upon the little ones. One Sunday she told her class of a cruel boy who would catch cats and cut off their tails. Now, can any little girl tell me of an appropriate verse?" she asked. There was a pause for a few moments, when one little girl arose and in a solemn voice said; Whatsoever God has joined together let no man put asunder."

TREATY OF BERLIN

Must Be Enforced to Prevent Immigration of Degenerates.

Washington, Sept. 18.—With the double purpose of protecting the long suffering Jews of the Balkan states and of averting the very present peril of the immigration into the United States of a horde of paupers, Secretary Hay has adopted the unusual course of appealing to the powers of Europe to force one of their children to observe the obligations of humanity in case of the Jews. The appeal takes the form of a state paper, remarkable in several respects, which has been dispatched in identical form to every ambassador and minister of the United States residing in one of the countries of Europe which were parties to the famous treaty at Berlin of 1878, namely, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Austria and Turkey, marking the termination of the Turko-Russian war and the creation, by the direct act of the powers, of the independent Balkan states. Because the powers are thus responsible for the existence of Roumania, the culprit in this case, the secretary of state, has directed the note to them in the nope that they will bring this government to a sense of its duties towards civilization at large, as well as to cause it to ameliorate the frightful condition of the Roumanian Jews. In a measure, this action by the department of state may be traced to numerous petitions from Jewish societies and humanitarians generally, as well as to the warnings of publicists, respecting the growing dangers of the immigration of degenerates.

HENDERSON STANDS PAT.

President Roosevelt Asks Him to Reconsider His Action.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 18.—The following is the telegram received by Speaker Henderson from the president.

"Oyster Bay, Sept. 17.—Most earnestly ask that you reconsider your determination not to run.

(Signed)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Congressman J. M. Babcock, chairman of the Republican national committee sent the following:

"New York, Sept. 17.—Am in receipt of telegram signed by you, asking that you have this day declined nomination for congress. We can not believe the telegram is genuine. Hepburn and Hull are here and all enter our earnest protest against action of this kind by you. The Republican party, that you have served so long and faithfully, can not part with your services now."

Replying to these telegrams, the speaker further explained his action, adhering to his position. He gave positive assurance that there was no danger to the Third district, that Governor Boies is a very weak candidate, that Republican candidate will be elected and that he will do what he can to insure his election. After these assurances the speaker said he must decline to reconsider his withdrawal.

BANK ROBBER FOILED.

Alaskan Desperado Killed by His Own Dynamite Bomb.

Skagway, Alaska, Sept. 18.—About 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon an unknown man walked into the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a revolver in one hand and a dynamite bomb in the other and demanded $20,000, threatening to blow all into eternity.

Cashier Pooley and Teller Wallace were the only two men in the bank. Wallace ducked to the back of the room, calling for Pooley to do the same.

"No you don't," yelled the man, and dropped the bomb.

The clerks had just gotten out of the window. The bank was wrecked. The robber's head was smashed and one arm was torn off. People living above the bank were blown into the air.

J. G. Price, formerly prosecuting attorney, who was entering the bank at the time, was hurt, but not seriously.

The dynamiter died without regaining consciousness. The bank lost about $1,000, chiefly in gold dust, which was lying on the counter

New Way to Polish a Stove.

No Waste—Odor—or Dirt.

By sprinkling Sifter Stove Polish on the stove and then rubbing with a damp rag and gently brushing with a dry cloth, a brilliant, jet black lustre is obtained. Sifter Stove Polish comes in a large box with a perforated top, through which the polish is sifted just like peppering a beefsteak. Sifter Stove Polish is made of pure powdered graphite, which is not affected by fire, produces the most brilliant polish, and when applied, won't rub off. It is odorless. It never dries up. It does not require soaking in water before using. A 10 cent box of Sifter Stove Polish will polish more stoves than three times its cost in any other polish. Get Sifter Stove Polish of any dealer at 5 cents a box, a 10 cent box contains more than twice as much. Insist on the yellow label with the hand.

Economical Fuel

Whatever fuel is most economical, most convenient to your house, can be used in a Round Oak Furnace—chunks of wood, soft coal, hard coal, coke—anything that fire will consume. Whatever you put in it will give most heat, because Round Oak Furnaces waste no fuel; burn all the fuel, the gases, and most of the smoke; keep fire 12 hours with wood, 24 hours with coal. The is solidly constructed and is airtight (the only airtight furnace), and is reasonable in price. All of the heat goes into the house—no waste through flues outside the casing, chimney or in cellar.

If you want a furnace, write for the Round Oak Furnace book—full of fuel facts, hints on furnace regulation, etc.

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK & POULTRY MEDICINE

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cared by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Leopold Drives Daughter From Her Mother's Bier.

PEOPLE ARE SYMPATHETIC

She Once Opposed Her Father in Marriage and Belgium's Courts Have Since Refused to Receiver Her—Special Mass For Queen.

Spa, Sept. 22.—A requiem mass for the late queen of the Belgians, at which the bishop of Liege will officiate, will be celebrated here today. Special trains will be run for the occasion from Brussels to bring members of the royal family, who, after the mass, will conduct the remains of the late queen back to the capital.

King Leopold arrived here Sunday.

Brussels, Sept. 22.—A dispatch to the Patriote from Spa says that when King Leopold arrived there he refused to speak to the Princess Stephanie, countess of Lonyay, and compelled her to leave the royal palace. The princess consequently left Spa suddenly. She rode to the station in a hired carriage and amid demonstrations of sympathy from the people took a train for Brussels.

Princess Stephanie is the second daughter of the late Queen Marie Henrietta and King Leopold. She married the only son of the emperor of Austria in 1891 and was left a widow in 1889. She was married the second time in 1900 to Elmer, count of Lonyay. This marriage was against the wishes of King Leopold, who refused to permit it to be legalized. He has been very bitter against his daughter, and courts friendly to that of Belgium have declined to receive the princess.

DAY OF FUNERALS.

Heartrending Scenes at Last Rites of Church Stampede Victims.

Birmingham, Sept. 22.—A gloom has been cast over the entire community as the people begin to realize the enormity of Friday night's appalling disaster at Shiloh Baptist church. One hundred and ten dead had been counted and ninety of these have been identified. The injured negroes are being cared for at various hospitals and private residences.

Sunday was a day of funerals in Birmingham, the remains of thirty-eight victims of the panic in Shiloh church being interred in the various cemeteries for negroes around the city.

All the negro churches were crowded, and the naturally excitable nature of the southern negro was wrought to a high pitch by the eulogistic sermons over the dead bodies at the various churches.

J. H. Ballou, who is in jail charged with precipitating the stampede, says he does not feel responsible for the accident. He said:

"I was seated in the front row of the rear platform of the rostrum, in company with Major R. R. Wright, president of the industrial school of Georgia. Hicks, as president of the convention, came to us and said we must give up those seats and used abusive language. We paid no attention to him. All this was before the arrival of Washington.

"The whole trouble was reported as being caused by Hicks and myself, but such is not the case. At least half the people present came only to hear Washington, and immediately after he closed his address they left their seats and started for the door, not only from the first floor, but from the gallery as well.

"About this time Hicks again approached Major Wright and myself and ordered us to move, and I, as spokesman, refused. He then, catching me by the lapel of the coat, reached toward his hip pocket. While we were scuffling the stampede occurred."

Scene of Much Lawlessness.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 22.—The mining town of Edwardsville, near here, was the scene of much lawlessness Saturday night and early Sunday morning. A crowd of men, said to be strikers, went in search of a man named James McGuire, who had gone to work in the mines last week. They fired stones at several houses, broke down the door in the dwelling where McGuire was supposed to live and committed other depredations. The mob also fired on the deputies at the Woodward mine. The officers returned the fire, but no one was wounded. Early yesterday three men were arrested charged with being the ringleaders, who threatened the life of McGuire. They gave the names as John Sherbemah, George Streiker and Michael Mone. In default of $1,000 each they were committed to jail.

Killed His Father.

Woonsocket, R. I., Sept. 22.—Because he desired to protect his mother from violent treatment at the hands of her husband and fearing also that his own life was in danger, William C. Bonin, aged twenty years, shot and killed his father—John B. Bonin, aged forty-two years, Sunday. The tragedy occurred at the factory boarding house of which his father was proprietor, at Slatersville, North Smithfield. There were present at the time five small children of the family. After the shooting young Bonin went to his room, put on his best clothes and waited until the officer, who had been called by his mother, came for him. He said it was better for his father to be dead than to be guilty of the crime of killing his wife and then himself, as he had often threatened to do.

The church collection was taken in a bag at the end of a pole, with a bell attached to arouse the sleepy contributors.—Popular Mechanics.

WILL RETAKE CITY

Venezuelans Hope to Recapture La Vela de Coro From Rebels

FLEET LOAD OF SOLDIERS

Under Castillo Headed For the Town—Mendoza and Men Retreating into Interior—Gen. Matos Emphatically Denies Allegations Against Him.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Sept. 22.—Five schooners, bearing about 1,500 government soldiers under the command of General Castillo, left Maracaibo, Venezuela, Saturday in tow of the Venezuelan gunboat Zumbador. This expedition will attempt to reoccupy La Vela de Coro, which is in the power of the revolutionists.

News has reached here from Venezuela that the revolutionary general, Mendoza, continues to retreat with his forces to the interior of the country in the hope of drawing President Castro from Valencia.

A correspondent of the Associated Press has had an interview at Alta Gracia, the state of Zulia, Venezuela, with General Manuel A. Matos, leader of the revolution against President Castro, on the subject of the report that General Matos intended, in case of his success, to turn over control of Venezuelan finances to certain foreign powers. General Matos said:

"I know that President Castro has issued a decree declaring me to be a traitor to my country, because the Cologne Gazette and the Venezuelan consul at Liverpool reported that I had already made an agreement to permit the finances of Venezuela to be controlled by foreign powers. This is absolutely false, and to attribute such an idea to me is stupid."

GUARDED BY AMERICANS.

Trains Across the Isthmus Prepared to Resent Attack.

Panama, Sept. 22.—As far as can be learned in Panama there has been no friction whatever between soldiers of the Colombian government and the American blue jackets who are guarding the railroad line.

The government ordered its soldiers to place obstacles on the railroad track to aid in stopping the trains, which measure was taken to prevent the revolutionists from boarding trains and surprising the garrison at Panama or Colon as they did in 1901. Commander McLean of the United States cruiser Cincinnati complained of this measure to General Salazar, commander of the government forces on the isthmus. To this complaint General Salazar replied that he would attend to the matter and ordered his soldiers to cease placing such obstacles. It seems these orders were misinterpreted at Colon, where Commander McLean saw an obstacle placed on the track last Thursday. Two soldiers who stopped a train to inspect it at Monks Hill, just outside of Colon, acted without superior orders and are reported to have been severely punished for so doing by General Feran. It was after this occurrence that Commander McLean decided to place American guards on the train.

Friday, the 19th, Commander McLean sent communications to the Colombian government and to the insurgent general, Herrera, in which he said: "No armed men except naval forces of the United States will be allowed on or to use the railroad line." This declaration that the railroad could not be used for transportation of armed government troops has created resentment in conservative circles, where it is considered as an attack upon Colombia's sovereignty rights on the isthmus. General Salazar declines to express any opinion on the subject.

Wants No Dmonstration.

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—Senator Hanna last night stated that President Roosevelt had made the reuest that no public demonstration be made over his visit to Cleveland as the nest of the senator next Saturday night and Sunday. The visit is not a public one and the president wishes to spend the day as quietly as possible at Senator Hanna's home on Lake avenue.

IS DETROIT'S GUEST

President Roosevelt Now in City of the Straits.

TO MEET OLD COMRADES

There to Attend Spanish War Veterans' Convention—Attended Church, Dined With Alger and Went For a Drive Sunday.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—The nation's chief majesty is now the guest of the City of the Straits, Sunday witnessing his arrival and first day's entertianment within her gates.

Fresh and active after his arduous work of entertainment and education in Cincinnati, and surrounded by his faithful secret guards, the president alighted from his car at the Michigan Central depot yesterday morning shortly before 9 o'clock, and after a "Mighty glad to see you" and a wringing handshake for a friend or two, he was stepping lithely up the platform.

Under the modest escort of one naval brigade and followed by a line of carriages containing members of the reception committee and representatives of the press, the president made the trip to the Hotel Cadillac, good-naturedly bowing and waving his hand in recognition of the handclapping and cheer salong the roue.

At 10:15 the party left for the Fort Street Presbyterian church, stopping on the journey at the Alger residence, where Mrs. Alger joined them.

The brilliant coloring, the stirring music, the solemnity of the house of God, and above the folds of "Old Glory" swaying gracefully and peacefully before him, seemed to hold the attention of this man of parts, and with every simple prayer and every hymn of praise his voice rose with the people's. His eyes were riveted on the one who stood before him to expound the word of life.

An informal reception, followed by a private luncheon in honor of the president, was held at the residence of General Alger immediately after the conclusion of the service. The crowds that lined the streets had by this time increased well into the thousands, but the strong ropes along the pavement and the cordon of police prevented them from breaking out into the middle of the street to get a closer look at the president on his return drive. A quit hour and a half was spent over the luncheon, where Roosevelt amused the party with stories of his days in the field against the Dons of Spain, and by a running conversation on all topics except—politics.

Another informal reception in his quarters at the Cadillac—this time for the members of the Detroit press. Then came a drive of some two hours around the eastern boulevard and back through the side streets. The only stop was made at St. Mary's hospital, where the president alighted to whisper a word of comfort to an old veteran of the Spanish-American war, Thomas Doherty of the Thirty-second Michigan, who lies there dangerously ill with a fever contracted during the campaign.

There were many disappointed people on Jefferson avenue and in the vicinity of Belle Isle because of an alteration in the program, whereby the drive was made in other directions than that planned upon, since the president preferred to do away with anything in the way of a display or parade on Sunday.

The president retired to his private apartments as soon as he reached the hotel and gave orders that he was to be disturbed under no circumstances until 6:30, the hour for dinner. He was tired and demanded a rest.

The program as planned to be carried out today includes the attendance of the president at the opening of the convention of the Spanish war veterans at Light Guard Armory at 9 o'clock in the morning. At 11 o'clock an excursion on the steamer Tashmoo up and down the river, until 3 in the afternoon. Then takes place the civic and military parade. The evening will be devoted to the banquet at the Armory under the auspices of the Spanish war veterans.

Labor Federation Officers.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 22.—The following were elected officers of the Michigan Federation of Labor at the close of the annual convention held here on Saturday: President, David A. Boyd, Detroit; first vice-president, M. J. Lynch, Port Huron; second vice-president, John C. Brown, Muskegon; third vice-president, E. H. Moers, Lansing; secretary-treasurer, Paul Marin, Jr., Grand Rapids. The next meeting of the state federation will be held in Port Huron, the socialists failing to locate it in Saginaw, the hotbed of socialism in Michigan.

Thief Had His Nerve.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 22.—Some very nervy thief walked into the brilliantly lighted new National hotel about 11 o'clock Saturday night and carried away the peanut penny-in-the-slot machine. The money drawer had not been opened for several weeks and probably contained $50. The machine weighs 100 pounds, but from scratches which appear on the floor, the thief evidently dragged it out by the front entrance. He got away without being seen.

Queer Motive For Suicide.

Marshall, Mich., Sept. 22.—Two young men and two young women, the latter being employed as domestics by two prominent families of this city, went out Saturday evening for a sociable time. One of the young women, Elma Schultz, whose home is in Albion, got discouraged because one of the young men refused to take her home and attempted suicide by jumping into the Kalamazoo river. She was rescued by the young men.

LIVES CRUSHED OUT

Nearly Seventy Persons Meet Death in Awful Manner.

CONGREGATION IN STAMPEDE

Audience of Thousands in Birmingham, Ala., Colored Church Thought Building on Fire—Panic of Death Ensued—Fully Seventy Injured.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—In an awful crush of humanity, caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Negro Baptist church at Avenue G and Eighteenth street last night, between sixty-five and seventy persons were killed and as many more seriously injured. The catastrophe occurred at 9 o'clock, just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the national convention of Baptists, and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction and the ambulance service of the city was utterly incapable to move them until after midnight.

The church is the largest church for negroes in Birmingham, and the pastor says that at least 2,000 persons were in the building when the stampede began. Instructions had been issued to allow no more to enter, but the negroes forced their way inside the building and were standing in every aisle; even the entrance to the church being literally packed.

Just as Booker T. Washington concluded his address Judge Billou, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in an altercation with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat, and, it is said, a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried "They're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire," the congregation rose en masse and started for the doors. One of the ministers quickly mounted the rostrum and urged the people to keep quiet. He repeated the word "quiet" several times and motioned his hearers to be seated. The excited congregation mistook the word "quiet" for "fire" and renewed the struggle to reach the doors. Men and women crawled over benches, fought their way into the aisles, and those who had fallen were trampled upon. The minister tried again and again to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass of humanity. The screams of women and children added to the horror of the scene, and, through mere fright, many persons fainted and as they fell to the floor were crushed to death.

The level of the floor is about fifteen feet from the ground, and long steps lead to the sidewalk from the lobby, jus toutside the main auditorium. Brick walls extend on each side of these steps for six or seven feet, and this place proved a veritable death trap. Negroes who had reached the top of the steps were pushed violently forward and many fell. Before they could move others fell upon them, and in fifteen minutes people were piled on each other to a hight of ten feet. This mass of struggling humanity blocked the entrance, and the weight of 1,500 people was pushed against it. More than twenty persons lying on the steps underneath the heap of bodies died from suffocation.

Two white men who were in the rear of the church when the rush began escaped, and, realizing the seriousness of the situation, rushed to a corner nearby and turned in a fire alarm.

The department came quickly, and the arrival of the wagons served to scatter the crowd which had gathered around the front of the church. A squad of police was also hastened to the church and, with the firemen, finally succeeded in releasing the negroes from their pinioned positions in the entrance. The dead bodies were quickly removed and the crowd inside, finding an outlet, came pouring out. Scores of them lost their footing and rolled down the long steps to the pavement, sustaining broken limbs and internal injuries.

In an hour the church had been practically cleared, and the sight which greeted the eyes of those who had come to aid the injured was sickening. Down the aisles and along the outside of the pews the dead bodies of men and women were strewn, and the cries of the maimed and crippled were heartrending. In a few minutes the work of removing the bodies was begun.

Most of the dead are women, and the physicians say that in many cases they fainted and died from suffocation. A remarkable feature of the calamity is that no blood was seen on any of the victims. They were either crushed or died from suffocation.

Teddy at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—The most elaborate arrangements have been made for the reception of President Roosevelt and his party today, from 10 a. m. until he leaves at midnight for Detroit. He will be met at the station by Mayor Fleischmann, Frank W. Foulds, president of the Cincinnati Fall Festival association, and a large reception committee, in addition to an escort. The president will hold a reception at the St. Nicholas during the morning, and in the afternoon he will be escorted to the exposition grounds by a large military parade, with a civic division consisting of members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's club, and other organizations. The president and party will be banquetted at 6 p. m. at the St. Nicholas. At this banquet Senator Foraker and most of the Ohio congressmen, Governor Nash, Mayor Fleischmann, Presidents Foulds and many prominent citizens will be present. About 400 guests will attend. The president will make two addresses at Music Hall while being escorted through the Fall festival, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

Killed by a Falling Stone.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Sept. 20.—A small stone falling from a hight of eleven feet was the cause of the death of William Paul, a miner employed at the Cundy mine. Paul was at work on the fifth level, when suddenly he threw up his hands and fell to the ground. A stone the size of an egg had become loosened above and fell, striking him on the head. He died at the hospital here.

U. of M. Starts Tuesday.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 22.—The University of Michigan will open its doors for the 1902-03 session tomorrow. The attendance does not look as if it was going to fall behind last year.

PRINCE TIMOTEO

....By DAVID SKAATS FOSTER

Copyright, 1898, by the International Literary and News Service

To the left of the palace upon horseback, attended by a score of guards and surrounded by the officers and ladies of his court, the whole of them garbed with most gorgeous magnificence, sat Duke Castruccio. He was a short, fat man, fulfilling in almost every particular the idea which I had formed of Sancho Panza as he looked at the moment when he became governor of his island. The duke was pointed out to me by Gian Jacopo, and, considering the fact that he was at present occupying the throne to which I was rightfully entitled, it may be imagined that I examined him with great interest.

And now the great doors of the seigniory flew open, and the solemn procession came on the platform. First came a dozen or more monks in the Dominican costume, chanting a mournful dirge; then the gonfalonier, bearing the standard of justice, who was in turn followed by six of his officers. Behind them walked the victim, clad in the robes of his order and supported by two of his brother friars, who, bending close to him, were evidently pouring exhortations and consolations into his ears.

When the procession, in its march along the platform, had come to a point almost abreast of where we stood, I caught a glimpse of the face of Brother Ambrose beneath the cowl which overshadowed it, and I noticed that he seemed far from penitent and that his fiery black eyes glanced anxiously here and there among the crowd, as if in search of some one. Then all at once he wrenched himself loose from the two priests and sprang from the platform in among the crowd, who seemed to make way for him and to swallow him up, for he disappeared immediately from my view.

Thereupon followed a great commotion, and there arose in the air the shouts of 7,000 disappointed spectators. They surged to and fro and trampled upon each other, and I afterward heard that a dozen persons, women and children for the most part, had lost their lives in the crush, and the officers pushed hither and thither seeking the monk without avail, and the crowd in their eagerness gravitated toward the center, left a narrow lane along the side of the square next the buildings. Looking along this lane or opening, I suddenly perceived a man coming toward me with stealthy tread, hugging the walls as closely as possible and seemingly on the lookout for some place of concealment. I knew at once from his face that it was Brother Ambrose, though he had somehow got rid of his Dominican robes and was dressed like an ordinary citizen of the town.

CHAPTER IV.

I MUST confess that I was very much interested in watching the man and in speculating upon his chances of escape. I even found myself offering my alter ego to bet now that he would get loose and now that he would be caught. He was evidently making for a narrow alley which separated my house from the next building, and he surely would have gained it had not a burly apprentice caught sight of him and laid hands upon him at the very moment when he was passing the door where we stood.

Yet it was an unlucky act for the apprentice, and he received the meed of those who meddle with what does not concern them, for the monk turned and rained upon him a storm of blows so terrible that he bellowed aloud and would have let go his hold but that, at this very moment, a brother artisan came to his assistance. Seeing that there were now two men upon one, I forgot my ordinary prudence and became as much of a meddler as the apprentice. I rushed at the last fellow and gave him a blow straight from the shoulder and right between the eyes, so that he tumbled over backward like a bag of meal. Then I caught the first man by the collar and sent him sprawling in the opposite direction. To bundle Brother Ambrose and Jacopo into my house and to shut, lock and bar the door was the work of a moment. Then I turned and looked at the two, and they looked at me. Brother Ambrose was a man of about my age. He was tall and muscular and rather thin, and I thought that I had never before seen such a fine looking scoundrel. I naturally expected to hear him give prompt utterance to some recognition of the inestimable service which I had just rendered him. Imagine my surprise and wrath therefore when he sent me a scowling look from beneath his heavy black brows and said:

"Now, perdio, wilt thou please to tell me wherefore thou hast laid hands upon my person?"

"Laid hands upon thy person, thou insignificant and ungrateful caitiff!" I thundered. "For no reason but that I was an ass. Thou knowest full well, base dog, that without my timely interference it would have been all over with thee. I was an idiot to interpose between thee and a justly infuriated populace. The rabble are at this moment beating upon the door and crying out for thy carcass. It is not too late to rectify mine error. I will at once undo the fastenings and deliver thee up to them."

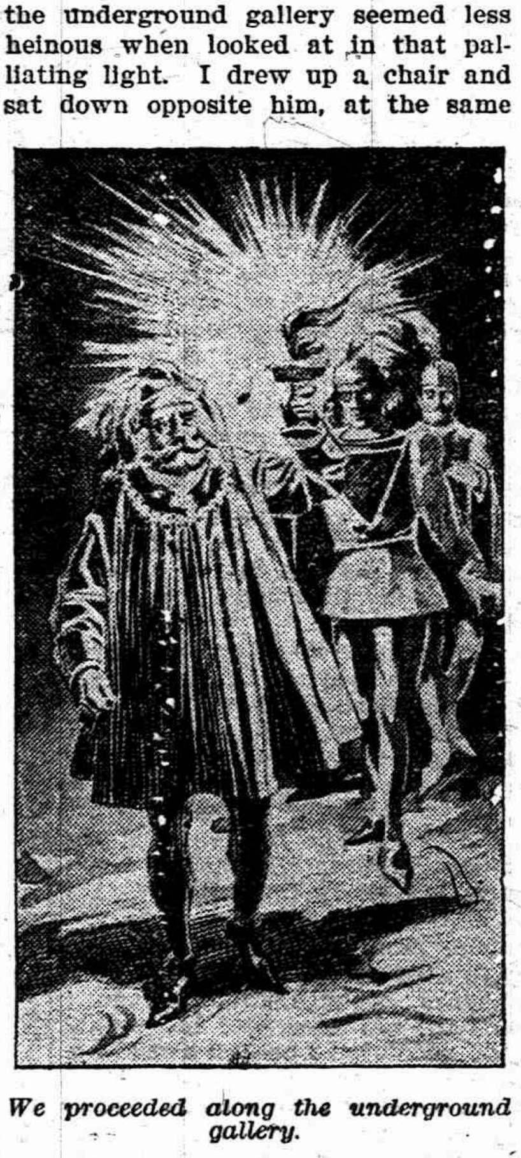
Saying this, I turned and began to unbar the door, but in the midst of it Gian Jacopo plucked me by the sleeve. I looked over my shoulder and was immensely astonished to perceive that the monk had somehow discovered the secret spring of the passageway, that the stone had revolved out upon its hinges and that the rascal had seized Jacopo's lamp and was preparing to descend into the tunnel. Considerations of my own safety showed me that not a moment was to be lost. I grasped the old servant by the arm and sprang with him to the opening, and we were just in time to force our way in after the villain and to prevent him from closing the stone and locking it in its place. How he had ever become acquainted with the existence of the passageway I could not imagine, for Gian Jacopo informed me that the secret had been known only to the members of my own family. But evidently he was fully cognizant of it and had intended not only to utilize it for his own escape, but to bar us out that we might be delivered over to the mercies of the mob, who, by the bye, broke down the door and rushed into the house at the very moment when Jacopo locked the stone into its receptacle.

I now commanded the apostate rogue to deliver up the lamp to Jacopo, which he did without objecting thereto, and, my faithful retainer going first and I bringing up the rear that I might keep an eye upon the monk, we proceeded along the underground gallery and in a few moments found ourselves in the old castle or palace of the Pazzi. Here Brother Ambrose, acting for all the world as if the house belonged to him, threw himself into a large chair, cast his hat upon the floor, put his feet upon an oaken table in front of him and gazed at me with an expression of knavish effrontery.

"Sirrah! knave," said I, "I cannot decide at this moment whether to let thee go in peace or to give thee the beating which thou dost so richly merit and cast thee out bodily. What hast thou to say that may influence my decision?"

"Nay, good sir," he replied, with great coolness. "Neither of thy propositions seemeth good to me. It rather pleaseth me to remain here at mine ease for awhile than to go forth into the city during these present disorders. If I have said or done aught to offend thee, I crave thy pardon and ask that thou shouldst not lay it up against me, but rather that thou shouldst impute it to the harrowing of my nerves and the ruffling of my temper by the untoward incidents of the day. Therefore, my good signor, sit thee down and cause yonder graybeard driveler of thine to bring us a flagon of the strong old red wine for which the Pazzi cellars have been for these four centuries so famous."

The words of Brother Ambrose softened my wrath considerably. I made all due allowance for the fear and excitement under which he labored at the moment when I rescued him, and his subsequent insolence, ingratitude and villainous endeavor to shut us out of the underground gallery seemed less heinous when looked at in that palliating light. I drew up a chair and sat down opposite him, at the same time giving Jacopo the wink to bring the wine. The menial departed and returned immediately with a flagon and some glasses, having placed which he stood regarding the monk with a pertinacity and attention which seemed extraordinary.



We proceeded along the underground gallery.

"And now, most worthy signor," said Brother Ambrose, "prithee tell me thy name that I may know to whom I am indebted for my escape from those hypocrite Dominicans. Thou art doubtless of noble lineage. Thy dress and manners bespeak it. It is strange that I have not before taken notice of thee in a land where every person doth know all other persons, at least by sight."

"Inform the gentleman of my name and family," I commanded Jacopo.

"Marry, sir monk, thou seest before thee his excellency Prince Timoteo, the present head of the house of the Pazzi."

"The devil I do!" exclaimed Brother Ambrose, bounding in his chair. "But how may this fair sir be the head of the house of Pazzi when there is but one head, the noble Prince Arnolfo?"

"Alas, sir monk, the venerable Arnolfo is no more! He breathed his last at noontide of this very day. He therefore who sits before thee, Prince Timoteo, is the head of the house of Pazzi and the heir to the throne of Firenzalino."

"Now, by our Lady of the Lily, this is strange news that thou bringest me," said Brother Ambrose. "And, fair Prince Timoteo, it seemeth that the death of thy father, the venerable Arnolfo, was not more sudden than is thy own recovery from the long and grievous illness which hath vexed thee. Fediddio, but thou art a lucky man, to recover thy health at the same time when thou dost succeed to thine inheritance!"

I did not like the expression of countenance with which he accompanied these words. That he was a deep and cunning rascal his look and manner both bespoke, and, not knowing how well he might be informed concerning my family, I felt exceedingly uneasy and at once strove to turn the discourse into another channel.

"Prithee, good sir," said I, "inform me of the circumstances which brought thee to this most unfortunate pass. It would mightily divert me to know the matters with which thou hast been charged, for I cannot believe that they could have been such as to justify the authorities in roasting thee."

"Truly, thou sayest well. It was but a trifling thing of which they accused me, and it sits but lightly upon my conscience. Had it not been for Duke Castruccio I do believe that I should have had mercy. But the election is toward and cometh off in a matter of ten days or so. He therefore interested himself in the business and caused the sentence to be brought about that he might occasion a pleasing pageant and make himself popular with the people. They have no longer any will of their own. Castruccio has enervated them with luxury and has blinded them with his tourneys and pageants and ceremonies. At the same time he puts himself upon a level with them by singing in the public streets ditties of his own composition, after the manner of Lorenzo of Florence and, between thee and me, his odes are not a whit more moral than those of the grandson of Cosmo. He controls the council of ten, the council of fifty and the council of one hundred, and that by so large a majority that he hath scant trouble to jam through whatsoever legislation seemeth good to him. All offices of the state are within his gift, and if before election a hundred men come to him and each bespeak the same office, to each of the hundred he giveth the assurance of the place; whereas, be he once elected, he knoweth them not, but showeth in their regard the marble heart."

I wondered to hear the quaint expressions with which he interlarded his discourse, and by them I was so forcibly reminded of my own land and times that I felt a sort of homesickness creeping over me. "Truly," thought I, "there is nothing new under the sun, and these political conditions have been the same in every age."

"The Duke Castruccio," continued Brother Ambrose, "giveth tonight at his lordly palace upon the street of the Traditori a rare and goodly banquet whereat there will be much feasting and drinking and store of noble clothes and music and beauty. Many are bidden, and, as those who list may go masked, peradventure of those who are not bidden not a few will there be present. Mask thy face, then, fair prince, and hie thee presently to the palace of the duke. There shalt thou note many of the things which I have spoken and in the same hour get much pleasure from such goodly company of rich knights and beauteous dames."

"Brother Ambrose," said I, "thy suggestion is well made, but it cometh tardily, as I already did intend before I saw thee to be present at the function."

"Go to, prince, but thou sayest well. It will be a rare occasion, and the more so that thou wilt have opportunity to meet divers of the head men of thine own faction, whose purpose, if I do not err, is to disguise themselves and mingle with the crowd. Were I at thine elbow, thou shouldst know them all. Perdio, thou shalt not lack for a guide in these matters. I will go with thee."

"And who asked thee to go?" I said curtly.

"And should I put the same question to thee," he replied with effrontery, "what wouldst thou say? Thou art no more bidden than I, and should I choose to enter the palace before thee or after thee what should hinder me?"

"But hast thou no fear of recapture and of being led again to the stake?"

"Santiddio, no, sir prince. A miss is as good as a mile, and it would take a dozen yoke of oxen to bring me as near the thing as I was tonight. I will tell thee a secret. I am one of the inner council of the Elevationists. Many of the brethren of the band, as I before informed thee, will be in evidence at the duke's soiree, so that I will be, in the words of Castruccio before his election, in the hands of my friends. Marry, go to. Thou shalt lend me certain of thy gorgeous clothes, and none shall suspect the escaped Brother Ambrose in the masked and gallant cavalier, junketing and capering at the festival of the duke."

"Even so be it," said I after pondering the matter and finding that I was pleased in spite of myself at the impudent rascality and boldness of the proposition. "Gian Jacopo will fit thee out with the apparel that is necessary. And let it be done eftsoons, as the darkness has long since come, and I am minded to go at once."

My strange guest retired with Jacopo and in a few minutes returned so completely changed that he scarcely seemed the same person. His garb was as splendid and costly as that which I myself wore, and, though the colors of it were more dazzling and less harmonious, he seemed the high bred and courtly cavalier, excepting as to the face, which still preserved the crafty look of the discredited friar. We now masked ourselves and went out into the street, and, my retainer preceding us with a torch, we set out for the duke's palace.

"Anent the duke," said Ambrose as we passed along, "I would have thee to know that outside of his little matters of politics, which, as thou art aware, necessitates some prevaricating, much bribery and an assassination now and then, he is as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat. When everything cometh his way, he is of a most exceeding good nature. Moreover, he loveth his cup and his jest right well and maketh excellent and pleasant company. Nathless, I would not advise thee to let it be known this night that thou art Prince Timothy, the rival of his house. It would, forsooth, be most parlous, and thou wouldst have short shrift and quick burial. As thou hast never been at court, thou hast not yet beheld Castruccio's daughter, the Lady Ippolita. Prepare thee, then, for a very ecstasy of admiration, for she is the most beauteous creature in the realm. Of middling stature, yet with limbs molded like those of a Greek nymph, with a face lovely to look upon, dark, melting eyes and a great plenty of waving hair as black as night—such is the Lady Ippolita. Moreover, she is courteous, queenly, chaste and bright among all the wickedness and corruption of the court, as is a pond lily lifting its fair head out of a green and stagnant pool."

We were now come into the street of the Traditori, and I beheld for the first time the ducal palace. It resembled somewhat the old palace of the Medici at Florence before it was altered and enlarged by the Ricardi, excepting that its many pillared and airy facade was of white marble. The whole front of it was lighted up with lanterns of different colors, and, as many gayly dressed people were going in and some coming out, it presented a very pleasing and lively scene. Guards carrying halberds and resplendent in full armor stood at every point, but we passed by them unquestioned and soon found ourselves in the great hall of the palace, where the company was assembled.

AMPUTATION BY INCHES.

Tough Experience of a Grand Rapids Motorman.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 22.—Sixteen times on the operating table, in which both legs have been trimmed from time to time until the left has been taken off at the hip joint, and of the right there is only eight inches of thigh left, is the record of M. L Briggs, now pronounced ready to leave the U. B. A. hospital by his physician.

Briggs was a motorman for two years up to Jan. 31 last, when he met with an accident, a collision, that deprived him of both limbs. Each man stuck to his post until the crash came which made wrecks of both the cars and crushed the legs of Motorman Briggs to such an extent that amputation was necessary. Motorman Fansler escaped with a bruised arm. Nobody else was injured. Now, after lying over eight months in the hospital, undergoing sixteen operations, Briggs looks forward to going home some day next week.

When first taken to the hospital his legs were amputated just above the knees. Blood poisoning set in and from time to time it has been necessary to cut off a piece from the injured member in order to save his life The last operation was performed the first of last May, when the left leg was taken off at the hip joint.

The many friends of Harry Tennant who was hurt in Britton a short time ago, will be glad to learn that he is getting along nicely. One foot was removed above the ankle and he suffered the loss of one toe on the other foot. He is receiving the best of care at the Wabash hospital in Peru, Ind. and writes that he is able to enjoy riding in a wheeled chair. His bravery and courage have never failed him. His wife is with her parents in Deerfield and as soon as Harry recovers they will make their future home in Adrian.

Thomas Marks and his theatrical company left yesterday morning for Battle Creek after playing a three nights engagement in Tecumseh. His shows were even better than usual and were greeted with a full house each night, many being turned away Saturday evening on account of scarscity of room. It is hoped that he will soon visit Tecumseh again and we will guaratee him a full house each trip. Mrs. Frank Purdy was the lucky one in ticket drawing and received the dress pattern which was given away Saturday evening.

A Boy's Wild Ride for Life.

A Good Business

The city hotel opposite the HERALD office on Chicago street is working up a good business At dinner they serve a fine meal for 25 cents and many farmers are patronizing it.

In fact Landlord Fish is weekly doing more and more trade in the trancient line, having several rooms nicely fitted up and taking care of his guests in the nicest manner. This neat hotel and restaurant is a great addition to Tecumseh and the longer it is here the better it will be patronized

CONVENTION

Held by the Democrats

AT ADRIAN

Friday, Sept. 19. A strong Ticket was nominated.

For sheriff—Michael Gillen.
For county clerk—John Gahagan.
For treasurer—John Iffland.
For register—Harry P. Stearns.
For prosecutor—H. B. Chandler.
For circuit court commissioners—G. R. Gillespie, Tecumseh; James H. Baker, Adrian.
For Coroners—Dr. G. B. M. Seager, Adrian; O. R. Pierce, Hudson.
Surveyor—Alexander Richard.

The full county Democratic ticket appears above, named Friday at the big county convention at the court house and following is the finish of the work of that convention, commencing where we left off:

The selection of 26 delegates to attend the senatorial convention at Erie, Monroe county, September 30, which announcement was made by H. P. Stearns, was made as follows, Fairfield and Macon being out:

First ward—G. B. M. Seager.
Second ward—Geo. Eldredge.
Third ward—H. B. Clark.
Fourth ward—A. Dobbins.
Fifth ward—Theodore Woller.
Adrian township—Bert Selleck.
Blissfield—H. M. Collins.
Cambridge—Frank Groger.
Clinton—Ed. VanDeMark.
Deerfield—Wm. T. Atkins.
Dover—M. H. Kerr.
Franklin—C. A. Derby.
Hudson—David C. Buck.
Hudson City—Wm. Derbyshire.
Madison—W. J. Baldwin.
Medina—Wm. Helliker.
Ogden—Seth W. Paull.
Palmyra—Charles R. Keeber.
Raisin—Chas. Kaynor.
Ridgeway—C. E. Exelby.
Riga—John C. Iffland.
Rollin—Wm. Alchin.
Rome—Wilber Brooks.
Seneca—L. W. Porick.
Tecumseh—John J. Orr.
Woodstock—J. O. Wheaton.

Gen. Fred Wood was then called and congratulated the convention on its harmony and good feeling. He hoped this Democratic weather would last from now on till election. He congratulated the convention in naming so strong a ticket: also that they can anticipate so far ahead the coming Democratic prosperity, with no dead bodies to sit on and would have no coroners.

He said he had hardly had time to get his feet in the stirrups for congress, but would do so immediately. When we are ill we do not question the label on the bottle of the medicine we are taking, and wanted all to vote as they thought. He first took an interest in politics when Samuel J. Tilden was elected president and then strained through an election commission. He followed somewhat the history of the tariff since that 26 years.

The theories of protection have been carried out and we are face to face with the results. Foreign competition has been carried out and vast corporations and trusts have grown up. These judicious combinations that have grown up are "right" as the word juddidious implies only from the standpoint of capital. On imperialism, he said, we could not under our constitution, have a vassal territory. He spoke of Porto Rico and the tariff that had been put on it, as that island was interfering with one of our trust industries.

There never was a time when trade could not be carried on profitably regardless of legislation. These judicious combinations of capital have become the power behind the throne, and that is what is working the evil. We are acquiring colonies only for the benefit of these capitalistic combinations. He did not believe in retiring from the Phillippines with dishonor to our flag, but we should look out in the future. He told the story of meeting the Virginian who couldn't believe he was from Michigan, because he wasn't ten feet high. The Virginian didn't think Michigan grew runts. (Laughter).

In closing he said the time had come for the people to stand shoulder to shoulder for the good of our country and of Michigan.

Following Gen. Wood's address there were calls for Hon. Willard Stearns, who brifly responded. His many stabs at the present Republican administration were greeted with hearty applause.

Bert D. Chandler, of Hudson, the nominee for prosecuting attorney, was called out and made a telling speech, arraigning the Republican administratian in no uncertain tones.

Senator Helme was asked for, but was not present.

Dr. Williams then read the call for the Second Lenawee district Democratic legislative convention for October 1, at the city of Adrain.

The First district Democratic legislative convention was called for Tecumseh on the same date. October 1. The convention then adjourned.—Adrian Telegram.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

A MEASURE OF MERIT

Tecumseh Citizen should weigh well this evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence.
Convincing evidence in Tecumseh.
Is not the testimony of strangers.
But the endorsement of Tecumseh people.

The statement of a Tecumseh citizen.

Mrs. J. H. Welch, who resides in the southwestern section of Tecumseh says: "I wish to express my gratitude for the benefit derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. My back troubled me for a long time with a constant dull aching pain across my loins and when stooping or exerting myself it became very sharp. If I took cold it always settled in my kidneys and in the morning I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly attend to my work. I used several simple household remedies but they did not bring relief. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and spoken of so highly I concluded to test their merits and got a box at C. A. Wright's drug store. They took right hold of the cause and in a short time the pain in my back was a thing of the past. I can now straighten after bending or stooping without inconvenience. Doan's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy."

For sale by all dealers: Price 50 cent per box, Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

New Use for Refined Paraffine Wax

A new and important use for Refined Paraffine Wax seems to have been discovered by a prominent resident of Ohio, living near Lancaster, who had two trees badly damaged by storm, one being a maple and the other an apple In each case a large limb was broken down from the trunk, but still attached to it. The limbs were propped up and fastened securely with straps, very much as a broken leg might be fastened with splints, and then melted refined wax poured into and over all the cracks. The "surgical operation" was entirely successful. The Paraffine prevented the escape of the sap, kept out the rain and moisture which would have rotted the trees, prevented the depredations of insects, and the limbs seen thus far to be perfectly re-attched to the trees.

Advice to boys who wish to be sailors —"A life on the ocean" waive.

We are dismayed by the action of a jury who recently decided that a hug was worth only a cent. Besides the fact that it was a lie it is an awful cheapening of a valuable asset. Just think of it. One hundred for a dollar. A man could go out this beautiful bright weather and hug his collar bones loose for fifty cents. Every body knows a hug is worth more than a cent. Most of us would willinging pay as high as a dime. But now here comes a jury and awards a woman who has been hugged one cent. If this is fixed by law as the ruling price there won't be any other work done this year.

A GOOD THING

Something You Can Readily Believe As Its Tecumseh Evidence

Mrs. B. E. Gray of Tecumseh, Mich. says;—"Last summer I had an attack of fever which left me in a weak, dizzy and nervous state. I got a box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills at Chas. A. Wright's Drug Store and after using the pills I can say my nerves were strengthened and I felt better every way. I think the pills all right."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y See that portrait and signature of A. W Chase, M. D. are on every package.

STORYETTES

Dr. McColgan, a prominent young doctor of Brooklyn, was married yesterday to Miss Christina Hamilton, of Stratford, Ont. at the home of the bride. They will reside in Brooklyn.—Brooklyn Exponent.

Says an exchange: "Every newspaper man has at some time or other in his business experiences met the man who 'takes more papers than he can read.' He was in town this week. He wiped his nose on the awning, paid 25 cents for an almanac, bought a cake of five cent soap for which he paid half a dollar, put a nickel in the slot at the postoffice, and kicked because the mail did not appear, watched the clock sign in front of the jewelry store for thirty minutes, waiting for it to strike, and still he takes more papers than he can read. We think he does."

June is themonth when roses bloom and when we greet the bride and groom, the month in which the young corn grows, and barefoot urchins snag their toes: the month in which the fishes shoal, and Johnnie haunts the swimming hole. He may deny and cause a doubt, but ah, his shirt is wrong side out! The housefly comes and stays till fall and punctuates the kitchen wall, the June bug tells you he is here and dabs you in the other ear; the moth nests in your winter clothes and insects gambol up your nose. The picnic season is at hand and Sunday schools engaged the band, the maiden dons a thin shirt waist and shocks her mother with her taste; the housewife makes gooseberry pie that's full of juice and bacilli.

An editor recently announced that for one issue he would tell the truth; the whole truth, naked and unvarnished. Here is one item from that issue of the paper: "Married—Miss Sylvia Smith to Mr. James Carahan, last Saturday at the Baptist parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary girl about town who doesn't know any more about cooking than a rabbit, and never helped her poor mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by a long shot, and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is known as an up-to-date loafer, and has been living off his poor mother all his life, and don't amount to anything nohow. They will have a tough time of it, and we withhold congratulations for we don't believe any good can come from such a marriage.—Ex.

A New Magazine.

A new illustrated magazine, with the taking title of "The Reader," is to be started in New York, next month. "The Reader" announces that it will provide the reading public of the United States with a literary magazine, at ounce entertaining, unprejudiced and authoritative. Further then this, it promises to be both good and popular, and not only will it contain such literary departments as reviews, bibliograyhy, libraries and the drama, but its contents will also include short stories, poems and several pupular literary articles of general interest each month. It is to be a 25-cent magazine and conducted on a large scale.

The cover design, by Mr. Alfred Brennan, is exceedly attrative, and represents two opposite types of readers an old bookman lovingly handling an Aldus or an Elzevir, and a twentieth century young lady unblushingly perusing the latest popular novel.

The list of contributors already announced includes such well-known writers as: Gelett Burgess, John D. Barry, Alice Brown, Bliss Carman, "Mr. Dooly." Caroline Duer, Edwin Emerson, Jr., Charles Macomb Flandrau Eliot Gregory, Aline Gorren, Oliver Herford, Rollin Lynde Hartt, R. V. Risley, Louis Evan Shipman, Henry Turrell ane John B. Tabb.

Teddy at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 20.—The most elaborate arrangements have been made for the reception of President Roosevelt and his party today, from 10 a. m. until he leaves at midnight for Detroit. He will be met at the station by Mayor Fleischmann, Frank W. Foulds, president of the Cincinnati Fall Festival association, and a large reception committee, in addition to an escort. The president will hold a reception at the St. Nicholas during the morning, and in the afternoon he will be escorted to the exposition grounds by a large military parade, with a civic division consisting of members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's club, and other organizations. The president and party will be banquetted at 6 p. m. at the St. Nicholas. At this banquet Senator Foraker and most of the Ohio congressmen, Governor Nash, Mayor Fleischmann, Presidents Foulds and many prominent citizens will be present. About 400 guests will attend. The president will make two addresses at Music Hall while being escorted through the Fall festival, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

A Certain cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me. For sale by J. J. Orr.

"You see," said the despondent man, who was sitting on a barrel, addressing the grocer, who was spearing the top of a biscuit case with a cheese knife, "some people have good luck and some people have bad luck. I remember once I was walking along the street with Tom, when he went down one side of it and I went down the other. We had'nt gone more'n half way down when he found a pocketbook with fifty in it, and I stepped on a woman's dress and so got acquainted with my present wife. 'Twas always so," he added with a sigh, "that Tom was the luckiest man in the world and I never had no luck."

President Roosevlt's trip Through the west discussed.

Washington, Sept. 22, 1902.

The note which the Secretary of State has addressed to those European powers which are signatories to the treaty of Berlin, protesting at the cruel and unjust treatment of the Jews by the government of Roumania, in absolute violation of the provisions of that treaty, must prove a source of gratification to every fair minded citizen of this country. The condition of these unfortunate people numbering about 490,000, or about one-twelth of the entire population, is not only deplorable, but it is a disgrace to the civilization of Europe.

At the same time, it is doubtful if this government would have felt authorized to take this step were it not for the fact that American immigration is being seriously affected by the persecution, thus directingly interesting the United States in the affair. While the dictates of humanity would seem to amply warrant the step taken by Secretary Hay, the policy of the United States has been and is to avoid, in so far as we may be, all international complications, especially in so far as they effect other continents, but in this instance the procriptive laws enforced by Roumania against so large a portion of its population are operating to drive to the shores of the United States a class of people whom the Secretary describes as necessarily likely to become a burden to the community on which the fugitives may be cast.

That there is a precedent for the action of the secretary may not be generally known, but it is a matter of history that so long ago as 1872, the treat- of the Jews in Roumania, then under Turkish dominion, called forth a protest which may at least be regarded as having been a contributary factor in producing that sentiment which led eventually to the covenant known as the treaty of Berlin, adopted six years later, and which, it was anticipated, would serve to ameliorate the insufferable conditions then existing. This it did temporarily, but subsequently a strong anti-semitic feeling developed among the Roumanian authorities, resulting in the conditions against which the United States now protest.

Space will not permit the graphic description which the secretary gives of these conditions, but the following is important, he says: "Granting that in better and more healthful surroundings the morbid conditions will eventually change for good, such emigration (that of the oppressed Jews) is necessarily, for a time, a burden to the community on which the fugitives may be cast. Self reliance and the knowledge and the ability that evolve the power of self-support must be developed and, at the same time, avenues of employment must be opened in quarters where competition is already keen and opportunities scarce.

The teachings of history and the experience of our own nation show that the Jews possess in a high degree the mental and moral qualifications of conscientious citizenhood. No class of immigrants is more welcome to our shores when coming equipped in mind and body for entrance upon the struggle for bread and inspirited with the high purpose to give the best service of heart and brain to the land which they adopt of their own free will, but when they come as outcasts, made doubly paupers by physical and moral oppression in their native land, and thrown upon the long suffering generosity of a more favored community, their imigration lacks the essential conditions which make alien imigration either acceptable or beneficial."

It is further gratifying to note that already the State Dedartment is rceiving assurances from its foreign representatives that the position of this government is properly understood and generally approved by the nations appealed to and the reports received would seem to warrant the belief that once more the United States will have to its credit an interposition which has resulted in material benefit to the cause of humanity.

President Roosevelt is now in the West and the political leaders are watching with intense interest the effect of his speeches on the people of that section. Since the important conference held at Oyster Bay last week, it has become definitely known that Mr. Roosevelt will repudiate the idea advanced by the democrats, and it is claimed by some members of his own party, that a reduction of the tariff on trust made goods is a proper remedy for the trust evil. While asserting that his party is not definitely commited to the maintenance of any particular tariff schedule, the President will condem tariff reduction for the purpose stated and will not advocate any tariff revision for the present. Numerous and conflicting reports in regard to the attitude of western republicans towards the tariff question have reached Washington and New York and it is believed that the President's trip will serve to clear the atmosphere in this respect.

The declination of Speaker Henderson to run for reelection to Congress still serves as the basis of most of the political gossip here. A large variety of reasons been assigned as the probable cause few, apparently, being willing to accept the explanation given by General Henderson himself. The step taken at so critical a time has incurred the displeasure of the leaders of the Speaker's own party, irrespective of the causes which led to it, and it is likely that he will find Washington any but "a bed of roses" when he returns to preside over the House during the remaining session of the Fifty-seventh Congress. It is a matter of interest that Representative Griggs, charman of the democratic Congressional Committee, has disavowed all intention of making a personal attack on Speaker as was alleged a few days ago. On the other hand, several authorities state that such an attack was to have been made, but that it would have been initiated by the prohibition candidate in the district represented by Gen. Henderson.

BUSINESS COMPLICATIONS

Believed to Have Caused Sudden Departure of High.

Ovid, Mich., Sept. 20.—There is little doubt left in the minds of the business and professional men of Ovid that Senator Hiram M. High has skipped to avoid the consequences of many crooked business transactions. It is a conclusion to which they are most reluctantly forced, for he has stood at the top in the esteem of the people of this vicinity for years.

He was much away from home, supposedly on business, but now the fear comes with crushing force that he has skipped and taken away with him a large sum of money, perhaps $5,000.

He left Thursday, Sept. 4, for Detroit. On the train were a number of people who knew him, who noted that he was drinking to excess.

High said he was going to see his sick brother Nathan at Guthrie, Okla., and to one lady he said it was his brother's wife who was ill. Neither story was true, and it is now believed his flight was due to the fact that exposure of his deals was imminent.

In 1896 William Swarthout made a general assignment to High for the benefit of creditors. There were nearly $10,000 of assets turned over to him. Mortgages amounting to $3,500 protected several creditors, and after all exemptions and expenses, including High's reasonable fees, were paid, there should have been $3,000 for unsecured creditors. They have never received a cent.

These creditors grew tired of waiting and sued. The case has been put over term after term until finally it was set for trial and notice given that no further postponement would be consented to. High tried to compromise. There was a meeting in his office, but no one could understand his accounts. This meeting occurred the day before the supposed flight.

A man in Clinton, who took a city paper in preference to a country paper because he got more paper for the money, was attracted by the advertisement of a fire escape which would be forwarded on receipt of $2. He sent the cash and in a few days received a copy of the New Testament.

An editor desiring the news asked a man to write it from his neighborhood and got this reply: We have two school marms, the hog cholera and about fifty bushels of potatoes, and a tarnal fool who married a cross-eyed girl because she had a mule and forty acres of land, and the same is your humble correspondent.

Many farmers are cutting corn with corn harvesters this year. Those who do not own machines can hire it cut for 75 cent per acre by men who are fortunate enough to possess them while men who cut corn with the old fashioned hand cutter ask $2 per day and many of them will not cut over an acre. Rather looks as though the machine was the cheapest.—Ex.

Miss Petigo was winner, Miss Ball second.—Dundee Reporter.

It is an uncommon thing to see a muskrat right on Main street in any city, but this is just what Dr. Prentiss did see last Saturday night; and to prove that he was not mistaken, picked up a stone and killed the animal without making any great fuss about it. The doctor says he killed the muskrat just to be able to show the scalp if anyone dares to doubt his story when he tells it.—Hudson Gazette.

Ann Arbor coal dealers met Monday night and talked over the situation. In order to do the right thing by everybody they have been allowing customers to buy only two tons at a time but on comparing notes ascertained that the consumers would buy two tons of one dealer and then two of another until they had purchaseb what was wanted The dealers were disgusted and decided to let them swamp the local market soon as they wanted to at 7.50 per ton.

Burglars made a great haul at Petersburg last Saturday night. They burglarized the store of J. M. Elder & Son and carried away twenty-one overcoats, fourteen pairs of trousers, twelve suits of undewear, four pairs of gloves, a child's coat and vest and a number of cheap negligee shirts. This is the third time that store has been burglarized. One hundred dollars reward has been offered for the arrest and conviction of the thieves and the recovery of the property stolen.—Monroe Democrat.

Nathaniel Dibble, a carpenter, residing at Locust, met with a severe accident at Frank Ball's farm, three miles north of the city, Tuesday afternoon. Dibble was standing on a scaffold, and missing his footing, was preciqitated to a bile of lumber twenty feet below. He struck on his side across a heavy timber breaking three ribs and receiving internal injuries. Dr. Dodge attended Dibble at the Ball farm, and he was later taken to his home. The result of the injuries cannot at this time be told.

A Missouri editor who went on a vacation left a minister in charge of his paper. A day or two later a letter from a way back subscriber came, which read: You know d— well I paid my subscription the last time I was in your town. If I get any more such letters I get any more such letters I will come down and maul hell out of you. The minister answered: I have been trying to maul that thing out of the editor for years, and if you really come down and maul it out of him, then, my dear sir, I have twenty members of my church you can operate on.

This is the way kisses are served in Tecumseh: To one part of dark front porch add a little moonlight. Take for granted two people, press in two strong hands a small soft hand, sift lightly two ounces of attraction, one of romance, and largely measures of folly, stir in a floating ruffle and one or two whispers, dissolve half a dozen glances in a well of silence, dust in a small quantity of hesitations, one ounce resistance, two of yielding, place the kisses on a flushed cheek or two lips, flavor with a slight scream and set aside to cool. This will succeed in any climate if the directions are carried out.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. Thedford's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by Thedford's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than Thedford's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.
I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

STOOD TRIP WELL

President Reaches Washington in Good Spirits.

REMAINED IN BED ALL DAY

Believed He Will Be Able to Be About Again in Ten Days—Is His Desire to Make Tour of Western States Next Spring.

Washington, Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt returned to Washington at half-past 6 o'clock last night via the Pennsylvania railroad from Indianapolis, where he was compelled to abandon his western trip because of an abscess on his leg, which developed as a result of the trolley accident at Pittsfield, Mass. He stood the journey from Indianapolis remarkably well, and when he was carried in a wheel chair from the railroad car to his carriage he was in excellent spirits and appeared to be free from any pain.

With Mrs. Roosevelt, the president was driven directly to the temporary White House on Jackson place, where, according to the present arrangements, he will remain until the wound is healed and he is able again to be on his feet. The president was taken to his room on the second floor of the house and made comfortable and his wound dressed. Later, he was reported to be resting easily, and the expectation is that within ten days the president will be himself again.

The trip home from Indianapolis was an uneventful one. He remained in bed all day and executive business on the train practically was discontinued. The president slept soundly all through the night. Even the noise in the depot at Pittsburg, where the train remained in the early morning for about twenty minutes, failed to awaken him. When Dr. Lung went to the president's stateroom shortly after 9 o'clock he found his patient in rare good humor and excellent physical condition, barring the wound on his leg. It is tightly bandaged, and Dr. Lung does not look for a recurrence of the swelling, although this would be nothing unusual and would cause no alarm. During the forenoon's run, in describing his condition to a caller, the president said he could feel that something had happened when he thought about it, and that was all. After eating a hearty breakfast, the president called for a book, remarking that as he was an invalid, he proposed to enjoy himself. He was propped up in bed with his left leg on a pillow and spent most of the day in reading.

After dinner the president expressed a desire to see the members of his party, and they went into his stateroom a few at a time. He chatted pleasantly with all of them and expressed his great disappointment at not being able to continue the trip. He said he had strongly opposed the decision of the doctors to have the operation performed at Indianapolis. He wanted to continue his journey and make the speeches he had planned, but finally yielded to the strong pleadings of the doctors, who represented that there was danger if not promptly attended to, that the bone might become affected and an affliction result that it would take months to cure. The president yielded, but remarked that in his younger days he had broken a rib and his collar-bone at a sheep herding, but had not allowed it to interfere with his work. In his talk with his callers, the president made known his determination to visit the northwest next spring, when he will extend his trip as far as the coast, during which time he will visit all the states in which he intended to stop on the trip just ended.

Educating the Soldier.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Before leaving for the west, Secretary Root issued an order establishing the general scheme of education and training of officers of the army. This order establishes schools at ever post in the army for officers, including all lieutenants and captains of less than ten years' service as commissioned officers. These schools take the place of the former method of training in the officers' schools and lyceums. It is not intended that officers shall be forever attending recitations, under the old system of lyceum instruction there was no such thing as graduation, but under the new scheme, prepared under the direct supervision of the secretary of war, officers will be able generally within two years to secure certificates in all the courses which they are required to pursue.

Punished For Embezzlement.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The secretary of the navy has received the record of the courtmartial in the case of Paymaster's Clerk Walter H. Warner, who was tried on the battleship Wisconsin at Bremerton, Wash., on the charge of embezzling funds of the government in connection with the purchase of commissary supplies for the ship's company. He was found guilty and sentenced to dismissal and to imprisonment at hard labor for one year.

Charges Against Fire Chief.

New York, Sept. 25.—Charges have been served against the chief of the New York fire department, Edward F. Croker. They allege, among other things, incompetency in the management of great affairs; conversion of public property to private use, and conduct unbecoming an officer and prejudicial to discipline. He is directed to appear for trial next Monday.

KID-NE-OIDS CURED HIS SUFFERINGS

Have been afflicted with kidney and bladder diseases for the past three years, being chronic from the start, was in much pain and forced to stop work. For the past four months I have faithfully tried several of the so-called "guarantee cures" but without any benefit. I finally concluded to try Kid-Ne-Oids and began to feel immediately after using them. I continued using them and am now permanently cured. I make this statement of my own volition and will make oath to it if necessary.—Geo. S Estell, Kansas City, Mo.

A FAMOUS WOMAN

Clara Barton Attends the War Veterans' Reunion.

LAST DAY A BUSY ONE

Officers Elected For Ensuing Year—Urell of Washington Becomes Commander-in-Chief—Name of Organization Changed.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—The Spanish War Veterans got down to business yesterday and finished up all their work in time to allow them to attend the reception that was given at the Russell house in the evening to Miss Clara Barton, Mrs. Flora A. Lewis, vice-president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Allyn K. Capron and Mrs A. T. Bliss.

The parlors of the Russell house were gaily decorated with national flags in honor of the occasion, and the house orchestra supplied the music The veterans were invited, and so were their lady friends and the general public, and the invitation was accepted by hundreds who had never before had a chance of meeting the Florence Nightingale of America.

Amalgamation Question.

The principal business before the veterans' convention outside of the election of officers was to consider a proposal to unite all the different organizations of men who were out in that war. There are two other such organizations, the Spanish-American War Veterans and the Service Men The Spanish War Veterans claim to have a membership of about 138,000, and the Spanish-American association has about one-sixth of that number and the Service Men are still less numerous. The Spanish-American association is ready for amalgamation, and has sent the following telegram to General M. T. Urell, acting commander-in-chief of the order now meeting in this city:

"Committee of five appointed and resolutions adopted for consolidation Liller deposed. Will you arrange joint meeting?

(Signed) "J. B. CORYELLI."

In the afternoon the veterans took the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary for a ride on the steamer Tashmoo but while they were on board they were ungallant enough to hold a business session, at which they cleared up all the business they had before them.

Dyer's Report.

Adjutant-General Dyer reported that during the past year the membership had increased from 12,000 to 138,000. Nearly 200 commands had been organized in the various states and territories, and some even in the Philippines and Porto Rico, and over 100 others were in process of formation. The commands were all in good financial standing, and had spent $160,000 for supplies, colors and relief work and the finances of the national organization were also in good condition the balance on hand being over $5,000 A fraternal feeling existed, he said, between this organization and the other veteran organizations, including the Grand Army of the Republic.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

General M. E. Urell of Washington, commander-in-chief; Harold C. McGrew, Indianapolis, senior vice-commander; Colonel Champe S. Andrews, New York, junior vice-commander, Captain H. Ward, Jr., Buffalo, judge advocate-general; Q. N. Kinney, Bay City, inspector-general; Fr. W. H. T. Reaney, Detroit, chaplain-general, re-elected; Dr. Louis Livingstone, Seaman, N. Y., surgeon-general; Miss Clara Barton, Glen Echo, Md., sponsor, re-elected by acclamation.

Council of administration—George T. Gaston, Detroit; G. Layburn, Sharey, D. C., John T. Hilton, New York; Charles Deimbach, Brooklyn; Capt. Young, New York; Karl Gunster, Pennsylvania; Congressman H. D. Green, Pennsylvania; J. H. Wusson, Wisconsin; J. W. Carver, Maine; F. G. Beach, Connecticut; H. L. Sutterly, New York.

Name Changed.

The name of the association was changed to the National Army and Navy Spanish War Veterans. This was done to allow veterans of the navy to become members.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

He Lived Three Centuries.—William Gifford of Memphis Monday celebrated his 104th birthday, and is undoubtedly the oldest man in the county, if not in the state. He has lived in three centuries.

Killed by a Premature Blast.—Joseph Cenkoviak, Croatian miner at Phoenix mine, Calumet, was killed instantly by a premature discharge of a blast. He was thirty-five years old and single.

Basket Famine Threatened.—Fruit growers in Kent county narrowly escaped a basket famine Monday. Every basket was used up. Extra trains hurried several thousand baskets into Sparta just in time to save a loss of thousands of dollars.

Sad News For an Invalid.—While Mrs. J. Hamilton of Stone street, Port Huron, was telephoning for a physician she received the information that her son-in-law had died suddenly in San Francisco, and that his body was on its way. Mrs. Hamilton is in a serious condition.

Baby Left on Doorstep.—At 1:30 Tuesday morning the family of Nelson Raub of Albion was awakened by three loud rings at the doorbell and the sound of rapidly retreating footsteps. Mrs. Raub hastened to the front door, where to her surprise she found a three-months' old girl baby lying carefully protected by three porch pillows.

May Be Heir to Thousands.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 25.—Mrs. Libbie French Moore, a native of Genesee county, and until yesterday a resident of this city, is the possible heiress to a fortune of $150,000. Mrs. Moore is the daughter of Thomas Webb, a former resident of Clayton township, who was disowned by her parents for marrying in opposition to their wishes. Webb's real name was Merwell, and his native state was New York. It is expected to establish the fact that Webb was really the descendant of the deceased Merwell by the testimony of a brother of the wife residing in Texas, who was cognizant of all the facts.

DURAND RESIGNS

Health Will Not Permit His Remaining on the Ticket.

HE SIGNS HIS RESIGNATION

Matter Fully Considered by Brother and Son—Seemed Willing to Let the Matter Drop—His Brother Mentioned as a Possible Successor.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 25.—Judge George H. Durand has resigned from the Democratic ticket as the candidate of that party for governor of the state of Michigan. The decision was reached late Tuesday afternoon, but was not made known to the press until Wednesday.

The matter was fully gone over by L. T. Durand and the judge's son, and it was after thoughtful consideration that they proceeded to the judge's home, and after a consultation with Mrs. Durand and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, that they came to the conclusion that the judge was in a condition to be approached on the subject. This was the first time the question of his withdrawal from the ticket had been broached to Judge Durand.

Charles A. Durand stated what the doctors had said, expressed the wish of the family in regard to the matter and said in their opinion his welfare demanded that he retire from the campaign. Judge Durand signified that it was his wish to retire. He was then shown the letter of resignation which had been prepared some time ago when it was thought that it would be advisable for him to have his name stricken from the ticket. The letter was read to him by his son and then, without hesitation, Judge Durand signed it with a lead pencil. It is as follows:

"Flint, Mich., Sept. 23, 1902.

"To Hon. Justin R. Whiting, Chairman Democratic State Central Committee:

"Dear Sir: The severe nature of my illness constrains me to relinquish the nomination for the office of governor of Michigan, with which I was honored by the Democratic state convention recently held in Detroit. In doing this I express my gratitude for the confidence reposed in me by the convention and for the manifestations of personal friendship which I have received from all parts of the state, irrespective of party politics.

"Yours very truly,
"GEO. H. DURAND."

Judge Durand fully comprehended the nature of the document he had signed, appreciating that in so doing he had thrown away his chances of being elected governor of the great state of Michigan, but after signing it he appeared to feel relieved in a great measure.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—It was stated about headquarters here during the day that, although no formal selection of a candidate to make the run had been made, the choice would in all probability fall on L. T. Durand of Saginaw, the brother of the judge. The majority of the state central committee is said to favor him, although there is still a feeling for Senator Helme. It is not thought that the latter would accept at the present stage of proceedings, however.

Foreigners at U. of M.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 25.—More foreigners are enrolling at the University of Michigan this year than ever before, and from every quarter of the globe—China, Japan, Philippines, Persia, Syria, Armenia, Russia, Mexico, West Indies, and the far north and south. The students from Spanish-speaking countries have formed a club, La Colonia Espanola, with sixteen members. The Philippine islands are sending great numbers of native boys over to the United States to be educated, and the presence of so many Michigan alumni in the islands results in many of the prospective students selecting Ann Arbor. A club has been formed by colored students, and they are now living in their own house.

Disease in Michigan.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 25.—Reports to the state board of health indicate that diarrhea, rheumatism, neuralgia, bronchitis and tonsilitis, in the order named, caused most sickness in Michigan during the week ending Sept. 20, 1902. Meningitis was reported present at 4 places; whooping cough at 18, diphtheria at 21, measles at 22, smallpox at 24, scarlet fever at 60, typhoid fever at 88. and consumption at 222.

A Red Letter Day.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 25.—Oct. 1 will be a red letter day to the supreme hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, which is a social auxiliary to the supreme tent, Knights of the Maccabees. The supreme hive has a membership of 105,000, with 2,215 hives, organized in forty-nine states, territories and provinces. During the past ten years $2,262,085 32 has been paid into the homes of the beneficiaries. On Oct. 1 members will fly the colors of the order, and at 8 o'clock p. m. the hives will hold simultaneous meetings in their lodge rooms to carry out a specially prepared program.

Jackson Boy Admitted.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 25.—The following were among the candidates for admission to the naval academy who Wednesday passed the physical examination and were sworn in as midshipmen: Fred M. Perkins, Salem, Ore.; Luke S. Wunderly, Huron, O.; Frank J. Fletcher, Marshalltown, Ia.; Richard R. Mann, Ft. McKeogh, Mont.; Walter Becker, Jackson, Mich.; Harvey Delano, Arcadia, Mo.

ANOTHER ROYAL VISITOR.

Crown Prince of Siam Comes to America in October.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The Siamese minister, Mr. Phya Akharaj Varadhara, accompanied by Mr. Edward H. Loftus, the secretary of legation, conferred with Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce Wednesday respecting the forthcoming visit to the United States of Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, the crown prince of Siam.

The visit was semiofficial in character. The crown prince does not wish to be burdened with a full official reception, which would divert him from the more serious purposes of his trip, but he does wish to have sufficient official recognition to insure comfort in his movements and opportunities to meet persons who may assist him in his mission, which is to study our industrial establishments.

The royal visitor will spend about six weeks in this pursuit, in that time traversing the country from New York to San Francisco, at which point he takes ship for home. The president has designated Assistant Secretary Peirce to represent the government in looking after the comfort of the crown prince.

The prince will sail for New York Oct. 10 and will be presented to President Roosevelt at the first suitable opportunity.

Deed of a Drunken Woman.

New York, Sept. 25.—On an alarm from the Mespeth police, an ambulance was sent yesterday from a Brooklyn hospital on the four-mile run to the home of Joseph Alstrefski. The ambulance surgeon found the man lying on the floor in a pool of blood. "My wife stabbed me," he gasped. "She had been drinking and was abusing our daughter when I came home. I protested and she stabbed me." The woman lay on a bed apparently asleep. The surgeon began to work on Alstrefski's wound while a policeman ordered the woman to get up and go with him to teh station. He turned his back. The woman jumped up, snatched her husband's razor and before the policeman could turn around to stop her, cut her throat from ear to ear. Then both man and wife were hurriedly carried to the hospital, but the physicians said neither could recover.

Packers' Trust Quits.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The combination of the great packing houses of the country, which has been under consideration and in process of actual formation for the last six months, has been abandoned. The decision not to consummate the combination is due in a large degree to the attitude of the national administration toward trusts as outlined by President Roosevelt in his recent speeches and to the possibility that in the event of a consolidation congress might remove the tariff on cattle. A final meeting of the heads of firms known as the Big Four packing houses in Chicago has been held, at which it was agreed to end all negotiations at once.

Moros Are Vigorous Fighters.

Washington, Sept. 25.—That the task of reducing the Moros to terms is proving difficult is indicated by the following cablegram, received Wednesday by the war department from General Chaffee:

"Manila, Sept. 25.—Adjutant-General, Washington: Captain John J. Pershing to Vickars; unable to reach Macin forts; water and swamps prevented."

The dispatch means that Captain Pershing has been compelled to retreat to his base at Camp Vickars and that the Moro position is much stronger than was believed by army officers.

New York Republican Ticket.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Completing yesterday in three hours a state ticket and promulgating a platform of principles, without the least indication of friction and amidst much enthusiasm, the state Republican convention adjourned sine die. The ticket nominated was: For governor, B. B. Odell, Jr., of Orange; lieutenant-governor, F. W. Higgins of Cattaraugus; secretary of state, John F. O'Brien of Clinton; treasurer, John G. Wickser of Erie; comptroller, N. B. Miller of Cortland; engineer, E. A. Bond of Jefferson; attorney-general, H. B. Coman of Madison; judge court of appeals, William E. Werner of Monroe.

MINOR TELEGRAMS.

Carnegie Will Visit the King.—Andrew Carnegie has gone to Balmoral to visit King Edward. Lord Rosebury and Winston Spencer Churchill are at Balmoral.

Next Convention in Buffalo.—The eighth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen concluded its sessions at Chattanooga Wednesday night. The ninth biennial convention will be held in Buffalo.

Ordered to Washington.—The Vatican has instructed Mgr. Diomede Falconio, the recently appointed papal delegate in the United States, to proceed to Washington, as it considers that post has already been too long vacant.

Redmond Must Behave.—The court of Kings bench, at Dublin, has ordered William H. Redmond, M. P., who was summoned to appear before it as a result of his recent incendiary speech at Wexford, to give bail in $1,000 for his future good behavior.

Successful Wireless System.—Successful tests were had by wireless telegraph between the naval academy at Annapolis and Washington. The Staby Arco, or German system, was used in the tests. It is stated that the United States ship Perry will be installed will a plant and be ready for testing the system across the water by about Oct. 10.

International Labor Bureau.—The International Congress for Legislative Protection of Workmen, in session at Cologne, Rheinish Prussia, decided to establish an international labor bureau, to be conducted on non-political lines. The bureau will first endeavor to secure amelioration of the conditions of women workers and restriction of the use of white lead and white phosphorus in certain trades.

Peary Will Not Return North.

Portland, Me., Sept. 25.—Lieutenant R. E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, arrived here Wednesday. In an interview he said: "On no account account shall I make an effort to return to the north. I have done all that coul dbe done with the facilities at my command and shall now resume my duties in the navy, reporting to the department at Washington in a few days. The pole can be reached. It is a question of money and of the explorer's outfit. Could I have put my ship as far north as I intended, and as I could have done had she been equal to the requirements, I could have made the pole."

Water Cure for Chronic Constipation

Take two cups of hot water half an hour before each meal and just before going to bed, also a drink of water, hot or cold, about two hours after each meal. Take lots of out door exercise—walk, ride, drive. Make a regular habit of this and in many cases chronic constipation may be cured without the use of any medicine. When a purgative is required take something mild and gentle like Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver tablets. For sale by J. J. Orr.

PRINCE TIMOTEO

CHAPTER V.

THERE were, I should say, about 200 persons present, gay and festive cavaliers, like ourselves, and fair ladies and gray bearded, reverend signors and wrinkled and bustling duennas. In fact, I had never seen so many signors, signoras and signorinas together. A goodly number of the cavaliers, as well as some of the dames, were masked, and there seemed to have been a contest among the company as to which might wear the most gaudy and diverse hues. As they passed to and fro or mingled in the mazes of the dance, a brilliant and dazzling kaleidoscope of color, I exclaimed to myself that I had never seen a sight more goodly.

At one end of the salon, upon a raised dais, sat a score of musicians, with a lot of quaint old musical instruments called viols and rebecs and fidels, from which they produced strains so crude and simple and untaught that I shook with laughter every time I listened to them. Near by, with his attendants, stood the little fat duke, with a smile upon his jolly red face so broad that one standing behind him might have seen the ends of it. Not far away from the spot occupied by this corrupt yet amiable potentate there was another group, which seemed to be composed of the court beauties, and we—that is to say, Brother Ambrose and I, for we had left Gian Jacopo with the other lackeys in the anteroom—drew near to them, thinking that we might behold the duke's daughter.

When we had come close, I noticed that one of the damosels, a lady who wore a close fitting dress of velvet and a magnificent coronet of diamonds, was so much more beautiful than her fellows that, though they were all very pretty girls, they yet seemed but as crows or magpies beside her, and I immediately guessed what Ambrose whispered in my ear a moment later—that she was none other than the peerless Lady Ippolita, the duke's daughter.

I had never before seen such a statuelike and symmetrical form, such quaint and lovely features, such a great mass of raven hair, such large, dark, dreamy eyes, such soft and snowy whiteness of skin or perfect rounded shape of neck and arms. She was a maid of eighteen or nineteen years, slender, yet of precocious maturity, and with a most sweet and gracious and noble manner, attitude and gesture. Had she been a saint I would have worshiped her. As she was a woman, I made it my business immediately to fall completely and desperately in love with her. I really fell in love at first sight. I didn't go to the whole depth at first, but I fell, and then I commenced to sink and sink until there seemed no bottom to the intensity of my passion.

Fortunately I was masked and could approach her with impunity. I put a bold face upon the matter and came up to her as Romeo came up to Juliet at old Capulet's banquet.

"Wilt trip a measure with me, fair lady?" I asked in my most courtly tones.

She looked at me in some surprise and hesitated somewhat and acted altogether as though she wanted to do it. Perhaps there was some magnetic influence at work in her—an induction from the current with which I was so highly charged. She cast a pretty glance toward the duke, who stood a few feet away, as though asking his permission.

"Nay, never look at me, wench," he called over to her. "Thou knowest that thou wouldst dance with the knave if it pleased thee though I bade thee not a hundred times. Away, then, with thy cavalier, whoever he may be, and kick up thine heels to thy heart's content."

She blushed with displeasure at the coarse but good humored speech of the old man, and I feared that she would refuse me, but she ended by giving me a heavenly smile and laid her small, cool, bejeweled hand in mine. Much observed by all, you may imagine, I led her through the concourse, and we took our places among the dancers. It was a slow and stately and voluptuous saraband which we first danced, that antediluvian ancestor of the minuet and the gavot. I have always been a master of the terpsichorean art, and I have reason to think that I performed the saraband on that night better than the man who invented it. After the music ceased I led her into a small alcovelike apartment at one side, where they served such things, and there she sat herself and partook of an ice while I stood beside her and feasted my vision upon her loveliness and gave utterance to many foolish and besotted words, knowing not what I was saying.

She laid her hand in mine.

We strolled along the hallway of the palace and entered Castruccio's library. It was a wide and spacious apartment, filled with shelves on every side, upon which thousands of volumes, printed and written, were arranged in most perfect order. All about the room upon pedestals or tables there were statues of bronze and marble, some of them showing Florentine art of the fifteenth century, while others, and they were for the most part defaced or wanting heads and limbs, belonged to the antiquities of Rome and Athens. There was something about the dim and softened light of the chamber, the ghostly appearance of the marbles, the grimy vellum backs of those ancient tomes and the pleasing silence of the place, broken now and then by the sounds of revelry from the festive banquet hall, that subdued our thoughts and made them more reverent and filled us with romance and sentiment, so that we lingered there side by side in delightful companionship and spoke of books and chivalry and love.

She had read the simple and homely poetry of old Antonio Pucci, Villani's history and the tales of the Round Table; she doted on Petrarch and his Laura and went into ecstasies over Boiardo's Innamorata. Finally we began to speak of Dante, and I was much astonished to find that she held him not at all in that esteem with which he is now regarded by all the world.

"But the 'Divina Commedia,'" said I, "is it not the most grand and noble and beautiful poem in the language?"

"Marry, that can I not say," she replied. "The reason of which is that there be many parts of it which I understand not."

"Thou art not alone in this matter, madonna. In sooth, I do think that it hath some verses which the poet himself meant little by and the meaning of which hath never since been discovered. Nathless, for every such verse or line there have arisen twenty erudite and solemn commentators to explain it, no two of whom have ever agreed as to its definition."

A female attendant now came into the library and whispered to Ippolita, who at once prepared to leave me.

"Prithee, fair countess," said I, "leave me not after this cold and abrupt fashion, or else tell me that I may see thee later, as I would fain have more of thy converse and companionship."

"And if I return within the half hour," she replied, with a roguish look, "and step with thee a measure of the courante wilt thou promise to do that which I shall ask of thee?"

"Thou canst ask me nothing which I will not do," said I.

The duke's daughter left me, and as she went she gave me over her shoulder, like a Parthian shot, a smile of mysterious meaning and a glance that was almost tender from the depths of her great dark eyes.

Thereupon I rejoined Brother Ambrose. Twice or thrice in the movement of the saraband I had passed him as he stood in converse, and each time, it seemed to me, I had heard him utter the name of Prince Timoteo. I now charged him with revealing my identity, the very thing which he had told me I should avoid.

"I did indeed," said he, "inform these gentlemen of thy presence, but I would have thee to know that they are all of thine own faction and all and every one of them stanch and trusty Elevationists. When I imparted the fact to them, without exception they waxed zealous in thine interest and did swear each and all that they would see thee placed upon the throne of thy fathers. As to betraying thee, they would suffer themselves first to be torn asunder by wild horses. Gadzooks, what wouldst thou? They are honest men, and thou mayest put thy trust in them."

I had noticed the individuals with whom he had been in converse, and it struck me that their appearance had been anything but honest. In fact, their faces, or what I could see of them, had seemed to me most villainous and sinister. During the next quarter of an hour, while I was by the side of Brother Ambrose, he greeted several cavaliers who passed us, and I was enabled to judge further and more at mine ease of the peculiar quality of his associates. They all seemed to have an underhanded and furtive manner, their costumes were ill fitting, and they glanced ever behind them. When they met, they grasped each other by the hand with a peculiar grip, and if they saw each other from across the hall they signaled by putting the thumb in the ear and moving the fingers up and down.

"Truly," thought I, "these Elevationists, if Elevationists they be, be a scurvy lot, and I will do well to avoid them. As to this Brother Ambrose, who is with me, besides being the smoothest of smooth shaven knaves, if he is not also the veriest black hearted cutthroat then I am out in my reckoning."

Resent Action of the Board.

London, Sept. 26.—The tone and contents of the manifesto of the Boer generals, which was issued in the form of an appeal to the civilized world for contributions to assist destitute Boers and help in the education of Boer children, excite the utmost resentment of the whole British press, and the document tends to alienate the sympathy which has hitherto been felt for the Boer people in many quarters. It is regarded as a manifesto of hostility to Great Britain and the work not of Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey, but of Dr. Leyds, the European representative of the Boers, and Mr. Reitz, former state secretary of the Transvaal, and a blunder which the Boers will have to regret.

TO CONTEST THE WILL.

I. H. Stratton After Deceased Father's Property.

Denver, Sept. 25.—I. H. Stratton of Pasadena, Cal., after a conference Wednesday in this city between his attorneys, decided to contest the will of his father, Winfield S. Stratton, which left the bulk of his estate, estimated to be worth from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, for the establishment of a home for poor sick people at Colorado Springs. Under the provisions of the will, young Stratton forfeits the $50,000 which his father bequeathed to him by making a contest.

It is understood that, aside from the allegations that the will is void on the ground of public policy and its visionary provision, it will also be averred that W. S. Stratton was mentally incompetent to dispose of his property.

It is said that young Stratton's attorneys will receive $1,000,000 as their fee if they succeed in breaking the will.

BEAUTIFUL BOULDER

Situated 30 Miles North of Denver

A PROSPEROUS LITTLE CITY.

With Snow capped Mountains on one Side and Fertile Plains on the other.

Colorado presents many opportunities for the sightseers. There are trips that can be accomplished in a single day from Denver that can scarcely be duplicated in the world for striking scenery and marvelous freshness of atmosphere.

The Colorado and Southern R. R. in just an hour's time from Denver will bring one to what they call Boulder The Beautiful and in this way we were brought to the next stop on our journey into the Rocky mountains.

Boulder is a prosperous city of about 6000 people made up of a homogenious community, being ranchmen or farmers as we call them, store keepers, oil men, miners, college students, and a floating population of about 1000 tourists. Imagine for a minute a city lying east of a range of mountains, west and north of beautiful plains covered with waving alfalfa fields interspersed with crops of grain, east of the mouth of Boulder Canon and you have Boulder.

All the circulars and railroad advertisements describe Boulder as being situated on a tableland of about 300 acres with snow capped mountains on one side and a mighty chasm on the other. The only way I can account for this description is that some railroad writer must have copied a description of some other Colorado town and it has kept going on and on for years. The snow capped mountains are there all right and on the other side is the mouth of Boulder Canon, but I walked all over and around the beautiful city time and again and asked all the men I saw for the jumping off place or chasm and was unable to find it or anything that looked like it but will right now state that the lack of this "falling off" place was the only thing that disappointed me in Boulder.

The city proper is a sort of basket. One mile toward the mountains are the university of Colorado buildings. Three-quarters of a mile beyond the university buildings 500 feet above the city are the Chautauqua grounds and buildings and here is situated the Colorado and Texas division of the Chautauqua. Directly north of the city is the mouth of Boulder Canon and in this canon is situated some of the grandest natural scenery of the world.

Directly west of the city running north is a range of snow peaked mountains and on which there is no time that snow cannot be seen on them and they are so near that by walking back of the Chautauqua grounds one can be on "Flatiron" mountain, in fact, in the season the young people hold watermelon parties on the summit of Flagstaff, which is 2000 feet above one of the main streets in the heart of the city.

A few years ago some man on the east side of the city discovered oil on his ranch and now innumerable oil wells are giving out paying quantities of oil. There has been much oil excitement there and now with oil and coal and silver and gold and good ranches there is enough comes from the ground to make plenty for all who are willing to work.

So much for the city of Boulder, the streets are kept in good shape, streams of water coming from the mountains run down either side of the main street and there is also sufficient water for all uses of irrigation and sprinkling and above all Boulder can boast of the best drinking water in Colorado. Pure snow water from the mountain tops, white and clean and pure, fine to the taste and so soft it is delightful for bathing and all domestic uses. In fact with such water Boulder has the start for a perfect tourist city for it is not only delightful but healthful.

Boulder Canon is difficult to picture on paper. To one who is acquainted with mountain scenery a canon is a canon but for me to intelligently describe what is Boulder Canon to persons like me who were born and have always lived near something no higher than Prospect Hill, is a difficult matter.

In going north one pops right out from Pearl street, the main thoroughfare of Boulder into the canon, on the west side of which is Boulder Creek with a mountain beyond and on the east side are huge masses of reddish black rock, savage and wild looking at the base and looming up almost to the sky above. A little further up the canon the stream increases in size, draws nearer the center and as the water gurgles and sparkles, running swiftly over the stones it makes one think of all the musical rhymes he ever heard and of all the beautiful pictures he has ever seen, so playful is the sunlight in the water and so sublime on rock and mountain.

So goes on the grand and wonderful canon for miles, each mile varying with another in grander rocks and summer water ways with now and then a mountain peak towering up a little higher the sides of which are sometimes covered with pines and other evergreens.

Fifteen miles up are Boulder falls and to this point tourists are always driven and beyond come "Rapahoe" and other points way up in the clouds, where it snows nearly every day in the year and where tourists go to say they have been in the summer snow.

Bordering beside the swift little stream the Colorado & Northwestern narrow gauge railroad wends its way up the canon for several miles then takes sunset canon for several more miles up to Waid which is 14,000 feet above the sea.

This route is what they call the "Switzerland trail" and this little narrow guage road is a wonder, climbing up and up till you are right amongst the clouds and snow, and in one of the most picturesque spots in America. So much for Boulder Canon and the Switzerland trail. 'Tis said that one never tires looking at the mountains. This saying is certainly true, but the HERALD patrons will soon tire of reading about them unless I stop and drift this letter onto something else.

The Western Chautauqua, the summer meetings of which are held at Boulder, was formerly the Texas Chautauqua and made up of Texas and Arkansas people, who desired to get away from their hot summer climate up to the cool air of the mountains. Since the organization of the Western Chautauqua many Texas people come this way and Boulder has become quite a Texas resort.

In the home where we boarded we were the only northern people, all the others were from Texas and Hot Springs, Arkansas and although these southern people dote on their hot biscuits and bacon and sleep plenty in the afternoons, a more agreeable and delightful people one would never find. They are pleasant at all times sociable, they "sure are" and seem to know how to take real comfort out of life. In all they are well educated, pleasant delightful people and it is hoped they were as well pleased with us as we were with them.

One of the Texas ladies had with her little Francis, her four year old daughter and it is certain that "we all" loved the beautiful child, we "sure did" and one of the most charming remembrances we have of the Colorado trip is a souvenir postal card with a picture of Miss Francis aged four and "Firecracker", a baby burro, three days old.

Boulder would not be a typical western town without some characters. And amongst them could be seen Rocky Mountain Joe, who with a very fierce expression spent his time taking tourists over the mountains and pictures of them when in Boulder. "Joe," although fierce in looks wearing very long curly hair and generally a hunting suit, was a very mild mannered man, being always good natured and a general favorite with every one. He came from Montana having carried mail there in the mountains

Another character was Andrew Jackson McWade, who delivered wood about Boulder in a small two wheeled cart drawn by his Burro named "Biddy." McWade had his feet frozen while serving Uncle Sam at the time of one of the Indians were in the mountains and in fact he and Rocky Mountain Joe claimed to have served together. Both characters are whole souled western men, a part of Boulder, and whoever knows this little western city, knows them.

But 15 miles from Boulder in the same country is Longmont and for a day we went up there to see Mrs. H. L. Hayward, who will be remembered 20 years ago who with Rev. H. L. Hayward were residents of Tecumseh. Mrs. Hayward is nicely situated there, being half owner of the Longmont Ledger, the paper formerly owned by her husband. We were delightfully entertained by the lady and her partner, Mr. Boyton.

Mrs. Hayward desires to send kindest greetings to all her eastern friends and although she has scores of friends and acquaintances in her beautiful western home she daily thinks and wonders about loved ones in old Tecumseh. This pleasant day with the neighborhood friend of my boyhood days was a pleasant ending to my five weeks' trip "in the Rockies."

In her parlor were all the pictures of all the old time friends I had ever known. On the house walls were sawed brackets I had made when a boy and all through the house were articles to remind me of events for years forgotten. For a moment the cog wheels of time were stopped and I was happy to think for a little time of years ago. As the train started for Boulder Mrs. Hayward bade me good bye thinking, I am sure, that we would hardly meet again, yet glad, right glad, of the day.

Detroit Tribune: The downfall of a prominent minister is a matter of deep regret in the religious world, and all good people outside of the church. Rev. M. T. Seelye of Tecumseh, while attending the annual M. E. conference at Saginaw, in passing along a dimly lighted thoroughfare, struck a jog of several inches in the sidewalk, and was thrown to the ground with great force and rendered entirely helpless. He demands the city at least pay his docter bill and something over for the jolt given his Methodism, and under the circumstances it seems as though this would be right in the sight of the Lord.

ADRIAN FAIR

Continued and the Big Day Will be SATURDAY

If the weather is Pleasant.

A heavy downpour of rain has brought gloom to the fair which opened with bright prospects for Monday the entries being exceedingly fine. The exhibits of fruit, grain, vegetables etc. are especially fine and nearly every stall is taken for stock which is most admirable in quality. A steady rain has prevented any one from attending and rendered the grounds too wet to be used. The program for school day had to be canceled, and it is not thought the races for today or Thursday can be pulled off. Should it clear up the fair will be continued over till Saturday.—Free Press.

S. MILO DOLE

Died at his home in Adrian

THURSDAY, SEPT. 25, 1902,

OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

S. Milo Dole was well known in Tecumseh, his wife being a daughter of D. P. Anthony of this place, besides he had many friends here who sorrow deeply with his wife and relatives for his untimely death.

The funeral will be held this afternoon from his home in Adrian at 2:00 o'clock and at 2:30 o'clock from the M. E. church.

THE LATE S. MILO DOLE.

Mr. Dole was born on a farm in Ogden township, Oct. 2, 1865. At the age of 10, his parents moved to Blissfield, where he attended school. It was at this place he first took up the art of printing, as devil in the Advance office at a salary of 50 cents per week. In 1877 his parents moved to Adrian, where he went to work in Foster's job printing office, with a raise of salary at $1.50 per week. Shortly after arriving here, his father was taken ill, and being the oldest boy, it became necessary for young Dole to support the family. When not at work in the printing office, he did odd jobs, carrying coal, wood, etc., upstairs for the various law and other offices.

When Willard Stearns purchased the Weekly Press office, he secured a position in that office. By diligent and earnest work he was promoted from one position to another, until he was foreman of the composing room. Prior to his commencing work in this office he he made an arrangement with the proprietor whereby he would work a half day five days and all day Saturday, to enable him to earn money enough to support his mother and brother.

While working at the Press office he made arrangements through certain teachers and public instructors to cover the equivalent of a complete college and philosophical course. He took a full theological course, with the exception of Hebrew, and a course in law through a correspondence college.

When he reached his majority, he was married to Miss Jennie Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Anthony of Raisin township.

He leaves a wife, two sons, Walter and Harris, mother, Mrs. Geo. Rogers of this city, a stepfather, Geo. Rogers, and stepsister, Miss Lulu Rogers.

In 1886 Mr. Dole went to Auburn, Ind., where he accepted the foremanship of the Dispatch. He remained there until 1888, when he returned to Adrian and accepted his old position in the Press office. Here he stayed until 1889, when he went to Detroit and took position as compositor on the Free Press, later being promoted to reporter. While in Detroit a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dole.

On account of Mrs. Dole's health, in 1890, Mr. Dole returned to Adrian, where he has remained ever since. Later he found employment in the Times composing room, and in that year he accepted a position with the Adrian gas company as book-keeper and collector. He had steadily advanced with this company until he was made cashier and assistant manager, which position he held until the organization of the new company.

Mr. Dole is entitled to much credit, as he has had to fight his way alone and single-handed, without means, and relying on his own personal efforts to accomplish what he has.

Mr. Dole attained some prominence as a public speaker, and has done considerable literary work, contributing to the various periodicals of the country.

He is a trustee of the M. E. church and superintendent of its Sunday school; a director of the local Y. M. C. A., and member of the state executive committee of the state Y. M. C. A. He is a trustee of Adrian public schools.—Adrian Times.

MARSH - SNOW

Miss Florence Marsh and John Snow were

UNITED IN MARRIAGE

THURSDAY AFTERNOON AT THE BRIDE'S HOME.

Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock at the bride's home on Pearl street occurred the marriage of Miss Florence, oldest daughter of W. W. Marsh, and John Snow, Rev. C. C. Kemp preformed the ceremony in the presence of only immediate relatives.

The bride was very pretty and graceful in a gown of blue broadcloth trimmed in white silk. The groom is well and favorably known here and has been a clerk in R. S. Moore's grocery store for several years. He has secured for his life partner a charming young lady who has won a large circle of friends by her kindliness of disposition.

The happy couple left yesterday on the 3:03 Lake Shore and will spend a week with relatives in Adrian and Jackson. A crowd of young people met them at the depot and gave them the usual newly married couple send off. The HERALD unites with many numerous friends in extending congratulations and well wishes.

A swell turn out—Convexity.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.
